U. S. CIVIL WAR REVENUES

A Discussion of the Inverted Heads Accompanied By Condensed Historical and Price Data

By Henry L. Dean, 149 Broadway, New York City.

THE personal responses induced by my article in the March 22nd issue of MEKEEL'S dealing with the great rarities amongst the multiple imperforate revenue pieces of the Civil War Period having indicated a widespread interest in the general subject, I am prompted by numerous requests for additional data to extend the scope of the work, and feel that at the moment a brief discussion of the invert errors will be timely and, it is hoped, interesting and instructive.

Twenty-one in number (limiting each of the 4 values of the Proprietaries to a single paper variety as will subsequently be noted in detail), these inverts embrace ten values of the second issue documentary revenues, six of the third issue, one of the fourth issue and four of the special Proprietaries, all of these bicolor stamps being engraved and printed by the firm of Joseph R. Carpenter of Philadelphia, who, succeeding Butler and Carpenter, held the Government contracts for supplying all Revenue stamps up to August 31, 1875. Two plates were required for each value, one for the frame, printed in permanent color, another for the head, printed in fugitive soluble black, the resultant stamp in conjunction with the herringbone or die cancellation being designed to largely eliminate washing and criminal re-use activities of the period.
Obviously errors chargeable to hurried production, carelessness or intent are possible in any of these stamps, but great care must have been exercised at the Carpenter establishment if we may judge by the almost negligible quantity of all values of the inverts combined.

Almost half of these stamps can, on the basis of numbers available, immediately be placed in company with the long recognized classic postage rarities of the world, such as first type Mauritius, the Hawaiian Missionaries, early British Guiana, Moldavia and Cape wood block "errors" while other desirable items like the Trinacria, double Geneva, 4c Vaud, and 12p Canada offer no comparison in point of scarcity. Consequently it can be easily understood that as a group these inverts form by far the most important section of a Revenue collection, especially as space is provided for the stamps in the printed albums of the U. S. and the true general collector of means omits nothing. Possibly it is here appropriate to note that an absolutely complete Revenue collection of the imperforate and perforate singles of the Civil War period to 1881 can be formed at a cost just about 30% of the outlay necessitated by a fine set of inverts if the latter could be procured. It seems a curious fact therefore that no exhaustive study has been given to this interesting group; no accurate determination made of relative rarity of the various values and apparently no particular interest shown by the compilers of the standard catalog for over a quarter of a century.

With this thought in mind the following notes and comments are presented after much research work and compilation of the contents of over twenty-five collections, although the writer is confident that much remains to be accomplished and earnestly solicits information from any who are in a position to contribute their chapter to a very worthy but long neglected cause. Meanwhile thanks are extended to all those Revenue collectors throughout the country who have kindly advised concerning their holdings and to those dealers who have supplied records of earlier transactions.

Reference herein to the current catalog is understood to apply to the 1926 edition, and sale price records as noted are for fine copies.

This variety is Scott's No. 17 and is the most popular of the many provisional stamps issued by postmasters. In 1920, it catalogued $30.00 and today it is priced at $60.00. It certainly has proven a wise investment. Here are four offers, which I believe are decidedly reasonable:—

Copy with design slightly cut into .. $20.00

Copy with margins on all four sides .. 45.00

Copy with better margins on all four sides

On cover—a very creditable copy tied by pen marks, as usual

All undamaged stamps—returnable if unsatisfactory.

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

number of "regular" stamps of each value which were issued is likewise included as an item of general interest, although having no relation whatever to the number of inverts.

The 1c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet,	210
Total number issued,	319,830

Although the total number of regular stamps of this value issued was less than others of the second series of which inverted errors are known, except the 70c and $5.00, the 1c Invert is far more commonly met with than any except the 50c and it is correctly placed as the fifth commonest of the entire invert group. Originally priced at $10.00 the quotation advanced from $15.00 to $70.00 in the twenty years preceding 1925, being then badly out of line with the 2c, 5c, 10c and 20c Inverts and reduced to the current level which is however, high enough for the finest copy procurable. Still it is more than 20 times as rare as the 1p "Sydney Views" (catalogued at the same level) and actual auction price levels indicate a ratio of about 4½ to 3 in favor of the revenue. The stamp is known in the extra perforation varieties and likewise in pairs, but the latter should not ordinarily command more than a very modest premium.

The 2c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet,	210
Total number issued,	5,643,070

In the short space of the two months of September and October, 1871, over seventeen times as many 2c were issued as of the 1c value in five and one-half months, but inverted errors must have been few or many destroyed in the case of the 2c as it has always been rarer than the 10c of the same series, and very much scarcer than the 1c. For this reason the catalog rating has never been correct as since 1906 it has been priced either the same as or materially lower than the 1c. Many copies are badly off center, others cut or with faded medallions, but a bright perfect centered and uncanceled specimen is a real prize to the student and is worth $100.

The 5c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet,	170
Total number issued,	2,572,780

This value was issued only for a period of three and one-half months before replacement by the changed color of the third series and inverted errors must have been few judging by scarcity and uniformity in color. All copies seen by the writer have been somewhat off center, but many are not bad in this respect and as the stamp is frequently uncanceled and possesses a bright medallion it is very attractive. Up to 1917 it was priced about the same as the 1c value, although it is several times rarer, a really fine copy being worth $150.00 today. It has been known in unsevered pairs, the separation of one such being recently recorded.

The 10c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet,	170
Total number issued,	4,802,034

At least two sheets of this invert must have been issued as it consistently occurs in two very marked shades, with no appreciable difference in relative scarcity. It is moderately common as far as any of these better stamps can be placed in such a class and can be found in any worth while revenue collection, but is rarer than several other revenues priced at about the same level. A superb specimen is worth $75.00 to $80.00. Uncanceled copies are not uncommon, although inspection of such specimens is likely to reveal in many cases the usual herringbone of the period. At least one pair is known.

The 20c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet,	170
Total number issued,	628,761

Of all the Revenue inverts this stamp presents the best evidence of the absence of any serious pricing consideration of the revenue group for 20 years or more since it is as rare as either value of the "Post Office" Mauritius and as late as 1924 or 53 years after its issuance was priced at $80.00. At the time the far commoner $1.00 3rd issue stood at $300.00, and the 25c blue and black, which is no rarer at $600.00. Few revenue collections have ever been made that surpassed those of Jos. Leavy, Hiram Deats, J. R. Stanton and Wm. Washburn and in none of these was the 20c represented, although between them they possessed the 25c blue and black, the 15c and $2.50 3rd issue, and the 3c and 4c Proprietary. It was during the period of activity of these gentlemen that the stamp ranged in list from $17.50 to $35.00. Three copies seen by the writer were all used in N. Y. C. dated Mar. 30, 1872, and are of deep full blue shade. Present values are reflected by the sale this year of the Lapham copy at $600.00, although slightly thin, and the Ackerman copy at $775.00.

A NEW PARIS STAMP STORY

Stamp collecting is a hobby of some Montmartre policemen, who politely strip the tourists' letters-from-home.

"I beg your pardon, but are you an American?" ventures the sidewalk-pounding philatelist of the casual pleasure seeker from abroad, who perhaps displays apprehension and tries to hedge. "Have you any new American stamps about you, sir?" the officer, whose title is "agent," hastens to inquire. "You see, I am a collector, as well as a guardian of the peace. I would like to have some of your latest issues, if you have any of the envelopes in your pockets. Already I have the Theodore Roosevelt stamps, and naturally those in red of George Washington and Madame. But I have not yet had those bearing the effigy of President Harding, and they lack to me to complete my collection."

The tourist searches his pockets, if he is not in too great a hurry to find a cabaret and the early morning is not too cold, and obliges. With a courteous salute, the policeman approaches the next wanderer by night:

"Monsieur is Danish, if I do not mistake myself?" Then follows the same request.

Cancellations

A big burly elephant tying a 3c '61 to a piece of cover, or a Waterbury bee squarely on a 3c '69, or a New York false-face on a 3c 1871, are merely suggestions of what we have to offer. One of the oddest we have lately acquired is Clifton, Nev. Ter., forming a square around month and year date, all surrounded by a circle. This ties a 3c '61 to a nice cover. If you like County or year dated postmarks on the bank-note issues we have a fine lot of them. Or, if you choose clear-cut dated town cancellations on the 3c stamps of 1851 or 1857 we can send attractive selections. Let us know your wants. We can help to meet them.

J. O. MOORE, INC.,

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y.

FAR AND NEAR:

W. M. T. KIEPURA, 4510 Manor Circle, Sioux City, Iowa, would like to hear from nearby collectors who desire information concerning the Sioux City Philatelic Society. The club meets once a week at the Public Library. It was organized only two months ago and now has thirteen members.

THROUGH Emil H. Swenson and the Chicago Scottish Right Magazine, we are informed that James H. Cook of the Scottish Right, residing in Carmel, Calif., is confined to his bed by reason of injuries received in the World War. He will welcome a shower of stamps from those who wish to extend this cheer.

THE Columbus (Ohio) Philatelic Club has re-elected its entire board of officers. W. R. Wilson is president and Ray Shepard, 809 Kelton Ave., is secretary-treasurer.

IN the Newark, N. J., Evening News of Saturday, Dec. 18, is a very fine stamp feature consisting of an interview with Sig. I. Rothschild of Freeport, L. I. The story is finely illustrated and is accompanied by a fine picture of Mr. Rothschild. Mr. Rothschild has made a collection solely from the educational viewpoint. It is alphabetically arranged, beginning with A, under which advertising, art, admirals, authors, agriculture, airport, architecture, astronomy, etc., may be found. Under B we find balloon post, under F fish, under H humor, L carries languages, and so on with varied subjects, such as sports, ships, scenery, mythology, monuments, statues, music, birds, religion.

JACK YOUNG sends us from China a complete set of revenues just issued by the Canton Government. The issue supplanted has been declared obsolete by the Revolutionary forces. Mr. Young advises that the 1½c post cards are not obsolete as was supposed, but it is difficult finding them in the post offices.

O. J. RICHARDSON, Eden, N. Y., is sending out a pricelist of stamps at wholesale. A wide range of offers in lots of ten are quoted at low prices. If you are a dealer send for a copy.

EUGENE KLEIN, 200 S. 13 St., Philadelphia, Pa., favors us with his 1927 pricelist of stamp albums, packets, catalog and supplies. It is a well printed booklet of sixteen pages and will be sent to any address upon request.

"IN reply to Mr. Applegate's query which appeared on the editorial page of December 13th issue, The L. S. Starrett Mfg. Co., of Athol, Mass., or the Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co., of Providence, R. I., supply millimeter scales of various sizes which can be purchased at any hardware store that handle machinist tools or ordered direct. I have one about four inches long which I think cost less than a dollar. While on the subject, I have often wondered why some one had not taken up the matter of a steel perforation and millimeter scale. I think any manufacturer of machinist tools would be willing to put such a scale on the market if they were assured that there was a market for such a scale as we need."—H. COBURN JONES.

METER, SLOGAN AND POSTMARK

By SEVARD.

Then there are the line rubber marks like "U. S. Army Postal Service No. 739," or the postmarks made in France, the 26mm town, with top legend U. S. ARMY POST OFFICE MPES, bottom legend postal number flanked by stars. Three line dating as follows: (1) star (2) day, dash, month number (3) year number, not century date, as 18 for 1918. Several types exist. Another type which one believes was made in England is a double circle townmark, 32mm and 20mm, with legend circling the entire outer ring, U. S. MILITARY POSTAL EXPRESS SERVICE—star. The inner circle is segmented equally, the first segment bearing the postal number, the second segment, the dating as "5 SEP 1918," the third segment is bare. Several machines were used with town legend U. S. ARMY M.P.E.S. and number of station.

Which all reminds one that our check list of A. E. F. postmarks is lost, and the only thing we read is about the Spanish-American War, Philippines Insurrection and Boer War censor marks.

And perhaps our friend collecting New York City postmarks will want to include the 25mm duplex grid with town legends "MILITARY STA. (1) No. 3 (2) GUANTANAMO (3) JUL 12 (4)—CUBA—(5) N. Y. P. O. (6)."

Foreign military postmarks are very interesting, especially the Australian Imperial Forces, the FIELD POST OFFICE CANADA MILITIA, the TRESOR ET POSTES of France and the ARMY POST OFFICE marks of Great Britain, with letters and numerals.

These are marks which are patriotics from the primary source and neither contain blandishments nor "sickly sentimentalities."

Of a different character are the "mileage marks" of Great Britain, showing the number of miles a post office was from London. Their use began in 1765 and continued down to about 1829. Seeing a London collection of these, we hoped to find out if any of our very early marks are mileage marks, yet so far have not located any.

A real intent is expressed in a canceller in three rubber lines as follows: RECEIVED AT ROCHESTER N. Y.

Stamp Uncancelled
As this calls for magenta ink, and we have it with the portion "cancelled" on the stamp, the 2c red receives an erotic welcome.

The 25mm duplex with oval "RECEIVED — PACKAGE BOX — COLLECTION" from Philadelphia will cause worry some years hence.

The unit idea! H. S. Ackerman thought it up some time ago. The A. P. S. is large enough for everybody!

FINE STAMPS

Box 936,

NEW KENSINGTON, PA.

SEEN AND HEARD:—

A GREAT many complaints are being received from our subscribers in connection with the filling of orders by the Canadian Agency and the Philatelic Agency at Washington. Ralph Stueber informs us that while he received an acknowledgment of the receipt of his order from the Canadian Agency, it was two months before he received the stamps. They were accompanied by an apology for the time taken in filling the order. The Managing Editor recently filed an order at Washington and received a reply to the effect that the order would be filled "in about eighteen days." The two governments might well be expected to provide sufficient help to more promptly care for the business that is coming their way.

R. C. FISHER, M. D., sends us a clipping from the Buffalo, N. Y., Evening News, giving the particulars of an interesting meeting of the local stamp club held Friday, Dec. 10. Leslie Davenport of Toronto addressed the club with an interesting account of the New York Philatelic Exhibition. Adolph Steeg is president of the club and read a paper on the advantages of stamp collecting.

RECENTLY we announced that Otto Weismann, Rotterdam, Holland, would send the new Charity stamps at 10% commission over face. We should have stated that this offer is confined to dealers only.

WE are indebted to Major Joseph A. Steinmetz for a timetable of the Pan-American flight which was slated for Dec. 15 and to continue through the month of April. We are unable to print the same because of lack of space, much to our regret. Major General Patrick of the War Department has declined to accept mail, as the organization is not functioning for the carrying of mail matter.

WE thank Benj. Cadbury for two clippings. One gives the particulars of the Steinway-Clark postcard race around the world, while the other describes a Klein auction sale held Dec. 17 in Philadelphia. Special mention is made of the sale of a James M. Buchanan 5c, which brought $400. A 90c 1869 U. S. brought $81.50.

THE address of the State Stamp Co. was incorrectly printed Dec. 13 in our subscription record. It appeared "Manor, Pa." and should have read "New Kensington, Pa."

THE Philatelic Society of Pittsburgh with headquarters at the Hotel Henry elected officers for 1927, in connection with a recent banquet. This is the largest philatelic organization in Western Penn. and is one of the pioneer branches of the A. P. S. (organized in 1888). The features of the evening were talks on the great Stamp Exhibition and discussions on government engraving and printing. Officers for 1927: W. B. Hartman, Pres.; Dr. Kenneth M. Day, Vice Pres.; David Hahn, Sec.; Willard J. Reed, Treas.

THE Cincinnati Collectors Club had a splendid Christmas treat for its members Dec. 16. Santa Claus visited us and there were gifts galore for everybody from a fine Christmas tree. Each member receiving a gift was required to read a letter to Santa, who in turn gave over the present with a return letter, which also was read. There were forty-five members and six visitors present.

THE "GEORGE WALCOTT" COLLECTION

The following are now priced and approval books can be sent to collectors known to me or after usual references.
20th Century stamps are priced 30% to 50% under catalogue prices to clear them out of my stock and all issues will be found priced very reasonably in order to effect quick sales. All are unused unless otherwise noted.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

1858-1920. There are no outstanding rarities here but nice unused copies in all the issues.

AUSTRIA

1850-1917. The first issue on thick and thin paper are a nice lot of copies, mostly with gum, and the 1858-1859 are also represented in both types, the later issues being shown in the common variety of perforation, only, as a rule.

BOSNIA

1879-1914. A straight set without die or perforation varieties.

BELGIUM

1819-1918. The early stamps of 1849-1863 are well represented and all unused.

BOLIVIA

1866-1919. The first issue includes some nice shades of the rare Eagle type, all unused, such as three copies of the rare 50c blue. In the next issues there are fine copies of the 500c with 9 and 11 stars.

BRAZIL

1843-1920. A fair lot of the interesting early issues, all unused, including the sloping figures 180, 300 and 600 reis, also a perforated set of the 1866 issue.

1879-1920. Included here is the famous 5c red, error, of 1882 with full gum.

Elsewhere in this issue is the announcement of an important venture in the field of philatelic book publishing. An "American Catalog of Airmail and First Day Covers" is promised. It will cover flights of the United States, Canada and Newfoundland from 1910 to 1927, and each item will be priced at actual market value. The Berkshire Exchange, over whose name the announcement appears, advises us that competent authorities are preparing the text of this catalog, which will be fully illustrated and sold at $1. The book is to appear February 1. In this connection it may be said that the Berkshire Exchange, Cummington, Mass., has issued a list pricing many covers, which will be sent to any address upon application.

THE GREAT STAMP EXHIBITION

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

(In order that our readers may see the Exhibition through the eye of a representative British philatelist, we reprint from the "Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly" the following comment from Fred J. Melville. The article will be perused with interest.—Ed.)

New York has made a big success of its international stamp exhibition; it was the second of these events held in the United States, and the first since the war and since Philately became the plaything of the millionaires. Postage stamps are small things for a land of big things, and to bring them into line with American ideals, the exhibition had to be on a large scale. It eclipsed the London show of 1923 in magnitude and value, although most of the finest exhibits were on view on both occasions. There were upwards of 650 separate exhibits, of a value estimated at £2,000,000, and the huge sign outside the Grand Central Palace announcing that there were a million stamps on view was probably an under-estimate.
But in busy New York no one had time to count them.

The affair was a millionaires' outing.
The biggest exhibits were those of the kings and princes of finance and commerce, but they were just as merry as schoolboys with their stamps, and worked like niggers in their shirtsleeves to get their exhibits set up in the show cases in time for the opening. The handling of their precious scraps of paper was not to be entrusted to deputies. They like to mount their album leaves in the frames, and many a millionaire's thumb was sore for the first time with pushing drawing pins into hard backboards. I saw a leading banker carefully polishing the huge sheets of glass that were destined to rest ever so lightly on his treasures, fearful lest the slightest smear should sully the pristine freshness of his treasures. The frames were far too large, double the normal exhibit size, each taking 64 album leaves, but taxing the eyesight of the visitor of average height.

SOME PRODIGIOUS COLLECTIONS

The organisers went all out to sell philately to the plutocrats. They sent special invitations to the exhibition to the 2,950 New Yorkers classified as millionaires in "Boyd's List." Of little use to show these visitors tiny scraps of printed paper. They were only to be impressed by big values and prodigious collections.
The predominant feature of the show was the size of the individual exhibits.
A general collection belonging to Mr. W.
E. Hawkins, of New York, was limited to four frames in the show, but there were no fewer than seventy volumes of the surplus to be inspected by the conscientious judges in their private room.
The stamps were unused and in fine condition throughout, and it was well that the exhibit received the high award of a palm of honour in an exhibition where nearly everything was intensively specialised. The general collection is still the foundation of Philately.

At the other extreme was a study of one stamp, the 3 cents red United States in circulation from 1851-57. With his historical collection of this one stamp, Dr. Carroll Chase filled four frames and twenty-three albums, supported in the literature class with a monograph in typescript—longer than a three-volume novel—which represents the most elaborate study ever made of a single stamp.
Dr. Chase got a palm of honour for his collection and a silver-gold medal for his monograph. A silver-gold medal, by the way, is a silver medal with a rim of gold.

TRAPS FOR THE JUDGES

With scores of the exhibits running to 30, 60 and 100 volumes, the task before the jury was a heavy one. Some exhibitors evidently suspected that their albums would not even be opened by the judges. Hidden away in one of the forty bulky albums sent in by one collector was this artful note:

"Kindly read this page and remove this slip when through judging."

Another had sewn some invisible thread across the opening of his albums to trap the judges if they did not conscientiously open every one of them.

There was one feature of the judging which does not conform to British ideas.
Many of the principal awards went to members of the jury, only the British judges insisting that their own exhibits should be classed hors concours. In the result, the Grand Trophy of the Exhibition, seven out of the twelve Palms of Honour, eleven gold, four silver-gold, and five silver medals were awarded to the judges themselves.

THE GRAND TROPHY EXHIBIT

Where so many exhibits were of outstanding merit it is impossible to enter into many details. The collection singled out for the Grand Trophy was Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein's Uruguay, comprising a surprising store of rare early issues of that country, and displaying much original philatelic study. In the mysterious second type of the 60 centavos "Diligencia" there were more copies than we have ever seen or known in Europe. On one page were twelve good copies of this stamp and on another were two copies on entire letters. These two on letters were stated to be "the originals which proved the use of this and related stamps," but seeing them under glass, without the opportunity of a full inspection of the letters, leaves one still doubtful whether this stamp was ever issued for use.

MR. HIND'S RARITIES

From some points of view Mr. Arthur Hind's collection of United States stamps was of greater importance and interest.
In four frames and fourteen albums he presented the most complete general array of United States stamps ever brought together, with nearly all the rarest varieties of the Postmasters' provisionals awarded a palm of honour, and the same exhibitor received a gold medal for a selection limited to 50 rare items. These included his now well-known show pieces, like the unique 1 cent British Guiana, a pair of the circular 2 cents on rose of the same colony, the Hawaiian "Missionaries," etc. Mr. Warren Colson and Mr.

Hans Lagerlof also showed rarities in this class and the double-sided frame in which all these were shown was the center of attraction. The crowds came to see Mr. Hind's 1 cent British Guiana, for which he paid £7,343; this one stamp got more attention from the American press than all the rest of the show put together. After the first day frame had to be railed off and a guard was on duty at it day and night.

last New York Exhibition in 1913, when four of the rarest stamps were deftly removed and have never since been traced,

EDITORIAL

With the beginning of a new year, it is the custom to review the past twelve months and indulge in predictions for the future. One is on safe ground when the survey of the past is made, but when one assumes the role of seer, one flirts with fate. The philatelic prophet is a poor stick if he does not use the most glowing colors in painting the future; and, at times, his enthusiasm is betrayed by fact. We do not suppose that a philatelic editor ever said that a coming year would be other than prosperous for the followers of stamps and we have no quarrel with him, even though time proved that his hopeful words were belied as the months rolled on. If there is one abstract quality that enters largely into the considerations of all who are interested professionally in philately, it is hope; and the philatelic publicists are always dreaming of the time when philately will progress to a degree that will make stamp collecting a pre-eminent pursuit. There is no objection to this because we know that some of the promoters are unselfish in their devotion to stamps and are actuated by a wish to pass a good thing along. However, at times, the basis for complacent comment is intangible and the wish becomes the father of the thought, but notwithstanding all this, we say that the coming year will be the greatest that philately ever has known, based on increased activity in a collecting sense. We rest our case in support of this contention on the fact that the WEEKLY has reached a high-water mark in circulation.

Let us hark back over fifty years and quote from a prospectus that appeared in the American Journal of Philately of January 1, 1873, by its able editor, John Walter Scott, New York, who at that time had become well-established as the leading stamp dealer in this country: "We have now published seventy-two numbers, twelve of which were issued weekly, thirty-three have been illustrated with colored engravings of newly issued and scarce stamps. Twelve numbers have been reprinted in England, and all have been made as readable as

In our last advertisement we spoke of Positive and Negative guarantees. We did not expect, at the time, to have an opportunity so soon to point out exactly what we meant, but the awards at the International Stamp Exhibition have given us the chance to make our point clear.

We might have said that the Scott Line of Blank Albums received the highest award—a Diploma of Silver Medal, And we would have been telling the truth. But, we would not have been telling all the truth, for the fact is that five other concerns shared this honor with us.

Of this we are glad. For now when we say that we challenge comparison between the Scott Line and any other blank album made you will realize that it is not because the other albums are poor—because they are all very good indeed, but because Scott, with the only plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Philatelic products, possesses the equipment, the experience, and the personnel to produce a product that invites comparison, and the more you know about blank albums, the more pleased we shall be to have you go into the matter in the most careful detail.

The Scott Line of Blank Albums sells from $6.00 to $12.00 in a variety of styles and sizes.

SCOTT STAMP AND COIN CO. [tf]

circumstances would admit of. When we commenced to publish the Journal, it was our ambition to get a circulation of 10,000 copies, which we are sorry to say has never been realized; the highest number yet reached being 5,737, but with the improvements commenced in this volume, hope to pass the longed-for ten thousand early in the year." It is not necessary to say that the ten thousand circulation continued to be a mirage.

For a good many years, the WEEKLY has been interested in achieving a circulation of ten thousand copies each week; and it is now nearer that goal than ever before. It is true that we have printed over ten thousand copies at times and that the total number of papers for the year when divided by fifty-two would be an average of ten thousand copies a week, but our idea of a circulation of ten thousand is that number of paid-up subscribers on the books. Perhaps we have gone to an extreme in the wish to carry no deadwood, but we want each name on the subscription book to count. While we have never been lax in this regard, in later years close attention has been given to expirations. At the present time, our books are as clean as a whistle, and our subscription total is 9,500, approximately. We are in sight of the ten thousand subscribers and with a little co-operation from readers we shall be boosted over the mark. When that figure is reached, we expect to fortify our position so strongly that even during the summer months, we shall not fall below the number. It is evident to us that the percentage of renewals to the WEEKLY is much greater than that enjoyed by many other publications, but even so, we must attract new readers. We want readers who can conscientiously recommend the WEEKLY to other collectors to act upon the request of our managing editor and send him the names of one or more subscription prospects. While there are business reasons for wishing to attain a list of full ten thousand, yet there is a bit of sentiment in the thought of occupying a height that has never before been reached by a stamp paper in this country.

With a list of ten thousand readers, hundreds of whom are on our five year subscription roll, the WEEKLY must make an impression on the minds of those of practical mind who have no affiliation with stamps. One of the objections that we hear from other publishers to the substantiality of collecting loses its force in the face of these figures which will do more than any words to prove the permanence of philately. The old idea that an interest in stamp collecting must be a passing one dies hard and is somewhat typical of the opinion that many of the unwashed public, philatelically speaking, have of us. At the pace with which philately is advancing at present, only those in the hinterlands will not know in a few years that stamp collecting is here to stay.

It is not often that we dwell at length on our "circulatory system" and one reason that we do so now is because of the interest that some of our new readers are taking in their paper. They have expressed surprise that our subscription list is not larger and they have made suggestions how it may be increased. We think that our managing editor knows the best manner in which to proceed, which is by establishing direct contact with the prospects by sending sample copies of our paper to them. In order to do this, we must have the names, and if they are forthcoming in good number, it is a certainty that we shall go over the top.

There are scattered references in the foreign stamp press to the activity of the United States in providing special issues in liberal measure and while in some instances the practice is termed antagonistic to the best philatelic sentiment, the observations are fair in almost every case. Say what you will, it is not to be argued that our government is inspired by material motives in its stamp procedure but by a wish to please a large part of the public.

Mr. G. C. Cuenod, Galveston, Texas, writes: "I have just read with great interest, the article about the Swiss 'Pro Juventute' stamps. Allow me to add a few lines on the same subject: 'Beginning in December, 1918, the annual charity set has shown the shields or coat-of-arms of the various cantons of Switzerland. These cantons correspond, in a very small way, to the states in this country; and there are twenty-two of them but three of them are divided into half cantons, making a total of twenty-five. All of them have their own flag or coat-of-arms; and the Pro Juventute stamps give an exact reproduction of them, both in design and colors. The 1926 set completes the program and thus collectors may mount the whole 25 on an album page and so possess the shields and flags of the Swiss Confederation. This will prove interesting to all philatelists and especially to those of Swiss origin.'"

We heartily thank the host of readers who have sent us holiday cards

OUR BOOK REVIEW

First Supplement to United States Envelopes—Complete Priced Catalogue of 20th Century Issues—J. M. Bartels Co., N. Y.

Great rejoicing in the camp of the envelope collectors! Not those plutocratic philatelists who revel in rare Reay and Plimpton die varieties—nor yet those well-meaning collectors who cut the corners off their entireties and stick them into albums, imagining they are collecting envelopes! Not at all! We mean by envelope collectors, that small but select coterie of enthusiasts who believe that "envelope" means the whole thing and not just a piece of it. They know that the government now sells six different sizes of envelopes on five different kinds of paper; that the manufacturers use a definite number of different "dies" and "knives" in their envelope machines; that the two paper mills which manufacture stock for envelopes use different watermarks to distinguish their product—these chaps are the real, simon-pure, hundred-percent envelope-collectors, and they are the ones who rejoice over the appearance of the "First Supplement to United States Envelopes. Complete Priced Catalogue of 20th Century Issues—Entire, July, 1926," published by Mr. J. M. Bartels of New York.

As the publisher explains, the "First Supplement" makes corrections in the 1924 catalog, which covers the period from 1903 to August, 1924, and it lists new issues up to July, 1926. The Supplement chronicles 93 varieties of the 1c, 2c and 4c on the 1925-watermarked paper. Then follows a list of over 40 varieties of the 2c die H2, a recut of die H, on the 1921 and 1925 papers; and some 40 varieties of the 1½c brown, in two dies, on the 1925 paper.

The real feature of the catalog is the revalued (1½ on 1c) section. Scott's advance sheets price only a few of the commonest 1½/1's. Mr. Bartels, more venturesome and possibly better informed on the subject, not only gives a full list of the different varieties, but also prices most of them. We note three varieties of errors on 2c; one variety on 1c 1890; three on 1c 1899; 38 on the 1c 1907, and some 180 on the familiar 1c circular die of 1916. Prices range from 10c to $35.00.

The rest of the catalog is taken up with a few corrections in the text of the 1924 catalog; some revision of prices, upward; and a list of over 100 new varieties of the 1907-1921 issues, brought to light since 1924.

The 1926 Supplement is the result of the efforts of the Bartels Company and several envelope specialists. The co-operation extends, however, only to compiling the list—the publishers undertake to pay the printer. Everybody who collects or handles current United States envelopes certainly should have the new list. To both collector and dealer it is money in pocket to be able to recognize rare envelopes which pass thru his hands.

Some additions and a few corrections to Bartels' new list will be of value to entire collectors—notes by the writer, Mr. R. H. Mason, and Mr. Roy Curran. The following current circular dies, all on the 1925 paper, with the exception of the first item, have been noted since the 1926 supplement went to press. Bartels' numbers 2657e, 2702i, 2708h, 2738h, 2806h, 2886i, 2887i, 2892i, 2994h, 2997i, 3253a, 3271b.

Bartels' No. 3249.—The 2c die H2 is listed as found in watermarks 25 and 27. This is an error, as the lowback envelope in die H2 has not yet been seen.

Bartels' No. 3308, revalued (solid-numeral type) on No. 2469a, is unknown. However, No. 2469b, with the New York overprint, is common enough.

Bartels' No. 3326, 1c size seven revalued, has not been found; it is known without overprint, however—a rare item. The following unlisted varieties of revalued 1c have been found, all double-line overprint:

No. 3387f—size five, low back, blue, wmk. 25—about 150 overprinted at Fitchburg, Mass.

Nos. 2700h and i—size 13, low back, white, wmk. 26 and 27—about 20,000 overprinted at Holyoke, Mass., for a local company.

Mr. J. A. Valentino reports a new double-line overprint from Brockton.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Gossip

K. M. F.—Your stamp is without a doubt a changeling. Greens, reds and blues may be readily changed to other colors through chemical action occasioned by immersion in salt water, etc. Please read remarks by Mr. Ward on page 670, issue of Dec. 6, headed "Color Changelings."

C. H. Hermann suggests to the juniors that a good way to keep their special cancellations is either to collect them entire or cut in oblong rectangular shape two by four inches. This is the standard set by postmark societies and permits and meters are cut the same size.

One of our juniors has shown his interest in this page by sending us a cartoon which we think worthy of reproducing in our columns. We thank Kazur Sakane for this measure of co-operation in stimulating the interest of boys in this department.

To get an idea of the importance attached by a country to its own domains compare Dominican Republic Scott's type A17 with Hayti A44. In the one case the Dominican Republic shows its small neighbor as a colorless outline. In the other case, Hayti ignores its large neighbor entirely.

Anyone who doesn't like permanent waves, boy bobs, etc., need only turn to the early issues of the stamps of Spain to alter his opinion. Take a good look at Her Majesty Isabella II as shown by Scott's types A3, A6 and especially A4.

On the two pence stamps of New South Wales, issue of 1888, is a picture of an emu. This bird is a native of Australia. Its color is dull brown mixed with gray. There are but few feathers on the neck which gives it an odd appearance. This is a very large bird and it is very powerful; it being said that it can kick hard enough to break a man's leg. It cannot fly but trusts to its speedy legs to carry it from its enemies.

Pen Cancellations

A pen cancellation upon one of our earlier stamps does not indicate that it has been used for revenue purposes, nevertheless such a stamp is not as desirable as one cancelled in the normal way. In the early days, however, many of the smaller postoffices did not have postmarks and used this method in cancelling stamps.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Gobierno

Many have probably had trouble in placing Peruvian stamps surcharged "Gobierno" either with or without a frame line. This word signifies "Government" and the stamps so surcharged are intended for use on official government mail.

Many Mexican stamps of the civil war period 1913-1916 were surcharged "Gobierno Constitucionalista" or abbreviations of the same. This surcharge means "Constitutional government" and was applied to stamps that were used in that part of the country controlled by the regular federal forces as opposed to the area controlled by the rebels.—A. C. LEDUC.

An Educational Feature

By JEROME M. COLTUNE (16).

In the back of most stamp albums there are blank pages. "How shall I fill these pages," Mr. Junior Collector asks. This is one of many answers:—

Search among your old magazines for pictures of foreign countries ("bird's eye views" preferred). Select the most attractive picture or group of pictures of each country. Print or "type" the names of the countries on small strips of paper and paste these alphabetically on the pages leaving room for the pictures. Then paste the pictures in; and if you wish, write the leading productions or an important fact about each country alongside of the name. This will prove an interesting and educational aid to stamp collecting.

Pictorial Watermarks

Why do we always mount our stamps face upwards? Often the back of a stamp is of far greater interest than the face, and in the case of pictorial watermarks quite an attractive page can be made with stamps mounted face downward. If cheap stamps are chosen, the watermarks may be emphasised by outlining in pencil or ink.

All sorts of quaint watermark designs may be included: Animal, such as the elephant of India; the turtles of Tonga, the springbok of South Africa, and the lion of Norway; vegetable, as the pineapple of Jamaica and the thistle of French Congo; symbolic, as the ying-yang of China, the umbrella of Cochinchina, the Conch shell of Travancore, the caduceus of Uruguay, the pyramid and star of Egypt, and the numerous crowns, stars, anchors, etc., of many countries.

Try the effect of a watermark collection arranged on these lines, and you will be surprised to find how attractive it can be made.—Gibbons Monthly Journal.

Did You Know?

Did you know that there are stamps inscribed with the word "grouch"? And they are not angry, either! All the high values of the current series of Turkey are thus inscribed.

Did you know that there is a picture of an electric light on a postage stamp? One such is found at the right of the 12 centavos stamp of the Dominican Republic commemorative series of 1902.

Did you know that Gibbons catalogue lists 15 different styles of trident surcharges for the first issues of Ukraina? Some of these surcharges are much scarcer than others so it is well to look them over carefully.

Did you know that Turkey-in-Asia Scott's type A29 shows a text from the Koran?—A. C. LEDUC.

John Boland in the Honor Club

We have received from John N. Boland an application for membership in our Honor Club. This means that he has renewed his subscription for five years and thus takes his place as a member of that organization. At the present time we have about five hundred members on the roll. Master Boland is without doubt the youngest member of our Honor Club. He is thirteen years old and has a general collection of about 20,000 stamps. He is now specializing in British Colonial and Haitian. From 1922 to 1925 he resided in Hayti and is now at the Naval Operating Base, Hampton Roads, Va.

Stamps in "Tutt and Mr. Tutt"

K. M. Fender of McMinnville, Oregon, calls our attention to the following reference to stamps:

"There is a stamp story in the book 'Tutt and Mr. Tutt' by Arthur Train. It is the fifth story in the book and though it is about stamps I am sure that it does not stick to facts as it talks of a set of Dom Pedro triangles from Brazil. So far as I have ever found out Brazil has never had any stamps that were triangles.

Part Perf. and Imperf. Stamps

Our juniors will often find copies of the earlier United States stamps from 1861 to 1883 apparently either part perforate or in imperforate condition. Many of the perforated stamps may be found with enormous margins that can be trimmed, giving us such varieties. The specialist only recognizes imperforate stamps of these issues when in pairs or better.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Calixto Garcia

The venerable appearing gentleman whose picture is shown on the current 5 centavos stamp of Cuba and the 8 centavos value of 1910-11 is none other than General Calixto Garcia. He was one of the leaders in Cuba against the Spanish government. He was captured and imprisoned several times by the Spanish. In 1895 he escaped to the United States. In 1896 he went to Cuba to assist in the new revolution against Spain and was very active with the native revolutionists and later with the United States troops. He died in 1898 before he was able to see the results of his revolutionary activities fulfilled and his native Cuba become an independent nation.—A. C. LEDUC.

Where "Blued Paper" Is Found

This is paper which has not been intentionally colored but which has turned more or less blue, owing to one of the ingredients of the printing ink running into the paper, which was originally white. Examples of this "bluing" may be found in many of the stamps for Great Britain and its Colonies printed by Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., from line-engraved plates.

GREAT STAMP EXHIBITION

exhibition left nothing to chance. In addition to a few regular New York police, there was a squad of forty uniformed private police all armed, and a number of plain clothes men on duty night and day.

2 1/4 MILLION STAMPS SOLD

There were many government exhibits, including those of the Austrian Post Office, the Austrian State Printing Office, Canada, Norway, Sweden, and the United States. The postal authorities at Washington lent their fullest support to the exhibition. They set up a fully equipped post office and a branch of their Philatelic Agency, and advanced the issue of the new 2 cents stamp commemorative of the Battle of White Plains so that it could be sold at the Exhibition, with the result that $50,000 worth, or 2,500,000 of the stamps were sold in a week. Some of these stamps were actually printed in the exhibition on a hand-press operated by employees of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

WITH THE AMERICAN BOYS AND GIRLS

Although I have described the event as a millionaire's outing, crowds of boys from New York schools flocked in to the show in the evenings and on Saturday afternoons. On the final Saturday afternoon when I was giving a lantern lecture especially for school children, the hall was packed to capacity with young folks—and their mothers. There were not many exhibits in the junior class, but one which attracted much attention was the gorgeous album of the young gentleman who figured in the catalogue as Otto II, King of Hungary. The album, a huge example of heavily tooled and decorative bookbinding, was more interesting than its stampic contents. The democratic jury allotted this one royal exhibit a simple bronze medal.

AN EXHIBIT OF SPECIAL BRITISH INTEREST

An exhibit of exceptional interest to English collectors, and which it was a surprise to locate in America, was a little collection of trial proofs in various colours, of the design for the King Edward stamps of Great Britain. With these was one of the steel dies prepared for the embossed stamps of the late reign. These were shown by the celebrated sculptor, Emil Fuchs, who designed our Edwardian stamps. He was in England for many years, but is now a permanent resident in New York, and was the designer of the beautiful plaque which served for the medals of the New York Stamp Exhibition.

A GREAT ORGANISER

In most respects the organisation of the exhibition was an advance on anything that has been done before. But there were not wanting signs here and there that there were "too many cooks," all very capable ones. The method of checking the valuable exhibits as received and through every process up to the return to senders was exceptionally good, and was devised by that genius for organisation, Mr. Hugh M. Clark, of the Scott Stamp and Coin Co. The lay-out of the great hall was structurally fine, but in arranging the stamps in the cases an old trap familiar to most of us who had much to do with exhibitions, set the exhibits starting off from right to left, that is to say, backwards, and very confusing at times to the spectator. All the more confusing because the frames were of such immense size. The catalogue was a fine and well-produced volume of 288 pages, and the edition of 5,000 was sold right out before the end of the show and a special condensed catalogue was provided for visitors towards the end of the week. The affixing of cards over the exhibits announcing the awards would have added to the public interest in many of the displays, but this feature usually associated with Continental shows was not followed in America.

SIDE SHOWS

If the general exhibition arrangements left little room for improvement, the side shows could have been worked up better. Special lectures were given afternoon and evening by prominent American and visiting philatelists. The lecturers walked in to their tasks mostly unheralded, and their audiences generally assembled in irregular fashion. A bell rung or an announcement made a few minutes before the commencement would have got the audience together at the start, and would have reduced the number of interruptions from newcomers entering by a door at the lecturer's side and passing him to get to their seats. On the first occasion that I lectured, there was a constant din of trolleys careering the length of the low ceiling above and making speaking difficult.

Of the other functions, the official banquet of the Exhibition was not so well organised as the several banquets and dinners in connection with the Convention of the American Philatelic Society. The latter were all very bright functions and the speeches and musical programmes at them were entertaining. But to embark upon any details of American hospitality, which was so bountifully showered on all the visitors, would tend to lengthen the present article unduly, and must be left for another occasion. We had nothing but kindness from everyone, and all vied with each other in the effort to make us enjoy every minute of our stay in New York, and indeed in every other city we visited.

RARE U. S. COIL

3c Perf. 10, Scott's No. 445

One of the most evasive of the late stamps is the 3c violet sideways coil, issue of 1914, perf. 10, Scott's #445. Heretofore my stock of this variety has been limited to a few copies that I have picked up from time to time in the collections that I have purchased. I have recently acquired a small lot and can furnish superb copies at $1.50 a stamp. If you are not so particular as to condition and want one slightly off center—the kind found in the average collection, I can furnish these at half catalogue, namely, $1.00 each. Pairs and strips are available on the same basis. If you want a joint, pair or strip, there is no extra charge, but if you want the line variety, add 50c extra. All of these are mint and as fresh as the day they were issued and have never been hinged.

Open your album to this page and see if you lack this coil. If so, order early, for the little supply will not last long.

If you are looking for any other coils, I will be pleased to have your want list.

United StatesReport of Bureau Director

The annual report of the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, has just come to hand and as usual contains much of interest to the philatelist. We are told that the year upon which the Director reports eclipsed all previous records in the history of the plant. In 1919, when the war peak was reached, deliveries aggregated 447,464,105 sheets, whereas for the year just closed deliveries were made totaling 482,307,106. This included, of course, not only postage and revenue stamps but bonds, notes and other securities. The daily output of stamps if laid end to end would make a strip 915 miles long and the year's output so the report states would reach eleven times around the world. The stamps produced in a year if worked into one piece would make a patch work of over twenty-seven 100-acre farms. If these stamps were equally distributed among every man, woman and child in the United States, each would receive one hundred sixty stamps. The cost of producing these stamps is approximately one cent for every one hundred twenty-five stamps.

Upward of a page is devoted to a new process involved in making book stamps, which results in a considerable saving to the Department.

Of the regular postage stamps, the smallest number of any denomination delivered to post offices happened to be 1,500 copies of the $5 green perf. 10. It is noted that of the current $5, three hundred forty-seven sheets were distributed. The last of the 6c air mail stamps totaling 10,000 were sent to postmasters.

Of the Huguenots 50,000 5c were issued and twice this number of each of the 1c and 2c. The Norse-American deliveries for the 2c and 5c totaled 236,983 and 158,483 respectively. The Ericsson stamps exceeded 20,000,000, while the Sesqui-Centennial amounted to about a quarter of a billion. As is usual, the delivery of the 30c Postage Due was much smaller than any other denomination, only 280,300 making their appearance. The nearest approach is the 50c, of which 2,143,600 reached the postmasters.

In the case of Canal Zone deliveries, there were 100,000 of the 17c, half this quantity of the 20c and 300,000 of the Sesqui-Centennial. Of the Postage Due, 50,000 of each denomination were delivered and as there is one of the 1c "ZONE ZONE" on every sheet of four hundred, this means that there are likely to be five hundred of these errors in existence if some of them have not been destroyed.

Deliveries to the Philippines totaled slightly in excess of 44,000,000 stamps, running from 50,000 of the 4 peso to 30,000,000 of the 2 centavo.

Among the Revenue stamps, I note a variety that I have never seen, namely, the playing card series of 1922 Class A over-printed "Virgin Islands." Ten thousand of these have been issued. It is surprising that in excess of 20,000,000 stock transfer stamps were issued, whereas of the common Future Delivery but 620,540 left the Bureau during 1926. I judge this to be due to the fact that a large number of the small denominations are used in the case of the stock transfer varieties. Documentary stamps exceeded 15,000,000. We must have used a great number of playing cards, for about 42,000,000 stamps were delivered to the manufacturers, which means about two or three packs for every family in the country. A half million cigarette tubes were sold to manufacturers so that quite likely this stamp will be rather common in time.

In a recent auction sale a 2c Executive overprinted "Specimen" in an imperforate condition was offered. The stamp had excellent margins on all sides. I recently owned a 3c State overprinted in similar condition. I feel that these two varieties are worthy of mention, although it is my personal opinion that they are single copies with trimmed perforations. I have never heard of a pair of any Department in imperforate condition either with or without overprint, with the exception of the 3c War on soft paper, which by the way is an exceedingly rare variety.

BRITISH SOLOMON ISLANDS.—Mr. L. Meister reports the appearance of the 2sh on script watermarked paper.

CHINA.—We are informed by Tsan Wen Wan of Peking that Chinese stamps have been overprinted with a horizontal line of Chinese characters meaning "Yunnan Province." He advises us that the value of money in Yunnan is so very low that these words are printed upon the stamps to prevent people purchasing in that province in using or selling in other provinces. The values range from 1/2c to $2 and were placed on sale August 1.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts advise of these two new colors on script watermark paper: 4c orange and 6c carmine.

FRANCE.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us copies of the 1c olive postage due stamp of 1908-10 with the surcharge "60c" in black and the 10c violet of the same series with the overprint "50c" also in black. Two parallel bars obliterate the former value.

PORTUGAL.—Under date of Dec. 3rd last, Messrs. H. & G. H. Jopling advise that the surcharges on the Independence set of Portugal were printed after being authorized by the Portuguese Government in Decree 12,709 for use on the last two days the set is on sale, namely, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1, because the stock in the Mint, of some values (left over from the last issue on Aug. 13th and 14th) was not sufficient for the requirements on the above two days and the following were surcharged: 100,000 $02 on $05, 30,000 $02 on $46, 30,000 $02 on $64, 40,000 $02 on $75, 30,000 $03 on $75, 50,000 $03 on $96, 50,000 $03 on $1.00, 20,000 $04 on U.S.A.--Foreign 19th & 20th--Original Covers, Etc.

We list below just a little something for everyone, covering both cent uries generally, with a few lots for the specialist in covers and cancellation material. Particular attention is called to the cancellation material of U. S. which is absolutely exceptional.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes: "I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says: "I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

Precancel Exhibits At New York

By N. R. HOOVER.

The Exhibits at the Stamp Exhibition in the Precancel Stamp Society sections were so very fine a brief analysis of what they contained will probably be of interest to precancel collectors.

S. J. Jones, Santa Maria, California: This was an unusual exhibit in that it contained so many items seldom seen. The early commemoratives were striking. Louisiana Purchase stamps from Lowell and Salem, Mass., are scarce and Jones had them there. Chicago on the Jamestown set was another combination of note. The 1902 1 cent triangle of Lexington, Kentucky, was there. So was the Glastonbury, Ct., G. on the 3 cent 1869 but not on cover. Who has the Barre, Ver., on the 10 cent Eagle Registry? His Globe, Arizona 24 cent aeroplane was striking. Jones' exhibit of $1.00, $2.00 and $5.00 of the comparatively modern issues was probably the largest collection of these rare things ever brought together. It was superb. To get an idea of the strength of Jones' high values, there were four of the 1902—$2.00, five of the 1902—$5.00, three of the blue $2.00, 19 of the bi-color $2.00 and three of the bi-color $5.00, from as many different post offices.

L. R. Saunders' display was made up mostly of a very fine Harding collection and of some extremely interesting Minneapolis split-plates. A strip of eight carrying the split throughout was an odd piece. The broken letter M of Minneapolis was strong in Saunders' exhibit.

Louis Sinise of Altoona, Pa., was represented in a display of late commemoratives, chiefly in blocks of four of Liberty Bells, Ericssons, Hug-Wals and Hales. He has accomplished something remarkable in 1922 30 centers, a feat not as easy as appears at first thought.

President Parker showed from his famous Nebraska collection his extraordinary Lincoln division. This is just about as complete of this city as exists. Such unusual pieces as 1902 13 cent inverted, 1917 1 cent strip of three with two double, 10 cent eagle registry, 15 cent parcel post double and 15 cent and 25 cent parcel post inverted were there. Parker surely is the leading Nebraska specialist of the land.

To J. L. Cooke of Cedar Knolls, N. J., we were indebted for the privilege of viewing two pages of red, purple and blue cancellation, mostly evasions of the postal laws but all these are legitimate evasions. His three pages of double red Chicagos, quite unusual, were excellent. Two odd pieces were in this exhibit: 1 cent New York, N. Y., double horizon-

Fred Raff's famous Chicago dated were there. This collection, undoubtedly the best there is anywhere, was practically complete. I suppose fine checking would find a hole here and there but without such checking it would be impossible to detect anything missing in the pages upon pages of major and minor items.

Here for instance could be seen the four cent 1894 Lincoln in the dark brown shade. Also there were three copies of the 3-1 1898 10 cent green Clay inverted, extremely rare.

Walter L. Gates in his exhibit attempted very creditably to present a type of symposium of precancels from 1879 to date. The Glastonbury, Ct., was there off cover, one cent 1887 Burlington, Vt., five cent Calla, O. Columbian, the only one known, 10 cent 1898 Salem, Mass., 10 cent 1894 Northampton, Mass., very scarce, eight cent inverted St. Paul, Minn., Pan American, four cent inverted Providence, R. I., Pan American. For rarities as well as oddities Gates' exhibit was unusual.

The greatest exhibit of dated Binghams in existence was there. It is owned by Allan R. Brown of New Rochelle, N. Y. It lacks less than a dozen of all that the catalog shows and some of those are questioned by the leading authorities as never having existed. Also it has some which aren't yet in the catalog. I doubt if this collection of Brown's could ever be duplicated as he has all that Dr. Mitchell once owned together with what he had before.

V. W. Rotnem's Philadelphia collection was shown. This also is the best there is in existence of a particular city. Mr. Rotnem tells me it is practically complete. To show how good it is, it even contains the five cent error on business label cover. There was a two cent Lincoln block of four containing two varieties of line spacings. The famous broken plate was in evidence in a large assortment of varieties. Mr. Rotnem also showed a miscellaneous array of early bars from many towns.

Uncle Bob Sharp of Atlanta presented a large and effective display of Hardings arranged effectively and uniquely.

B. C. Wear of Los Angeles, Calif., devoted his space to errors. These were charming and alluring. There were such things as three cent offset NeCook, Neb., paired with McCook, two cent Harding 10x10 Cloguet, Minn., one cent 1917 Austin, Aexas, one cent Pilgrim, Hindbsoro, Ill., paired with Hindsboro, one cent Clayton, Del., rotary with 1 in Clayton inverted.

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

In all these exhibits it was surprising how few forgeries there were. These men know their stamps. It is almost a story itself to tell of our experiences in mounting the exhibits and, after the show, in getting them away from New York.

We did nothing about mounting them until John Spaulding arrived the Friday night before the Exhibition opened up. Then my brother, John and I went up to 46th & Lexington. We found nine-tenths of the exhibits up and in place. Guards stood over us while we put our exhibits in place and the frames. Guards watched the carpenters when they placed the glass and screwed down the frame edge. Promptly at 10:30 we were chased out. John finished the mounting Saturday morning.

When the show was over the following Monday morning, Mr. Gates and I officiated over the obsequies. All the exhibits were down and packed in our bin. It was our task to sort, wrap, pack all exhibits in one bundle addressed to Spaulding who was to check them through to destination.

There in an ante room working beside Arthur Hind's secretary, Mr. Lichtenstein, Mr. Konwiser, Mr. Clark and Mr. Bartels, we checked everything out to a sheet and with a $5,000.00 insurance on the precious package got them all away to New Berlin by noon that day. As Mr. Gates and I went off the exhibition floor and looked across the waste of empty frames and paper debris we both experienced the same reaction,—the passing of something the like of which we will probably never again see, something of peculiar lure and interest to us, a milestone in our philatelic life.

ACCURATE MILLIMETRE SCALE

By H. M. JONES.

Regarding Mr. Applegate's want of an accurate millimetre scale, as mentioned in your issue of Dec. 13th, I have a flexible steel scale 10 c.m. long (about 4 inches) and a trifle under ½ inch wide. One side is plain. The reverse side, on one edge, is graduated in millimetres and the other edge in half mms.

These scales are "engine-divided" and are accurate to within a few ten thousandths of an inch. The cost is about 60 cents and they are made by the following makers of fine tools:—Brown & Sharpe Mfg. Co., Providence, R. I.; Sawyer Tool Co., Fitchburg, Mass.; L. S. Starret Co., Athol, Mass. One of these scales is also useful for checking perforation gauges, which are subject to the same inaccuracies as Mr. Applegate complains of in the millimetre scales.

ODD ITEMS:—

CAN any reader give P. M. Wolsieffer, 2147 N. 21 St., Philadelphia, Pa., the present address of R. W. Taylor, formerly 4246 Kenmore Ave., Chicago, Ill.?

NUMBER 5 of the New Jersey Stamp News has reached us. It is an eight-page monthly published by J. L. Bedell Jr., Branchville, N. J., at 35c per year. A sample copy will no doubt be sent upon request.

F. B. TURPIN, 353 Strand, London, W. C. 2, Eng., is sending out a very ambitious 1927 pricelist. It is a book of a hundred pages and deals entirely with mint British Colonies of the 20th century. The price of the book is 25c. The illustrations are particularly fine.

WE acknowledge with pleasure the receipt of a subscription from the Galveston Philatelic Society for the Rosenberg Library of that city. We shall be very glad to acknowledge similar remittances from clubs or individuals.

HENRY C. MEYER 3d, New York City, renews his own subscription and sends in two new yearly ones. In the same day Dr. Serge Avazon sends in three new yearly subscriptions. All this is tangible aid for the 10,000.

WILLIAM BUTLER, 137 Gillard Av., Toronto 6, Can., has been appointed Secretary of the newly incorporated Canadian Philatelic Society. During the past two years the Society has advanced to the front rank of national philatelic organizations and the future looks rosy. Interested parties should communicate with Mr. Butler.

ACKNOWLEDGED with thanks:

Price lists that can be had on request from R. H. Mower, 12 Geary St., San Fran., Cal.; Stamp Studio, Morris Hts. Sta., N. Y. City, and Edw. Locher, Tegna, Switz. C. E. Nickels, 213 Seaton Pl., N. E., Wash., D. C., is sending out (price 10c) a very useful pamphlet about the Agency at Washington.

THE Pearl Harbor Weekly (Near Honolulu) of the 14th Naval District, has recently instituted a section entitled "With the Stamp Collectors." It is edited by Pvt. Allyn H. Wright, of the Marine Corps.

IF H. VOGEL will send us his street and city address we shall be glad to send him the desired book. Perhaps some reader can tell us where the Lagerloef Trading Co. is located.

PARAGUAY "revolution" forgeries.

Any parties having bought these stamps from P. V. Hiordan will please send with proof of payment to Tom V. Binmore, Secretary A.S.D.A., Steinway Sta., L. I. City, N. Y.

THE Cincinnati Collectors Club were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Albert E. Hussey and their daughter Helen at an enjoyable Christmas party December 22. Santa distributed appropriate gifts and what with the refreshments and the contesting of the stamp games, a good time was had by all.—F. L. SCHMALZ.

THE service men of the Pearl Harbor

Navy Yard, near Honolulu, are contemplating the organization of a Pearl Harbor Philatelic Society, which will be sponsored by the Navy Y.M.C.A. There has been a sudden increase of interest in stamp collecting among the service men.

WESTERN FRANKS

On entire envelopes of 1861, 1864 and 1870 issues. Not often we have enough to make them worth advertising, but here are a few hundred from a recent "find". We offer them as follows:

1864 Pacific Union Express, 3c pink on white	Good.	Fine
The same, on buff paper	$1.00	$2.00
1864 Wells Fargo Express, on white or buff, each	1.00	2.00
Same, printed across end of cover	.75	1.50
1870 Wells, Fargo Exp. 3c green on white or amber	1.25
1887 Wells Fargo in Mexico 10c red on white	.30	.60

SPANISH WAR "PATRIOTICS"

Another side-line pretty hard to locate in quantities. From three sources we have gotten together a very nice lot, mostly fresh and fine. Have a dozen varieties at each $1.25. Others, too few to list, at $1.50 to $2.50. Ask about them.

NESBIT ENTIRES, 1853-1864

From original sources we have accumulated a very nice lot of these early entires. They are quite unexpired for die varieties other than the listed types. Also some nice cancellations. Just

UNITED STATES CANCELLATIONS, 1870-1900

By DR. WM. EVANS, 313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

This time a little excursion into the field of botany.

The first leaf seems to have been intended to follow nature, and resembles somewhat one shown by Mr. Atherton a few weeks ago, as having been used at Waterbury, Conn. Remarks regarding the next four are unnecessary, except to say that the fifth one is conventionalized.

No. 6 is odd, Nos. 7 and 9 are two forms of conventional leaves in their elemental forms. There are many other forms of this character to be found, some of them even simpler than these.

And No. 10 is undoubtedly a conventional flower of very elaborate design. It's a 2c 1883—alas, somewhat injured in one corner. All of the others are on 3c green.

Another red-brown. Postmark, New Lebanon, Ohio, at top, W. A. Weaver, P. M., at bottom, surrounded by a double circle, the outer one with small notches. The date is in the center in three lines, surrounded by a circle. The cancellation is the small shield with bar sinister shown in issue of July 5, No. 5. Color of the two magenta, and one more 2c red-brown postmarked Roaring Brook, Luzerne Co., Pa., in a double circle, with another circle surrounding the date, which is in three lines "4—FEB—1886." The obliterator is a colorless star in a round solid block surrounded by a circle. The stamp is placed so that both the postmark and the obliterator tie it. And the color is pink! Superlatively excellent!

A 3c green on cover postmarked South

Information of places using any of them urgently desirable.

Mr. Paul F. Wentz's solution of the problem of the identification of No. 6, in the issue of Oct. 4, is that it is an old English W, which sounds reasonable. Commenting on No. 6 in the issue of Oct. 18, Mr. E. G. Ham, informs us that there is a Greek Letter Society known as Sigma Chi. Now who can tell us where some member of it was Postmaster in the late 70's and used his Society initials as an obliterator for stamps?

2c 1883, Hebron, Indiana, green postmark and four ring target.

Same stamp with Kent Island, Md., postmark, and four ring target almost the same shade of brown as the stamp.

Orange, N. J., cancelled 77, No. 3, in the issue of Sept. 13, instead of No. 2, as I reported it a few weeks ago, in error.

A 3c green postmarked Canisteo, N. Y., with a tiny maltese cross on each side, all surrounded by a circle, inside another circle around the date MAR—21—1878 in three lines. The obliterator, a solid five pointed star, which ties the stamp. It's magnificent.

And a 1c 1887 cancelled by two heavy horizontal bars, evidently precancelled. No postmark but has the ad of a firm at Mansfield, Ohio. What about it, precancellites?

L. A. Heilman sends a 3c green from Walden, N. Y., cancelled by a wheel with eight heavy cogs, and a hollow center. Another of his items is a 3c green Continental cancelled BEAR in a circle and postmarked Erie & Pitts R. R., both in purple. Who can tell the significance of the cancellation? Another stamp of the same issue is cancelled by a bull's eye and postmarked Ft. Madison, Iowa

This is purple, too. And there are several new R. R. postmarks to add to the list.

Next there is Greencastle, Ind., in purple, with a pair of 3c Continental cancelled by three bars and a K, one stamp damaged. Clinton, Ind., on a 3c buff stamped envelope has an octagonal postmark, in magenta, dated 1878, and another dated 1879 is black, and two 3c Continental from Sagerstown, Pa., have octagonal postmarks dated 1877.

Besides these there are some new R. R. covers for the next list, and some pre-stamp covers which are interesting. One of the R. R.'s is MI—& ST. P. R. R. which I take to be Milwaukee & St. Paul. Any objection to that?

One of the pre-stamp covers has a large "3—CENTS" in two lines in upper left and the regular N. YORK AM. PKT postmark with the figures 24 at the top. On the back is a Liverpool postmark dated No 11 1857. Very late for a letter without a stamp.

There are three covers with the word INDIA in a rectangular frame in red. One of these is dated in 1848. A large red 12 is stamped on the face and a red postmark which is not to be read. On the back are two Liverpool postmarks, one blue with A at the bottom, the other black with G instead of A. Both dated Ju 3 1848. In a small black oval is the date Ju 3, above which is L and below it M., and besides these a round postmark in red. At the top is R. R., in the center 1 Ju 1, and at the bottom 1848. An interesting collection of markings.

On the face of the second one is the regular New York postmark. On the back in a red rectangle GPO and below this some letters not decipherable, with a line separating the two. A red postmark has at the top Z N separated by a design, below this 23 SE 23, and at the bottom 1852.

The third also has the regular New York postmark, and in the upper left corner the figures 65. On the back a red postmark, and a large red rectangle reading CALCUTTA G. P. O. SHIP LETTER 7 JAN 7 1852 in five lines.

Then there is a cover postmarked Perrys Landing, Tex., in ink, which has a pale brownish color and certainly was not printers' ink. It is dated 1879. Doubtless the postmaster was compelled to furnish his own ink, and used what he could get.

"I WROTE you on Nov. 17, telling you of the difficulty I was then experiencing in securing the filling of an order sent by me on Sept. 24 to the Philatelic Agency in Ottawa. You published my letter in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS on Dec. 13. In the meantime, on Nov. 27, I received the stamps ordered with a letter explaining the delay, which has been due to greatly increased activity in the Ottawa office due to radical changes in the Canadian postal rates. In justice to the Canadian Post Office Department, will you kindly give as much publicity to this letter as you did to my former one."—COL. ARTHUR P. S. HYDE.

"YOU might be interested to know that Mr. Philip Ward, Jr., has offered his services in making up the First Day Cover section of the new Air Mail Catalog. The Air Mail data is being checked by Mr. George W. Angers and Rev. Thatcher Kimball and others. It would be difficult to find three enthusiasts more qualified to handle these departments."—HOLCOMB YORK.

THE "GEORGE WALCOTT" COLLECTION

The following are now priced and approval books can be sent to collectors known to me or after usual references.
20th Century stamps are priced 30% to 50% under catalogue prices to clear them out of my stock and all issues will be found priced very reasonably in order to effect quick sales. All are unused unless otherwise noted.

PARAGUAY

1870-1918. All unused and include a few of the scarce Provisionals of 1878 and many scarce stamps in the issues of 1908.

PERU

1857-1917. The early issues include the Pacific Steam Navigation Co.'s stamps on blue paper. The 1858, 1 peseta, unused very fine. The error Medio Peso rose, used, and the Medio yellow, and a good general lot of the Provisionals of 1880-1883.

PORTUGAL

1853-1920. Practically complete in straight varieties in unused state with the exception of the 100 reis of 1853. Exceptionally fine copies.

ROUMANIA

1858-1919. All unused, good sets of the 1859 to 1862 on laid and wove paper, and the later issues practically complete in straight varieties.

RUSSIA

1857-1915. In the early issues there is the imperf. with gum and the set of the three stamps with watermark of 1858 all unused. Later issues almost complete in straight varieties.

SERVIA

1866-1918. A good general collection.

SPAIN

1850-1910. Here a number of the rarer stamps are used but the great bulk of the collection is unused. There are such scarce items as the 2 reales of 1852 and 1853. The 3 cuartos of 1853 both unused and used, 1 real light blue of 1854. Inverted centers of the 1865 both imperf. and perf. and a good general lot of later issues nearly all of which are unused.

SWEDEN

1853-1916. A remarkably nice lot of the Skillings Banco including the 3 green unused and three unused shades of the 24 red. The "Tretio" error used and most other issues unused in fine shades.

SWITZERLAND

1845-1920. In the Cantonal stamps there are the Basle unused and used, Zurich 4 rappen both with horizontal and vertical lines, the Vaud 4c and several copies of most of the other scarce varieties. The issues from the silk threads onwards are nearly all unused.

URUGUAY

1850-1912. A nice lot of these popular stamps. In the first issue "Diligencia" we have the 60c pale and indigo blue and several copies of the other values. In the 1858 there are three shades of the scarce 120c blue. The later issues are practically all unused in fine shape.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

We have received a great many Christmas and New Year cards from our subscribers and advertisers, and they have come from all points of the compass. It would take a great deal of space to make individual mention of all who have thus favored us. Some are a bit more out of the ordinary than others. From A. W. Dunning of Wilmington, N. C., greetings were extended with a box of nice pecans. Charles Lathrop Pack sent us a pretty token in the form of a story entitled "Travels of an English Christmas Tree." Herman W. Boers mailed his renewal of subscription with a card that bore the Yuletide greetings. A card of unusual beauty was received from the British dealer Frank Godden. Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Diamant of St. Louis sent greetings, upon which were mounted two sets of stamps, one from Syria, and the other from Lebanon.

We feel under great obligations to our many friends who thus favored us at the Christmas season.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. METER, SLOGAN AND POSTMARK

By SEVARD

"I never expect anything and therefore I am never disappointed," said the French bon mot parlist. Who will be first to find the rotary press imperforate precancelled?

One sees a reason for precancelling the Liberty Bells and Ericssons, for in the past few months, a number of local stations have refused to accept them for counter trade. It is queer how many of the cash stamp customers do object to licking a few more millimeters in tongue mileage.
So far, we have had no White Plains conscientious objectors!

And those who live in cold climates—excepting the possibilities of a Hot Stove League—have noted that the rotary press ribbed gum has a tendency to curl and in some cases, crack the gum. We have seen a sheet almost in ribbons—like the lanterns we cut in Froebel days of kindergarten.

The 15c Air Mail stamp is A. W. O.
L. on our mail both coming and going.
Two copies have been counted since their ovulation.

"Any collector knows why there are three different triangles on the 2c 1894" addressed a stamp annoyer one meeting, to which sixty collectors nodded their heads in assent. Oh! yes-yes-yes-yes!
He also said that any fool knew the Roman X on the 10c 1847 was changed to the Arabic ten in 1861. Platonic logic was well worth knowledge—to comprehend!

And revenues used as postage! Who hasn't been offered one, especially the Battleships on cover? They are usually the 1c or 2c revenues. We have the last issue of revenues postally used, of course, in connection with insured parcels, and as such are quite interesting, with ovals, registered, etc., neatly cancelled over them. At times, these revenues were used for postage too, thru error. We recall only one case when they were absolutely used for postage by reason of the paucity of postage stamps. The historical value of a cover like that is only the knowledge, or recollection of the influenza epidemic of 1919-1920. What history is not portrayed in stamp collecting?

And someone always shows an oddity in a bisect! We have picked up quite a few that others have cast away, bisects of 1894, 1902, 1908 and many later issues.
The idea is carried on even today much to the disparagement of philatelists. It speaks well of our postal authorities to note that in almost every case a due stamp is attached to the cover.

Recently a query re A.E.F. postmarks was asked. In many cases the duplex handstamp was used, the 24mm or 25mm townmark with top legend U. S. Army, U.
S. Army POSTAL SERVICE, U. S. POSTAL AGENCY and bottom legend POSTAL SER-VICE, SIBERIA or No. — showing the number of the post office. In the auxiliary mark was the usual "I" or a blank or the post office number.

DEATH OF MR. EDWARD M. TAYLOR

B. W. H. POOLE.

It is with very great sorrow I have to report the sudden death of Mr. Edward M. Taylor. Of a modest and retiring disposition Mr. Taylor did not seek the philatelic limelight, but was nevertheless one of America's foremost collectors. His collection of Mexico is undoubtedly one of the most extensive and finest ever made, and his Bolivia, which secured the philatelic research award at the 1913 New York Exhibition, is without an equal. Mr. Taylor was chiefly interested in American stamps and at various times amassed wonderful collections of Paraguay, Nicaragua, Colombia Republic, Canal Zone, Danish West Indies and Panama. His United States and Hawaiians, dispersed some years ago, were also a remarkable lot and included many rarities of the first water. He was also interested in Montenegro, and his collection of these could hardly be duplicated. Mr. Taylor came of good old Quaker stock and was greatly beloved by all who had the privilege of knowing him. Personally his loss is a severe blow to me for we had been intimate friends for a great many years.

S. P. A. OFFERS $100 PRIZE

The Exchange Manager for the Society of Philatelic Americans announces that the year 1927 will witness the distribution of $100 worth of credit in the department as prizes for the members participating. There will be fourteen prizes in all, comprising twelve monthly prizes of $5 each, and first and second prizes for the year of $25 and $15.
Prizes will be awarded for the largest number of points under the rules of the competition. The manager of the Department, Wm. Wyer, 1425 Forest St., and we take pleasure in adding his name to our list of members.

We welcome also Hermann Focke, 82
Beaver St., N. Y. City. Mr. Focke's name is a very familiar one with many of our readers. In the days when the Managing Editor conducted the new issues department he had no correspondent more faithful than Mr. Focke, and from that time to this our subscribers have been edified by frequent contributions from his pen. Our issue of Dec.
27, gave evidence of his splendid co-operation through his article on the 1c on worthy addition to the Honor Club.

EDITORIAL

The remarks recently in this column by Mr. Applegate who told of his unsatisfactory experiences with some of the millimeter scales have not passed unheeded; and we have several letters. Mr. Hayden Palmer, Reno, Nevada, writes as follows: "Mr. Applegate raises the question of accuracy in millimeter scales. Mechanically no scale is or ever can be exact but must vary with physical conditions, such as temperature, humidity, etc.; and consequently, no absolute degree of accuracy can be expected from the ordinary cheap paper or celluloid variety. However, such scales as are manufactured for usage by engineers are calibrated with care under physical conditions approximating those under which the meter is standard. Any concern, such as Keuffel & Esser Company, 30 Second Street, San Francisco, California, can furnish a six-inch millimeter scale in a leather case for about two dollars which will be more accurate under conditions found in a stamp collector's den than any other that can be obtained outside of a physicist's laboratory. It will be noted that stamps printed from the same plate will often give different measurements due to paper shrinkage, plate expansion or contraction and other mechanical variations."

In a letter, Mr. H. S. Warburton, Detroit, submits a drawing of a Mexican label that bears a full-face portrait of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian; and he wishes to know what classification it falls under. Further, he asks if such a stamp is known. The sketch in question takes us back many years when these stamps were seen much oftener than they are today. There are two varieties of these Maximilian issues, one of which shows the emperor in an oval frame and the other "in oblong erect ornamental frame." It may be added that we quote from Dr. Gray's catalogue, fourth edition, 1866. These labels truly come under the head of essays or stamps prepared for use but never issued under competent authority. It is noticed that the "empire" issues of Mexico have the word, "postes" above the head and they are listed in the

In our last advertisement we spoke of Positive and Negative guarantees. We did not expect, at the time, to have an opportunity so soon to point out exactly what we meant, but the awards at the International Stamp Exhibition have given us the chance to make our point clear.

We might have said that the Scott Line of Blank Albums received the highest award—a Diploma of Silver Medal, And we would have been telling the truth. But, we would not have been telling all the truth, for the fact is that five other concerns shared this honor with us.

Of this we are glad. For now when we say that we challenge comparison between the Scott Line and any other blank album made you will realize that it is not because the other albums are poor—because they are all very good indeed, but because Scott, with the only plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Philatelic products, possesses the equipment, the experience, and the personnel to produce a product that invites comparison, and the more you know about blank albums, the more pleased we shall be to have you go into the matter in the most careful detail.

The Scott Line of Blank Albums sells from $6.00 to $12.00 in a variety of styles and sizes.

denominations of 15, 25 and 40 cent, in eight different colors. These essays are of historical interest and they have been the subject of attention from writers on Mexican issues.

Mr. Jack Young, Hankow, China, sends the Central China Post of November 15, 1926, with the following paragraph marked: "Six hundred designs have been submitted to the Australian Government for the Canberra commemorative stamp to be issued during the Duke of York's visit. Designs were sent from England, Scotland, Canada, United States and New Zealand. The prize winners are two Australians."

Mrs. Anita Fordyce writes from Hamilton, Bermuda, as follows: "If by any chance you have not seen Harpers' Magazine for November, I call your attention to 'Occupation: Journalist,' a south sea episode by James Norman Hall that was one of its attractions that month. On pages 682 and 683 are the words: 'I supposed that we should see no more of the captain . . . and having nothing better to do, I had been writing letters, to be posted at Hopéaroa with the curious island stamp.' The Polynesian name is Hopéaroa which means, 'The Farthest Land,' or more literally, 'The Very Last.' If this stamp exists in the realm of the imagination only, I cannot say but some of your readers may be able to identify it."

In 1911, the Philatelic Literature Society, London, published the Catalogue of the Philatelic Library of the Earl of Crawford, K. T., compiled by E. D. Bacon. The work was a monumental one of nearly one thousand pages double column and was accepted at once as a standard reference book that covered in an exhaustive way, its field in all its immensity. The acquisition of the library formed by John K. Tiffany of St. Louis by the Earl of Crawford with its wealth of detail bearing on the fugitive or unconsidered issues of stamp papers that were published up to the year of 1896, inspired the generous resolution of the Earl of Crawford to offer to the society permission to arrange for the publication of a special issue of the catalogue, after the original compilation which was circulated privately. Thus, the great volume became available and while the circulation of this "ponderous tome" was never general in this country, we do know that a number of discriminating collectors here obtained the book. They, as well as others, will be interested to know that the Provisional Council of the Philatelic Literature Society has recently published a Supplement to the Catalogue which has seventy-two pages, printed in double column, uniform with the original work. The Supplement may be obtained from Mr. H. F. Johnson, 44 Fleet Street, London, E. C. 4, England, for thirteen shillings, six pence, post free.

A complaint has been received from a dealer who describes a bit of sharp practice at the expense of one of his inexperienced customers. He says that in his opinion one or more swindlers is or are "planting" old collections that in various ways are brought to the attention of victims who are wheedled into buying under "high pressure" conditions. In view of the fact that many of the best stamps are repaired specimens, or worse, the bargain is a sorry one for the buyer. We suppose that the only comment to be made on a dodge of this kind is that the collector who buys from sources that are not readily identified must have his philatelic eye-teeth cut. While the right of anyone to sell a stamp collection is granted, the wise buyer should take the usual business precautions before parting with his money.

From Mr. Emil H. Swenson, Chicago, we have an envelope that was received by a business house in that city, from Ecuador that bears on the upper right corner, the following inscription, instead of a postage stamp: "Postmaster. According to Act of Congress, all mail from Ecuador Oriente goes free." Our correspondent wonders about this circumstance of "free postage" and he would like to know under what regulations it originates.

So many clippings are being received on the subject of stamps and collecting from outside newspapers and other publications that it is a formidable task to list them all. It is a source of gratification to find that in the editorial columns of several newspapers, mention is being made of collecting in approving words and it is seen with half an eye that these editors are well versed in the essentials of our specialty. A scrap-book containing a full representation of the notices that have been received during the past decade would be a most interesting and impressive volume and we trust that something of the kind is in existence as the possession of an astute collector.

printed circulars folded as letters were allowed to be sent by mail for two cents postage, provided they contained no writing but the direction and were sent unsealed. If a misprint occurs in the letter as putting a figure 6 for a 9 and this is corrected with a pen or pencil, the charm is broken and cheap postage is a myth and the spoiled circular is charged five or ten cents." No one who examines the old contemporary newspapers and other periodical literature of this country is unaware of the fact that our early postal management was subjected to many criticisms by those who studied the subject and the favorite charge that we were "backward" in postal reform had many proponents.

TRAILERS
Dr. W. I. Mitchell, Paonia, Colorado, has the kindness to say: "Regarding your answer to the inquiry about a catalogue of foreign envelopes in the issue of December 6th, I inform you that Bright & Son have published no catalogue of envelopes or other entires for twelve years, their last edition having appeared in 1914. The last Senf catalogue was published also the same year. The present standard catalogue of entires is the 'Grosser Ganzsachen Katalog,' published by the Berlin Entires Society, begun in 1925, published in parts, of which five have now appeared, containing all the countries from Abyssinia to Orange River; and the catalogue will soon be completed. This catalogue is the most exhaustive ever published and contains all stamped envelopes, registration envelopes, wrappers, postal cards, money-order cards and envelopes, official entires, etc., illustrated and priced both used and unused. This catalogue is in German, of course, and it is sold in this country by Eugene Klein of Philadelphia and myself at 45c a part, or volume I, containing the first four parts, Abyssinia to Middle Congo, bound in linen covers at $2.75, postpaid."

Mr. J. Rausch, San Francisco, writes: "I have just discovered that the 3c purple Lincoln of the present issue has a white cap on left and right figure 3."

From Francis J. Field, Limited, Sutton Coldfield, England, we have the explanation: "We have just read your interesting review of 'Indian Airways' and beg to advise you that at the author's request, we are the sole suppliers, wholesale and retail, of this book, as we hold the total issue." In this country, the book is obtainable from some of the air-mail dealers and the secretary of the Aero-Society here.

In the United Stamp Company Herald received recently, we find Liechtenstein given thorough treatment, with prices for the different issues and with a wealth of illustrations.

Here is an interesting example of editorial exploitation of "Postage Stamp Collecting" in a recent number of the influential Indianapolis Star:

"If the small boy collector of postage stamps needs arguments with which to convince his parents of the importance of his collection, and the need for funds with which to keep it up, he might have found them in plenty during the recent international philatelic exhibition in New York. Millions of dollars' worth of stamps were on exhibition. The United States Post Office Department has recognized the educational value of stamp collections and has established a bureau known as the philatelic agency, where collectors may obtain perfect specimens of postage stamps. This department also has issued from time to time commemorative series of stamps on the anniversaries of important events in American history, the most recent of these commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of White Plains having been issued just at the time of the international philatelic exhibition in New York.

The first commemorative stamp series was issued at the time of the Columbian exposition in 1893. Sixteen denominations of stamps ranging from 1 cent to $5 were put out, each presenting a scene from the life of Columbus connected with the discovery of the new world. "Columbus in Sight of Land," "The Landing of Columbus," "Soliciting Aid From Isabella" and "Welcomed at Barcelona" were among the subjects. The next series issued was the trans-Mississippi series in 1898, the stamps showing "Marquette on the Mississippi," "Farming in the West," "Indian Hunting Buffalo," "Hardships of Emigration" and others. The Pan-American issue in 1901 showed the advance of invention in engravings, showing "Fast Lake Navigation," "Fast Express Navigation," "Fast Ocean Navigation." The Louisiana purchase issue of five stamps in 1904 showed the faces of Livingston, Jefferson, Monroe, McKinley and a map. The three stamps of the Jamestown exposition issue in 1907 show Capt. John Smith, the founding of Jamestown and Pocahontas. The steamer Clermont adorns the stamp of 1909, issued in honor of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. The Panama-Pacific issue of 1912 shows Balboa, the Panama canal, the Golden Gate and the discovery of San Francisco bay. The more recent issues are the Pilgrim tercentenary of 1920, the Huguenot-Walloon tercentenary of 1924, the Lexington-Concord issue of 1925, the Norse-American centennial issue of 1925-26 and the Sesquicentennial issue of 1926.

When it is recalled that the collector studies the minutest detail of the stamp for any defect or peculiarity, it is understood that he must become familiar with the subject thereon portrayed. No further argument as to the educational value of stamp collecting should be needed. Enthusiastic collectors point out other information to be acquired. Geography, of course, is to be learned through collecting the stamps of other nations, but who would suppose that ornithology could also be studied in this way? Several countries, it seems, adorn their stamps with pictures of native birds; the Somali ostrich is found on the stamp of Abyssinia, the emu on that of New South Wales, the cassowary on North Borneo's stamp and the kiwi on that of New Zealand. The young collector may earn valuable lessons in art from the frequent discussions by connoisseurs on the most beautiful postage stamp designs. In fact, it would seem that there is no limit to the educational value of stamp collecting."

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Gossip

Karl Ebers of Rhinebeck, N. Y., sends us four West Virginia postmarkings in violet ink, and suggests that a list of them be chronicled. We can hardly take the space to do this, as they are so numerous, but commend Karl's enterprise in making this a sideline of his collection. In the same mail our office received a violet cancellation from Center Belpre, Ohio.

G. E. Hopkins, Jr.—Your study of the cancellations on the 3c green is very commendable. Buy a hundred or more and get a taste of the pleasure of specialism.

Morris Bennett, aged 13, sends us a poem not quite suited for our use. However, Morris likes the junior page so much that just for good fellowship we sent him a stamp award.

See if you can organize a stamp club in your vicinity, and write us the details. We want the boys and girls of every community to talk stamps and stamp collecting.

Juniors, this page belongs to you, and we shall be very glad to have you take advantage of it in any way that will lend interest to it.

Jerome L. Selig writes:—"I am glad to know the juniors are to be duly considered." Mr. Selig is president of the newly formed Fort Washington (N. Y. City) Junior Stamp Club, which meets Fridays from 3 to 5.30 at the local branch of the Public Library.

L. E. B.—The purpose of the grill was to prevent stamp cleaning. The embossing weakened the fibre of the paper, making it susceptible to the cancelling ink. The method was found cumbersome and soon given up by the P. O. Department.

Frank Terryman, 74 W. 68 St., N. Y. City, is trying to form a stamp club in his school. Good luck, Frank.

The 2c Pan-American invert at the New York Exhibition gave Leonard Sheiff, N. Y. City, a real thrill. Leonard was not the only one who feasted his eyes upon these stamps.

Some time ago we printed "The Why of the 13c Stamp" and gave thirteen reasons for this odd value. Wm. S. K. Jenkins, Methuen, Mass., sends us a reprint of the article which we therefore cannot use.

F. E. Kaplan of Philadelphia sends us a German local and asks us to identify it. We were very pleased to do so.

John F. Halleran, aged 15, South Portland, Me., has been collecting since he was a kid of five. He writes:—"I am the proud possessor of a fine 10c 1847."

Correspondents should note that it is the custom to enclose a stamped and addressed envelope where a personal reply is expected.

John Skrab, Sioux City, Iowa, and Seymour Rose, Chicago, Ill., both select Liberia as a favorite country, due to the varied and handsome stamps issued. Thanks, juniors, for your letters.

We received six entries in our Fiume contest. Naturally they are quite similar in make-up and we shall print but two, as submitted by Russell Hoff and Lyle Beal. We extend thanks to Boyd Higginson, F. B. MacMahon, Frank C. Smith and David C. Van Voorhis, Jr.

Edgar Welch, aged 16, sends us a specimen of the current 2c envelope in which Washington's eye is a tiny red dot. This is not new, but we thank Edgar for submitting it for our inspection.

James McH. Corbin, Schenectady, N. Y., wants information in regard to the Australian stamps that are perforated with initial letters, such as OS. These letters mean "On Service" and the stamps are intended for official use. While stamps regularly surcharged with these letters are listed in the catalog, those with perforated initials are not, and the latter possess no real financial value, though they do have a philatelic value.

Crosby Gray 3rd.—The 1c yellow King George Canada is current, and the parallel bars indicate a form of precancellation. It is an interesting variety but of no particular value. The specimen submitted by you is of the so-called coil variety.

Max Meire.—Your questions are of general interest, and we answer them as follows:—(1) Cut cancellations as such have no special interest to collectors. The smaller the cut the better collectors like it. (2) Perforated initials in stamps do decrease the value of the stamps. (3) We will cover "rouletted" soon in a special article. (4) The market value of a stamp is supposed to be the actual selling price. This may be but a fraction of the catalog price.

"Famous Germans Set"

Correspondence from Germany is now being franked with the new stamps, two of which are pictured above. On this set such notables as Kant, Goethe, Schiller, Lessing, Bach and Frederick the Great are shown.

United States Watermarks

The U. S. issues of 1908 and 1910 differ in the watermark only, the former having a double line USPS, while the latter have the single line watermark. When the catalogue describes these stamps as having these watermarks, it does not mean that each and every stamp shows the entire watermark. As a matter of fact, these letters are so spaced in horizontal rows across the sheet either normally or inverted, so that either one letter or parts of two or more letters usually fall upon a stamp. The double line watermark as a rule is most distinct and can be readily noted by means of benzine or carbons. When you have a stamp that shows little or no watermark, it is quite likely to be the single line variety.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

D'Annunzio Commemoratives

(Designs printed Dec. 13 issue)

By LYLE E. BEAL.

D'Annunzio was a warrior poet who captured and held the city of Fiume while negotiations were going on in neighboring countries as to who should possess it. These stamps were issued to commemorate D'Annunzio's occupation of the city.

The designs represent: 1. D'Annunzio's sword cutting the Gordian Knot. 2. A flowing jar of water (the word Fiume means streams). 3. A personification of Fiume wearing a crown of thorns. 4. A group of hands grasping daggers, a tribute to D'Annunzio's volunteers.

Russell Hoff on Fiume

(Set illustrated Dec. 13)

This set of Fiume stamps was issued under D'Annunzio who captured Fiume in November, 1919. On September 12, 1920, these stamps were put in use. They are Scott's Nos. 100 to 103. The first stamp represents D'Annunzio's sword cutting the Gordian Knot. The second, the arms of Fiume: a flowing jar of water (the word Fiume means streams). The third stamp is a personification of Fiume wearing a crown of thorns. The fourth shows a group of hands grasping daggers, a tribute to D'Annunzio's volunteers who helped him capture Fiume. Many other sets followed and this became one of the many sets issued during Fiume's checkered Philatelic career.

A MACEDONIAN CALL FOR HELP

By H. C. FLIERL.

The Buffalo Stamp Club is all het up over a predicament one of its members is in, and it certainly is some "predic." This member, a prominent young M.D., goes around with a dejected air, is fast losing weight, and comes to the club in fear and trembling, lest one of the members has bagged his game — and no wonder.

On one of the "Doc's" rambles in and around Buffalo, and believe me he is some rambler, he happened to stop at the proverbial old farm house, and casually asked for any old letters with stamps on. "Old stamps" said the farmer, "I dunno, but I reckon I might have. Lem-me see, I think there's part of a sheet around here, but they hain't ever been cut apart yet, so I guess them aint the kind you want."

By this time "Doc's" heart was hitting on all six, as visions of New Yorks, 5- and 10-cent 47s, and all the 51's went flashing by, and he said he would be glad to look at the "sheet" anyway.

So, after some delay, the old farmer invited our hero into the house and after fumbling around an old desk in the parlor, returned with the family Bible and, carefully opening it, took out a folded paper, yellow with age, and handed it to the doctor. Doc opened it up very carefully and, lo and behold, before his astonished gaze lay a beautiful block of eight 5-cent 47s. Think of it, two vertical rows of four, four horizontal pairs! Fine color, grand margins, o.g., superb, grand, and glorious! Was Doc surprised? Ask him!

And that's where the trouble began. Doc didn't know whether to offer the farmer $5.00 or $500.00. If he offered $5.00 he thought perhaps the farmer would laugh at him, and if he offered $500.00 he thought the farmer might call the state troopers, so he asked the farmer how much he wanted for the "sheet", and the farmer replied: "Wal, I dunno as I care to sell the darn thing, it's been in the family so long, it's like one of us." So the

HER STAMP START

By A Girl of '73.

It is over fifty years since I gave a jolly licking to a brand-new U. S. Executive Department stamp and pasted it flat in an old copy book. It had been given me by a very young but very ardent admirer who was then page in the Senate. It was my very first stamp, and never in the years that have passed in joys and sorrows since, has my enthusiasm abated, nor my stamp album left behind in my travels. A day later I pasted another at its side—a Blood's Penny Post, which first had to be washed and ironed to smooth out the creases made by being in a boy's pocket along with top and marbles. Those were the days when girls did not collect stamps—they begged and swapped buttons for their "charm string." So my source of supply was from my brother's boy-friends, all of whom, to me, were awfully stingy with their old stamps.

How lovingly we spelled out "Hungary" and "Grease" above the page that might hold some single specimen, torn, worn, dirty perhaps, but oh my! a stamp from so far away, we had to go to the geography to place the treasure. The boys and girls of today cannot imagine what "European" attached to things added to their value. Africa was a black spot in the mind, Asia an uncharted country, and people just getting courage enough to go by train for California over the Union Pacific.

You will smile when I tell you that my girl-chum, a collector by my force, insisted in writing a black "R" with good ink on the middle of every one of her stamps. I remember she rather marred a pretty good row she had of grilled square U. S. issue of 1869. But no one cribbed her stamps! And we pasted everything tight, with mucilage—oh, the pleasure we took in pasting them. For no one at that date, save the rich dilettante, thought of buying a stamp!

RARE U. S. COIL

3c Sidewise, Perf. 10, Scott's No. 445

A coil stamp that has always been desirable and one that is generally difficult to locate in fine mint condition is the 1914 3c sidewise coil, perf. 10, printed from the flat plate, Scott's #445. It was issued at a time when the domestic rate of postage was 2c and like its predecessor, the 3c of 1910, appeared in comparatively small quantities. There was little use for a 3c stamp—hence, it was not necessary for the Department to produce very many. Then, too, when the perforations on the coils were changed, there was a substantial quantity of the perf. 8 1/2 on hand, which almost tided it over until the rotary press came into use. The few lying in the post offices, at the time little interest was taken in coils, were quickly used when the 3c domestic rate went into effect. As a result, today, when coils are popular, are listed by Scott as main varieties and places are provided for them in the albums, the demand is substantial, while supplies are exceedingly small.

Heretofore I have never had in stock more than a few copies of this variety at a time and these were gleaned from the collections that I have purchased. I have recently acquired a small but fine lot and superb copies of this stamp which lists at $2.00 are offered at $1.50 each. If you are not so particular as to condition, I can furnish a copy such as found in 90% of the collections at $1.00. Pairs and strips available on the same basis. If you want a so-called joint or paste-up pair or strip, there is no extra charge for the variety. If, however, you desire a fine variety, add 50c extra.

I hold today one of the finest stocks of coil stamps in mint condition in existence, and with the exception of a few of the earlier rarities, I can furnish practically everything. Want lists are solicited from serious collectors.

If you have anything superb in the way of United States postal or revenue issues, I am in a position to buy fine properties at substantial prices. Remember within the last year, that I have handled both the Sinkler collection of postage stamps and the Gibson collection of revenues—the finest lot of U. S. postage and revenues that have come upon the market in many years.

2c Rotary, Perf. 11 x 10 1/2

In further reference to the new 2c rotary print stamps recently described and perforated 11 x 10 1/2, I have just had an opportunity of inspecting a number of panes of one hundred. As previously stated, the pane of one hundred stamps is entirely surrounded by margins and differs from the previous issue in that the vertical perforations cut through the margins at both the top and bottom, although they are still imperforate at the sides as heretofore. The plate numbers that I have seen so far are numbers 18589 and 18763, although there are dozens of others in the large stock of twenty million sent to New York.

Over the Christmas Holidays, there was considerable complaint as to the rotary stamps. One of the Philadelphia papers carried a whole column devoted to criticisms from patrons of the post-office, who claimed that the stamps failed to properly adhere to letters and packages. The Department has been receiving complaints for many months and it is really a question as to whether the new perforation is going to produce a satisfactory stamp.

The complaint as to tearing is not so general as the one that the stamp curls in damp weather and does not properly stick to a package without a great amount of trouble. Large mail order houses using thousands find that it takes much more time to place these upon their circular letters than is necessary with the flat plate stamp. There is little doubt but what the Department would discontinue the rotary stamps if there was not such an enormous difference in the cost of production.

I have noticed both a light and dark shade in this variety. Mr. John N. Luff calls my attention to the fact that the design measures 19 1/4 x 22 3/4, whereas the previous perf. 11 from the rotary coil waste measures 19 3/4 x 22 1/4. These two stamps, which are quite similar in The difference in size, of course, is due perforations may, therefore, be distinguished by size as well as by perforation. To the fact that the old perf. 11 was a coil waste stamp and was curved differently in the production of the plate than is the stamp delivered in sheets of one hundred.

Air Mail Notes

On December 22nd the Second Assistant Postmaster-General announced that effective December 31st, service over contract air mail route No. 10, from Atlanta to Miami and return, will be temporarily suspended. This route has proven to be a losing proposition both to the Department and the contractor but it is expected that the service will be resumed just as soon as Atlanta is connected with New York via air.

On December 23rd the Postmaster-General announced that bids will be opened February 23rd next for the proposed New York to Atlanta commercial air mail route. The route finally selected by the Department from the three previously mentioned in this column is the New York via Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond and Greensboro to Atlanta. The Department has reserved the right to increase or decrease the number of intermediate stops or the number of round trips per week and to change the terminal of the route by agreement with the contractors. Flying will be entirely at night and planes leaving New York at 9.00 P.M. each evening will reach Atlanta at 6.00 A.M. the next morning. The distance is approximately 773 miles and the contractors will be paid 10c per ounce for carrying the mail.

The Postal Bulletin of December 28th contains a notice from the Postmaster-General dated December 23rd making the new rate of postage on air mail effective February 1, 1927. The new postal order No. 4961 gives a flat rate of 10c for each half ounce or fraction thereof. This applies on either the Government operated or contract air mail routes regardless of distance. Such postage further includes the transportation of the mail to and from the air mail routes. This order sounds the death knell of the 15c air mail stamp and those already printed are likely to be the last.

Guide I find that no other post-office in the United States has been named after this jolly old fellow. The postmaster at Santaclaus, which by the way is spelled as one word rather than our usual two, evidently appreciated that these letters were sent out as Christmas communications and postmarked them clearly.

Revenues, Inverted Centers

Among the most popular Revenues of our Civil War period are those with inverted centers and here of late increased interest has been taken in these emissions, resulting in materially increased prices. The Scott catalogue for 1927 lists and their latest album provides spaces for Proprietaries 1871 1c, 2c, 3c and 4c on both violet and green paper with inverted medallions. In recently discussing these stamps with Mr. H. L. Dean, who is possibly as well posted on our Revenue issues as any of our students today, he informs me that the 2c only is known on green paper, while the 1c, 3c and 4c are known on but violet paper. To date, the 2c on violet and the 1c, 3c and 4c on green have never been seen with centers inverted. All of these stamps are exceptionally scarce and the two high values may be classed as real rarities of which but few are known.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman sends for chronicle the following new issues of this country: Type of Scott's A58, 1fr yellow and 1fr50c bright blue, Tuberculosis issue, 5c+5c brown; 20c+5c red brown and 50c+5c violet. The latter stamps have "Belgium" at the top and "Belgie" at the bottom, while in the centre is the usual double bar cross and the Belgian lion at the right. Beneath is the inscription "Pro Tuberculis Belii" in three lines.

BERMUDA.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the 2 1/2p blue and 3p purple on yellow, script watermark.

BULGARIA.—Mr. R. Roberts in sending the new 2L stone, perf. 11 1/2, no watermark and the 10L sepia and dull red, perf. 11, no watermark, offers the following information:

2L printed unbroken sheets of 100, thick line top and bottom of sheet only, with inscription in Bulgarian at foot with sheet number.

This stamp is a revival to the old style with quite a pleasing appearance. I am informed that these 10L stamps are withdrawn from circulation as there is considerable public objection to these, because for the first time the inscriptions are in French as well as in Bulgarian, and there is an agitation on the part of certain nationalists to have the stamps re-engraved with French inscription removed.

There are a number of printing flaws noticeable on the sheets of the 2L, especially on the left vertical row, but this I think is more due to bad printing or rather bad workmanship in making ready, rather than actual plate varieties.

ECUADOR.—The railway line between Quito and Esmeralda, which will give the capital access to the sea, will soon be completed. and a special issue of the current stamps, suitably overprinted, will celebrate the event.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

EGYPT.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for note a 20m deep olive green. Express stamp of the motor bicycle design. Perf. is 13 1/2.

FRANCE.—Rev. J. Dreyer, S. M., writing to us under date of December 16th last advises that the 7 1/2c lilac, "Blanc" type, precancelled, was at first printed in insufficient quantities, hence permission was given to various French business concerns in Paris to use the 15c brown halved diagonally. The 90c on 1fr05c and the 1fr10c on 1fr40c are to be replaced by permanent stamps again, warning having been given that the rates might be revised. In fact, from notices appearing in the French papers one may conclude that the year 1927 is likely to be prolific in French issues.

ITALY.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts a copy of the 2L50c "Express" stamp in blue and carmine in the type of Scott's SD2.

MALTA.—Mr. L. W. Brummitt, of Banbury, shows us the 10s "Postage" provisional in two distinct shades, which he calls "grey-black and brown" and "slate-grey and yellow-brown" respectively. Mr. W. E. Gerrish also shows us copies. It is doubtful whether the 10s Melita has been seen in any shade but the slate-grey without the overprint.—Stamp Collecting.

NETHERLANDS.—From Mr. Roberts comes the set of four values of the Children's Welfare series, in mysterious designs peculiar to the Dutch philatelic art. Values and colors are: 2c+2c silver and vermilion, 5c+3c green and blue, 10c+3c scarlet and olive and 15c+3c blue and yellow.

ST. VINCENT.—We learn from Mr. R. Roberts that the 3p has been changed back to the purple on yellow, line engraved script watermark.

TRANSJORDANIA.—Messrs. Bright & Son inform us that they have received from Transjordan the current 10 piastre stamp with error "EFF." No. 111 in the sheet, corrected. This now reads "EEF," as on all the other values of the set. Moreover, the stamp is in a much brighter blue than the original, and has perf. 15 x 14 instead of 14.—Stamp Collecting.

YEMEN.—Mr. N. N. Marino gives us information about some stamps which may eventually have to appear in the catalogue. These stamps were printed at Sahana, he states, for use in the interior of the Yemen (Arabia). There are two values in the design, the 5 bucksha, black on orange, and the 10 bucksha, black on white. The Yemen currency is the dollar of Maria Theresa, divided into 80 bucksha. The inscriptions are, at top "Sanaa"; in the circle "Government of Yemen by the will of God"; in the left blade the value, and in the right "Postage"; while at the foot appears the name of the present ruler, "Yahya, God save him."

Our informant, writing from Aden, adds that letters for foreign countries, generally posted at Hodeidah, do not usually bear any stamp at all, but sometimes stamps of India are used, especially when letters are addressed to Aden.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

CANCELLATIONS — VARIOUS KINDS

By SEVARD.

The Arabian who sat up all night thinking about the systematic progression of the numbers from one on, never collected duplex handstamp numbers. Anyone so joyously employed wonders wherein sequence lies? Our first number ten on the current series came along today from New Orleans, which makes the gap between 7 and 15 less discordant. Such neighborly feeling between 15, 19, 33, 39 and 59 impresses one that the chap who picks out the sequence of our handstamp numbers surely must be the missing culprit in the Mills case in Jersey.

Worse still are the vertical grid handstamp numbers which fit like a thrice shot at duck. They progress without rhyme or reason, as if rhyme had anything whatever to do with philately beyond the alleged A. P. S. poet laureate.

Machine town die numbers are very respectable in this regard, except in Chicago, where even the die numbers are held up at times. But Chicago gave up its old town die machines some three years ago, and now have the wave break die numbers—the only town using such machines. Collecting these numbers, which usually hit the stamp every time is fascinating, except when some Massachusetts American machine comes along with a postal district number. Hudson Terminal Station, New York, has a number 17 in its townmark for die mark, which is the highest die number we have noted outside of a general post office.

Collecting handstamp letters, is suggestive of slow motion pictures. Relatively easy is one's task finding letters from block corks, circular corks and some of the first duplex handstamps on the 3c 1879, 2c brown and green. The 2c 1890 sees the handstamp letter to the fore. We often wish that our data on these were presentable for ex-cathedra remarks. Perhaps some negligent phase of our hobby will thus receive an urge which may be fruitful beyond pleasures.

Foreign reading matter contains many allusions to a schematic cataloging of cancellations. In fact, one may hear of the category into which a certain impression falls. In speaking of cancels, one refers entirely to the obliteration on a stamp cancelling the contractual intent of the adhesive postage stamp or postal authorization, as on a post card or government envelope.

Last summer, a London collector, who also is a doctor, diagnosed all obliterations as of three types (a) the townmark (b) the auxiliary mark (c) dispatch marks. Feeling for flaws, we found none, even to the pen cancel, the precancel, the machine mark, kicking mules, stars, M. O. B.'s, R. F. D.'s, C. O. D.'s, ovals, meters, box permits, or the M. C. franks. We thought of this classification when we received a special delivery letter whereon the townmark was a 25mm handstamp circle, the auxiliary a duplex number, and the dispatch mark, a rubber stamp line, SPECIAL DELIVERY. The cancel itself was the handstamp number. Such an arrangement becomes excusable under in vino veritas, for say the editors of the Forum, the Parthenon and the Pantheon, permit dormant canines recumbency.

BRITISH CONGRESS BULLETIN

Following on the resolutions carried at Liverpool, the Executive is now arranging the material at its disposal relating to past Congresses. When the collection is completed and suitably bound it will be housed at the Royal Philatelic Society's Headquarters through the kindness of the Council of the Society. Arrangements in connection with the next Congress, to be held at Nottingham early in June, 1927, are proceeding apace. Details at present to hand indicate that there will be no falling off either as regards the importance of the papers read or in the entertainment provided. The Executive has decided that two names shall be added to the list of those inscribed on the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists; one at least of these being British. The Affiliated Societies will receive their nomination papers in due course.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

U. S. CIVIL WAR REVENUES

A Discussion of the Inverted Heads Accompanied By Condensed Historical and Price Data

By Henry L. Dean, 149 Broadway, New York City.

No. of stamps per sheet, 102
Total number issued, 4,972,322

While an exact determination of the number of inverts of this value which may exist is practically impossible, there is the surety of little difference between the 20c and 25c values with the strong probability that the former is somewhat the better stamp. The latter however, has for some years been recognized as an outstanding item and has been surrounded by a glamor, which while not at all unwarranted, has been disproportionate to the values placed on other inverts of equal or superior merit. For instance, as recent as 1923, the list for the 25c shows $500, just balancing the quotation for the $2.50 third issue and double the $1.00 blue and black, unpunched, and the 3c Proprietary. Concerning early pricing it seems sufficient to note that the nominal figure of $10.00 rose to $40.00 in 1904, incidentally equaling the list at the time of the $5.00 value of the same series.

From 1905 onward for many years, no price appeared, although values were evidenced by the sale of the unused copy from the Stanton collection at $126.00 in 1911, and the magnificent Washburn copy at $535.00 in 1918. Of outstanding interest in connection with this invert is the almost incredible discovery by Mr. E. Stern within the past two years of a beautiful unused O. G. copy in Russia where it had previously remained undetected in a job lot of material; presumably it is the finest specimen known and naturally is highly prized by its New York owner.

The 50c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 85
Total number issued, 3,236,101

Used over a period of almost four years, there were several printings of this stamp and positively two sheets at least of inverted errors and quite probably more. This invert is by far the commonest of the second issue group and while the writer has rated it as the third commonest of all it seems about as easy to secure as a fine copy of the 2c orange and black on green paper. Many specimens, however, have punch hole cancellations expertly repaired, and a perfect well centered and bright copy is worth $25.00. Pairs are scarce although not unduly so, but an exceptional item, originally in the Wm. Morgan collection, is a magnificent strip of five, uncut, and lightly cancelled on the original document.

The 70c Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 85
Total number issued, 95,455

Listed as a cheaper stamp than the $5.00 value, inverted, since they were both first catalogued, this condition should be remedied, as the 70c is much more difficult to find in very fine condition, although there is quite likely not the same difference in total numbers available. The bulk of the 70c are heringboned, many are off center, some badly so, while others are thin, torn, or have pinholes, thus making a superb copy a real rarity worth $225.00. Judging by shades and scarcity apparently but one sheet of inverts was ever issued as against positively two for the $5.00.

The $1.00 Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 90
Total number issued, 517,950

While this stamp was used but four months and replaced on Jan. 3, 1872 by the green and black stamp of the third series, there were at least two sheets of inverts issued, since the total number known exceeds 90. However, the vast majority of them were cancelled by a triangular punch, about 85 copies thus mutilated being recovered from the N. Y. Custom House about twenty years ago as against but one unpunched example. This latter sold for $100 at the time although unpriced in the catalog. Expertly repaired many of these punched inverts have practically defied detection in view of which it seems most unfortunate that the catalog failed to mention them until last year, many uninformed collectors meanwhile having purchased at high percentages of the list for a perfect specimen. Concerning the number of the latter which may exist it is certain that no one can speak with assurance for very close inspection is usually required to distinguish the good from the poor and the most important single depositary of these stamps is now inaccessible. Priced at $12.00 in the middle 90's the list rose rather steadily to $75.00 in 1903, but at this level was distinctly out of line with the equally rare 20c and 25c inverts quoted as they were at $25.00 and $40.00 respectively. No price subsequently appeared for the $1.00 invert for sixteen years or until 1919 when it was set at $250.00, while today a fine perfect copy might bring $500.00 or even $600.00, although the stamp will always be affected by the easily obtainable punched specimen which is worth around $50.00.

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The $5.00 Blue and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 72
 Total number issued, 65,736

For some reason now unknown, but for which there could never have been a sound justification, this invert for 25 years following its use was listed as the best of the second issue and as late as 1900 was priced at $40.00 against $17.50 for both the 20c and 25c values, and $25.00 for the 2c Proprietary. The stamp never could have been really rare for it appeared in all the important collections of the 90's, so there is no reasonable accounting for the high regard in which it was so long held. Even today the finest copy procurable is not worth full catalog. In common with the $1.00 value there were certainly at least two sheets issued with inverted heads, although the proof here is not from known quantities, but is provided by very marked shades which reveal different mixtures of ink. It likewise appears rather frequently with a punch hole, and is known thus in unsevered pairs, both of those seen by the writer being nicely repaired. They are worth little in such condition, however, one bringing but $53.00 in a quite recent and important auction. The regular stamp was issued for a period of about five months being superseded on Jan. 31, 1872, by the vermilion and black of the third issue.

The 2c Orange and Black (Violet Paper)

No. of stamps per sheet, 210
 Total number issued, 91,861,158

Priced now at the level maintained prior to 1900, and by far the commonest of all the inverted revenues, these stamps still occasionally come to light in quantities on accumulations of checks of the period, hence comment will be restricted to recording the existence of at least two blocks of four and one block of six, unused, and with full original gum. Unusual pieces such as these are worth $75.00 to $100.00. Another fine piece is an unused O. G. strip of five with plate number.

The 5c Orange and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 170
 Total number issued, 5,453,292

This stamp presents another instance in the invert group of long and decided unappreciation of real rarity, this fact being best evidenced by its constant listing prior to 1919 at less than the 30c value of the same series. Actually the lower value has always been worth around five times as much as the 30c, the latter invariably showing in any worth while collection and the 5c now lacking in several of the largest. Evidence points to it being somewhat better than the 70c blue and black, but not as rare as the $1.00 third issue, hence, this adjusts it at position ten in the list of twenty-one revenue inverts. Several copies of the 5c occur with extra vertical perforations at least one such example being uncanceled while two normal perforation varieties examined by the writer showed bad pin holes.

The 15c Brown and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 170
 Total number issued, 257,150

Rarer than the 2c Hawaiian Missionary stamp, the 15c Invert was unknown to cataloguers for over 25 years following its issuance and was the last of these errors to be listed. This action occurred but with price omitted in 1900, the same year Mr. H. Deats' copy was sold at auction, although the compilers of the Boston Revenue Book authenticated two other specimens in 1899, one being in the very important collection of Mr. J. E. Burton. The price of $75.00 established in 1901 stood through 1904, the stamp then remaining unquoted for 15 years when it was reopened at a figure of $500.00 and in the interim three additional copies had been located. Against this tremendous advance in the 15c and an even greater one in the case of the 25c blue and black, the $2.50 invert only doubled in the same time showing at once the unjustified initial price inequalities. Transfer of the 15c are obviously very infrequent, although the writer fortunately secured a magnificent specimen when Mr. W. S. White's fourth collection was dispersed in 1925, while an equally fine copy from the Lapham collection sold last spring for $1250.00 and, if available, could be placed today at a substantial advance.

The 30c Orange and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 102
 Total number issued, 205,119

Rated as one of the commoner inverts and as previously noted, always found in most collections that contain stamps of equivalent standing, this variety occupies a position of no particular importance in the group as a whole. Not all of those available are fine however, for many have the characteristic herringbone cancellation of the period while others have faded medallions or frames. Still a fine copy is decidedly easier to secure than an equally good 6c Proprietary or particularly a genuine $2.50 Inland Exchange. Imperforate, all of these items being listed alike at $85.00.

The $1.00 Green and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 90
 Total number issued, 998,800

While this beautiful invert is somewhat rarer than the Brattleboro Provisional and stands in about eighth or ninth position in scarcity in its own group, for some unexplained reason it carried for many years a price entirely disproportionate to those borne by at least five rarer items in the invert list. Eleven or twelve copies were found in N. Y. C. about thirty years ago, followed incidentally later on by 5 from Georgia, but as late as 1904, which is the last time all of the inverts have been priced, the $1.00 green stood at $150.00 against the same figure for the 4c Proprietary, of which but 4 copies are known today; $75.00 for the 3c Proprietary, the 15c and the $1.00 blue and black; $40.00 for the 25c and $25.00 for the 20c second issue. As might be suspected by the widely separated points of usage, there were clearly two sheets of these errors and marked shades likewise offer confirmation. Concerning present day values, the writer has purchased two very fine specimens within a year at full catalog and would welcome others at the same rate.

The $2.50 Claret and Black

No. of stamps per sheet, 72
 Total number issued, 76,466

Probably the most attractive of the inverts and standing fourth in degree of scarcity, this stamp now sells somewhat higher than a superb 12p Canada, although the revenue is over twenty times as rare. First appearing in Sterling's list as early as 1888, it apparently was generally unknown until 1897, when a copy was sold by Bogert & Durbin for $191.00, and while the standard catalog

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

J. O. Moore, Inc.,

listed it initially that same year it remained unpriced until 1903, when it was placed at $250.00. In the meantime the Burton copy realized $141.00 in 1901 and J. W. Scott auctioned a magnificent unused O. G. specimen in 1899 at a figure of $130. The catalog quotation was dropped in 1905 following the precedent on the 15c the year previous, and no repricing occurred until 1919, although the Stanton example sold at auction in 1911 for $368.00, thus revealing the appraisal of the students of that time. Concerning quantities the writer knows of seven copies, three of which have changed ownership in the past three years, the last one selling in the June, 1926, Morgenthau sale for $975.00.

2c Orange and Black (Green Paper)

No. of stamps per sheet, 210
Total number issued, 44,160,675

This stamp, first issued Oct. 16, 1874, was printed upon the green tinted paper used for the Proprietary stamps but otherwise is identical with the 2c third issue, using the same plate (A. 9.) together with a new plate (B. 9.). The inverted error is a nice stamp in fine condition and while catalogued at $5.00 for over twenty-five years collectors have more recently recognized the real hidden value as compared with the stamp on violet paper, and auction prices up to $9.00 have been noted. Such figures are still low but the list has surely acted as a depressing factor as the Invert should be around $15.00 if very fine.

The 1c Green and Black Proprietary

No. of stamps per sheet, 210
Total number issued, 100,676,957
(on violet)

Considering the tremendous volume of regular stamps of this value issued it might be suspected that the invert would be moderately common, but such is not the case, although it is present in all revenue collections of any importance. At least two sheets were issued, proven by distinct shades and paper, but regarding this latter consideration the writer has been unable to verify the actual existence of "green." The stamp, so described, has been sold at auction, large collections have contained it, thus marked, but in every case examined, comparisons with the true green of the period have invariably shown the inverted specimen to be "violet." For 23 years this invert has been priced on both papers but presentation of this subject to the compilers of the catalogue brings the information that no records are available to substantiate the position taken. Over 21 million of the regular stamp were issued on "green," hence the corresponding invert may possibly exist, although such an example would now invite some suspicion of a changeling as in the case of the dollar values of this issue on green paper. At the current (1926) quotation this invert is badly underpriced for a superb copy.

vert is badly underpriced for a superb copy.

The 2c Green and Black Proprietary

No. of stamps per sheet, 210
Total number issued, 6,927,148
(on green)

This invert, contrary to the 1c of the series, apparently exists on green paper only, at least all of the investigations of the writer confirm such a statement although the stamp is so rare that few are available for examination. It has been known for many years, being listed by Sterling, "on green," in 1888 and in common with the 20c blue and black has been woefully underpriced since that time. A sale occurred in recent months at a figure more than double the current catalog quotation, and the writer doubts if another copy.

The 3c Green and Black Proprietary

No. of stamps per sheet, 170
Total number issued, 14,699,300
(on violet)

The earliest mention of the invert which the studies of the writer have disclosed is the very fine copy sold from the J. B. Leavy collection in 1897, the same year it initially appeared in the catalog, although unquoted. First priced in 1900 "on green" at $75.00, no change whatever was made until 1916, when "violet" paper was added to the list and given a higher ranking at $125. Quotations were dropped in 1925, but the year prior thereto, the list showed $325.00 and $225.00 for the "violet" and "green" respectively. Now there is no evidence whatever to support this invert on green paper and the stamp was on the other hand definitely and early recorded as violet by the Committee of the Boston Philatelic Society who in 1899 had access to practically all of the revenue material in the country. Also the Dionian copy sold in 1900 was positively "violet" and both the White and Colson examples disposed of recently bear out the writer's belief that green on this rarity is a myth of twenty-five years' standing. The pricing has been equally misleading, resulting in one instance in a jump of $1700.00 between sales of the same stamp within two years. The recent transfer of the former Gibson copy was at $1500 and this appears to be the outside figure which the majority of really informed students will entertain, as it is probably only slightly rarer, if any, than the 15c Brown & Black. Three copies examined by the writer all showed small defects, but at least three others have also been located and reports may be available later.

The 4c Green and Black Proprietary

No. of stamps per sheet, 170
Total number issued, 25,463,009
(on violet)

Rarer than the unused 2p, Post Office Mauritius and just three times as rare

WILLIAM M. STADLER

441 BEACH AVE. BRONX, N. Y.

as the 2c Hawaiian Missionary stamp, this invert is the answer to why no more than three complete collections of these twenty-one errors have ever been made. Two such collections, i. e., those of Mr. Clarence Eagle and Mr. Arthur Ballard, were publicly shown in the 1913 International exhibition and both properties are presumably still intact. The variety first received catalog recognition in the supplement of 1898, was initially priced at $150. in 1903 (correctly on violet paper only) rose to $250. in 1915 and has since been unquoted. Not all of the four known copies are perfect and a price of around $2000 for a fine example appears to be the generally accepted value today, although none are at all likely to come on the market. Incidentally the Deats copy brought $44.00 at public sale in 1900. The last specimen to be discovered came to light about four years ago after reposing for over twenty years in a lot of miscellaneous revenues gathered in an old drug store in eastern Pennsylvania, and it is interesting to record the fear of one of the oldest dealers in the country to purchase it. Subsequently sold for $225.00 or $250.00 to another dealer who also incidentally was decidedly doubtful at the time of the wisdom of his act, this stamp finally netted him a profit of around $1000, and on the next sale was placed at $2500 with a New York collector. When it is considered that this particular example was in reality unearthed over two decades ago and no finds have been made within that time there is obviously little likelihood of this invert ever being anything but the rarest of the rare, and this is eminently fitted for high rank among the unobtainable stamps of the world.

PERFORATIONS AND OTHER THINGS

By SEVARD.

The advent of a new perforation for United States stamps has brought forth comments of no little importance. One feels that Mr. Applegate's recommendation and plea for a standard perforation gauge should not go unheeded by philatelic business men. Brookmire service without charge.

A collector showed us a 2c perf, 10 which had four different scales of perforation along its sides, 11, 10 1/2, 10 and 9 1/2. There is no doubt that the paper shrinkage along with the thick and ruled gum, causes a variation on perf scales for used copies. One feels like singing the old song about The Briary Bush when one considers the current 2c stamp in its many phases of coil, booklet, rotary press and flat plate perforations.

Perf. initials were a tell-tale for those who swiped the company's stamps to mail their Christmas cards.

Service de luxe surprised us for Christmas when a Brooklyn department store sent us a package with precancelled stamps on it. When we soaked the stamps, we found hinges already affixed. The Brooklyn office has taken kindly to our gentle hint to avoid this service.

One hears a collector say that he collects "everything" yet what does "everything" include? J. Delano Bartlett, of whom one has heard surely, lists what he considers "everything in the stamp line", to wit: postage stamps, stamped envelopes, official seals, registered labels, cancellations, precancelled postage, officials, revenues, match and medicine, tax paid, stamped paper, state revenues, telegraphs, savings bank, lock seals, precancelled revenues, hydrometer, locals, proofs, essays, printer's waste, reprints, counterfeits, stamped tin-foils, cotton stamps, inspection, trading, posters, metered mail and permits. That is just about everything, yet one finds in advertising and auctions, many of these items listed for sale, and it is well to keep aware of what is salable before one calls it junk. Which calls to mind the old philatelic adage "Collect as you please."

The man who once most wisely said,
"Be sure you're right, then go ahead,"
Might well have added this, to wit:
"Be sure you're wrong before you quit."

We wonder if demand in economics means the number of times one has to ask for the book he loaned to get it back again. Right now, one can say there is a great demand for another edition of Luff's book on United States stamps. Three copies have strayed from our hands. Another book we simply have to demand back is Bartels' Stamped Envelopes. Our scrap book copy of

A FINE COLLECTION OF

GREAT BRITAIN

FORMED BY MR. D. PICK OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this well known specialized collection of Great Britain, only, and shall be pleased to send selections on approval to clients known to me or after the usual business references.

This collection is divided into three main parts, each of which is mounted separately in a series of my small approval books.

Part I. Consists of unused stamps.

Part II. Consists of used stamps.

Part III. Consists of Official stamps, telegraph stamps and Fiscals used postally, etc., etc.

In the unused stamps, I would like to draw attention to the penny blacks examples from every plate from 1 to 10.

In the octagon stamps there are 13 copies, including a few especially fine shades and sharp embossings.

The 1854-1857 include a number of scarce 1d and 2d stamps with both watermarks and both perforations.

The 4d "no letters" include a magnificent middle garter with full gum. The other values, from the 1/2d to the 5sh, are practically complete in all the ordinary plate numbers, very few being missing.

In the 1 1/2d rose there is a good specimen in the error of lettering. The corner letters contain "O P P C" for "O P P O."

The high values include the Maltese cross 10sh and Pound 1.

The Anchor Pound on blue paper with full gum and two of the 5sh plate four on blue paper.

In the 1883 issue there are two of the rare 10sh in the cobalt color and in 1884 two of the oblong Pound brown watermarked Crowns and one watermarked Orbs.

The later issues are very complete in numerous shades and with a large number of varieties and errors of watermark, such as watermark inverted, no watermark, watermark sideways, etc.

Throughout the collection of unused stamps there are a considerable number overprinted "specimen" and a very large number of blocks of fours, especially in the later issues.

A description of the used and of the Official stamps will appear towards the end of January when these books are mounted.

Ward's plate numbers also is a demand book, when linked with the old Bartels plate number guides. As often said, the best way to have popular books printed is to buy the popular books.

What has become of the buff and cream papers, the inverted watermarks, the broken frames of the postcard collectors, and the old blue and royal blues of the first revenue issues? The current Jefferson 1c postcard has a long history of use and comes in quite a few different papers, shades and dies. We collect and collect and collect, but once we pass the walls of conventional collecting, our cataloguers leave us. Or as the poet said, "The boundary of man is moderation. When once we pass that pale, our guardian angel quits his charge of us." And Ali Baba remarked, "Keep up your nerve—a bull calf today may be at the head of the herd next year." To which we add—not in the stock yards.

If you see the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, say so, and if you see a bargain in MEKEEL'S, mention it.

DEATH OF H. N. MUDGE

The news of the death of Henry N. Mudge, Chicago, on the morning of Wednesday, January 5, 1927, at his home, 6620 Lowe Avenue, at the age of 72 years will be received with sorrow, particularly by those who were in contact with him personally or by correspondence during his days of philatelic activity. For several years, Mr. Mudge had been incapacitated for business duties as a result of injuries from an automobile that struck him after he had alighted from a street-car near his home. While afterward, he was able to move about at times, he had been practically bedridden since last July. Some time ago, he had a stroke that foreboded the end. When once Mr. Mudge entered the public life of philately, his intelligent enthusiasm for the cause soon made him prominent. Becoming affiliated with the Chicago Philatelic Society, he exerted his beneficial influence in furtherance of the organization and in the course of time became its president for successive terms. His administrations were successful and he had the faculty of imparting his spirit of endeavor to his fellows, thereby securing hearty co-operation and placing the society on a high plane.

Mr. Mudge was elected to the chairmanship of the Board of Vice-Presidents of the American Philatelic Society and while occupying that berth, it fell to his lot to preside at several of the annual conventions. He was elevated to the presidency and served two terms in a competent and whole-hearted manner, relinquishing his office to General Coolidge at the silver anniversary convention at Chicago in 1911. That year the convention badge had for its pendant a medal bearing Mr. Mudge's likeness on the obverse side. Later, he served as a director-at-large of the national body, in which he had an unshaken interest for so many years.

As a collector, Mr. Mudge did not despise the ordinary stamp and as he had the instincts of the general collector, his accumulations were large. While scarce stamps were not lacking in his store, they were not given first place, necessarily. He was interested in stamp printing processes and on one occasion he brought lithographic stones to illustrate the mysteries of lithography, as applied to stamp printing, in a lecture before the Chicago society. He emphasized the instructive value of collecting and was really a student who would have contributed largely to philatelic research had he not been so busy a man. His U. S. stamp booklet investigations will be remembered and not a few other philatelic credits are to be given him. However, he may be said to have glorified the common things in collecting and in that sense he was a true philatelist. On one occasion, he conducted a contest based on suggestions submitted by readers, how the WEEKLY could be improved and his findings were presented in a masterly manner.

Mr. Mudge was descended on his father's side from a line of divines distinguished in the church annals of New England, his grandfather having been widely known. Mr. Mudge's father was a polished churchman of high attainments, and as a writer had many books to leave as a heritage; his juvenile works were numerous and were received with favor in their day. Henry N. Mudge was a man of real charm of manner whose disposition was friendly, even though he was inclined to be discriminating in his choice of companions. He was a tireless worker and was always engaged in constructive work of some kind, although he had a lighter side that made him a delightful associate. He proceeded slowly but surely in his tasks and he bestowed an unusual degree of care on anything that he undertook. While Mr. Mudge was an advertising manager of a large railroad for many years, he was essentially of a literary turn of mind and many articles were contributed by him to various publications. The exit of this kindly man from the world of reality leaves a void in our hearts, but we have tender memories of him to endure through life.

The burial services were held in Chicago on January 6th, but interment will be made in Marblehead, Mass. Mr. Mudge was born in Worcester, Mass., and survived his wife, who died some years ago.

MELANGE:—

DEALERS will be interested in a wholesale list just issued by Anton Huber, 48 Nordendstrasse, Munich, Germany. It is well worth writing for.

R. JACQUES, 31 N. Market St., East R. Palestine, Ohio, is sending out a pricelist of British Colonial bargains, and it will be sent to any address upon request.

IF any stamp club desires some back files of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY almost complete and dating from 1914, please communicate with Bernard M. Cone, Greensboro, N. C. File your application with the understanding that your club will bear the cost of transportation.

WE take pleasure in our chronicle of the publication of a 1927 pricelist of stamp albums, packets, catalogs and supplies from Eugene Klein of Philadelphia, Pa. The contents of the book are amply indicated in the list above given. Mr. Klein has always been such a good friend of the WEEKLY that we have no hesitation in urging every one of our readers to send for a copy of this well-printed 16-page pamphlet.

THE firm of Whitfield King & Co., Ipswich, England, has sent us a specimen copy of their 1927 pricelist. This standard firm has gotten out a booklet that is a strong indication of the extent of the firm's stock. The list runs to a hundred pages and will no doubt be sent to anyone on application.

IF you need a book dealing with stamps of any kind write Eugene Klein, 200 S. 13 St., Philadelphia, Pa. His list includes all the books published by our firm. Send for a copy of his list.

W. T. WILSON of Birmingham, England, very kindly sent us a copy of the "Sphere" for Christmas 1926. It is superbly printed and illustrated and is one of the best British Christmas annuals. Hearty thanks for the same.

E. C. WORDEN sends us the particulars of two more Cobham flights, one from New York to Washington, and the other while in Washington Dec. 4. The flights are of course unofficial but the letters carried all bear markings appropriate to the events.

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

Edited by FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 815 Delaware, S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

Some of you Bureau Print specialists have been wondering why I haven't been more active in reporting the new varieties. I plead for leniency, for I have been hard at work revising the Gossip Bureau catalogue. This will be out sometime in latter January, and will contain all the new issues, with many of the old ones repriced. Here's a little tip! The Frenchtown and New Britain 1c coils are in such demand that they now command a fancy price, and are going to receive a big boost. I am surprised at the slow rate in which the number of new items is increasing. The only new ones ordered in November were the 7c New Orleans, 3c Muncie, and 1½c coil New Rochelle. The other varieties that have not been reported in this column are as follows:

Birmingham 5 and 10c ordinary. These will be pretty scarce. Providence 10c ordinary. The Providence Bureaus are coming through freely now and should be common enough later on. Albany, N. Y., 1½c ordinary. Albany used a lot of the coils and the stamps in sheet form should not be difficult to secure. Boston 9c ordinary, which completes the set to 10c. Wheeling 1½c ordinary, a new town to receive Bureau precancels. Milton, Wis., 1½c coils. They are being offered freely at the time of writing. Fifteen cents is about right for them. Atchison, Kansas, 1½c coil. Has not been seen as yet. Tonawanda, N. Y., 1½c coil. St. Louis 3c coil. Should be plentiful. Have had about ten copies to date. Berkeley, Calif., has received both the 1½ and 3c coils. Los Angeles has also been issued the 3c coil.

Of timely interest is the following excerpt from a letter at hand from a collector of Bureau issues, who is considered a reliable authority:—

"I note in the philatelic press that the 11c and 12c will be printed by the Bureau from the rotary plates. Several years ago this rumor started up. It was when the first rotary 400's came out. There is nothing to it I am sure. You see they can't start at the Bureau and make a change of any kind in the product without authorization of the P. O. Dept. And to get authorization means the going through of various channels, all of which means a long delay. When the Bureau desired to increase the spacing vertically between stamps on the flat plates by one hundredth of an inch they probably had to receive authorization from the P. O. Dept. although that change did not affect the design or perforation. It took six months to have the changed allowed in the Bureau. So you see that the change from flat to rotary plates would not take place this year in any event as they have all the flat plate work for the year printed. If any further denominations were to be printed on the rotary plates they would pick out the values of which the most are used. These would be probably the 15c, 20c, and 30c. There are not many 12c used, and fewer 11c."

It may be seen from this that there is little likelihood of the 11c and 12c rotary press printings, appearing before the 15c or 20c stamps.

The new perforation, 10½x11, will complicate matters for the collector of Bureau precancels. Perhaps agreeably in most cases, for they should be easy to tell at sight. December 10th was the date this perforation made its appearance. Being in the nature of an experiment, nothing definite can be said about its future life.

Bureau precancel issues have now been extended to revenues. This side-line may well be taken up by the specialist in the postal issues. Although it has been commented upon in another department of this paper, I shall summarize the chief points of interest.

The stamp is the 10c Playing Cards issued in coil form. The printing is done from 170 subject plates, the stamps perforated sideways, and overprinted in the same manner as the regular postal coils issued to various cities, but with initials representing the name of the firm for whom they are made. Cancelling rolls have been made for the following: A. D. Co. (A. Dougherty Co.), R. P. Co. (Russell Playing Card Co.), S. P. C. Co. (Standard Playing Card Co.), U. S. P. C. Co. (United States Playing Card Co.), N. Y. C. C. Co. (New York Consolidated Card Co.).

Most noteworthy has been the growth of the Precancel Stamp Society during the past year. Approximately four hundred is the active membership. The New York Exhibition brought many in contact who had not been personally acquainted and this has served as a binding link that will mean a great deal to the progress of the Society. So inspiring a convention did the Precancel Stamp Society enjoy, that N. R. Hoover felt it safe to rise and make the significant statement "Gentlemen, the precancel hobby has advanced ten years." Every person present carried away that thought.

The center of precancel activity now lies in the East. Upon the Pacific Coast, once a stronghold for precancel collectors, the interest at present is not what it has been in former years. I believe this lessening of interest to be due to an overabundance of speculation in precancels in that section of the country, as well as inaccurate catalog prices on large eastern cities' issues, which are, especially the high values, to be found in large quantities on the west coast.

There will be drastic price changes in the 1927 Standard Catalog. Mr. Rotnem assures me that every effort will be made to reflect the comparative values, and serious study shall be made to attain this end.

The most urgent need that the hobby now feels, is for a handbook dealing with the various ways in which precancel collections may be mounted, in which a discussion of important collections should be embodied. The problem of what to collect must likewise be solved if the hobby is to progress. I have in mind a treatise entitled "The Collection and Mounting of United States Precancels." Such a work would have to be the result of serious and comprehensive study and thought.

The Precancel Review may be looked for with greater regularity. While we have certain definite articles in mind for inclusion in this department, suggestions will be welcomed and accorded consideration by the editor.

POLICE STAMP COLLECTORS

Clipping from E. J. Meehan.

Stamp collecting having become a hobby among Paris policemen, these guardians of the peace now stop visitors from other countries on the public highway and politely request the used stamps on their letters from home.

The practice does not seem to have shocked the officials in that city, but picture what would happen if a policeman in this city—say the traffic officer at Fulton and Broadway—should become a philatelist and stop pedestrians until they gave him the stamps on the letter they carried in their pockets. The public outcry would be loud enough to force Police Commissioner McLaughlin to bring the policeman to immediate trial, and the unhappy stamp collector would be griled for hours.

While it is a small matter, such an instance would be characteristic of our way of treating small offenses. We make so much of little things that when we have a trial for a serious violation of the law its importance is lessened through the public's having already been fed up on minor trials and investigations. New inquiries, however trivial, command instant attention from the public—the subsequent court trials for the offenses, big or little, become "old stuff" and are dismissed with an impatient "I don't want to read all that again."

Fewer investigations and quicker trial for serious offenses would be better.—New York Post.

EDITORIAL

A big stamp story has broken in Germany, particulars of which are appearing in the foreign press and we shall review them somewhat briefly. Svensk Filatelistisk Tidskrift, December, prints a translation by W. Nilsson covering the circumstances of the fall of the corporation, Marken und Ganzsachenhaus, as affecting the internationally known Rudolf Siegel, the owner, who has been arrested by the Berlin police for the alleged forgery of rare stamps. Our Stockholm contemporary says that Mr. Siegel has been under suspicion for a long time, but that only recently had the State's Attorney of Berlin, Mr. Lehman, succeeded in gathering sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest. It seems that Mr. Siegel made a specialty of applying forged cancellations, copied from originals, on unused Thurn & Taxis, Hamburg, Baden, Heligoland, etc., and also of other manipulations, such as treating imperforate Brunswick to the scarce roulettes, for instance. In order to give these dubious specimens the air of genuineness, it is claimed that he forged the signature of Thiers, the great expert, whose inscription in characteristic letters on the back of a rarity had been accepted as a full guarantee of reliability by collectors and dealers. It was late last year that the Siegel firm was forced into bankruptcy and it has been apparent that conditions have not been such as to militate in Mr. Siegel's favor. We learn that Mr. Siegel's health is such as to mitigate any rigor of prosecution and in defense he has said that such was the press of business at times that irregularities occurred without his knowledge of them as such. The Berlin corporation was known in this country through its distribution here of elaborate illustrated auction catalogues and pricelists.

The Chicago Tribune Press Service correspondent at Shanghai, John Powell, is represented in the Chicago Tribune of January 3, 1927, by a long despatch dated the day before at the Chinese city, wherein he tells of a philatelic conspiracy and its denouement as affecting a French banker, seven White Russians and several Shanghai postal officers. According to Mr. Powell, certain Russian stamps were forged, among which were stamps that were disposed of to Americans at the Philadelphia Sesqui-centennial. According to revelations just made, the printing shop where the frauds were made was financed by an official of the French Banque L'Indo-Chine, "upon guarantee of two prominent officials of the French concession in Shanghai." On the face of the story, the purpose of the issue of these fraudulent stamps was not so much to impose upon philatelists as to discredit the soviet government and aid the White Russians in their designs on Siberia. It is said that the evidence disclosed that more than one hundred thousand dollars, face value, of the late provisional government, Siberian stamps, were uttered for secret circulation in soviet Russia, "the purpose being to create the impression" among the Russians that an administration, antagonistic to the soviet government had been established in Siberia.

Mr. Harry H. Garton sends the following letter that he has just received from the postmaster at Balboa Heights, Canal Zone: "The two cent White Plains (and the Ericsson 5c) will not be surcharged for use in the Canal Zone."

From Mr. N. B. Paulson, we have received an envelope bearing a three cent of 1869, duly cancelled, and on the cover is the postmark in black, "Potomac Postal Cars" with the name of the month indecipherable. The letter is addressed to a point in Maryland, and the present owner wishes to know what the significance of this marking is.

The following particulars have been sent by Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens: "A special delivery stamp has just been issued by Egypt, depicting an Egyptian postman, wearing a fez, riding a motorcycle; denomination, 20 milliemmes. The International Navigation Congress set, Egypt, appeared on December 9th in three values, 5, 10 and 15 mm. Colors, brown and black, red and black and blue and black, respectively. The design is effective, with the central theme of the old galley boat. The stamps will be used until March 8, 1927, but I am unable to inform you how many were issued." Readers have seen in the newspapers recently an account of the fatal casualties attending the sale of stamps for the first time at the new Port Fuad, due to the crush of people eager to secure the stamps celebrating the occasion. Mr. Drossos writes that Port Fuad is a new port that has been inaugurated on the Suez Canal that has been given the king's name; and according to information that he has received, the following commemoratives have been issued. Scott number 114, 50 piasters, surcharged Port Fuad, 2,400 stamps only and also 2,400 sets of the navigation issue, of which the king was given sixty sets while the rest were to be distributed over the counter; and it is evident that the demand for these issues, restricted in number, was truly an unprecedented one.

In our special exhibition issue dated October 4, 1926, we published an article describing the Nansen relief label, which was illustrated with a cut of the "international stamp" in question. When at the New York Exhibition we had a most interesting call from Mr. Robert J. Caldwell, New York, who certainly is in a position to speak with authority about the issue, which has attracted no little attention. He told that Dr. Nansen had repatriated several millions of refugees, including the Greeks expelled from Turkey, among others, and provided for the reception by several nations of Europe of something like two million Russians who had to flee Russia. He induced European nations, such as Germany and France, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria, spent by the drain of war, to render great aid to these refugees, after receiving them in their own countries where the populations were in excess of the abilities of the countries to provide for them. Through Mr. Hoover, Dr. Nansen arranged with Mr. Caldwell to organize the Russian Refugee Relief Society of America, to take some of the surplusage here, and the result of the generous efforts of Mr. Caldwell is that 6,500 refugees from Constantinople are now in America. The American society through the co-operation of the Canadian government, established two hundred Russian families from China, in Alberta on farms. It seems that Dr. Nansen has now exhausted almost every means of raising funds for the still huge and crushing refugee problem, and as last resort has turned to the sale of these stamps for money to cope with a situation that is trying, indeed. We know that Mr. Caldwell has donated a most liberal sum of money in furtherance of this laudable work, but his heart is the cause, and it is about as little as we can do to tell our readers that the handsome Nansen labels are sold for one dollar each and may be had from Mr. Robert J. Caldwell, 23 East 64th Street, New York, whom we do not hesitate to commend.

We have received many holiday greetings from readers whose kindness has gladdened our season. One of the most original messages was from Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Diamant, St. Louis, whose token consisted of a sheet of paper, bordered by Christmas bells, containing six of the beautiful Syrian stamps and six from Lebanon. The significance of the stamps in the light of their places of origin is a happy one. From LeGrand Payne, Indianapolis, we have had word: "I am trying to prove that Christmas comes on January 1, and I hope the proof is positive. The letter is enclosed in an envelope bearing a White Plains stamp and the postmark beautifully placed: 'Christmas, Jan. 1927. Ky.'"

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Robert G. Young, Springfield, Mass.
Charles F. Mueller, Davenport, Iowa.
William Spooner, Chicago, Ill.
Edw. F. Carter, Keokuk, Iowa.
Howard Algeo, N. Y. City.

Our first application for membership in the Honor Club this week comes from Robert G. Young, 68 Euclid Ave., Springfield, Mass. He accompanies his remittance of $5.00 with a list of names of Springfield collectors for sample copies of our Mid-Winter Special. Mr. Young has been a stamp collector for twenty-five years.

We also acknowledge with thanks a check for $5.00 from Charles F. Mueller, 711 W. 9th St., Davenport, Iowa. We are very pleased to enter him as a member of the Club.

The same is true of William Spooner, Room 1610, 111 W. Monroe St., Chicago, Ill. Mr. Spooner remits in a very informal manner his check for $5.00 for membership in the Honor Club.

It is with great pleasure that we add to our Honor List the name of Edward F. Carter of Keokuk, Iowa, who, ever since the paper was started in St. Louis, has been identified with our mailing list. Mr. Carter is one of the oldest members of the A. P. S. and has for his membership number 1904.

Another oldtime subscriber in the person of Howard Algeo, 787 Elton Ave., N. Y. City, also remits $5.00 for five years renewal, and takes his place as a member of the Honor Club. Mr. Algeo has been on our subscription list for the past eighteen years.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EAST AND WEST:—

FELIX COHEN, Alexandria, Egypt, has just issued a very fine pricelist of African and Near East stamps. Scott's catalog numbers are used and stamps are priced in mint and used condition. The book runs to 24 pages.

THE regular Bi-Monthly Pricelist of W. T. Wilson contains many special offers and bargains. There are many novelties and the list is particularly strong in stamps used upon the original covers. See page one for Mr. Wilson's address.

SEVERAL of our subscribers have sent us the particulars of what is called a stamp forgery case involving counterfeit stamps which were sold to some U. S. dealers and collectors at the Philadelphia Exposition. The clipping goes on to say that the counterfeiters were produced or financed by an official of the French Bank of Indo-China. Mr. Klein advises us that he has no knowledge of any such case and we await confirmation before printing any further details.

WE have mentioned the Christmas greetings sent us by Herman W. Boers, but we must supplement that word with our thanks for a New Year's greeting in the form of a calendar for 1927. Mr. Boers attaches a chestnut to a card upon which is the inscription:—"Wishing you the same old Chestnut, A Happy New Year 1927."

WE are unable to print a clipping sent us by E. J. Meehan for the reason that it is a copyrighted despatch to the New York Times. The news article tells

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Gossip

Sam Bernard sends us this joke:

"What is the difference between a clock and a stamp album?"

"The former reminds us of the hours, the latter helps us to forget them."

"I cannot say which part of the paper appeals to us most but we all enjoy the junior section. My mother is a subscriber to your paper and we eagerly look forward to our weekly copy." This is from Charlotte Martindale who sends us an essay on Fiume. We quote a sentence: "Among d'Annunzio's spectacular exploits was the bombing of Vienna with leaflets bidding the people to rise against their military masters."

Thanks, Miss Charlotte, for your letter.

Don't hesitate to renew your subscription for less than a year. Yes, we will gladly accept 25c for a three months period. You will want our Mid-Winter Special surely.

Milton Howell sends us a story on India. It is strong on geography, but a little weak on the stamp end. However, Milton gets a stamp award.

Chas. S. Latham has our thanks and a prize for his entry in our Fiume contest.

What do you want to know about U. S. stamps? Mr. Ward has promised to help us out. G. Harrison Townsend says that the Juniors are hungry for U. S. information. Fire away, Juniors, with your questions.

Richard K. Butler.—It is unwise for one to attempt to buy new stamps from the country of issue. There is too much worry and expense connected therewith. Buy your new issues from some dealer. You may be able to find a new issue service at 10% over face.

In reply to Henry E. Altheimer:—We cannot make any lower rate on adlets than 30c per line. Were we to attempt this feature on the junior page and quote a lower price numerous difficulties would confront us.

There is published by the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences a monthly magazine known as the Children's Museum News. The December number is especially interesting because it pictures a meeting of the junior section of the stamp club. We are indebted to A. T. Shorey for a copy of the magazine. A stamp exhibition is to be held at the Museum in February.

Yemen and Buckshas

Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal announces some stamps from Yemen and the currency is in buckshas. We quote:—

These stamps were printed at Sahana, he states, for use in the interior of the Yemen (Arabia). There are two values in the design, of which a rough sketch appears above, the 5 bucksha, black on orange, and the 10 bucksha, black on white. The Yemen currency is the dollar of Maria Theresa, divided into 80 bucksha. The inscriptions are, at top "Sanaa"; in the circle "Government of Yemen by the will of God"; in the left blade the value, and in the right "Postage"; while at the foot appears the name of the present ruler, "Yahya, God save him."

Envelope Stamps

The new collector is often at a loss in mounting his envelope stamps as they come to him in their entire condition. It is customary to cut these about two inches square. Under no circumstances should an envelope be cut to shape for one treated in this manner loses the greater portion, if not all, of its value.

—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Robert and His Limerick

Robert Prescott sends in a Limerick and we print it gladly. If you can write one that we can print your stamp collection will be the gainer. Try one, Juniors. Call dad in:—

I will write concerning a lad
Who lived in a place called Chad,
With the boat quite handy,
At the dance a dandy,
But his stamps were really his fad.

Master John Boland

We are glad to picture one of our Juniors, John Boland of the Naval Operating Base, Hampton Roads, Va. Master Boland is a fitting representative of several thousand boys on our mailing list whose interest we covet and desire to promote. We quote from a recent letter:—

"I am now thirteen years old. When I first became interested in stamps seriously I was living in Port au Prince, Republic of Haiti. I lived there from 1922 to 1925. I have about 2500 in my specialized collection of United States, British Colonials and Haiti. One of the most prized possessions in my Haitian collection is the two stamps of the 1924 set bearing the portrait of President Borno autographed by him. As I knew him personally he autographed two sets, one for my father and one for me.

Another is an "Avion" first flight cover between Port au Prince and Cape Haitian. So far as I know there were only fifty of them flown. The 19th Century part of my Haitian collection is complete."

Well done, John! We are proud of you.

A British Junior Contest

The Junior Philatelic Society of London will hold annually during the next five years a competition for juniors in which the prizes will be silver cups, one for boys and one for girls. We cannot take the space to publish all the conditions of the 1927 competition, but interested parties should write to Major R. J. S. Gold, 44 Fleet St., London, E. C. 4, England, who will no doubt be glad to furnish anyone with the rules of the competition. The essays which are to be submitted must be received by Nov. 10, 1927. This competition will be open to all who shall not have attained the nineteenth anniversary of their birth, Jan. 1, 1928.

10,000. Liechtenstein was one of the first nations to step toward World Peace as her army of 91 men (mostly officers) was disbanded in 1868. Duke Johan II, their ruler, is also Minister of Post. Under Swiss and Austrian administration of the mail, many speculative and unnecessary issues arrived. However while they are of little value, they are fine specimens of engraving, especially the Jubilee and current issue. The thought of this quaint and toylke nation makes it one of my favorite countries to collect.

A Letter from Florence Lyons

Miss Florence writes us a nice essay on Fiume and also sends in a letter that we publish in full. Here it is:—

"I am a girl thirteen years old and have been collecting stamps about two years. I have taken MEKEEL'S nearly a year and always have liked it, but never as much as I do now that you have started the Junior department.

Most people seem to think that only boys and men collect stamps, and as haven't seen any letters from girls, I thought I would write and tell you the lots of girls 'save' too.

I go to a private school and there are five girls in my class, and two in the or below. Every one of us collect stamps. We have a stamp club which we call the 'Junior Stamp Club.'

I am sending a story for the contest but couldn't tell much in seventy-five words."

Space in the WEEKLY is pretty valuable and when we quote this letter from Miss Florence in full you may know how much we prized it.

What is Meant by Rouletted?

In answer to a question sent in by Ma Meire we offer the following in regard to rouletted stamps:—

This is a form of perforation in which small slits are cut into the paper between the stamps instead of holes being punched as in ordinary perforation. The cuts may be straight, curved, or zigzag, and they are usually made by number of small wheels or discs properly spaced so that a whole sheet, or any rate several rows can be rouletted at once.

Sometimes the cuts are colored, the form being known as "rouletting in colored lines". Though this is not true rouletting, as the slits are not made with a wheel, its effect is the same. This style of separation can only be used in the case of stamps printed from separate blocks or cliches. Between each row of cliches thin strips of metal "printer's rule" are placed, these metal strips being the merest trifle higher than the surface of the stamp plate. Thus, when the stamps are printed the edges of the metal strips also receive a film of ink, and as they are slightly raised, they at the same time cut small slits in the paper.

EAST ORANGE (N. J.) JUNIORS

By CHAS. E. RIEDELL.

I am a reader of your Junior Page of your wonderfully interesting paper. Seeing that several boys have written and told you about stamp clubs that they belong to, I will try to tell you something about the East Orange High School Stamp Club.

The club is composed of about 25 members. It is under the direction of Mr. Charles Collins, a member of the faculty and an ardent collector himself. The club elected its officers, among whom are, Richard Knapp, president; Robert Kugler, secretary.

One of the features of the meetings is a stamp auction held at the bi-weekly meetings. Mr. Collins has worked out, with the help of several members, an auction system that has proved very satisfactory. The stamps submitted for auction by the members of the club are to be not less than 15c 1927 catalogue value. The club also charges a commission of 10% which goes into the general treasury. This fee also helps to defray expenses of auctioning the stamp off.

The club has been in existence for several years. During the time of the Exhibition the club on Wednesday was excused at 12.30 and went to see it. It was enjoyed by all. This inspired all the members, especially the ones who had never seen a collection of an older person. I personally believe the Exhibition was a boom for Philately.

NOTES ON NEW ISSUES

Albania.—There is likely to be a heavy fall in the prices of old issues of this country. There exists in the Post Office at Tirane, a stock of obsolete stamps, 12 different issues, of a total face value of about 4,500,000 gold francs which the Government wishes to dispose of, and they have been offered to us for less than one-twentieth of the face value. As we have declined this tempting offer, there is still a chance for some bold speculator.

France.—The "War Orphans" stamps have been withdrawn from sale, and are no longer available for postage. Used copies are comparatively scarce and should appreciate in value.

Greece.—An air mail service has been established by a private company for conveyance of letters between Athens and Brindisi and between Athens and Constantinople. Four denominations of stamps have been issued, 2, 3, 5 and 10 drachmae, which are sold at the Post Offices and as the whole of the proceeds go to the Air Mail Company, the ordinary postage on letters has to be paid by means of Greek stamps in addition to the air mail fee.

Guatemala.—The new stamps in gold currency, referred to in our last, will be in centavos and quetzales (not pesos), 100 centavos = 1 quetzale = about 4s2d. The stamps will be dated "1926."

India.—The following stamps of the King George issue have been overprinted "SERVICE ONE ANNA" in block type:— 1½ anna brown, 1½ annas brown, and

2½ annas blue. Full supplies have been received and they are being included in this month's new issue distribution.

Luxembourg.—The new series, with portrait of Grand Duchess Charlotte, are now to hand and are being included in this month's distribution. List of values will be found on page seven.

Mexico.—A set of eight stamps has been issued for use only during the session of the Pan-American Postal Congress, from October 15th to November 8th, the sale terminating on the latter date. The 2c and 5c values show a tablet in centre inscribed "Segundo Congreso Postal Panamericano 1926." A map of the American Continent appears on the 4c and 10c, a portrait of Dr. Francisco Garcia y Santos on the 20c, 30c and 40c, and a view of the G. P. O. Mexico on the 1 peso.

South Africa.—We are officially informed that the 5d Postage Due stamp will be abolished when the present stock is exhausted, as this denomination is now in little demand, owing to raising of the foreign unit rate of letter postage from 2½d to 3d.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Bulletin.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

Battleship Cancellations

The year 1926 will be remembered as the sesquicentennial anniversary of American independence. The 2c "Liberty Bell" stamp was issued to commemorate the event. With the stamp and the year in mind, I arranged to have exactly ten letters mailed from each of our eighteen first-class battleships—the rate being but 2c, although some of the ships were no doubt stationed in foreign ports.

Several of the battleships used the electric cancelling machine, some used a hand stamp, but all have special cancellations giving the name of the ship, in addition to the date. Some few mention the location of the battleship at time of postmark.

Think what an 1851 or even 1869 cover with battleship cancellation would bring if such a variety were available. When did battleships first use special postmarks is a question 999 out of every 1,000 will be unable to answer. I am one of the 999. Who does know?

How often do you see a battleship cancellation is a question that all will answer with "seldom." I offer the above set of eighteen covers from the battleships Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Maryland, Mississippi, Nevada, New Mexico, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, West Virginia and Wyoming, at a special price of $7.50. Only nine sets available, as the tenth set has already been placed in the foremost collection of U. S. 20th century issues. These covers are so cancelled that the upper right corner may be cut from the envelope, wherein the postmark shows distinctly, and make a very attractive album page, which will be more appreciated as the years go on.

If you are looking for first day covers, air mail covers or the like, I have on hand an exceedingly fine stock.

Washington Notes

Mention was made in this column several months back that the Postmaster General had prepared a report with recommendations to be submitted to Congress for their action. Under date of December 20th, five bills were passed by the House of Representatives which are of interest to the philatelist and several of them if later passed by the Senate and approved by the President will result in new stamps.

House Bill No. 13445 provides for special handling fees ranging from 15c to 35c, to be prepaid on packages in accordance with their weight. Packages not over two pounds will be charged 15c, two to ten pounds, 25c, and in excess of ten pounds, 35c. This will require new 15c and 35c Special Handling stamps, the 25c value being at present available.

House Bill No. 13446 reduces the postage on private mailing cards from 2c to 1c as formerly. Such a bill would greatly decrease the number of 1 1/2c stamps now being used, and would result in a greater use of the 1c denomination.

House Bill No. 13447 provides for the collection of postage due. Heretofore the exact amount of shortage has been collected. In the new bill, where the short paid postage amounts to 2c, there would be an additional charge by way of penalty of a like amount, and if the postage short paid amounts to more than 2c, there would be a penalty in addition to the postage due to be collected, of 1c for each ounce or fraction thereof of the short paid weight. Such a bill would necessitate a 4c Postage Due stamp, which would possibly become the commonest of the series.

House Bill No. 13448 authorizes the use of business reply cards, wherein 2c would be collected on each return reply upon delivery of the card. Such cards when sent out by a business firm would have to be in quantities in accordance with conditions which the Postmaster General is given authority to prescribe. Such an act would no doubt result in a reply postal in which the sending card would contain a postal card stamp, whereas the reply would contain what practically amounts to a postage due stamp.

House Bill No. 13449 prescribes a more equitable rate for transient second-class mail matter. At the present time the charge on such mail is 2c for each two ounces up to eight ounces, and above that at the Parcel Post zone rate. The new bill reduces the rate to 1c for each two ounces, and removes the eight ounce limitation, so that heavier second-class mail would not be forced into the fourth classification as is at present the case.

Air Mail Notes

Our readers are aware that on February 1st next, a new flat rate on air mail of 10c becomes effective instead of the varying rates as are at present the case. The Department has been considering for sometime the advisability of furnishing stations on the air mail routes with special cancellers for this date. They have now definitely decided that such cancellers will not be used. Mr. Warren Irving Glover, the Second Assistant Postmaster General in charge of air mail matters writes under date of December 31st that—

"After giving the matter very careful consideration, it has been decided not to use a special cancellation on February 1. In connection with the use of a special cancellation, an effort has been made to retain the value and importance of the same to the philatelist and others interested. The Department has received several requests for the use of a special cancellation at different times during the past year to commemorate different events concerning air mail, but its use, as you will recall, has been confined to the starting date of new routes.

We want to confine the use of the special cancellation to these occasions as far as possible and although we all appreciate the fact that the new flat rate on air mail is quite an outstanding feature, yet I am sure you will appreciate the attitude of this office in the matter."

New Plate Numbers

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, we are enabled to bring our list of plate numbers up to and including December 29th. It will be noted in this list that for the first time every plate laid down is of the rotary curved type. As previously mentioned, plates from 1c to 10c of the flat bed type were discontinued on June 30th last, so that in the future with the exception of the higher denominations and commemoratives, we are likely to have the rotary stamps. I might, however, put a proviso by saying that this will be the case if the new rotary stamps turn out to be successful. At the present time there is considerable complaint and there is a great possibility of the Department reverting to the flat plate variety if the present unsatisfactory conditions cannot be eliminated. Naturally, with the excessive costs of the flat plate stamps, this is not desired. The new plates laid down since our last list are as follows:

J. M. BARTELS CO., 116 NASSAU ST., N. Y. CITY

it appears that the 1fr denomination is due on December 1st.

The question of an Air set is receiving consideration and a Charity set comprising three values will shortly be forthcoming. We have reason to suppose that the new stamps will be required to conform to the new currency recently introduced into this country.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

Mr. Henry Hooreman sends for chronicle the 1fr50c+25 of the recently issued set of Charity stamps. This value is of oblong format bearing the portraits of the King and Queen within an oval frame. Above is a drapery with the name of the country in the centre while below in the corners are the figures of value. The usual double bar cross with "Pro Tuberculatis Belli" below and "Belgie" at the bottom completes the stamp. It bears the imprint of J. Debast. The color is blue.

Belgian Congo.—Three new stamps, viz. 45c violet, 75c rose and 1fr 25 blue, are promised in the "long-horned Congo cattle" type.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

Belgian Occupation of German East Africa.—Three stamps similar in value and design to the last mentioned are to be issued overprinted "RUANDA-URUNDI." The overprint in this case is to be repeated in order to cover the name plates at the top and bottom of the stamps.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

ALAOUITES.—Whitfield King & Co. report the following surcharged stamps have been placed on sale: 4p 50 on 75c brown red, 2p 50 on 2p 50 light blue and 15p on 25p bright blue.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for note a copy of 1 1/2p rose, with details as follows:

1 1/2d rose, new wmk. multiple small A & crown very close together. Printed from a new die of which the small figures "2" in the fraction differ appreciably from the former, also the lettering of the words "Three Halfpence" appear to be thicker. Sheets of 120 (2 panes 60) plain gutter between. Thick frame line round the sheet exactly the length and breadth of each pane, not meeting at the corners, the bottom and right lines being continuous, the top and left hand lines being syncopeated, the syncopeations being exactly opposite each stamp, viz.:—10 at left and 12 along the top. Inscription at the foot outside the frame line and between the two panes:—"A. J. Mullett, Australian Note & Stamp Printer" in red. The paper is thin and hard and difficult to tear. Perforated 14.

BULGARIA.—Mr. R. Roberts submits for chronicle a set of three values of Sunday Delivery stamps which he advises are inscribed "Sanitorium Fund" in Bulgarian lettering. Their use is exactly that of an Express Sunday Delivery. The 1 leva brown, being used for letters, the 2 leva blue green for registered mail and the 5 leva blue for parcels. If a postal packet for internal delivery does not bear one of these stamps it remains in the post office over the week end. Mr. Roberts further adds that the 5 leva is already exhausted.

CUBA.—M. Champion is informed that the Cuban Postal Authorities are about to issue a set of five stamps from 2c to 20c, to commemorate the opening of the House of Parliament of Cuba.—Philatelic Magazine.

EGYPT.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of a set of three values to commemorate the Navigation Congress. They were issued December 9th, last and will be available until March 1st, of this year. They are all of the same design with a view of an old galley ship in the centre. Beneath the central figure is "Le Caire 1926." The name of the country is at the top while at the bottom is one line of native characters with the words "Congres International De Navigation" beneath. The figure of value is in the lower left corner and the words of value in English are on the left panel. Colors are 5m brown and black; 10m terra cotta and black and 15m blue and black. Perf. 13 1/2 and watermarked multiple Crown and Crescent.

FINLAND.—L'Exchangiste Universel reports that a new series, similar in design to those of Sweden, is under consideration.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Offices in Morocco.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that he has received the 25 centimos on the 2 1/2p, new watermark.

HEDJAZ.—Having regard to the paragraph appearing on page 101 of our issue for October 30th re the supposed illegitimacy of the 1925 overprints of Hedjaz, the following information, kindly contributed by Mr. D. F. Warin (of the firm of D. Field), should be of interest to our readers. Up to the beginning of March of this year, says Mr. Warin, it was generally believed that all the Hedjaz stamps issued under the direction of the Hachemite Government, during the reign of King Aly, were overprinted at Jeddah. Since then it has been discovered that a separate printing was made at Cairo, by order of the Hachemite Government, and under the direction of the Minister of Finance and Abdul Raouff

These stamps are unused, generally mint, unless marked used. Condition is good to superb, and the prices are very low. Of some of the items I have only one or two copies, so that a supplementary order will be appreciated. Satisfaction guaranteed, as always. All numbers below are inclusive.

ANDREW SLEDD,

Eff. Sabban, supplier of war and other material to the same Government. The overprint, in this instance, has an entirely different appearance from those printed at Jeddah, the tablets being more uniform in size, the Arabic figures in the year date having a blunter finish, and the lines between these figures being longer and more regular, whilst the ink, in the case of the black overprints, has a greyer appearance than on those overprinted at Jeddah. There are other minor differences, but the ones enumerated are quite sufficient to enable one to judge to which issue these belong.—Stamp Collecting.

JAPAN.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the following information regarding the new issue of stamps mentioned in issue No. 1874.

The 2s stamp is printed in green and shows Mount Fuji as seen from the South, the 6s is printed in light carmine, and shows the Yomeimon (Yomei) Gate at Nikko famous for its grandiose temple plant. This gate is called sometimes Minimum two lines.

ADLETS

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department, and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—30c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $12.50, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

A word to the every day stamp lover. Tying up a lot of money in rare postage stamps may not appeal to you, if nevertheless you feel desirous of filling those vacant spaces in your album with "good lookers" slightly toned up—or, with fair to average copies at ridiculously low prices, then let me submit a "bunch" of them for your perusal.

Hendrix Stamp Co., 349 Hendrix St., B'klyn.

Higurashimon, or Day Spending Gate, the structure being so splendid that one spends the whole day to admire it. The 10s is printed in dark blue and shows the famous Nagoya castle with its golden Shachi (a fabulous fian) on the uppermost roof. All the sheets are typographed in sheets of 10x10 and printed on the usual granite paper watermarked wavy lines running horizontally, and perforated 13 1/2 x 13 comb machine.

These three stamps show several departures from the usual practice in Japan ordinary stamps. (1) They are of horizontal pattern, (2) They are the first pictorial stamps showing a different object on each value, (3) Wavy line wmk. is placed horizontally, (4) The inscription in Japanese in the upper border reads "Nihon Yubin" (Japanese Post) instead of Daihion Yeikoku Yubin (Imperial Japanese Post). These stamps are intended expressly for franking foreign mail matter and it is not yet known whether other values will also be issued in pictorial designs.

LEBANON.—Whitfield King & Co. send us the information that provisionals of the same values as noted under Alaouites have been issued for this colony.

LUXEMBURG.—We have received from Mr. W. T. Wilson copies of the new issue of Charity stamps. They are all of the same design with the portrait of Prince Jean within a circle and the Coat of Arms of the country beneath. In the two upper corners are the figures of value with "Caritas" between. At the bottom of the stamp is the name of the country. Values and colors are 5c—5c black and lilac, 40c—10c black and green, 50c—15c black and yellow, 75c—20c black and red orange and 1fr50c—30c black and blue.

EMILY KING,

P. O. Box 753, Halifax, Nova Scotia

MONACO.—A correspondent of the Times writes that the International Philatelic Exhibition, which was to have been held in Monaco this season, has been postponed until February-March 1928, because it is impossible to prepare a special issue of stamps in time. The special stamps will show grouped heads of the three Princes of Monaco, Charles III, Albert I and the present Louis II, who have reigned since separate stamps were first issued in the Principality.—Philatelic Magazine.

NORTH BORNEO.—We are informed by Mr. Oswald Marsh that the 1c, 3c, 5c, 10c, 25c, and 50c, also the Postage 1c, 3c, 4c, 5c and 10c have all appeared perforated 12 1/2 instead of the former 14.—Philatelic Magazine.

PERSIA.—Mr. Bikhori is informed by the Director-General of the Persian Post Office that only three more values (9, 10 and 12ch) will be issued in the "Riza" design. This issue will shortly be replaced by the regular issue now being printed in Holland.—Philatelic Magazine.

SYRIA.—Whitfield King & Co. send on chronicle three provisionals. The brown-red has been surcharged "4p" and native characters in black: the 2p light blue bears the overprint "7p50" and the 25p bright blue, "15p." The former values have been obliterated by two parallel bars.

URUGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the 3c grey green and the 9c on 10c blue, imperforate stamps of the A100 design, with the surcharge "Prensa" in red.

"THE DAILY STAMP ITEM"

By JOEL H. DU BOSE.

Thirty years ago, in 1896, the Daily Stamp Item made its appearance from the Mekeel presses in St. Louis. 235 numbers were issued when it was compelled to suspend publication for the want of sufficient support. The writer was a subscriber from No. 1 to the final number, and kept the whole file intact for a number of years. Finally, in cleaning house, he reluctantly parted with his treasure and has not seen a number since.

That year, 1896, when the writer was a comparatively young man, and new in philately, he lived in a brand new little town, which had sprung up some two years before, where a new railroad crossed another comparatively new one. The writer was the only stamp collector in that little town or anywhere near there; and with the Daily Stamp Item, born that year, everything connected seemed to be in its infancy.

The little town was situated in South Carolina, near the Georgia border, and had direct mail connection with Atlanta and Columbia. A train from the east and one from the west usually met there about the middle of the afternoon bringing mail from both Atlanta and Columbia, among which were the daily papers from those two towns, and last but not least my Daily Stamp Item came along with the bunch of big dailies.

The writer with his father-in-law ran the hotel of the little town, also one of two stores which were on the ground floor under the hotel. A long portico sheltered the front of these two stores. On the arrival of the afternoon mail which brought in the daily papers, business seemed arranged so as to automatically have a lull. Proprietors and head clerks all repaired to the portico, and each one with his chair tilted back against one of the several posts, began eagerly to devour the daily news, social, political and otherwise; all excepting your correspondent, who, tilted back in his chair like the others, with his little Daily Stamp Item spread out devouring with the avidity of a hungry wolf the latest news in the stamp world. In a sense, you might say with the poet, "Alone, alone; all, all alone; alone on a wide, wide sea;" but Oh, boy, how he enjoyed his situation! how grand he felt there, all by his lone self!

The writer begs the indulgence of his readers for this rather sudden burst of feeling, but he really believes that the year 1926 should not be allowed to pass into the unchanging past without some notice being given that dandy little daily which made such a brave effort for existence thirty years ago. If in that early stage of philatelic growth it received sufficient support to keep it going for nine months, what could it do now, when nations and rulers of nations have taken up the standard with us? The writer suggests a revival of that dandy little sheet. What say you, Mr. Editor?

COLLECTING OF PRE-CANCELS

One by-product of philately is the collecting of pre-cancels, and this pastime is rapidly becoming a hobby among collectors in this country. A standard catalog chronicling the philatelic values of pre-cancelled adhesives lists upwards of 150,000 items so it will be seen that the field for cultivation is a large one.

What is a pre-cancel? The standard catalog says:

"A pre-cancel is a stamp that has been cancelled by postal authorities or by others under their supervision and authority before being sold and affixed on mail matter. Pre-cancels are used by individuals and concerns having special permits to use them."

What are the various kind of pre-cancels? The principal ones are as follows:

1. Electroplates. These are used in cities where large stocks of pre-cancels are required.
 2. Hand stamps. They are used at smaller offices where only a limited stock of pre-cancels are sold.
 3. Bureau Prints. During the past few years the government itself has been pre-cancelling the lower denominations—both perforated stamps and the rotary

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
 "I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
 "I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

press issues—and supplying postoffices in the larger cities.

4. Coil machines. These are used in a number of cities. These special machines print the cancellations on the stamp while the coils are being re-wound.

5. Multigraphs and Mimeographs. On several occasions local postmasters have pre-cancelled sheets of stamps by the means of a multigraph or a mimeograph machine, the markings appearing somewhat as though made with an ordinary typewriter.

Hand-stamped pre-cancelling is found on United States stamps issued many years ago, but it was not until 1916 that our Government made any attempt to supply printed cancellations to meet the demands at local postoffices. In that year approximately 12,000,000 stamps of sixteen denominations then current were supplied from Washington. To-day the Government recognizes the widespread philatelic interest in these stamps and recently an arrangement was made so that official announcements will be made as to which denominations are pre-cancelled, and for which cities.

The pre-cancellations appear on stamps in various positions. The normal position is shown in three of the accompanying illustrations—Boston, Mass., Grayslake, Ill. These, upside down, would be called inverts. The vertical reading down position is shown on the other Boston illustration. Then, there are the vertical reading up position and the diagonal position.

Virtually all of our commemorative stamps—even values of the Columbian series—have been pre-cancelled, as well as the parcel post, special delivery and postage due adhesives. Sometimes the date of the year in which the pre-cancelling was done is made part of the imprint; sometimes, as in a large circle or a square, instead of between lines above and below; and occasionally no lines or bars are used at all. Sometimes the name of the State is used, often not. Here and there is found an imprint in which the name of the stamp appears in circular form. There are other minor variations—all of which serve to make this phase of the philatelic hobby the more fascinating.—American Boy.

Modern Used French Colonials A STUDY IN VALUES

By ROBERT S. GORDON, Middletown, Ohio.

IN a previous short article I summarized my own ideas of the comparative merits and values of the used and unused stamps of ten colonies. It might be of some interest to go over in more detail those colonies whose stamps are of equal or greater value used than in mint condition. It must be remembered, however, that such statements as are made below, except for statistics, are merely the result of my own experiences and impressions, and are to that extent subject to correction from better informed sources.

Alaouites—Essentially the same used as unused. The first (1921) issue may be a trifle scarcer used, but the difference is hardly noticeable.

Cameroun—Slightly rarer in used condition, in spite of the two million population of the colony. Scarcity is more pronounced in the lower values, which is true to some extent of almost all the modern French colonials.

China—All issues of all post-offices (including Kouang-Tcheou, which is politically part of Indo-China) seem to be a great deal rarer used than is indicated by catalog prices. With the exception of the general "Chine" issues, a fair approximation seems to be 25% higher for used; with a probability that the issues for "Pak-Hoi" and "Tchong-King" are scarcer yet.

Cilicia—While a large number of these stamps are undoubtedly rarer used, there are also many whose value used is much less than unused. Values on the whole seem to follow the Y&T catalog very closely.

Dahomey—Is rather hard to classify. Issues before 1906 are invariably rarer unused. 1906 issue varies considerably, though why this should be I have no idea. Logically it would seem that all issues should be rarer unused, for although Dahomey is smaller and has less population than Cameroun (less than a million altogether; with 850 whites), it is much more highly developed in the way of commerce and transportation. Latest issues are generally a trifle scarcer used, but there are many exceptions.

Egypt—Alexandria is about the same in either condition. Port Said generally rarer used, with only a very few exceptions. Port Said stamps used in Abyssinia are of considerable scarcity in the earlier issues. Later issues so used are "hard to get" but not in the rarity class.

French Congo—Previous to the permanent 1892 issue, stamps are scarcer unused. From 1892 on, used stamps are better, with a few exceptions.

French Guiana—Exactly the reverse of French Congo, due probably to the greater development of this colony in recent years.

French Guinea—In somewhat the same position as Dahomey. This colony has twice the population (both white and black) of Dahomey, as well as eight more post-offices, which ought to reduce somewhat the comparative value of its used stamps—but it doesn't!

French India—Approximately the same as French Guiana. Of the used stamps, those used in Pondicherry are commonest, the order of scarcity being in exact agreement with the size of the various towns, viz.: Pondicherry, Chandernagor, Karikal, Mahe, and Yanaon (omitting the smaller towns, such as Oulgaret, Bahour, Tiroubouvane, etc., of the above five districts).

French Oceania—Very little difference in any of the stamps. Later issues may be a trifle scarcer used. Used stamps with postmarks other than those of the islands of Tahiti and Moorea are quite scarce; Rapa and Ravava, in the Tubuai Islands, and Mangareva in the Gambiers are exceedingly difficult to find.

French Soudan—1894 issues are better unused. All others without exception are preferable used, although the difference in many cases is very little. It is probable that in a short time the later issues will become more plentiful used—which is mere speculation on my part, based on the importance of French Soudan commercially compared with its neighbors.

Gabon—Prior to 1910, unused are always better; from 1910 to date, used. The 1910 issue itself averages something like 25% better used. Later issues almost as much.

Indo-China—A very few stamps are better used, but the majority are scarcer unused, as would be expected.

Ivory Coast—Previous to 1913, all stamps are approximately the same used and unused. From 1913 on, used are slightly preferable, with two exceptions (Scott's 46 and 49). Postage due stamps used are seldom met with; I believe their scarcity is greater than Y&T catalog indicates.

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Lebanon—First 1924 issue (both postage and dues) are slightly scarcer used. Others are about the same used and unused. A few are definitely better used, but to a very small degree.

Madagascar—Previous to 1908, unused are better. Issues of 1908 and later seem to be in the same class, in spite of the Y&T quotations.

Martinique—Are definitely better unused, with the single exception of Scott's type A18, which are about the same either way.

Mauritania—All stamps are rarer used, the 1907 postage dues very much so. On some of the stamps the difference is considerable, amounting to as much as 250%. Mauritania has a white population of only 200, which may account for it.

Middle Congo—Slightly better unused, except the most recent issues, due perhaps to the considerable time the permanent issue has been current. Used stamps with postmarks other than Brazzaville are uncommon.

New Caledonia—Stamps issued before 1903 are better unused. From 1903 to date used and unused are about the same, with slight variations. Here again the dues, particularly those of 1903, are quite a little better used.

New Hebrides—Earlier issues (before permanent 1911 issue) are a bit oftener found used. The recent provisionals are better used than unused, to a small extent. The intermediate stamps (1911-1912 issues) seem to be about the same, except that the franc values may be slightly better used. The fact that both British and French issues are used indiscriminately, both being sometimes put on the same letter, complicates matters.

Niger Territory—Used are much better property than unused. Stamps with postmarks other than Zinder are not often seen.

Reunion—With a very few exceptions unused are better.

St. Pierre and Miquelon—There is a sharp dividing line here. Scott's Nos. 1-86 inclusive are either of equal value or better unused. Number 87 and following are usually slightly better used.

Senegal—Unused are equal to or better than used. The postage dues are about the same in either condition.

Somali Coast—With the exception of Scott's Nos. 21, 27b, and 49-63, all issues seem to be slightly better used. The 1903 issue seems to be about the same either way—perhaps a trifle rarer unused, if anything, though why this one issue should be different from the others I am unable to explain. Somali Coast stamps used in the French post-offices in Abyssinia are quite uncommon, as far as the earlier issues are concerned. Later issues are more often found so used.

Syria—Unused are equal to or better than used, with a few minor exceptions.

Togo—First French (occupation) issue is better unused. Second issue, no difference between used and unused. Following issues are definitely better used—sometimes considerably better. The 1921 dues I should rate at one-third better.

Ubangi-Chari—Very hard to find used, particularly with postmarks other than Bangui. Rates about the same as Mauritania, although logically it would seem that the used should not be so scarce. But if you have any, keep 'em!

Upper Senegal and Niger—With the exception of Scott's No. 5 and No. 8, used are a trifle better.

Upper Volta—All are better used, but on some stamps the difference is slight.

Wallis and Futuna Islands—The scarcest of any modern French colonials in legitimately used condition—that is, with postmarks dated during the time the particular stamp or stamps were current. I have been unable to find out definitely, but I believe there are at most but three post-offices in the group, which is a French protectorate. The total population is only 6,000; compare this with over two and a half million population for French Soudan, with fifty post-offices!

The French colonies which I have not mentioned are in the same class with France—the stamps are practically all worth more unused. Algeria, Tunis, Indo-China, etc., are in this class. I find, however, that I have omitted any mention of Chad, which most certainly is not in the same class with France. Its stamps are all scarcer used, and about on a par with Ubangi-Chari. The Fort Lamy postmark is the only one found to any extent.

CANAL ZONE—CURRENT ISSUE

By CLINTON L. CHALFANT

Alert collectors, it would seem, who consider the pleasure of collecting to include increased value in their collections as well as beauty and historical interest, should turn their attention to the Panama Canal Zone as the stamps soon will be changed according to information published in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

While it is always easy to criticize yet it seems that in this instance Scott's catalogue is not a safe guide. Some months back according to MEKEEL'S the first printing of the Canal Zone stamps, present issue, showed one million 1c, one and a half million 2c, half a million 5c, 100,000 10c, 50,000 12c, 25,000 15c, 40,000 30c, 5,000 50c and 10,000 of the $1. value. Now Scott arbitrarily doubles the "catalogue value" on the higher denominations 15c to $1. inclusive. On the 1c he trebles the face value to 3c. In other words the value is trebled on the 1c, of which one and a half million were printed and only doubled on the 50c, of which only 5,000 were printed. The writer believes that collectors are interested in the number of stamps printed. If there has been a second printing of the denominations mentioned, a report on this would be interesting.

Another interesting thing. In the 1927 catalogue although the 1/2 cent, 1 1/2, and 3c have been in use for more than a year there are not enough used copies for Scott to catalogue them used, yet unused the 1/2c while raised four times its value to 2c appears undervalued, and the 1 1/2 is advanced only 2 1/2c over face unused. The 3c Lincoln is listed at 8c which appears to be undervalued.

Many U. S. colonial collectors have not forgotten that the 50c Shanghai was greatly underpriced and the 50c Canal Zone appears to be in the same class.

The writer believes a check list on the number of U. S. colonial stamps printed in the Philippines, Shanghai and Canal Zone of recent issues, would be of interest as well as a reprinting of the check list on U. S. surcharges of Cuba, Guam, Porto Rico, Philippines and Canal Zone printed in MEKEEL'S some 20 to 25 years ago.

THE WORST OF THE LOT

When it comes to centering and disorderly cancellations probably your stamps of the 1861-67 issues are the worst looking lot in your album. You may be one of those few who have devoted the time and money required to make an attractive showing in these issues. In most albums they are terrible. In a recently acquired collection we find a good many nice copies of all values and offer them at prices we think are real bargains:

MIXTURE

From the American Tree Association, the Forestry Primer has been received. It contains a remarkable article by Charles Lathrop Pack, the president, whose knowledge of trees is such as to stamp him a foremost authority on the subject.

The annual of the United Stamp Societies made its appearance some time ago; and mention should be made of the interesting publication of over fifty pages, which includes the proceedings of the eighth yearly convention, held in Hackensack, N. J., last summer. The object of this organization is a worthy one as it encourages the inter-relation of various societies. The list of member societies shows eighteen local bodies. The president is Mr. H. Fred Christensen, Emerson, N. J.; and the year book may be had from the secretary, Mr. Elmer L. Clark, Lynn, Mass., for 25c. The next convention will be held at Boston, May 30, 1927.

Dr. C. W. Hennan, Chicago, shows us an envelope bearing the four new charity stamps of Netherlands, indicating the "first hour" use of these new stamps on December 1, 1926.

Our brother editor, Mr. Walter N. Emerson, sends the following side-light on philatelic lore: "Stamp collecting sure does help folks to know their geography; yes, and their history. A lady writes me to ask the value of a 2c stamp showing the landing of 'Columbus and the Pilgrims.' Wasn't the Mayflower crowded enough before without getting Chris onto it?"

We have been informed of the death of Charles Eykens, Steendorp, Antwerp, Belgium, on November 17, 1926. Mr. Eykens handled new issues of French colonies, etc., on an extensive basis and was known to some of the dealers in this country.

Mr. Frank L. Applegate, Medford, Oregon, wishes to return his thanks to those of our readers who have written to him and to us, as a consequence of his inquiry concerning the whereabouts of accurate millimeter scales.

Due to the indisposition of its editor, W. W. MacLaren, Cleveland, the Stamp Hunter will not appear in January but February will see its friendly features once again. The Garfield-Perry Stamp Club of the aforesaid city has a good program for January the final number of which is a talk and exhibition of U. S. and foreign by C. Walter Fenton.

The Postmark, that "free and frank" monthly emanating from the hand of the worthy P. M. of Springfield, Illinois, always takes our eye; and, too, we would have him know that air mail enthusiasts keep him in kindly memory for his co-operation with them in aerial postal affairs. The final sentence of the January number is: "On and after February 1st, Air Mail Postage will be 10c per half ounce or fraction thereof, to any city in the United States or its possessions."

The Chicago Philatelic Society has started the new year with improved facilities, in its new meeting-place, the top floor of the Brevoort Hotel, Chicago. A record attendance, almost, marked the meeting of January 6th, when the new officers took their chairs. At the election held recently, the following members were elected to the respective offices: T. C. E. Hunter, president; B. L. Voorhees, vice-president; J. A. Zalud, secretary; C. F. Mann, treasurer; and additional members of the board of directors: A. F. Boehm, C. E. Severn, H. F. Rech, Dr. C. W. Hennan and Mr. Sandstrom. The old Chicago society is going ahead at a great pace and the prediction is made that this year will see its popularity increased in good measure.

A tablet to the memory of "Snowshoe Thompson" was unveiled at Los Angeles, last November, and thus the memory of an intrepid pioneer is perpetuated. For thirteen years, before the coming of the railroad, he packed on his back in winter, mail from the east and vice versa, through the mountain passes. We quote from a newspaper:

"The tablet commemorating the deeds of the old resident of Hangtown, now Placerville, in maintaining the line of communication between the West and the East when huge snowdrifts closed the route of the Pony Express, was placed in Carthay Centre, a suburb, by the Native Sons of the Golden West. Los Angeles mail carriers attended to honor the first of their craft in California.

In 1856 Thompson went to the rescue of the struggling mining colonies, whose very existence depended upon their communication with the East. The Pony Express was making its last run of the year and the first rider was pressing his mount to the utmost to make the passes before the snow fell. But when he arrived in Hangtown the Sierras already were blanketed in white and he could go no further. The mails he carried toward the East were extremely important.

Thompson volunteered to close the gap to Carson City, Nev. The population of Hangtown thought him demented, but Thompson got out a pair of skis he had brought from his native Norway, slung price list (for which we received over 2,000 requests last season) is again ready for distribution.

It has been completely revised and 7 more pages have been added, making a total of 20 single-spaced pages in this Edition and each copy cost us 6c to mail.

This big list, perhaps the largest we have ever put out (and most assuredly the best) offers a wide range of items to choose from, with something for everyone. There are 306 complete sets listed, 176 short sets and 419 single items, besides a number of special items and a full line of philatelic accessories and supplies—a total of 921 items in all, or about 400 more than we offered in the same list last season.

We have had a generous supply printed, but judging on the basis of last season's requests, even these will not last long, so NOW'S the time to request your copy. IT'S POSTFREE TO YOU.

Hangtown gamblers offered long odds that he would never return, but there were no takers, and Thompson was back in a week.

PN-10 NO. 2 FLIGHT TO PANAMA

First Non-Stop Flight of Navy, Norfolk Va., to Canal Zone, Panama, Carried Mail

By E. O. HOWLE.

The PN-10 No. 2, with her sister ship PN-10 No. 1, left Norfolk Naval Air Station, Hampton Roads, Va., late Tuesday afternoon of November 23rd, 1926, in an attempt to make a non-stop flight to Colon, Canal Zone, Panama. No. 1 was forced down on account of engine trouble in the Caribbean Sea, between Swan Island and Jamaica, and had to abandon the flight. The PN-10 No. 2, was forced down Wednesday morning at Siguana Bay, Isle of Pines, because of the consumption of all her lubricating oil. After obtaining another supply of oil, the PN-10 No. 2 hopped off from Siguana Bay at 6.50 Friday morning and landed at Coco Solo, Canal Zone Naval Base, Panama, at 5.36 Friday afternoon, thus completing the trip in seventy-three hours and fifteen minutes after she had left Norfolk, Va. This time included all delays. No trouble other than running short of lubricating oil was encountered by the PN-10 No. 2 on the entire trip. A surplus of one hundred gallons of gas was left from the supply taken on at Norfolk for the flight.

The weather was excellent during the entire trip, with the exception of the last hundred miles where they ran into a blinding rain storm. The plane carried radio equipment and the communications worked fine. The plane traveled at an average speed of seventy-five knots an hour and at an average altitude of one thousand feet. The members of the crew were as follows: Commander Harold Bartlett, Lieutenants H. C. Rodd and C. H. Schildhauer, together with Aviation Machinist's Mate Charles J. Sutter.

This trial flight was made for two purposes: first, to test out a new type of plane and its new Packard Engines now under development; second, the feasibility of getting our Air-Craft from the United States to the Canal Zone in a hurry, although the flight did not establish a non-stop record, the real purpose of it was achieved.

CARRIED SIXTY- EIGHT LETTERS

The aviators were officially received by Governor J. D. Arosemena, representing Panama, Captain Ward Wortman, Commanding Officer of the Sub Base, Commander R. P. Molten, Commanding Officer of the Naval Air Station, and Gerald D. Bliss, Sr., Post Master at Cristobal.

Commander Bartlett carried a package of sixty-eight letters which he turned over to Mr. Bliss, who immediately carried them to the Cristobal Post Office, and, after numbering the letters numerically, he back stamped them as received at Cristobal, Canal Zone, November 26, 1926, at 6 P.M. Post Master Bliss, initialed each letter inside the circle of the receiving stamp with his initials "G. D.

NOW ON SALE

FORMED BY MR. D. PICK OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this well known specialized collection of Great Britain, only, and shall be pleased to send selections on approval to clients known to me or after the usual business references.

This collection is divided into three main parts, each of which is mounted separately in a series of my small approval books.

Part I. Consists of unused stamps.
Part II. Consists of used stamps.
Part III. Consists of Official stamps, telegraph stamps and Fiscals used postally, etc., etc.

In the unused stamps, I would like to draw attention to the penny blacks examples from every plate from 1 to 10.

In the octagon stamps there are 13 copies, including a few especially fine shades and sharp embossings.

The 1854-1857 include a number of scarce 1d and 2d stamps with both watermarks and both perforations.

The 4d "no letters" include a magnificent middle garter with full gum. The other values, from the ½d to the 5sh, are practically complete in all the ordinary plate numbers, very few being missing.

In the 1½d rose there is a good specimen in the error of lettering. The corner letters contain "O P P O" for "O P P O."

The high values include the maltese cross 10sh and Pound 1.

The Anchor Pound on blue paper with full gum and two of the 5sh plate four on blue paper.

In the 1883 issue there are two of the rare 10sh in the cobalt color and in 1884 two of the oblong Pound brown watermarked Crowns and one watermarked Orbs.

The later issues are very complete in numerous shades and with a large number of varieties and errors of watermark, such as watermark inverted, no watermark, watermark sideways, etc.

Throughout the collection of unused stamps there are a considerable number overprinted "specimen" and a very large number of blocks of fours, especially in the later issues.

431 Market St., CAMDEN, N. J.

B." The first letter was addressed to C. H. Calhoun, Director of Ports and Customs. Number 24 was addressed to our mutual friend, Major Joseph A. Steinmetz (of Philadelphia), care of Postmaster, Panama, Canal Zone. Number 68 was addressed to Commander Bartlett himself. These letters will be of great value to stamp collectors, and especially to collectors of "First Flight" covers.

No wonder there is so much interest throughout the entire world in collecting "First-Trip" covers from these pioneer trips. There is a real thrill connected with these covers, especially the ones carried by these daring "Seagulls of the Navy," who have risked their lives in blazing the way of this great historical event.

The writer has been informed that offers of $50.00 each have been made for these covers.

BUREAU PRINT BRANCH A.P.S.

By A. E. HAGEN, Grand Forks, N. D.

Ever since our government commenced issuing what is popularly known as Bureau Prints, they have been gaining steadily in adherents among the serious collectors of U. S. stamps. Also collectors who have not the time nor the means to form specialized collection here find a phase of the hobby very much worth while.

As most of you know the stamps are printed in Washington, D. C. No city may order less than 250,000 of any one variety of the coils, or 500,000 of any variety of the ordinary. There are no "favors" nor limited issues. Some of the Bureau Prints are exceedingly hard to acquire, but none are priced way out of sight as the old U. S. Locals. The statement has been made that there are more than 500 collectors of Bureau Prints by a man well known to the stamp collecting fraternity; Prof. A. F. Gamber of Valley City, N. D.

Since the Air Mail, Plate Number, Mail Meter and Precancel collectors all have their little circles and societies;
 why not a good, strong Bureau Print Collectors Branch of the A.P.S.? Bureau Prints don't need "selling" to the average stamp collector once he becomes acquainted with the fascinating things.
 But subjects come up of interest to Bureau Print collectors only, that can and should be handled by Bureau Print Collectors.

Would Precancel collectors welcome supervision and criticism of their catalogue by Plate Number collectors? Far from it. And if this society were a branch of the A.P.S. it would at once provide backbone for the infant, and give the hobby the respect of stamp collectors everywhere. Lets hear from some other Bureau Print collectors.

CAN YOU WRITE ON PRECANCELS?

The publicity department of the Pre-cancel Stamp Society has opened a new contest for writers of precancel articles, whether a member of the P. S. S. or not.

The conditions of the contest are: Articles should be typed or plainly written on one side of page and may be from one to three columns (MEKEEL size) in length. Articles must contain accurate information. All articles submitted whether later published or not, or whether a winner of a prize or not, are to become the property of the P. S. S. Publicity Department (all published articles will, of course, be credited to the respective author), and all articles entered in the contest must bear a postmark not later than March 31, 1927. Five well known precancel authorities, residing in various cities, will constitute the Board of Judges. The awards will be: first prize, $50 catalog value of good precan-cels; second, $25 same; and third, $10 same. All contestants entering articles deemed worthy of publication will be awarded an honorable mention, a precan-cel stamp cataloging over one dollar.
 Address all communications to Francis
 F. Greeley, 500 Fifth Ave., N. Y. City.

EDITORIAL

Next week, our issue will be a Special to celebrate no mean achievement which, in short, is the actual attainment of a circulation of ten thousand copies. Those who have had experience in philatelic publishing realize that we have reason to rejoice in crossing a goal that heretofore has always been beyond our reach. Some of our readers have interested themselves in our pursuit of the elusive ten thousand and they will be particularly interested in the next number, which, we add, will be a paper that will well reflect the progress that has been made.

There is a national movement fostered by trade organizations in different cities to discourage the sale of goods that are sent unsolicited to prospective buyers. From time to time, there have been protests against this method of selling from various sources, but now concerted action is being invited, as readers of the WEEKLY are aware. Philatelists are interested in the drive as unsolicited approval selections have been a thorn in the flesh of not a few collectors, who have told us of their annoyances with them. At one time, we felt that no hardship was worked on the collector who received goods in this wise, when postage for their return was enclosed in the consignment, but we admit that only surface indications were taken into consideration. There are too many "adventitious circumstances" that involve such transactions. We submit the statement of a Better Business Bureau of one of the large cities. No one is obligated to return such merchandise, and has no other obligation "except to give it reasonable care for a reasonable length of time until the company has had opportunity to send some one to get the merchandise."

The following letter from one of the astute observers of the day deserves consideration: "Knowing that you have no axe to grind, I wonder, nevertheless, if you will care to refer to a subject that is of growing importance as a factor in present-day philately. In fact, it is no longer a theory, but a 'condition' that confronts the buyer: I refer to the question of price quotations for stamps, in connection with their condition. Prices are becoming almost meaningless and who, nowadays, would buy a desired specimen if merely the amount asked without any reference to condition was made? I have been buying old German states and find, for instance, that one dealer's 'fair' is another's 'good' but both of the asked prices are about the same! Our correspondent's letter is of some length, and he shows the perplexities that arise from the lack of a standardized method of description. It is granted that descriptions may be variable and that gradations of conditions are not thorough in many instances, but there is an increasing tendency to honestly estimate the stamps; and we think that the problem will be worked out with good results. It is apparent that prices on stamps of really prime condition are strengthening at the expense of the specimens that do not come under this category. The collector who is graduated into the class of the buyers of the expensive stamps is usually one who is capable of being the custodian of his own interests; and while it is wished that there could be hard and fast rules established for the guidance of buyers of "condition" the existing standards are not to be wholly condemned.

In last week's issue the death of Henry N. Mudge, Chicago, a past president of the American Philatelic Society and the Chicago Philatelic Society was reported, and at the meeting of the Chicago body on January 6th, tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. Mudge. At the funeral services, the Reverend Milton M. McGorrell told of the qualities of the decedent in impressive words, and in remarking about Mr. Mudge's inclination for stamps, he made observations that were complimentary to philately. The clergyman mentioned that Mr. Mudge was a lover of nature and of stamps as objects of collection; and he said that any one who collected stamps could not help but project himself in thought into the country whose stamps he studied. As a proper stimulant for the imagination and a studious recreation, he praised stamp collecting, being moved to do so by no suggestion other than his own. Six of Mr. Mudge's old-time friends attended the services before the casket was sent to Marblehead, Mass., the place of interment.

Henry N. Mudge was a sincere philatelist who added to the glory of his chosen pursuit by ever working for its best interests. His public career is known but his many unobtrusive acts in behalf of philately and its followers will never be recorded. During his long incapacitation, he gave away stamps in generous measure to collecting friends and others who might become collectors. In fact, such inroads were made in his collections that one was touched by his liberality; and many of his best stamps were transplanted in this way, such was his unselfish devotion to the cause. Verily, he made many blades of grass grow where only one grew before. As a representative of the best traditions of the old school of philately, combining with them, certain of the progressive influences of to-day, we shall not look upon his like again.

A recent letter from A. H. Wilhelm, president of the American Philatelic Society affords the welcome tidings that his health is restored to the degree that it is almost normal; and from the many X-Rays that he has had taken, the presumption is that there is no need of an operation. Even though Mr. Wilhelm was confined to his home for some time, the workings of the American Philatelic Society were interrupted only for about a week. The many friends of Mr. Wilhelm who have inquired about his condition will be pleased to hear this good report.

In the issue of November 29, 1926, mention was made of "shades" of the current 3 drachma stamp of Greece. Our Athens correspondent, Mr. P. J. Drossos says that no importance whatever should be given to such varieties, as all the Greek stamps of the current issue exist "in, every possible shade, from 'washed out to the deepest color. In the case of the 3drs which is mentioned, there is no shade resembling the 2drs, orange red. Probably, the stamp suffered some alteration by heat—or any other chemical condition." Since 1913, when the lithographed set first appeared there have been a riot of shades, it need not be said.

J. C. MORGENTHAU & CO.

51 West 48 St.

New York City

Here's Your Chance At A Big Collection

Consists of United States, British Colonies, South and Central America, including a Specialized collection of Mexico. Very fine representation of The European Countries.

This collection consists of both 19th and 20th century stamps, rich in rarities, especially the 20th century.

All stamps have been very carefully selected and when made up condition came first and price secondary, as a great many of them cost full catalogue and oftentimes more.

This Collection Catalogues $40.00.00 and will let it go at less than 1/2 the Cat. Val.

If you are buying condition and not catalogue value, you will not make a mistake in buying this collection. The stamps are all neatly and correctly mounted in good albums, and are mixed used and unused.

COLONIAL NOTES

By "CALABAR."

Edwards.—The present low prices of these on the London market offer excellent opportunities for the investor. Most of them are now changing hands at around one-half to one-third Gibbons'; for example, St. Kitts, 1903, 1/2d to 2s at £1, Leewards, CA single 1/2d to 5s at £1, Fiji, 1903, 1/2d to 5s at 22s6d, St. Vincent, 1904, 1/2d to 5s at 35s, Natal, 10s Universal at £2, So. Nigeria, 1908, 10s MCA at 50s, etc., etc. It is safe to say that quotations are about as low as they will ever be, on this particular group of stamps, and with the post-war flood of wmk. changes rapidly abating and the renewed interest being taken in the Edwardian issues, present buyers of these stand extremely good chances of doubling their investment within the next ten or twelve years.

Already, prices on the American market are well over half Catalogue, generally speaking, and as time passes, we may expect to see the London prices slowly rise until they correspond more nearly to the American quotations. The depressed trade conditions in England are responsible in a measure for the present low prices there, and for those with an eye to the financial side, the London market is quite the cheapest at present.

Shades and Colored Paper Varieties.—To date, these have received far less attention than they rightly deserve, American collectors, particularly, being guilty of this neglect. A fair share of the responsibility may be attributed, I think, to the inadequate treatment of modern Colonials in the American Catalogue. The popularity of the West Indian Colonies must, of course, be recognized as one of the factors to which this situation is due, although only a factor of minor importance, as even in the issues of these Colonies the attention given shades and colored paper varieties is relatively slight. In the end, the greater part of the responsibility reverts to the standard Catalogue, and as long as the publishers continue to deal with modern Colonials in the present half-hearted fashion, just so long will the present situation (with all its superficialities of treatment) be prolonged.

Only major types and varieties now receive consideration, and even ignoring prices, the Catalogue is quite valueless to those who wish to form more than a representative display. The specialist must either stumble along as best he can, or—as is usually the case—turn to other Catalogues which will furnish him with at least a fair proportion of the material he desires. Inevitably, this will lead him to make his purchases outside the home country, wherever he is able to satisfy his needs best.

All of which is more or less introductory to the following unlisted shades and minor colored paper varieties. Most of these, I think, are not generally known, in spite of their having come on the London market from time to time. All were distributed by at least one new issue firm, and hence are not extreme varieties of interest to the specialist solely. There are many others, of course,—this list being merely an attempt to call attention to some material which, at present, is quite neglected.

British Guiana.—K. G., MCA, 96c jet black and red on yellow.

British Honduras.—K. G., MCA, 25c jet black on blue green, olive back.

Ceylon.—K. G., MCA, 5r black on pale blue, pale olive back.

Gambia.—1922, large Pictorial type, 5s green on pale yellow.

Gibraltar.—K. G., MCA, £1 purple and black on red.

Gold Coast.—K. G., MCA, 1s jet black on green.

Grenada.—K. G., MCA, 6d purple and violet and 1s jet black on emerald back.

Kenya & Uganda.—K. G., MCA, 1r jet black on green and 1r black on blue green.

Malta.—1922 "Melita" type, 2s6d deep magenta and black; 5s orange yellow and deep ultramarine, and £1 black and aniline carmine-red, sideways wmk.

Nauru.—De La Rue printing, 5s pale carmine and 10s bright ultramarine.

New Hebrides.—Old type, 1s black on blue green and 5s green on pale yellow.

Nigeria.—MCA, 2s6d jet black and red on blue.

St. Lucia.—K. G., MCA, 1s black on blue green.

Sierra Leone.—K. G., MCA, 3d on orange buff; 5s carmine and green on pale yellow, and £1 purple and jet black on red.

Togo.—London ovpt., 5s green and red on pale yellow.

Whilst almost all the obsolete South West Africa provisionals are showing a considerable rise over face value, many collectors fail to profit by past example and quite neglect the current stamps of this Colony. The low values of the old set have already been superseded by the new pictorials, but the s. duties are still on sale and well-worth buying at once. The postage dues should also be watched; many of those current only a short time ago are now making startling rises.

Present Catalogue prices of the 5s Virgin Islands 1922 MCA seem hardly justified, as this item is still changing hands for about four times "face," in spite of its very great popularity. In-

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

If any senior has a suggestion for this page, send it in. Not over 50 words.

Fred Peterson (14) sends us a little essay on Bavaria and receives a stamp award.

The editor wants little articles dealing with stamps. Geographical and historical information is all right, but this page isn't big enough for it.

A letter requiring a personal reply should be accompanied by an addressed stamp envelope.

Harold Owens of Dallas, Texas, sends us an essay on Japan stamps, and wins a prize.

Harry Katz submits three clippings for our use. Sorry we could not use them.

There is a Junior club in New Haven, Ct. John Langley, Pres., sends a list of members for our special issue.

A late entry on Fiume reaches us from Louis Press. Many thanks for your interest.

Max Meiere—The only way to prove that a stamp is imperforate is to have another stamp attached. It is easy to cut perfs. off a single stamp.

We thank Thomas Attwood, St. Louis, Mo., for an essay on Newfoundland, which we are not able to use on account of lack of space. He also sends us two clippings. Thomas is 13 years old and is keenly interested in his stamps.

"I'm under foot," the doormat said,

"And kicked by all the tramps;

But I don't care at all for that,

For I'm collecting stamps."

G. HARRISON TOWNSEND.

Favors Standard Varieties

We are pleased to print a letter from Kenneth Kingsbury. Yes, every collector should start with a general collection, and in time select his lines of specialism. However, be very charitable to the one who collects "funny doo-dads." If Kenneth has a heart or a star on a 3c green send it on to this paper. They look good to us. Here is the letter:—

"Being a junior subscriber to your paper I am very much interested in the Junior Department which you have established so I thought I would write you.

I am 13 years old, and have a general collection of about 3300. Of late I have been concentrating (not specializing) on French Col. Of these I have about 500.

I am decidedly against 1st day covers and such stuff. Recently I saw advertised last day covers of the Sesqui. That is not collecting stamps, it is simply collecting any kind of curiosity that comes along. I believe that the real backbone of stamp collecting is the general collector who collects standard varieties and not cancellations or funny doo-dads."

Coil Stamps

A coil stamp is one so designated because it is issued in coil form, that is, a continuous strip of stamps arranged either sidewise or endwise. The sidewise type have the stamps coiled side by side; the endwise end to end. They are made up in coils of 500 and 1,000 stamps by the Department in order that they might be used in special machines designed for the selling or the affixing of postage stamps. Sidewise coils are perforated vertically and endwise horizontally, each being imperforate on the other sides. At the present time all coils are the product of the rotary press although formerly they were made from the flat plate and a great many of the early coils were furnished in imperforate condition. Sweden, as well as the United States issue coil stamps, both the product of the machine invented by Mr. Benjamin Stickney, the mechanical expert of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Keene Junior Stamp Club

Lyle E. Beal informs us that Keene, N. H., now has a stamp club of juniors, organized through the help of the Keene Philatelic Society. Edwin Merrill is president, Catherine Coffin vice-president, Dorothy Clark secretary, and Putnam Kingsbury treasurer. Meetings will be held alternate Thursday evenings. Fifty boys and girls were present at the institution.

U. S. Commemoratives

An interesting little collection of U. S. stamps could be formed by collecting the special commemorative sets. The only stamps that might be beyond the general collector's means are the dollar values of the Columbian and Trans-Mississippi sets. Sixty-eight different commemoratives have been issued and such a collection would be very interesting. With each set there could be notes telling why it was issued.—KARL D. EBERS.

The Chinese Junk

A stamp of China, of the current "Junk" type, whisks our thoughts to the opposite end of the earth. In what strange wanderings can our fancy indulge in this incongruous land where the civilisation of to-day rubs shoulders with that of six thousand years ago! The admixture of ancient and modern is well illustrated in the design of the stamp we are studying. In the background, a train is passing over a railway bridge. In the foreground, lumbering slowly and awkwardly through the water, is the primitive junk, bearing on its bows the two painted "eyes" without which no Chinese craft could possibly see its way!—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

With the U. S. Boys and Girls

Mr. Melville in the Stamp Lover Exhibition as a millionaire's outing, crowds of boys from the New York schools flocked into the show in the evenings and on Saturday afternoons. On the final Saturday afternoon when I was giving a lantern lecture especially for school children, the hall was packed to capacity with young folks—and their mothers. There were not many exhibits in the junior class, but one which attracted much attention was the gorgeous album of the young gentleman who figured in the catalogue as Otto II, King of Hungary. The album, a huge example of heavily tooled and decorative bookbinding, was more interesting than its stampic contents. The democratic jury allotted this one royal exhibit a simple bronze medal.

Vasco da Gama

Probably no other early navigator is better known (aside from Columbus) than Dom Vasco da Gama. Stamp collectors become familiar with this historical personage through their history books sooner than they do from stamps telling of his exploits. Da Gama was born about 1450 at Sines, a small seaport of Portugal. His knowledge of ships and navigation learned in his younger days stood him in good stead when the King of Portugal was looking for a navigator to try to find a southern passage to India. He was commissioned by the King who gave him four ships and 160 men to make the trip. He sailed down the west coast of Africa and rounded the Cape of Good Hope. Then he sailed up the hitherto unknown east coast thereby opening up the long-looked-for passage to India and other parts of Asia. As this event was second only to the discovery of America, it was duly celebrated by Portugal and several of its colonies issuing pictorial sets of stamps in 1898, the four hundredth anniversary of the great discovery.—A. C. LEDUC.

Vasco da Gama Stamps

There are eight values to each set and were issued for Portugal and the following colonies: Portuguese Africa, Azores, Macao, Madeira, Portuguese India and Timor, the names and values being changed to suit local requirements. Of the 2½ reis there is a picture of the departure of Vasco da Gama's fleet. The 5 reis shows its arrival at Calicut. Of the 25 and 75 reis are emblematical figures of the Muse of History and the patron saint of the expedition, respectively. Da Gama's picture is shown on the 1 reis, while on the 50 reis is his picture and that of Comens, the poet. The 100 reis shows a picture of the embarkation at Rastello and the 100 reis a picture of Da Gama's flagship, the San Gabriel. This set of stamps is very attractive and on account of certain of the values being made oblong and some upright rectangular they can be arranged very prettily on album page.—A. C. LEDUC.

Every Week Abbreviations

Many well known philatelic terms are more often than not written or printed in an abbreviated form. The ones most usually met with are:—

WE ARE GIVING AWAY $5000 a Year

This is what we lose selling STANLEY GIBBONS' MONTHLY JOURNAL, the world's most interesting stamp magazine, at a give-away subscription of 60 cents a year, or 20 months for a dollar bill.

No matter what your stamp interests may be, you will find something really interesting to you in every number.

Market tips, full new issue chronicle, snappy articles, world-wide news service, and plenty of illustrations in every number.

ONE DOLLAR will give you a 20 months trial, or a single specimen copy will be sent absolutely free.

ODDS AND ENDS:—

WE are grateful to D. Berkeley Smith for the names of a large number of collectors to whom we can send our special number. Many hundreds of names have been sent in, but no list was in finer shape than that of Mr. Smith.

E. B. AIYAR, at Puthenchanthai, Travancore, South India, who has long been a subscriber to the WEEKLY and an occasional advertiser, favors us with his price list of Travancore stamps per one, twelve and one hundred. Interested parties should write for this list. The most recent Travancore issues are the 7ch purple and 14ch orange, issued in 1925. Mr. Aiyar submits specimens of these two stamps.

G. E. HALE, of the Hale Album Service, Buckley, Ill., offers to some worthy shut-in a complete service for either stamp pages or cover pages free of charge for one year or more. If any of our subscribers know of someone who can be recommended, we ask them to please write Mr. Hale, who holds the novel honor of being A.P.S. 9,000.

IN our issue of Nov. 22, John Edgar, 40 Wilbury Crescent, Hove, England, offered Nauru 11, 12 and 27 at 4, 6 and 8c respectively. Mr. Edgar made a mistake in his numbers which should have been 2, 3, and 4.

PAUL MOLE, Southampton, N. Y., is sending out a neatly printed house organ called "My Partner." Write him for a sample copy if you would like to be placed upon his mailing list.

THE Cincinnati Collectors Club held a ladies' night on Jan. 6. Vice-President C. E. Wing was in the chair in the absence of Pres. Peaslee, who was ill. A musical entertainment was followed by a Dutch lunch.

OUR HONOR CLUB

W. D. Case, Bloomfield, Conn.
Fred G. Weissner, Woodhaven, N. Y.
Wm. C. Steiger, N. Y. City.

Our first application for membership in the Honor Club this week, comes from W. D. Case of Bloomfield, Conn. Mr. Case has been a subscriber of our paper for the past 16 years, and has a complete file of the paper for that period. We are glad to welcome him to the Honor Club.

We took a trial subscription for our publication at the Exhibition booth from Fred G. Weissner, 8574 88th St., Woodhaven, N. Y. Mr. Weissner now applies for membership in our Honor Club and remits a check for $5 for five years renewal of his trial subscription. We quote from his letter:—"Perhaps it may interest you to know that I am a recent convert, having subscribed to your stamp paper for the first time at your booth at the recent Exhibition."

"According to the number on my wrapper my subscription has expired, and taking it for granted that both of us—your paper and myself—are good for another five years I enclose check for a five years subscription." This sentiment from Wm. C. Steiger, 29 Broadway, N. Y. City, and we thank him for his confidence in us. We have equal confidence

ANOTHER 5000 LINES CONTRACT

DEAR MR. WYLIE:—

You may count on us to use at least 5,000 lines another year, probably quite a bit more. Will try to get copy in next week in good time and shall use goodly space.

Faithfully yours,
J. AVERY WELLS.

JUST SENSE!

COLLECTING STAMPS IS EDUCATIONAL AND A PLEASURE, BUT COLLECTING STAMPS THAT APPRECIATE IN VALUE AS THE MONTHS AND THE YEARS ROLL BY—THAT'S JUST SENSE!

COLLECTING STAMPS OF ANY SORT—EVEN TORN AND UGLY STAMPS—WILL AMUSE YOU AND EDUCATE YOU, BUT COLLECTING STAMPS THAT ARE BEAUTIFUL IN DESIGN AND COLOR, CLEAN IN APPEARANCE AND WITHOUT SCANDAL IN THEIR POSTAL HISTORY—THAT'S JUST MORE SENSE!

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS I HAVE RECOMMENDED THE PURCHASE OF UNUSED 20TH CENTURY BRITISH COLONIALS AND THOUSANDS OF COLLECTORS HAVE ADDED TO THEIR ENJOYMENT OF PHILATELY AND FATTENED THEIR BANK ACCOUNTS BY FOLLOWING MY ADVICE.

I HAVE FOLLOWED MY OWN ADVICE TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT I HAVE INVESTED MANY THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS IN THESE ISSUES—AND I'M NOT SORRY!

NATURALLY, I AM IN A POSITION TO SUPPLY THESE STAMPS IN FINE CONDITION AND AT REASONABLE PRICES, BOTH THE MORE COMMON VARIETIES AND MANY OF THE RARITIES.

WHY NOT GET IN TOUCH WITH ME—ASK FOR QUOTATIONS AND PRICE LISTS—IT WILL BE TO OUR MUTUAL ADVANTAGE—AND THAT'S JUST SENSE!

U. S. INVERTS

While I am always in the market to purchase any individual item or collection of fine United States postage or revenue stamps, nevertheless right at the present time I am especially anxious for those with inverted centers.

Whether you have a single copy or several copies, I would be pleased to have them submitted upon approval. I desire not only the postal issues of 1869, 1901 and 1915 with inverted centers but also the revenue stamps as well. Only copies in fine condition are desired.

If you want to turn your United States holdings into cash, the money is ready. I do not ask for stamps upon consignment as is quite often the custom, but if the condition and price is satisfactory, immediate payment is made. In the last couple years, I have handled many of the largest collections that have come upon the market and am prepared to pay substantial prices for unusual properties.

Bureau Plate Printing

The Literary Digest of December 18th contained an article treating of the improved plates now being used for printing our currency. As the same methods are used in connection with the printing of stamps, mention of the fact will be of interest. Heretofore the plates were used up so fast that it was difficult to keep new plates in stock at all times. It will be recalled back in 1920 when foreign matter in the ink ruined a number of plates at one time, that it was necessary to revert to the offset print in order to meet the demand. By the new method a thin coat of chromium, an exceedingly hard metal, is applied to the plate. This gives a much more satisfactory and sharper impression than from either the steel or the steel plate, nickel coated. A layer of chromium two ten-thousandths of an inch thick when deposited on the surface of the plate makes it four times as durable as an ordinary plate or twice as durable as a case hardened steel plate. Then when the plate becomes worn, it may be dechromed, treated again and is in its former new condition. With this new product the number of plates necessary will probably be cut in half, while the output from each plate will be doubled, making it much easier for the plate number collector to complete his collection.

As far as I can learn, the product from the present plates cannot be distinguished from that of the former plates, so that there will be no new varieties for the collector.

Star Plates 1926 Series

Mention was made in this column many weeks back of the new spacings found on plates and these, it was explained, were distinguished from the other plates by means of a small star generally placed near the upper right plate number. I have just seen blocks of the 20c showing this star, the first that has come to my attention.

Mr. H. M. Southgate kindly sends a list of the lower denominations showing the star. Outside of the 2c and 20c, none of these have ever come to my attention. Now that we are using the rotary press for the lower denominations, it is quite possible that many of these plates were never completed. The star plates prepared by the Department were:

4 cent—17157-58-59-60.
5 cent—18432-33-55-56.
6 cent—17406-07-08-09.
7 cent—17410-11-12-13.
8 cent—16766-67-93-96.
9 cent—17000-01-02-03, 18390-91
18437-38-49-50, 18463-64.
10 cent—17167-68-69-70-71-72-73-74.

1922 2c Rotary Variety

Mr. A. H. Weber advises that he has recently located a copy of the 2c perf. 10, rotary print, issue of 1922, wherein opposite the mouth there is an extra line of shading in the background making a lighter spot immediately in front of Washington's mouth, giving the stamp the appearance as if he were smoking a cigarette. Mr. Weber cannot state the plate that the variety comes from, but knows that it is from the right half of the top row of the sheet, that is, stamps five to ten.

Odd Cancellation

Another odd cancellation just at hand, the equal of the Santa Claus, Ind., recently described, is found on a cover kindly sent on January 1st, by Mr. Herman W. Boers. This was mailed and clearly postmarked, "Christmas, Ariz." If one will purchase a Postal Guide and go over the list of names of many of these smaller places throughout the country, he will be able to spend an amusing hour. There is hardly a word or thought that is not expressed in the naming of our numerous post offices.

Louisiana Tax Stamp:

Rev. J. Dreyer, S. M., kindly advises that the legality of "Act 197 of 1926" known as the State Tobacco Tax Stamp was upheld by the Louisiana Supreme Court when that tribunal affirmed the decision of the District Court of Bayou Rouge handed down in 1926. No appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court of the U. S. As a result, the state will continue to use the tax stamps on tobacco recently described in this column.

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. R. Roberts in commenting on the 1 1/2p rose, printed from the new die, states that the distinguishing features are found in the "2" in the "1 1/2" and the thicker lettering for the words "Three Halfpence." Mr. R. Roberts has also received the 1p dull green also from the new die with the same differences as noted for the 1 1/2p mentioned above.

CEYLON.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us new provisionals for chronicle with information: "Owing to the reduction of the local letter rate from 6c to 5c the post card rate from 3c to 2c there have been issued the 5c overprinted in line '5 Cents' and the 3c grey overprinted in like manner."

CUBA.—We have received from W. Avery, blocks of four of the current green and 2c carmine issued imperfectly. We are advised that 100,000 copies of these stamps have been placed on the market. We shall publish in an early number the full particulars of these interesting varieties.

HUNGARY.—New Values.—L. states that four new values, 1, 2, 3, and 4, were to be issued on the 20th. At the moment of writing, these stamps have not yet been received. The 50c and 80c filler, which were to have been issued at the same time, have been countermanded.—Philatelic Magazine.

IRAQ.—I Rupee.—We learn from Bikhori that the new design mentioned in our last reference has now been proved, and a supply ordered which is expected to reach Bagdad early in January. The colour will be light brown and the stamp will also be overprinted in English and Arabic, for Official use.

Our correspondent also states that all the other stamps now in use will be withdrawn after a short period and replaced by a new issue bearing Faisal's head with the value in the currency.—Philatelic Magazine.

WITH THE EYE OF FAITH

Great Achievements of Every Age Based Upon Plan, Poise, Push and Power

By the MANAGING EDITOR

WITH this issue we celebrate a great event. For the first time in the career of our paper it is mailed to over 10,000 subscribers. This is something that no stamp publication has previously done and we have a right to rejoice in the attainment of this long sought objective.

Upon the following page will be found a story of the growth of the WEEKLY by Mr. Severn. One can sense between the lines the energy that has been worked into the weekly issues of this the greatest of all stamp publications. When some twenty-three years ago the WEEKLY was moved from New York City to Boston it had only 3500 subscribers, but as subsequent events have proven, our growth has been constant.

We have gathered during these years a large number of loyal friends. An indication of this fact can be gleaned from the Five Year Honor Club, whose membership is listed in this issue. Nearly seven hundred persons have during the past three years held the WEEKLY in sufficient esteem to subscribe for a term of five years without any premium or discount of any kind. There is no publication anywhere in the world, of any kind, that can print a statement of this kind.

The business management of the WEEKLY has always carefully scrutinized advertising copy. Some feel that we have been too careful, but the wisdom of our course has been justified by our success. Some dealers no doubt think that we are too particular, but experience is a good teacher and one should profit by it. A dealer does not need to advertise "Lowest prices on earth," "Sold elsewhere for $1," "Worth double the price," "First reply gets a $5 premium stamp," and similar catch phrases.

We early became convinced that flaming discount lines create suspicion in the public mind as to the stability of the stamp trade; that stamps sold by the pound and sack are not apt to raise philately in the esteem of the purchasing public; that dealers who cannot meet their advertising bills promptly are likely to find it difficult meeting an accumulation of obligations, and that an advertiser must give a patron honest treatment.

One of the great needs in philately is a closer union between the American Stamp Dealers Association and the American Philatelic Society. When membership in the latter body is offered us as a financial reference we expect it to be the equal of a commercial or banking reference. Unless the A. P. S. protects the trade in this direction it will be necessary for dealers and newspapers alike to accept only A. S. D. A. references.

Of course we are looking forward to still greater things. With the eye of faith a bigger and a busier WEEKLY and a paid circulation of 15,000 is now our objective. We have a business and a hobby based upon superb attributes which need only to be investigated to be appreciated.

A few years ago the writer published a pamphlet "The Charm of Stamp Collecting" in which was a statement that has been quoted and requested. It long since became an orphan so far as authorship is concerned and again we affirm:

"If you have a hobby you are fortunate—every man should have one! Even so you should take on stamp collecting. It is a hobby that rests the nerves, irons out the aches and pains, furnishes intellectual food for the student, banishes care, satisfies the temperament artistic and earns dividends for the cool and calculating."

TEN THOUSAND STRONG

SEVERAL generations of stamp collectors have appeared on the scene since the WEEKLY made its introductory bow on January 7, 1891; and to the collector of today who does not concern himself with philately's past, it seems as though the paper has always existed. When the first number of the WEEKLY was distributed, one thousand, six hundred and seventy-two weeks ago, it was hailed as a daring and novel venture by the C. H. Mekeel Stamp and Publishing Company of St. Louis, a large corporation, but the projectors of the enterprise had every confidence in its ultimate success and expended in the aggregate thousands of dollars in firmly establishing the paper. Naturally, there were many predictions by the more conservative collectors that a weekly stamp publication could not attain permanency under conditions as they prevailed thirty-six years ago, but it was not long before all philatelists were impressed by the intelligent perseverance that was manifest in the management of the paper and the general disposition was to regard the WEEKLY as a fixture.

The editor of the WEEKLY was I. A. Mekeel whose genius later had its fruition in the general publishing field; and at the time of his death in February, 1913, Mr. Mekeel had attained a national eminence as a publisher and successful business man. One of the early contributors to the WEEKLY was C. E. Severn of Chicago, and in 1894, he became the paper's Chicago correspondent. In those days, a column or so of notes each week from the different stamp centers was a feature of the paper. Several years later, business vicissitudes were encountered by the corporation that published the WEEKLY that made a readjustment of its business necessary; and by an order of court, I. A. Mekeel became the buyer and owner of the WEEKLY. Soon, Mr. Mekeel's acumen led him to measure the advertising possibilities of the paper and he determined to launch a campaign that would thoroughly test them. He proposed to Mr. Severn that he become editor and part owner of the WEEKLY and early in 1898, Mr. Severn's alliance with the WEEKLY as editor and partner was made. The paper was edited from Chicago, but published from St. Louis, and Mr. Mekeel, free to give his undivided attention to the business department, found a congenial occupation in expanding the advertising prestige of the WEEKLY.

For several years the paper flourished under these conditions, but it was not long before Scott F. Redfield of Smethport, Pennsylvania, who was publishing a weekly stamp paper at that period, merged his paper into the WEEKLY and became a part owner of the corporation which had been formed under the laws of the State of New York to conduct the WEEKLY. For a time the WEEKLY was printed at the plant of Mr. Redfield at Smethport, Pa., published by Mr. Mekeel in New York and edited by Mr. Severn in Chicago. At this period, the Boston correspondent of the WEEKLY was Willard O. Wylie of Beverly, Mass., who also was the manager of Rev. John Luther Kilbon's famous Boston Stamp Book; and so capably did he discharge his duties that he was recommended to the notice of the owners. After Mr. Wylie had proved his ability further by planning special issues from start to finish, he was invited to become one of the corporation. In the meantime, the WEEKLY had purchased W. W. Jewett's Weekly Philatelic Era, an excellent publication that almost divided with the WEEKLY the regard of the collecting public and Mr. Wylie was placed in charge of the Era as a separate publication. By his conduct of the Weekly Philatelic Era, Mr. Wylie further emphasized his fitness for philatelic newspaper work, and when the Era was consolidated with the WEEKLY, Mr. Wylie, who had bought a tenth interest in the company, was made managing editor.

The interests of Mr. Mekeel in a general publishing sense were becoming more and more important and such were the demands made upon his time by affairs of magnitude that he could not give freely of his services to the corporation, although the paper continued to hold its warm place in his affections. It was advisable to re-incorporate the company under Massachusetts laws and publish the WEEKLY from Boston under Mr. Wylie's direction; and it was at this time, or in 1904, that W. W. Jewett entered into a contract with the publishers of the WEEKLY whereby he was to print the paper in his plant at Portland, Maine.

At the death of I. A. Mekeel in 1913, the controlling interest in the company became vested in the estate of I. A. Mekeel and two years later, the two hundred and fifty-one shares were acquired by Messrs. Severn, Wylie and Jewett. Later Miss Mildred Wylie who had been associated with WEEKLY work for years, and William K. Jewett, the son of our printer, who served an apprenticeship on the paper, each bought an interest in the company.

Willard O. Wylie who has distinguished himself as managing editor of the WEEKLY for nearly twenty-five years has a greater enthusiasm than ever before in his work. His faithful performance of the duties of his office is eloquent testimony to his belief in and preference for his task. Mr. Wylie sticks close to his work, but he is known to fame in the political field and it is remembered that he made a smashing campaign for the governorship of Massachusetts on the prohibition ticket.

In recent years, he has been active in Republican politics and he attended the national conventions at Chicago and Cleveland. Mr. Wylie is chairman of the Beverly Republican Central Committee and began this month, his third year as a member of the Massachusetts legislature. He is past president of the Beverly Rotary Club and is planning to attend the world convention at Ostend, Belgium, in June, 1927.

Mr. Jewett's ability as a "boss printer" is shown by the record for typographical cleanliness that he has established in the WEEKLY and his art shows forth in the two-score books, including the Dictionary that the company has published from his shop, one of Portland's best, it is needless to say. The WEEKLY demands a great share of Mr. Jewett's attention, indeed.

Charles E. Severn has grown up with the WEEKLY and his long service in the paper's cause indicates that his devotion at least is time-tried. Incidentally, he is president of the 49th Ward Republican Club; a member of the Illinois Relations Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce; past president of the Prosperity Club; a Fellow of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and on the Roll of Distinguished Philatelists.

To Make Them Whistle

When an experienced collector looks through your albums chances are ten to one each time he whistles, or says "Oh baby," he has run across something that not only gladdens his eye but that stands for sound investment. It is the startling pieces that command ever increasing fancy prices. If you can knock out the eye of the onlooker with a few outstanding pieces the chances are he will think far more of your collection than if it represented years of patient study.

Here are a few surprise pieces from our stock, any of which will enhance the value of your collection from either the standpoint of personal satisfaction or investment:

1847, 5c dark brown; a fine strip of four, clear margins all 'round, each stamp hit with brilliant red grid. Dandy.

1847, 5c orange-brown; a beautiful block of four with fine margins and most attractive.

1847, 10c, a fine, wide-margined pair, on cover with U. S. Mail cancellation.

1847, 10c, the big shift in Post Office, on cover, with fancy cancellation in blue and Wilmington & Raleigh R. R. Cover is fresh and fine, though stamp uneven at top.

1851, 1c dark blue; a block of four, with margins.

1851, 1c blue; a strip of three from top row of plate 2; Nos. 1, 2, 3, with margin at top, showing the big crack.

1851, 3c bright red, 1856 printing; an attractive block of six, lightly cancelled and pretty.

1851, 5c dark brown; a strip of four with margin and imprint. Said to be quite unique.

1851, 10c green; mint strip of three from top row, with full gum. A light gum crease hardly visible on face. Apparently never hinged and fresh as if printed yesterday.

1851, 12c black, 15 fine copies including a strip of four on one cover; the stamps neatly tied together with blue town post-marks. Sehr selten.

These are but a few high lights from a carefully gathered stock of United States and foreign stamps intended for the safe investment of our own funds and those of our clients.

We enjoy making up approval selection to meet the needs of general collectors and specialists who know what they want. If you have never sent us a want list you may be as surprised as a well-known European dealer who glanced through one of our albums, whistled often, and said:

"You must have the dark-horse stock of America!"

As we deal principally with people who know stamps, we think our "money back if you want it" assurance is a sound one. May we have your inquiries?

UNITED STATES CANCELLATIONS, 1870-1900

By Dr. WM. EVANS, 313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

Nos. 1 and 2 are the so-called Erie Transits mentioned below. Next, another "76." This one was on a postal card sent by E. F. Boduetha postmarked New Britain, Conn. The fourth one was sent by W. C. White, Jr., and was used at Turners Station, Mass. Maybe meant for a pumpkin head by the use of a little imagination. No. 5 was also sent by Mr. White but was not on a cover. No. 6 is on a 2c 1883 contributed by Otto Arco. Nos. 7, 8, 9 are on the same stamp and were sent by H. C. Woodruff. The last one was on a 2c 1895 on cover postmarked Shandaken, N. Y., sent by Geo. W. Corwin. Late for such an obliterater. H. C. Brooks has submitted a very nice lot of covers, including a pair of 1c re-engraved from Constitution, York Co., Pa., and a 2c 1883 from Post office Whiteford, Md., June 1, 1887.

Also four covers with 2c 1883 stamps postmarked Delta, York Co., Pa. There are two types of the postmark, double circle and single circle. One stamp is cancelled in blue by a D in a wreath, similar to the well known Ellenville, N. Y., E in wreath, and another by a small grid of six bars in an oval frame.

Another 2c 1883 from Warren, N. H., is cancelled by a star with small white spots sprinkled liberally over its surface.

Still another 2c 1883 cancelled by a grid of eleven bars. The postmark is, at the top Greenville, below it Y. A. Gresham, Asst. p. m., in the center the date in three lines, Apr. 8, 1884, and below this, C. Gresham, P. M., and then at the bottom Georgia. First one I've seen naming both P. M. and Asst. P. M. A 2c 1883 from Poplar Grove, Ark., cancelled by a skull and bones different from those so far illustrated.

And last but not least of the 2c 1883's, this postmark in purple, Arnold, Ga., Apr. 3, '86 in a circle. The town name forming the top and the date the bottom, and the date is inverted and reads from right to left. The A of Apr. is a small letter instead of a capital. There is no frame surrounding it. A very curious postmark.

Then there were some 3c green. The very first one was what one of our clan calls an "eye-opener." It is postmarked Spring Lake, N. J., and the stamp is cancelled Beach House, Sea Girt, N. J., with a star in the center. Both are in carmine and present a dazzling array. Next in magenta is the postmark Post Office, Morganfield, Ky., Apr. 15, '78. Then we have Turkey City, Pa., in a horizontal line which ties the stamp to the cover. The date is in mss. at the left of the envelope 2-13-77. B. & Lancaster R. R. comes next, and following that Fort Bennett, Dakota, Dec. 2, 18— with a solid purple star obliterater. Hinesburg, Vermont, Feb. 2, 1881, in a square whose sides are formed of brackets, is the next. This is magenta. Then comes Rocky Point, N. C., Aug. 27, 1877, A. Gemberg, P. M. One more of the dated postmarks of the 70's that are so hard to find. Leeds, Greene Co., N. Y., with an outer and an inner circle in magenta, Hampton, Henry Co., Ga., in an oval, and Sagg, Suffolk Co., N. Y., in green are the next three. A County postmark in green! Not so bad. West Stratford, Fairfield Co., Conn., has a notched oval frame. Gintown, Worth Co., W. H. Braswell, P. M., is next. The state could not be deciphered. Perhaps this town is now obsolete.

M. G. HANNA

Box 936,

NEW KENSINGTON, PA.

Another attractive item has a 1c and 2c Continental cancelled in magenta. The postmark Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 24, 7 A.M. falls squarely on the one cent and a solid star on the two cent. Very pleasing.

Envelope No. 2455 has a purple postmark reading Palouse, Whitman Co., Washington Territory, Mar. 22, 1880. It's all spelled out too.

And yet there are those who tell me "I don't see what you find about the Bank Note issues to interest you." All depends on what it takes to interest one.

Paul F. Wentz has sent a 2c red stamped envelope registered at Port Townsend. On the back is a block of four 2c 1894 or 1895 from a stamp booklet, and each stamp wears a kicking mule. So does the one on the front. A whole herd at once. Finest!

W. C. Michaels has sent some interesting items. A 7c National is cancelled by a large J which I suspect is only part of the whole obliterator, and a 7c Continental is cancelled by the letters F. H. This has been seen on several other stamps but the town in which it was used has not as yet been reported. Any one know it?

A 3c National on cover is cancelled by an oval—S. PACIFIC RAILWAY ST. MARY'S with the date in the center in three lines, Apr 18 1871 also surrounded by an oval, and this mark also appears to the left of the stamp.

A vertical pair of 1c National are both cancelled by a small blue shield in a rectangle with each corner clipped off. Chicago.

A vertical pair and a single 1c National on cover were used on Fr. D. & S. C. R. P. O. Fort Dodge and Sioux City.

A 1c Continental and a 3c Continental are cancelled as shown above. These are new to me. Can any one tell us anything about them? On the back of the 3c is written Erie Transit, but the letters L B seem to indicate something else. This is in olive and the E T in black.

Malcolm H. Ganser has sent a 2c brown envelope stamp cut square cancelled in blue P. & R. R. Co. MERION JUL 26 86 in three lines, the top one curved. There is no frame. Mr. Ganser tells us that this was the Philadelphia and Reading R. R. Co., now the Reading Company, and that Merion is now Abrams, due to the fact that another and more important Merion arose in another part of the State and the P. O. Dept. changed the name of this one.

He also sends a Portland, Me., cancellation showing the letters without color

FORMED BY MR. D. PICK OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this well known specialized collection of Great Britain, only, and shall be pleased to send selections on approval to clients known to me or after the usual business references.

This collection is divided into three main parts, each of which is mounted separately in a series of my small approval books.

Part I. Consists of unused stamps.

Part II. Consists of used stamps.

Part III. Consists of Official stamps, telegraph stamps and Fiscals used postally, etc., etc.

In the unused stamps, I would like to draw attention to the penny blacks examples from every plate from 1 to 10.

In the octagon stamps there are 13 copies, including a few especially fine shades and sharp embossings.

The 1854-1857 include a number of scarce 1d and 2d stamps with both watermarks and both perforations.

The 4d "no letters" include a magnificent middle garter with full gum. The other values, from the ½d to the 5sh, are practically complete in all the ordinary plate numbers, very few being missing.

In the 1½d rose there is a good specimen in the error of lettering. The corner letters contain "O P P C" for "O P P O."

The high values include the maltese cross 10sh and Pound 1.

The Anchor Pound on blue paper with full gum and two of the 5sh plate four on blue paper.

In the 1883 issue there are two of the rare 10sh in the cobalt color and in 1884 two of the oblong Pound brown watermarked Crowns and one watermarked Orbs.

The later issues are very complete in numerous shades and with a large number of varieties and errors of watermark, such as watermark inverted, no watermark, watermark sideways, etc.

Throughout the collection of unused stamps there are a considerable number overprinted "specimen" and a very large number of blocks of fours, especially in the later issues.

A description of the used and of the Official stamps will appear towards the end of January when these books are mounted.

cut into a large oval block, mottled that it appears like a net.

And cut from a postal card is what looks like a printed postmark. In the center is the date FEB'Y 23 1881 in three lines. This has a circular frame composed of a fine inner and a heavier outer line 18mm. in diameter. Outside there are the words Groff's Publication Office, Linton J. Groff, P. M., surrounded by another circle 25mm. in diameter, and outside this are the words Post Office Linton, Jefferson County, Ohio. The circle surrounding this is 33mm. in diameter. Perhaps a pre-cancelled postal card?

Miss McClenthen reports having found two specimens of the elliptical grids commonly used in the late 70 and 80's in violet ink on 2c 1883. This is the first report of these in any color except the everlasting black.

FOR the first time since his death, Nikolai Lenin's features have appeared on a postage stamp. A Russian 20 kopek stamp represents him as a child of nine, and the proceeds of the sale will be donated to the relief of the nation's five hundred thousand unemployed children.—JULIUS SEVICK.

1482 BROADWAY

NEW YORK CITY

A PHILATELIC MILESTONE

By EDITOR A. J. SEFL

The great New York Exhibition is over. Boldly conceived, soundly organized, and brilliantly carried through, it marks an important step forward in the progress of philately. Such an event merits, and indeed demands of us, quite particular analysis in order to secure the benefits which should arise from a close scrutiny of all phases of the undertaking. We have to see what lessons it has to teach; regarding it as the nearest approach that we have had to a true mirror of modern philately, we have to study the picture it reflects. From these lessons and from this picture we should be able to obtain a shrewd idea of the trend of philatelic thought and fashion, and to apply the knowledge so gained as opportunity arises. We print elsewhere in this issue a detailed account of the proceedings and of the exhibits, and on this page confine ourselves to a brief general study of the facts and problems that appear the most noteworthy.

The ever widening scope of the hobby and the steady flow of new issues give rise to the thought that perhaps in the future it will not be possible to attempt such a complete programme of classes as was provided at New York; many individual sections would, in themselves, have furnished sufficient material for attractive exhibitions. The healthy condition of stamp collecting was proved by the high standard of exhibits throughout the show. Though it may not have been patent to the eye, we thought we could detect a distinct falling away in the practice of "bloating" and of a definite advance in sane specialism limited to essential material. We also noted with very considerable pleasure the reappearance at such an Exhibition of the serious general collector. Despite the general opinion to the contrary, it is still possible to form general collections either of the whole world or of some particular group of countries. The wonderful collection exhibited by Mr. Hawkins was a revelation. Splendid though it was, the total cost was possibly not in excess of any two of the great specialised collections shown, so that on the score of expense the wealthy collector would be well advised not to overlook the claim of general collecting. In this country we have few great general collectors left, and it can only react unfavourably on the hobby if we do not produce a new generation of such collectors. That general collecting, however need not be confined to the wealthy was clearly exemplified in New York by the presence of several smaller general or limited-general collections, the formation of which must have given the owners intense and constant pleasure. At future exhibitions we would advocate a larger class for such collections, which could be subdivided into sections, giving every grade of collector an opportunity to enter.

We have already referred to the diminution of "padding" in most of the specialised collections shown. We considered this most marked, especially in many of the exhibits shown for the first time. As the essential features of stamp production and use become more widely known, so will we find collections tending to greater compactness and clarity. We noted with interest the greater attention that is being paid, especially in the New World, to some of the later developments of collecting, such as covers, postmarks, postal rates, air posts, all of which appeared either in isolated specialised form or as component parts of larger exhibits. This tendency to study the use of the stamp, apart from its physical condition, is undoubtedly developing, and will provide new avenues of study.

The New York Exhibition has impressed one thing upon us in particular. The need of greater sympathy towards the collector of twentieth century stamps. We confess in the past to an admitted preference for the older classic issues; this was due in greater part to the confusion existing among the collectors of modern stamps who had not separated, in a manner convincing to the old school, the intrinsically interesting material from that artificially created to fulfil a demand. Careful study of the exhibits at New York has convinced us that the time has now come for the study of many of the newer countries to be considered on the same plane as that of the older favourites, and at future exhibitions more generous provision should certainly be made for such countries, for which also adequate and knowledgeable judges will have to be provided. The Irish collection shown by Mr. W. Stanley, for instance, was extremely interesting, and the separating, and charting of the various settings and plates was comparable to the best philatelic work in some of the older countries. No—the time has now passed when it was usual to relegate modern countries to the background. They contain, we admit, much that is undesirable, but it is only by admitting openly what is really good that a true standard of philatelic value can be created, and the rubbish even more securely labelled as such. Many of the processes used for modern stamps are unexplored fields, and this Exhibition has in several instances so quickened our interest and stimulated our curiosity, that we hope some of our readers will come forward with authoritative articles on some of these new countries; they would be most welcome to our columns.

We are sorry that it was not found possible to keep the Exhibition open for more than one week, especially as the awards were announced on the Thursday and the judges were asked to have their decisions ready for the printer on Tuesday. We should like to see the Jury allowed a full week on exhibitions of this importance, while we feel sure that many busy members of the general public who can only come in their spare time, would like a longer opportunity of studying the exhibits.

At the New York Exhibition, any judge was at liberty to compete for an award, but was not called upon to act as a judge in those sections in which he was exhibiting. This innovation has been the subject of considerable discussion and diversity of opinion. The British judges were not in favour of it and exhibited hors-concours. Ethically there should be no objection to members of the Jury competing, provided, as in this instance, no judge is permitted to adjudicate on his own section. There is, however, in our opinion, one grave objection which, in fairness to other exhibitors, should be given its full weight. This objection is that a judge is presumably most expert in those countries which he himself collects and exhibits, and that to debar him from judging his own classes is to deprive the ordinary exhibitor of the most expert and competent judge or judges of that particular group. No man can know all countries equally well

NEW YORK

A TRIBUTE

At the meeting of the Board of Governors of the Collectors Club, New York, held January 5, 1927, at the club-room, 51 West 48th Street, Harry L. Lindquist was elected president, succeeding Theodore E. Steinway of piano and philatelic fame. Previously, at a meeting of the Club, the following were made members of the Board: C. M. Ams, H. M. Lewy and H. M. Konwiser. Dr. Chittenden was permitted to resign the secretaryship, which he has held for many years, in order that he might give all his time as librarian to the wonderful collection of literature belonging to the Club; and Harry M. Konwiser was elected to fill his place. Mr. Curie was elected again as vice-president and Mr. Lewy was re-elected treasurer. The additional members of the Governing Board are Messrs. Luff, Lichtenstein, Phillips, Rich, Hall, Steinway and Morgenthau.

Mr. Lindquist is honored by being chosen as chief executive of this great philatelic organization of over eight hundred members but none will say that he does not deserve the palm. On the score of editorship alone of the Collectors Club Philatelist, he is entitled to high preference and there are other counts in his favor. His record as editor of the journal of the club shines forth as a testimonial to what intelligent application will do; and his work has been done unselfishly in order that philately may be served. We remember Mr. Lindquist when his home was in Chicago and we rejoice in his progress to the front in the greatest philatelic center.

The library of the Collectors Club is now the largest in the world and moreover it is regarded as a reference library, a working library, for all the philatelic students of the land. The club rooms are open daily from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. for the accommodation of members and their friends. Students in quest of special information may write Dr. Chittenden or Mr. Konwiser. The year, 1927, will be a momentous one under the leadership of Mr. Lindquist; and results will not be wanting.

and this new system might one day easily lead to the position of groups of judges being perforce obliged to adjudicate only in sections in which they had little interest and slight knowledge. Well as the new arrangement worked in New York, we are not in favour of its repetition. We quite realise that New York was an exceptional exhibition, coming only after a long interval, and that it would have been hard on many collectors who were essential to the jury not to allow them to compete. At the next great exhibition, however, we expect to see a rearrangement of the scheme of competition and the re-introduction of at least one championship class, so that it should be possible to revert to a non-competing jury without causing hardship on anyone. While we have not formed any very clearly-cut opinions on the subject, we are in general in favour of some special treatment of exhibits that have already won gold medals at important exhibitions, so that the spirit of competition be more open. Whether this special treatment should be segregation in championship classes or otherwise, we feel sure that it would prove helpful towards wider competition. The whole subject is indeed a vast one, and it might well be argued that all the existing schemes are wrong and that each collection should be judged individually against a set standard and not against an hypothetical opposition. Under the present conditions, a very fine collection of a great country in one class may receive no award owing to exceptionally strong competition, while a very ordinary collection of an unimportant country may, in another section, receive a gold medal merely through lack of such or even adequate competition. It is all very interesting, and New York, by reason of the high standard that it has set in the greater number of classes brings the subject prominently before us. Dur-

ON COLLECTING COVERS

PERCY A. HILL

Long before the urge of first-day and air-flown covers was that of collecting, entire as a sideline of philately. And cover collecting is becoming more popular every day, quite a number of stamp gatherers having added this to the number of their activities. And they are of every variety and specialty. Some gather only XIX and XX century covers while the most recent urge is that of a collection of personally addressed covers which are of course the best to a philatelist who expects to hand down this to his immediate family instead of putting it up at auction.

Then comes a suitable album to exhibit these. The best way is to use the common black paged photo albums and either hinging the covers so that cancellations on the back may be seen or by pasting each corner lightly with photo paste. A collection of the best should contain only those covers whose stamps are tied to the cover by a clear but light cancellation with one of the cancelling office on the body of the cover so as to authenticate it.

For purposes of valuation a system will naturally vary, but for the common cover the unused value of the stamp used may serve to give an idea of the primal value (catalogue value of stamps). There are, of course, some that cannot be valued that way. For instance, a 14 apple-green, U.S. 1917 issue, postmarked Pago-Pago, American Samoa; The Japanese issues used in the mandated Caroline and Marianas, Philippine stamps used in the United States, Australia issues used in Fiji and so on. The comes the "sleeper" covers from such places as Fanning I., Christmas Island, Pitcairn I., Lord Howe, and Norfolk Islands, which use either the stamps of Australia or Great Britain, and those a class by themselves, like South Georgia and Tristan da Cunha, where the mail is carried by warships may have intervals of from five to eight years.

It is not difficult to acquire round-the-world covers provided that they are not routed via obscure way-ports. First day covers of the common issues are also not difficult but such covers as the inauguration of the Hungarian Air-mail cancelled by a postmark good but for one day, Nov. 7, 1920, and the recent Independence issue of Portugal which we understand was available for postage for one day, Apr. 14, 1926, also form a class by themselves.

There is no more difficult branch of philately than the collection of the elusive cover, specially if addressed personally to the collector. The hardest ones to obtain are from Afghanistan, Ascension, Falkland Islands, Ruanda, Faroe Islands (only one stamp ever issued), Juan Fernandez and Elobey, Fernando Po and the Spanish colonies in Africa, where such places with authentic covers are Carinthia, Marienwerder and Silesia and rarities indeed when it comes to entire and not to stamps.

In the valuation of such as these, a catalogue can be quoted even at quadruple prices for they are of the "hard-to-get" kind and bring their own price to those interested, furthermore the cover has an educational value even higher than that of the mere adhesive. Rare issues of the Far Eastern Republic on cover are an example of this, nor is it possible to acquire obsolete issues of countries that refuse to admit them in regular mails, so that covers of this kind are out of all proportion to the value of the stamps. Several of the best foreign firms make a specialty of supplying these to collectors, that is, current issues addressed to the collector. When they become obsolete, as in the case of the surcharged Tonga and Togo or limited commemoratives, they become highly desirable from a collector's standpoint. Summing up it would appear that the branch of philatelic activity is increasing every year and serves to advertise the hobby the world over.

ing the coming winter season it would be interesting to have some constructive ideas from leading British Philatelists as to a general scheme for our next great British Exhibition.

During the past twenty years we have visited most of the International Philatelic Exhibitions.

PLATE NUMBERS, DOTS AND LINES

By SEVARD.

Plate number collecting is rather difficult, and at the same time, fairly easy. This paradox in reasoning is accountable in the fact that one searches high and low for certain plate numbers, and corresponds with everyone to locate this or that number. By the time one has located a long missing absentee, there are fifty more numbers to get. The other way of looking at the problem is this: If you let your friends know that you collect plate numbers, they will send them to you gratis as postage. Friends will do things to help. It is rather odd to receive three or four plate numbers on your mail each day. But friends are like that—they claim we are silly with our stamps, yet send us more to encourage us.

Akin to plate numbers, are guide lines and arrows. A while back, we had a good write-up on these fascinating graphos in MEKEEL'S, and I believe everyone knows his arrows and criss-crosses by now. In so many cases, users of stamps tear off the tabs and destroy the arrow heads, but the criss-crosses come through, depending upon the sheet cutter in Washington. Many collectors make up phantom sheets for each stamp, showing all the guide positions, tabs, corners, plate numbers and platemers' initials. And as the system of guide lines changes with different stamps, these phantoms are interesting.

The next oddity collectible is the position dot and ruled guides for transfer. Position dots are very noticeable in the 3c 1879, all on a horizontal line with the third line in the medallion below Washington's mouth. This dot varies in position, right to left, and in accordance with the space, occupies for cataloging six different places. In the 2c brown, the position dot is also on the left, about midway between top and bottom, and of course, we find the position dots repeated in the 2c green.

In the 3c 1879, corner dots have crept thru from the 3c 1861, and also a bottom dot under the center of the design. These are quite noticeable. In some instances, the siderographer's lines can be noted, very faintly of course, and in some cases, one may note a continuous frame line running vertically the length of the stamp along the left frame line. As the siderographer draws his lines along the left frame position to be, the line might easily by error, become too deep, and unnoticed, pass inspection for engraving.

In fact, since these lines do exist in plate preparation, one would naturally expect to find them, and it would rather be an assumption of perfection to assume that one couldn't find a position dot or a siderographer's line on the 2c 1923 series. In searching for these, as in the past, one will often come across blurs which look like frame line extensions, and in many a case, these blurs are a result of the lines, blotting out exactly what we are looking for. Often, too, ink blurs mar a stamp so much that the position dot cannot be proven, but after making oneself familiar with any one of our stamps, one will easily find the position dot up near the upper left corner of the stamp design. Also, if one cares to study the stamp, one will find faint siderographer lines running vertically through the frame line. These are very faint.

When one claims that they are easily found, our figures yield the following: position dots 26 found, continuous frame lines, 8 complete found, 13 incomplete found.

In submitting these varieties to the Third Assistant Postmaster General, he informs us interestingly, "In preparing the stamp plates of both 360 and 400 subjects it is the practice for the Siderographer to place position dots and guide lines upon the plate in order to obtain a uniform layout. Usually these dots and lines are covered by the left edge of the stamp design, but occasionally they show if the transfer roll is not placed exactly on the ruled lines."

It further states that the stamps submitted "were undoubtedly printed from plates where perfect register was not obtained in the transfer process."

Another question which we expressed total ignorance upon was the reason for the red 3c post card, believing that the 3c value should harmonize with the 3c violet. In answer, we are referred to the Universal Postal Union, Stockholm, August, 1924, which in Article 5 of the general provisions provides that: "1. The postage stamps representing the basic rates of the Union or their equivalent in the money of each country are made up in the following colors: * * * In red, the stamp representing the rate for a post card. * * * Even so, one wonders if Prof. Fisher's index numbers must be taken into consideration in interpreting the phrase "or their equivalent in the money of each country."

One of the cash customers across the stamp counter said, "Now that spring is coming along, I suppose you'll have some new stamps for sale." There is no doubt that non-collectors sincerely believe that collectors have a right to dictate what stamps should be issued by our Post Office. Our postmaster expressed that belief sometime ago. If we did dictate such issues, many of us wouldn't be snooping around all the time for certain varieties, plate numbers, initials, or perfect perforations.

Someone asked recently why, when purchasing some packets of cheap stamps, half the weight was in tin foil. We purchased three 25c packets from a very reputable stamp firm and found a great deal of tin foil in the mixture. If one will note that the packets state that these stamps are purchased by weight and sold in quantity, Nor By WEIGHT, one cannot find fault, for usually such packets state some manifest quantity which is generously fulfilled. Who recalls putting stones in the rag bag or wetting the paper in the paper bundles they were going to sell?

300 all different foreign stamps from many countries. A very nice packet.

BEVERLY, MASS.

BITS OF NEWS:—

WE are informed by the Hawkeye Stamp Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, that the firm cannot secure replies to letters addressed to Wm. Campbell or B. Campbell of Emerado, N. D. Interested parties will do well to write the Hawkeye Co.

W. C. STEIGER, 400 Lookout Ave., Hackensack, N. J., writing in the interest of some local boys and also the Hackensack Philatelic Society, requests donations of second hand albums to be used in recruiting philately with worthy boy collectors.

HARRY IOOR, State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind., is sending out some illustrated price lists. They will be mailed to any address upon receipt of a request.

ARTHUR WOOD has shown us a photograph of a sheet of one hundred King Edward, 2c Canadian stamps where the vertical perforations sever the stamps nearly in the middle. The sheet bears the plate inscription:—"Ottawa No. 71 Top" at the top. The sheet is rather unique.

THE Dallas Morning News of January 3rd, contains an illustrated write-up of the Rev. T. O. Perrin, in which we are informed as to his philatelic activities. Dr. Perrin has a collection of fifteen volumes and it is noted from the illustration that he also has a nice assortment of attractive children.

G. E. HALE of Buckley, Ill., has just placed upon the market an album for use in connection with first day and air mail covers. This album gives on each page full information as to the cover to be mounted together with the date of issue of stamp, its official description and other details of interest to the philatelist.

WILLIAM WEST is using a novel letterhead copied from the famous "Kicking Mule" cancellation. We find within the circle, instead of the name of the town and date, Mr. West's name and address, and to the right an exact reproduction of our friend, the mule. This is handsomely embossed in green. Mr.

My regular business is sending approval selections and I have them for all grades of collectors. Those with small, those with medium and those with large collections. I cater especially to the general collector. I have a very large stock, especially strong in the lower priced XIX stamps.

Please give references to establish your reliability. Circular on request.

West by the way is much interested in stamps bearing this cancellation, and is getting together a history as to the several towns that have used such a postmark.

W. M. H. SEWARD of Johnson City, N. Y., in renewing his subscription also renews the subscription of the Home Library of the same city. This is a gift from Mr. Seward and he makes it "to create an interest in stamps and to encourage someone in collecting." This is certainly commendable and good publicity.

THE last meeting of the Fort Orange Stamp Club, Albany, N. Y., was favored with a visit from Leslie A. Davenport of the Marks Stamp Co., who gave an address on general collecting. Previous to the meeting Mr. Davenport and the officers of the club were entertained at dinner by W. L. L. Peltz. The club meets every Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. If interested write C. W. Graham, 25 Washington Ave., Albany, N. Y.

THE United Stamps Societies report a doubled membership in 1926. Clubs and societies have been admitted located in Harrisburg, Pa., Wilmington, Del., Boston, Mass., N. Y. City and Syracuse, N. Y., Paterson, Newark and Passaic, N. J., Quincy and St. Augustine, Fla., and Springfield, Mass. Several additional applications have been received. The advantages for philatelic societies to join as member-societies are many, not the least of which being a very efficient sales department, and a cordial invitation is extended to all societies to correspond with the Chairman of the Recruiting Committee, Wm. C. Steiger, 400 Lookout Ave., Hackensack, N. J.

"AS you are busy getting stamps for your collection does it ever occur to you that some day in the future you may wish to recall from what source some of your stamps came? Philatelists sometimes entertain friends for hours in connection with the gaining of their stamps. Ten years from now, as you look through your album, are you going to remember which stamps came from the old sailor, or which from a dear friend now gone, or how you happened to get a rare stamp of which you did not then realize the value? Just some tiny initials below your choice stamps—with an explanatory note in the back of your album, will perhaps mean a great deal to you some day."

—EVA R. BONNEY.

"THE GAUNTLET" is the name of a house-organ published by the Challenge Stamp Co., 426 Bainbridge St., Brooklyn, N. Y. While this is a Volume I, Number 1, it is worth sending for, and a free sample may be had for the asking.

THE 14th annual meeting and banquet of the Twin City Philatelic Soc. (Minneapolis-St. Paul) was held Jan. 8. The following officers were elected: Pres., Lawrence D. Steffel; Vice-pres., Wm. Hoyt Yale; Secy.-Treas., E. M. Oleson; Directors: E. S. Stebbins, J. B. Beals, E. J. Gifford. Regular meetings are held monthly. The society is sponsoring active junior clubs. The Crown

UNUSED STAMPS AT FACE VALUE

Uncle Sam has more than 100 varieties of postage stamps which he will sell to you at face value plus return postage. These are available at the Government Philatelic Stamp Agency at Washington.

I have a little pamphlet which tells something about this Agency. A list of stamps on sale goes free with each copy. The price for the pamphlet and list is only 10c.

THE ROMANCE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

The Century Co. of New York have under preparation one of the finest books on stamps that has ever been published. When a publication of this kind is put forth by national publishers I believe it is to the interest of philately for collectors and dealers to aid its sale. If the Century Co. finds a satisfactory demand for such a book they will look with favor upon books relative to philately which may be offered them for publication. And the more books we have, you know, the more collectors there will be.

THE ROMANCE OF POSTAGE STAMPS will contain over 400 pages of "fascinating text, telling the glamor, the adventure and history woven about the postage stamps of all nations." It will have over 1,000 illustrations. Royal Octavo, beautifully bound. Price $5.00.

I have a reprint of the first chapter, well illustrated, which I will send to those interested, while the supply lasts.

INTERNATIONAL PHILATELIC EXHIBITION

The finest memento of the greatest philatelic exhibition ever held is a special sheet of 25 of the 2c White Plains stamps. This sheet was issued just for the Exhibition. The top margin bears the inscription "International Philatelic Exhibition, Oct. 16 to 23, 1926," and the bottom "New York, N. Y., U. S. A." It has four plate numbers, one on each side. Every collection of U. S. stamps should have one of these sheets. Price $1.00, mailed flat.

If you ask for it I will give free with each order a Sesqui envelope cancelled with the special Exhibition cancellation at the exact time, Oct. 16, 2.30 P. M., at which President Coolidge pressed the button which opened the "show" to the public.

HOT OFF THE PRESS

If you are one of the fortunates who can afford to pay a premium for "hot off the press" service send the required deposit and tell me what you require. This service is for unused U. S. stamps, not first day covers, mailed to you on day of issue.

The service charges, in addition to the face value of the stamps supplied, are as follows: single, 10c; block of four, 20c; plate number block of four or six, 40c; additional copies at 2c each over face.

A deposit of $1.00 is required if you want only single copies of new stamps. The deposit is $2.00 if you want a block or more. The deposit remains intact and is returned when you stop the service. Bills are sent when the account amounts to $1.00 or $2.00.

If you are collecting for fun you will get a big kick out of receiving stamps as soon as issued. If you are collecting as an investment this service won't interest you as you can get stamps more cheaply by waiting and ordering with others later on. You have to pay for your fun.

POPULAR SETS OF BLOCKS

I have been surprised at the demand for sets of plate number and arrow blocks from the four positions. Believing that further offers of these sets may be of interest, I have gone over my stock and listed those that I can supply. A set consists of four blocks, one from each of the four positions in which they appear on a sheet of stamps, top, bottom, left and right. The plate number blocks in a set are all of the same number.

NET PRICE—$3,500.00 Net Cash

In view of many of the 20th Century stamps (in unused condition) being catalogued on a face value basis, this collection is extremely cheap at the price asked. Collection contains many of the outstanding better stamps of highly desirable countries and groups. Armenia, Ukraina, etc., having but little value (in comparison to catalogue) are noticeably missing.

Recapitulation of the individual countries contained in this collection may be had on request (to seriously interested parties).

A LOCAL STAMP CLUB

(We have many requests for information as to how to go to work to form a local stamp club. This article will be very helpful in that direction. While it naturally belongs upon our boys' page, it will be so generally useful that we have no hesitation in inserting it elsewhere. Moreover, it is rather a lengthy article for the page in question.—Ed.)

Much stress is placed at the present time on propaganda to interest the boy and girl in stamp collecting. This agitation leans toward the organization of local clubs and indeed every philatelist should make it his duty to see that adequate local organizations are available for the young collectors. We all know that for every advanced collector there are dozens of juvenile collectors.

These local clubs could be fostered by local societies (auxiliaries), by Y. M. C. A's, schools, etc., and are the best mediums for educating and guiding these younger collectors in the right direction.

Of course, we confront the problem that has bothered all clubs, and that is: How shall such a club be organized and run? Take a school club, for instance. It should not be run like a class room. A collector of that age does not want to listen to his own companion's speech on some phase on which he is probably better informed than his teacher. He wants to see stamps, to buy stamps at reasonable prices, to exchange stamps and to see current magazines, and catalogues, beyond what the average boy or girl can afford.

Trading and selling stamps in an unofficial way, a dry business meeting at every meeting, and a meeting that is strict or disciplinary, is not conducive to a successful club.

With such a club we had to deal at Central High School, Saint Paul, Minn. It meant either to discontinue the club or re-organize. A research was made into other clubs, and a study of the different philatelic societies, A.P.S., etc., was made. Why were they successful? What details could be used in re-organizing a good juvenile club?

As a result of a combination of ideas a new set of rules and regulations was drawn up and adopted. Success was immediate. Memberships increased the first year 300%. The club was self-supporting and the benefits derived by the members of real value. General interest by all members was a constant figure and the half-hearted support and interest was gone. Many girls were enrolled as members and they took active part.

The keynotes to the re-organization are as follows:

1. All business is handled by an Executive committee elected by ballot.
2. The place of meeting is a "club room" in the real sense of the word, and all meetings are informal.
3. Regular mimeograph bulletins are published.
4. The Sales Department is operated by the club itself. No selling between members in the club rooms. This insures the sale of fine condition stamps only. (Remember your "Kid Collection"?)
5. Stamps are exchanged by members but the exchange is operated by the club. Classification of stamps and elimination of undesirable copies thus possible.
6. One social "get together" meeting each year at Christmas time with contests, displays, "eats," speeches, and dancing.
7. Club catalogues and magazines are kept at the club rooms at all times for the members.
8. A club store carrying standard supplies that are sold to members at a small profit.

We have mimeographed the complete rules and regulations in detail. Any school or club wishing a set may secure it by writing to the Central High School Stamp Club, Saint Paul, Minnesota, and enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

LETTERS AND LOTTERIES

By H. P. ATHERTON.

Here is a subject which has given our Postal Department some amount of work—Lotteries. As it has to do with Postal Regulations rather than Philately, it is a wee step from our path, yet, the methods employed in securing some 50,000 "customers" by direct mail advertising are so ingenious that they make interesting reading, perhaps a welcome relief from so many specialized chronicles.

In running thru a mess of old letters one was found mailed from N. Y. City in a stamped envelope (Scott No. 2352) mailed in the late sixties. When lotteries are mentioned, the Louisiana State Lottery comes to mind; but this one is the "Kentucky State Lottery," and as the two circulars clearly show what wonderful opportunities the folks of that time had to make big money on a ten-dollar investment, I know you'll enjoy reading all about these glowing prospects.

There were two documents enclosed in this cover, which came without any return address whatsoever. Perhaps our wonderful old student of human nature, Mr. Phineas T. Barnum, had received one of these same epistles shortly before he "told the world" his now celebrated phrase, "There is one born every minute." We will brush by the big type circular giving list of the e-normous prizes, and first take a look at the circular letter, which in addition to telling you how you are to get big money for little, also shows off and anon that this lottery is sanctioned, not only by the state, but by the United States government.

The letter is headed by the following: "Kentucky State Lottery by authority of the Governor & Legislature of the State of Kentucky. Frank Mass & Co., General Agents, Licensed by Authority of the United States Government Office, No. 47 William St., New York," all this being prettily spencerianized, and at the left is the village blacksmith with his apprentice doing the hammering on an anvil which is between them, whilst they are presumably talking over this letter to the clank of the hammer on the anvil. 'Tis a pretty picture. This masterpiece of a letter is printed in script throughout. Listen to it,—

"Dear Sir: From what we can learn of public sentiment in your state, we are satisfied that there is among your people a strong prejudice against dealing in lotteries, and feeling that this want of confidence cannot be removed until some person draws a good prize who will make it known, we offer you the chance of a handsome prize in a certificate of a package of tickets in the Grand Havana Plan Lottery to be drawn on the 30th day of January, 1867. (See enclosed Grand Scheme.) These legal and well known lotteries are drawn by the authority of the Legislature of Kentucky under the superintendence of sworn and responsible Lottery Commissioners, we mention this fact to convince you that no deception lies concealed under this communication now as our object is to increase our business among your citizens, by putting you in possession of a handsome prize, we offer you the above described certificate with however this understanding, that after we send you the money it draws, you are to inform your friends and acquaintances that you have drawn a prize at our office; if you will do that we will truly bind ourselves, that if the certificate does not draw you net $3,000 we will send you another certificate in one of our ever lucky extra lotteries for nothing. You perceive that you now have an opportunity to acquire a handsome prize, that may never again present itself; Improve it, before it is too late, by sending your order immediately, as we shall have to pay the manager of the lotteries for the certificate you must send $10.00/100 in your letter to us, the price of the certificate. All prizes drawn at our agency are promptly paid at our office in New York City, by draft or otherwise, as the purchaser may direct; send us $10.00 by return mail, and give us the name of your nearest bank, so that there may be no delay in forwarding you a draft as soon as the drawing is over. To facilitate the prompt execution of our proposal use the enclosed envelope and make your remittance to our office in New York, be careful to write in a plain hand, your post office, county, and state. Wafer, or seal your letter so that it will not come open in the mail. Please consider this letter strictly private, and confidential, and send your order without delay. Very sincerely, FRANK, MASS & CO."

There was no "Enclosed envelope" in this letter, so the recipient may have sent his $10.00, yet that could hardly be possible, as there is no second letter from the agency informing him that he was a winner of one of the prizes.

Perhaps the accompanying circular headed $50,000!!! No Risk, No Gain, also helped pull the ten spot away from him. From the big list of prizes it actually looks as tho you couldn't lose, for it says $320,000 to be distributed to purchasers, and shows a list totaling this figure. The Grand Prize is $50,000, and these big prizes range down to 100 prizes of $100 each, the total being 447 prizes in this class, and the plan of drawing them is this: "The numbers from 1 to 50,000 corresponding with those numbers on the tickets, printed on separate slips of paper are encircled with small tin tubes, and placed in one wheel. The first 447 prizes similarly printed and encircled, are placed in another wheel. The wheels are then revolved, and a number is drawn from the wheel of numbers, and at the same time a prize is drawn from the other wheel. The number and prize drawn are opened and exhibited to the audience (at Covington, Ky.) and registered by the Commissioners, the prize being placed against the number drawn. This operation is repeated until all the prizes are drawn out."

That applies to the grand prizes only for now we come to the approximation prizes of which 5,028 are listed, operating as follows: "The two preceding and the two succeeding numbers to those drawing the first seven grand prizes will be entitled to the approximation prizes. For example: If ticket No. 11,250 draw the $50,000 prize, those tickets numbered 11,248, 11,249, 11,251, 11,252 will each be entitled to $400." This applied to all seven of the grand prizes, the amount decreasing proportionately to these seven prizes.

And finally here comes the part which makes it look so easy to at least double your cost of a certificate—"The 5,000 prizes of $20.00 each will be determined by the last figure of the number that draws the $50,000 prize. For example—If the number drawing the $50,000 prize ends with 1, then all the tickets where the number ends with 1 will be entitled to $20. If the number ends with 2, then all the tickets where the number ends with 2 will be entitled to $20, and so on to 0."

Some of the bright spots in this Circular are New Year Present to You All "Office—47 William St. (Opposite Bank of New York)"; "5,485 prizes amounting to $320,000"; and here is a rather ambiguous one which is amusing, a hint points to this one, "Give us a trial, if all we ask, as we feel confident of success," well they might, with 50,000 replies at ten $ per!

And that is what used to take one mind from the routine back in the sixties: same as baseball, football and channel swimmers do today.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

British Stamps Used Abroad

(WITH THEIR POST OFFICES)

By The REV. C. S. MORTON, M.A.

THE successful triumph of Rowland Hill's scheme of prepaying postage on letters by means of postage stamps soon attracted the attention of our Colonies, many of whom, like Australia, quickly followed suit by issuing their own stamps.

Mauritius not only issued her own stamps for use in the island, but wrote in 1849 to England for a supply of higher values to defray packet correspondence.

Some colonies wrote for Imperial labels to be overprinted with the name of the colony, and on learning that this was impossible, they either, like Trinidad, Ceylon, and Barbados had their own postage stamps manufactured in London, or else abandoned the idea on the ground that the cost of the plates would not be defrayed by the amount of correspondence.

Long before the Penny Black had attained the age of one-and-twenty, the demand for a supply of postage stamps had become so insistent from all parts of the world, frequented by Englishmen, that the Postmaster-General had to deal with the matter.

Hitherto the official ruling had been:—"Except by soldiers and sailors in Her Majesty's Service, British Postage Stamps are not available for letters coming into the country."

This notice appeared in the (quarterly) British Postal Guide and continued until 1 April, 1858, when the Postal Guide stated that the use of British postage stamps would defray the postage of letters posted in Malta, Gibraltar and Constantinople and the British Colonies in the West Indies.

The following is a summary of the subsequent notices in the British Postal Guides as to the places where British postage stamps could be used:—

1 July, 1859.—Malta, Gibraltar, Constantinople, and British Colonies in the West Indies.

1 July, 1860.—M., G., and C. (supra), Buenos Aires, Lagos, Fernando Po, and Jamaica.

1 Oct. 1860.—Ditto, omitting Jamaica.

1 July, 1862.—M., G., and C., and Cairo and Suez.

1 April, 1864, to 1866, shortly after which the notice disappeared.—"British postage stamps, though available for all letters going out of the country, are not available as a general rule for letters going into it."

In 1866 the most important Post Office establishments abroad were:—Alexandria (£1,870), Panama (£1,731), Malta (£1,445), Gibraltar (£1,150), Constantinople (£990), St. Thomas (£700), and at Suez (£583).

In and after 1865 the use of British postage stamps was extended to a number of ports in South America, but rarely to other parts of the world.

All these places were supplied with distinctive obliterators in alphabetically numerical progressive sequence, which provides an extremely valuable clue as to when British postage stamps were first supplied to a particular Agency.

The earliest obliterators simply bore the initial letter of the place: M. for Malta, G. for Gibraltar, and C. for Constantinople.

This obliterator was followed by that which I designate as Type A. This type of obliterator is almost universally found on stamps used in the West Indies, but being in general use between 1858 and 1864 it was as a matter of course supplied to all places, overseas, which required obliterators between these years (e.g., Alexandria, BO1, Suez, BO2, etc.). British Colonies, which had their own postage stamps, if they required between 1858 and 1864 an obliterator, were also supplied by the Crown Agents with Type A. For instance, Sierra Leone in 1860 was supplied with an obliterator lettered B 31, and Mauritius in 1861 with obliterators B 53, and B 56, all Type A.

Type B.

Type C.

The year 1865 saw the introduction of Type B, for the use of certain British Postal Agencies in South America. These obliterators were numbered C 43, and C 56 to C 64, both inclusive. Type B was also supplied to St. Thomas (C 51) in this year; but Type B apparently was considered too broad in shape to be serviceable and soon gave way to Type C.

In 1866 the four-barred postmark (Type C) appeared and was universal supplied till 1872 to the British Postal Agencies abroad, which required first renewed obliterators. This type, coming in the heyday of the British stamp "used abroad," appears on a great number of stamps.

After 1872, Type C was supplied to Porto Rico (C 61) in 1873, and to Gr. Town (C 57) in 1875, but otherwise cannot find that it was ever sent out. It would appear as if the British Postal authorities finally considered that the obliterator (Type C) was too large, as in 1870 gave directions that it should be narrower in width, as the obliterators at Buenos Ayres (B 32) and Colon (E 8) sent out in 1870, and that for St. Thomas (C 51) in 1872 are all of Type C, but trifle narrower in width (as Type C 2).

This may have led the postal authorities to reduce the four-barred postmark to one with three bars.

Type C 2.

Type D.

Type D was first supplied for the use of certain ports in Porto Rico (F 84, 86, and F 88) in 1872. After allotting Beyrout, in 1873, an obliterating letter G 06 (Type D.), the postal authorities a year later, gave Fernando Po the number 247. They continued with numbers when supplying new Postal Agencies abroad with obliterators (all Type D) but reverted to letter obliterators on January, 1881, when D 47 and 48 were given for the use of two places in Cyprus.

These were the last new obliterators supplied, as the numerical obliterators were not supplied after 1881, because the Postal Union objected strongly to the use of these cryptic obliterations which no man could decipher unless he held the key. An obliterating stamp for the purpose of showing the name of the place and the date was of more service, and such a date stamp came into use.

The primary Agents of the G.P.O. in London, to places overseas were the Postal Surveyors, who inspected and made periodical reports as to the condition of the British Packet Agencies, and incidentally recommended the use of postage stamps at the Agencies, when they considered it advisable to do so. Of the Postal Surveyors, the Surveyor at the West Indies, and (later) at the British Packet Agencies of America, was by far the most important, as ultimately it was left to his opinion as to whether or not British postage stamps should be supplied. For instance, Mr. W. Kains recommended the use of British Postage Stamps in the West Indies. Mr. Kains died in 1859, and was succeeded by Mr. Charles Bennett as the Postal Surveyor, and it is very largely to his exertions that collectors of "Used Abroad" owe all their South American specimens.

All these Packet or Postal Office Agents had to make monthly returns, on the special forms provided, stating the stamps sold, the stock left in hand, and the amount of the new stamps received since the last report.

With very rare exceptions all the British Postal Agencies were at the Consulates, and the British Consul was the British Postal Agent.

Soldiers and sailors were allowed to use British postage stamps wherever they might be, being constantly supplied with them by relatives in England—a practice which the Postmaster-General strongly encouraged.

In 1869 the various Colonial and Agency Postmasters were circularized that owing to the time occupied in sorting out H.M. mails, the privilege of reduced postage for the letters of soldiers and sailors could no longer be maintained, and all letters would have to come under one scale of postage. This resulted in such an outcry, that the old privilege was speedily restored.

In 1889 the general use of British postage stamps to soldiers and sailors was withdrawn, and such letters had to be prepaid by Colonials stamps, or the stamps of the foreign country.

It has been stated, and I have no reason to doubt it, that special obliterations were supplied to a few ships, but the only one I can trace is C 79 (Type C), which has a minute—"Handed to Mr. F. White for use on board the new ship Avoca (?), 11 June, 1866."

Passengers on board British packets, on seeing the movable letter boxes, naturally imagined that British stamps would suffice in all cases to prepay the postage on letters, but they soon discovered that matters were rather more intricate.

For instance, letters posted between Indian ports and Pointe de Galle had to be prepaid by Indian postage stamps, but if posted between Pointe de Galle and Aden they had to bear the postage stamps of Ceylon; and if they bore no postage stamps at all the fine was six-pence plus the ordinary postage.

To add to his perplexities the writer found that for letters posted between Suez and Aden only British stamps were accepted, and his stock of Indian were useless, as the use of British stamps was compulsory for the rest of the voyage to England.

That the red catalogue requires four and twenty pages to enumerate the British stamps "used abroad" affords a striking illustration of the wanderings of the men of Great Britain to establish and maintain British interests in foreign ports all over the world.

The amount of their correspondence was considerable, but exactly how many stamps were supplied to any individual Postal Agency abroad, is a question which I doubt if any one could answer.

The only records that would settle this question beyond all dispute have long since been destroyed. Having to send out to their Agencies postage stamps to the value of thousands of pounds, the G.P.O., London, did, of course, keep a record of the consignments sent out, and the Return Forms made monthly by their Postal Agents, but early in the "eighties" of the last century all these records were destroyed by the Postal Authorities, on the ground that the transactions were completed and the business so finished that these financial records had no further interest.

One is therefore extremely grateful to the Catalogue for its lists, though the dates given need somewhat drastic revision.—Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly.

SEEN AND HEARD:—

WE learn from the Toronto Daily Star that the Canadian Philatelic Society has recently become incorporated and granted a charter by the Canadian Government. It has about forty Toronto members. Fred Jarrett of that city is president, and Wm. Butler is secretary.

THROUGH Charles R. Goetz we learn that Mr. Harry Wennberg, the well known Stockholm dealer, died some three weeks ago. Charles Wennberg who was recently in this country has returned to Sweden. No particulars are as yet available.

WE have received from the Midwest Stamp Co., 720 Delaware St., Kansas City, Mo., a 1927 price list giving quotations upon a fine lot of packets, sets, desirable single stamps, philatelic accessories and publications. It will be sent on request to any address, and we urge our readers to send for a copy.

H. B. JONES, president of the National Stamp Club, Cheboygan, Mich., will be very glad to furnish information concerning his club to any applicant. Membership includes certain privileges which Mr. Jones will be very glad to describe.

SEVERAL amateurs at stamp collecting would like to get in touch with other collectors and form a stamp club for the seven little boroughs, Braddock, North Braddock, Rankin, Swissvale, Homestead, Duquesne, East Pittsburgh, and Turtle Creek, Pa. Interested parties will please write J. P. Harman, Braddock, Pa.

ADAM GRUENIG, Ceres, Cal., president of the Stanislaus Philatelic Association, sends us a clipping giving the particulars of the first meeting of the club in the new year. At this meeting it was voted to take out two public library subscriptions for the WEEKLY. One is for the McHenry Public Library, Modesto, and the other for the Public Library of Ceres. We express our hearty appreciation of the action taken by this progressive stamp club.

APPROVAL BOOKS BY COUNTRIES

The most pleasant and satisfactory way of adding stamps to a collection is undoubtedly through the medium of approval selections. By this method the collector has the opportunity of looking over the selection at his leisure and can choose the stamps desired in the comfort and privacy of his own home. For many years my "BOOKS BY COUNTRIES" have pleased a numerous and exacting clientele and I now extend a cordial invitation to all really active collectors to avail themselves of this service. The necessary qualifications are an ability to spend $2 or more at one time, and references that will bear strict investigation. All the stamps in these books are properly classified according to the latest edition of Scott's catalogue with the correct catalogue number and quotation above each stamp. They are priced net at substantial discounts from catalogue, varying according to the rarity and condition of the stamps. The following is a list of some of the books, with their net value, which have been remounted recently:—

ODDS AND ENDS:—

O. F. POLLITZ has opened an office at 44 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass. He has taken out a contract for advertising and his announcements will be found regularly in the WEEKLY in the future.

EDWIN P. SEEBOHM has just returned from Europe, where he visited England, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Germany, Denmark and Sweden. He was gone about nine weeks and reports a very enjoyable trip. He may now be found at his old stand in San Francisco and our readers will doubtless hear from him during the coming weeks.

A. H. GUSTAFSON, 767 East St., New Britain, Conn., would like to hear from anyone who knows the present whereabouts of J. E. Nicolson, 2709 Webb Ave., Bronx, N. Y. Letters are returned marked "Not found."

THE Ridgewood Stamp Club of Brooklyn, N. Y., met Jan. 11 at its new club rooms, 702 Seneca Ave., when the following officers were installed for 1927:—President, M. Rosenblatt; Secretary, A. Webber; Treasurer, O. Muller; Fin. Sec., F. Kurz; Sales Mgr., G. Fabian; Board of Governors, R. Linder, A. Dengler and W. Feldheim; Delegates to the Stamp Lovers League, H. King and W. Coleman. The club has a membership of eighty-six, and the secretary, whose address is 1682 Gates Ave., will be glad to hear from interested parties.

CLARENCE DAVIS in renewing his subscription sends us a photograph of "Old Glory" which he has made of U. S. stamps. It is a very interesting picture.

THE Rubber City Stamp Club of Akron, O., arranged three special meetings for January. They were held on Thursday evenings. One was a Junior Night, on Jan. 20, C. W. Bedford spoke on shifts and double transfers, and Jan. 27, W. W. MacLaren gave his talk on "Stamp Hunting" with an exhibit.

POSTAL MARKINGS

WILLIAM M. MCFARLAN.

HE postage stamp which we so earnestly collect, comes to us from the four corners of the globe, but many of us pay little attention to the cancellation or postmark on the stamps which we receive. As for those who collect original covers there is a great field for the collection of both the postmark and the postage stamp at the same time. The collection of original covers is a very interesting side line from stamp collecting as the covers tell one so many things as one studies them, the long ones, the square ones, the business size, and the small ones all carry the postage stamp just the same.

In the way of postmarking many nations are quite backward even though they have their stamps printed abroad and are first class productions in every way, an old antiquated and worn out postmark will quite often spoil the beauty of a modern postage stamp which in itself has been finely printed.

Some countries are still using the same cancellation stamps which were in use 25 or more years ago, some such as the Central American Republics use a rubber hand stamp, while St. Kitts is still using off and on her old postmark St. Kitts A12. Many of the Cuban postmarks are illegible from long usage. Many of the larger as well as some of the smaller ones, in order to keep up with the times, are installing some type or other of a mechanical postmarking machine which will cancel the stamps at a much faster rate than the old hand stamp method of postmarking which was used at first.

It is my purpose to discuss some of these mechanical printed postmarks and to give a list of those that I have found on covers in my collection. No doubt that there are others, as several new ones have come in on covers recently received. I will try and discuss them as near as possible to their geographical location in groups. I am leaving out all countries of Europe, Canada, United States and Australia where the mechanical postmarking has been developed to a high degree and would necessitate a very lengthy list in order to cover them. It is with this brief explanation that I will comment on the mechanical postmarkings of the remainder of the world as far as I have seen covers from these countries.

North America and South America

Newfoundland.—Electric postmarking machines have been used in St. John's and St. John's East for a number of years and are quite similar to those in use in the U. S. A., consisting of a circle to the left containing the name, country and dates, also hour of posting. Seven wavy lines continue to the right and cover the stamp. Several advertising cancellations have been substituted in part for the wavy lines at various times to advertise certain events, etc. Those I have noted read: "Food will win the war, don't waste," "Have you contributed to the War Memorial," "Address your mail to Street and Number," "British Empire Exhibition 1924," "British Empire Exhibition 1925," "Wear a Poppy Remembrance Day," "Newfoundland for your Vacation."

Alaska.—Juneau uses a regular U. S. A. cancellation of the 13 star in the upper left hand corner and wavy lines to represent the American flag.

Mexico.—Mexico City uses a double lined circle with the words Mexico at the top and D. F. at the bottom, and the regular date, etc., in the center. The four wavy lines continue off to the right and usually contain between them a three-line inscription in Spanish which is changed from time to time.

Guatemala.—Guatemala City has just recently installed a postmarking machine which is a great improvement over the old type of handstamp. It reads, "Correos de Guatemala 1926," date and time with five wavy lines to cover the stamp. In other parts of Guatemala, Dominican Republic and other countries handstamps of rubber have been made to imitate the mechanical postmark, but as they are always applied by hand they assume various angles and the ink is usually red, blue while the postmark of the mechanical postmarking machine is always black so they can be easily detected.

Canal Zone.—Being a U. S. Colony uses up to date equipment and machine postmarks are noted from Ancon, Christobal and Balboa Heights of the family American type with the exception of Ancon, which uses an older type with straight instead of wavy lines to cover the stamp.

Brazil.—Sao Paulo uses the continuous type, that no matter how long the envelope, the postmark is repeated several times across the entire top of the cover and thus is repeated several times.

Uruguay.—Montevideo, I have seen both advertising cancellations in a box, the right of the circular die containing "Montevideo Uruguay E" and also lines only covering the stamp.

Argentina.—Buenos Ayres uses the continuous type. I understand that some of the other cities have machines, but I do not have a list of them.

Colombia.—Bogota used about a year ago a postmark with "Colombia" above and "Bogota" below in the date circle with a box to the right telling of a certain Colombian who wanted to represent and insure things for you in that city. No doubt he paid a rental to have his name appear on all envelopes.

West Indies

Porto Rico.—San Juan uses the regular American postmarking machine.

U. S. Virgin Islands.—Christidad, and St. Thomas use the flag type of American postmark.

Bermuda.—Hamilton uses the continuous type and for a small colony has had one in use for a number of years and have one dated 1914 in my collection. The British Empire postmark die was used for both 1924 and 1925, consisting of British Empire, five wavy lines broken in the middle with a lion, and then continuing, and Exhibition 1925 at the bottom. The circle part of the postmark with Hamilton above and Bermuda below, and thru the center the date 15 Nov 26 5PM. The latest cancellation to be used reads in a rectangular box instead of the wavy lines. "Come to Bermuda, the isles of rest." This was first used in the fall of 1926.

Cuba.—Habana and Santiago de Cuba are the representatives from this country and are the standard cancellation of the United States type with wavy lines and of late have been replaced by straight lines with various advertising postmarks in between, such as "Buy Cuban Sugar in English, and Spanish," "Smoke Cuban Cigars, the best in the World," "Buy Cuban products and help National Industries."

Jamaica.—Kingston. The early machine cancellations consisted of Kingston, Oct. 30, 1919. 6PM Jamaica four lines horizontal with no box or closure of any kind followed to the right by eight lines to cover the stamp. The next was the same but the standard British Empire Exhibition and lion substituted for the eight lines. The one now in use tells the tourist to visit the island springs "Come to Jamaica B.W.I., the ideal tourist resort" in four lines.

Barbados.—Bridgetown. This postmark is a recent acquisition to the postmarking equipment of the G.P.O. The small circle reads Barbados G.P.O. with date and year followed to the right by the customary wavy lines.

Trinidad.—Port of Spain, the regular circle with Port-of-Spain above and Trinidad below with six wavy lines over the stamp. In 1924 the Empire exhibition die was substituted for the wavy lines.

Asia

Japan.—Yokohama and Tokyo. Regular circle with Yokohama above and Japan below, date, month, year in the lines and six lines over the stamp.

Philippine Islands.—Manila, U. S.

EDITORIAL

The accomplishment of a task or the attainment of a wish is a pleasant consummation, especially when the fulfillment is the objective of over a quarter-century. So having realized the dream of a real circulation of ten thousand, the WEEKLY will be pardoned if it indulges in a little strutting. Over twenty-five years ago, we printed an edition that was given a special circulation of over one hundred thousand copies, it having been sent to lists of names that were gathered from all the different sources of supply. While it was supposed that almost all of the persons whose names we had were "alive" yet it was found that a proportion of the names was stale. From a sort of survey made some time after this publishing feat, it was indicated that a bona fide circulation of ten thousand copies would afford a mark at which our most surging ambition could aim. This circulation was to be an honest one and not a count of the number of papers printed but of those actually sold. As the years went by, the goal seemed as far off as ever before and at different times when there seemed to be a prospect of reaching it, some untoward circumstance would throw us off our stride. During the war, our list of subscribers was somewhat demoralized and the reorganization of the roster required time. When late in the stamp season we would find our circulation mounting hopefully, the coming of hot weather would soon make the aspect a dismal one. Now, the full ten thousand has enlisted under the banner of the WEEKLY and we have gone over the top with a rush.

Never before has a stamp paper attracted so large a following as the WEEKLY has and the cherished results perhaps appeal to the publishers with more force than to the average reader. The subscriber may not enter eagerly into the enthusiasms of the makers of his paper but he should know that by his support he has made it possible for us to touch that numerical mouthful, ten thousand. The boost that was given our circulation through the International Philatelic Exhibition just about the beginning of the season gained momentum as the days rolled on, and it became evident that soon after the turn of the year we should have achieved a record that would be a recognition of endeavor on our part. A good many years ago, an advertising paper said that there was no class publication that had a circulation of five thousand but even making allowance for the changed times, the estimate would not be altered to a number over ten thousand, in all probability. This is the WEEKLY's day off to celebrate.

The following letter has come from the Honorable W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general: "Thought you would be interested in the following item which you might care to use: 'The 8, 16 and 24-cent Air Mail stamps are to be withdrawn from circulation on February 1st, when the new Air Mail rate of ten cents a half-ounce or fraction thereof is put into effect. There will be no further printing of the 15-cent Air Mail stamp, now in use, but there will be issued, for use on February 1st, a new 20-cent Air Mail of the same design as the present 15-cent Air Mail stamp, its color, however, being green. The new 20-cent Air Mail stamp will be on sale on January 25th, at the Philatelic Stamp Agency, Washington, D. C., and the New York City post office.' This information probably will be of interest to you." From time to time, we have been indebted to the Honorable W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general for information on subjects of moment to philatelists and on many occasions he has shown that he is mindful of the co-operation of philatelists in the stamp concerns of the government. We are glad to make this acknowledgment to Mr. Glover and to add that collectors have written to us to say that they miss his ministrations in the Philatelic Agency. In a letter to us, Mr. Clinton L. Chalfant, the editorial writer, says: "I think that it was a great loss when Mr. Glover was promoted to the second assistant's berth" and he mentions that he looks in vain for some of the attentions that were characteristic of his administration. It should be understood that the appropriations for the conducting of the Agency are not elastic but may not be exceeded; and the consequence is that when the maximum number of clerks are engaged, the limit is reached; it boots not how fast and furiously the orders come in, they perforce must be handled inadequately for the time being.

The following is the notice distributed by the post office department on January 15, 1927: "A new 20-cent air mail stamp will be placed on sale at the New York and Washington post offices, January 25, and at other offices as soon thereafter as possible, it was announced to-day by Postmaster General New. For the benefit of philatelists it will be available on the same date at the Philatelic Agency, Division of Stamps, Washington, D. C. The necessity for the issuance of the stamp arises from the new rate of air mail postage of 10-cents a half-ounce for the transportation of mail over all air lines in the United States, effective February 1, 1927. Existing stamps of the 8, 16 and 24-cent denominations used under the present cumbersome zone system of air mail postage on the transcontinental route, will be recalled. The 15-cent air mail stamp now used on mail traveling over one zone of the transcontinental route and over one contract line will be retained until the supply is exhausted. Two of these stamps may be used under the new rate to cover postage on pieces of mail weighing one and a half ounces. The new stamp is the same shape and size, 75/100 by 1 84/100 inches, as the current 10-cent and 15-cent air mail stamps and is printed in green. The central design represents a map of the United States, showing some of the rivers and mountain ranges. On each side is an airplane in flight, one traveling east and the other toward the west. Across the top of the stamp in white Roman letters are the words, 'United States Postage,' with the words, 'Air Mail' directly beneath. At the bottom of the stamp, in shaded letters, is the word, 'Cents' and in both lower corners are the white numbers '20'. Ornamental plastic brackets appear at each side of the stamp."

We thank Mr. Justin H. Forrest of the Chicago American for copies of the new 2-centavos of the new Mexican set showing the Fuente Colonial or Colonial Fountain. In sending a copy of the 8 centavos of the new issue, Mr.

 J. Bertocchio says that this denomination has never been used before in Mexico; and further, he adds that the set commemoratives issued on the occasion of the recent postal congress, Pan-American, in Mexico City, is no longer to had. There is a likelihood that the question may become desirable and is understood that the plates from which it was printed have been destroyed.

A letter from Dr. Emilio Dien Rome, Italy, is welcome; and in it is news that early in this year Italy will issue a set of stamps to commemorate the first centenary of the death of the illustrious Alexander Volta, who was born February 2, 1745, and died Mar-5, 1827. Dr. Diena says: "I will set you the set in due time. Do not suppose however, that I am in favour of commemorative issues. Too many have been prepared and I find that if a medal struck in order to celebrate an importaevent, there is no need of commemorative stamps, unless a tax is put on stamp collectors." This is a moderate view that reflects the opinion of the experienced philatelic observer.

Single Wholesale Lots Up To $1100.00

catalog value will be in my next sale No. 281 to be held Feb. 23rd in the Club Room of the Phila. Stamp Club. For a quantity of a single stamp there will be numerous lots from $50 to $1100.00, mostly old stock and many from CANADA and NEWFOUND-LAND. Dealers may not have a chance for a long time to bid on such a desirable outfit. All prominent dealers are on my list and will be sent the catalog.

MAIL SAVES TIME will keep one busy until Let's Go comes along. French,

German, English, Italian and Canadian slogan collectors have it fairly easy at present, until the Ausstellungen start.

Of late, many permit numbers seemed to emanate from a host of different business houses, but one is reminded that many of our mailing agencies and advertising houses have a permit number also, and when mailing out "blurbs" for their customers, use their own number, and not that of the customer. In many cases, the corner cards are misnomers for the permit number. Every one knows GASTON number one and Federalsburg, Md., permit number one. One noted a certain permit number coming from New York City and the corner card was "Can you spare five dollars?"

By elimination, we have narrowed down the possible user to about a half million persons.

And now that it is February, it is well to pay one's January first dues for the local stamp club. If there isn't a local stamp club, that's your fault.

Collectors of meters, slogans and other postal markings who are A.P.S.

members are invited to send in their applications for the ARCHIE PIKE POST-

AL MARKINGS UNIT, A.P.S. to Albert

William Draves, 1284 Stowell Avenue,

Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Dues will be one dollar per year. The purpose of the unit is to carry on the work of the late Archie H. Pike, Binghamton, N. Y.

Persons interested in meters may learn more of this interesting side-line from

First Class Mail Permits by A. H. Pike.

NEWFOUNDLAND, 1c ON 3c

Frank B. Gooch, Washington, D. C., expresses his interest in the Focke article on the Newfoundland 1c on 3c and recalls the fact that the days in which this provisional appeared were exciting days from the standpoint of Newfoundland postal affairs. At that time he was a correspondent of P. G.

Tessier, now deceased. We quote from

Mr. Gooch's letter:—

"Mr. Tessier wrote me that the postoffice refused to sell any of these provisional stamps at the stamp window, and required that mail matter be brought to the office when the stamps would be affixed by postal officials. Mr. Tessier hurried to his office, buying a dozen newspapers on the way, wrapped them and addressed them to me at Yonkers,

N.Y. I was to keep two for my trouble.

If my memory serves me correctly

this overprint was caused by the wrecking of a vessel on the way from New York to St. Johns with a supply of regular stock on board."

Mr. Gooch submits for our inspection

a cover bearing the marking "Paid All" which was put upon the envelopes prior to the printing of the provisional 1c on 3c.

The postal clerks are now wondering what constitutes a record mailing, for Christmas this last year surely supplied the Post Office with sufficient business to cause speculation. No sooner did our

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—Louis Press suggests that we print a list of words of symbols found on the stamps of certain countries and give explanations where required. This is a good idea and from time to time we shall insert the suggested information. A stamp award goes to Louis.

—We have received a little essay on Bosnia and Herzegovina from Wesley L. Furste 2nd, Cincinnati, O. The demands upon our space are so great that we are not publishing it, but we are remembering Wesley, whose age is eleven, with a stamp.

—"I have just organized a Stamp Club at the Seneca Vocational school in this city (Buffalo, N. Y.). There has been a wonderful response from the students, both those who are already collectors and those who are being drawn into the field. The ages of the boys enrolled range from thirteen to twenty and there are several members of the faculty interested and therefore should be considered as members."—W. HEMEDINGER.

—We thank John F. Halleran, aged 15, for an essay on the stamps of Germany. It is too long for us to print. Correspondents should bear in mind that seventy-five words is the limit of length on contributions to this page.

—"I wish to commend you people for jumping right in and helping the youngsters with your Junior department. It is indeed a good one and I hope it will reap you a harvest for your labors."—DR. C. E. GUTH.

—A correspondent writes us that he is to address the Elyria, O., Y.M.C.A. Stamp Club shortly, with the idea of organizing another in that city. This will make three boys' clubs. What are you doing in your locality?

—Billy Davis writes us that a Junior Stamp Club has been organized in Saginaw, Mich. It has fifteen members, meets weekly, is connected with a school and has one of the teachers as sponsor.

—We have a letter from Billy Conlin of Marysville, Cal., in which he expresses his interest in the Junior page. He would like us to give some space to freak stamps. If our Juniors come across freaks we shall be glad to note them.

—We have received a little poem from Robert Holzman. Robert is thirteen years of age and sends in his poem in place of the Limerick asked for. We cannot find the space to use the poem, but are sending our friend a stamp award.

—Jerome M. Coltune (16) sends in a little article on Obock. So much of it is geography and history that we cannot use it. We want our juniors when they write us to tell us about stamps, what they collect, their favorite country, what the local stamp club is doing, etc.

—A Junior, noting our Limerick on Chad, wants to know where Chad is located. It gives us a chance to give a good word of advice. Ask us any question you please and we will answer it if possible, but first see if you can solve the problem. You have your school book authorities and public library facilities, and if you dig out this information it will be stored away in your brain for future use.

Booklet Panes

You have no doubt noticed that your post office sells little booklets of stamps at 25c, 49c and 97c each made up of either 1c or 2c stamps or in some cases both. A complete pane of six stamps from these booklets, including the top margin is what is known as a "booklet pane." In putting these panes into a collection, one should be careful that the top margin is present and in order to have this margin, it is necessary to take out the little wire stitches binding the book rather than tear the pane out. Fewer main booklet pane varieties are available than possibly any other class of United States stamps and a collection of these interesting items may be gotten together at little expense.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

"Canada Postage"

Here we have a Canadian stamp of the current type—just a common 1 cent King George. The design is a fine portrait of our sailor King in admiral's uniform, but the simple inscription "Canada Postage" holds a world of meaning for the imaginative student. "Canada Postage"—what scenes do these two words suggest? Quebec and the St. Lawrence, Montreal and its winter sports, the stately modern city of Ottawa, the wheat-lands of Manitoba, the ranches of Alberta, the forests and salmon-rivers of British Columbia—ay, and what more? The Great White Wilderness of the North, where the wolf howls on the forest-trails, and the only representatives of civilization are the lonely trappers, an occasional Hudson's Bay post, and the ubiquitous "Mounties"—the postmen as well as the police of this region. Such stamps as that we have before us have franked many a postal item collected and delivered with the help of a sledge and a team of huskies. "Canada Postage!"—STANLEY GIBBONS' Monthly Journal.

Marysville (Cal.) Juniors

For several months we have carried on the Marysville Stamp Society with great success. Contrary to the usual stamp club we have no officers. One of the plans that has practically supplanted the payment of dues in our club is for each member to pay every month into the club treasury, stamps cataloged over ten-cents to the extent of one dollar. We are thus able to use our duplicates as payments of dues. We usually put these duplicates on approval sheets and mail them to older collectors in our city who find them to be very good in filling blank spots in their albums. With the money received from the elder collectors we purchase supplies for our club.—WM. CONLIN.

-- Stock For Sale -- SUITABLE FOR THE JUNIOR TRADE

Other business requires all my time for nine months of the year, so it seems wise to dispose of my stamps, gathered since business started in 1913. With a few exceptions, stock has been purchased with a view to filling spaces in the Junior album. Lists are being prepared as rapidly as possible; value of the entire stock will be several thousand dollars. Offers for parts of stock will be considered. Shall be glad to hear from any who are interested in further details.

Junior Glossary

Adhesive.—A stamp to be attached to letter, as apart from one impressed upon the envelope, etc.

Aniline.—Colors of chemical origin especially soluble in water.

Bisect.—A stamp cut in half and use as a fraction of its original value.

Blenté or Blued.—A paper having bluish tinge.

Block (of stamps).—An unsevered group of stamps (not in a strip of on line).

Cliché.—A single stereotype or electrotype from which a stamp is printed.

Color Trials.—Impressions printed in various colors as suggestions for the color scheme of a particular issue; not necessarily those finally selected.

Commemorative Stamps.—(Fr., commémoratif; Ger., erinnernd; Sp., conmemorativo).—Special issues to denote some event.

Control.—A letter, or number, or both printed on the margin of a sheet of stamps, as an official means of checking the supply.

Cut Square.—Impressed stamps cut out from envelopes or post cards.

Design.—(Fr., dessin; Ger., Zeichnung; Sp., diseño).—General features of the drawing that composes a stamp.

Die.—The original metal block engraved with the design from which the printing plates are produced.

Seen on Stamps

The Union of South Africa six penny stamps of the current issue show orange trees in full fruit, as the central design. Some Crop! These trees are similar to those shown on the stamps of the Orange River Colony, only in the latter case they do not show up so brightly. Yes, we have some bananas! Costa Rica tells the world via its two centav stamp of 1923.

Cape of Good Hope stamps show picture of Hope seated alongside grapevine branch.

The woman pictured on the fractional values for Martinique 1908 is shown coming from a sugar cane field with load on her head.

Altho not a food, we can mention tobacco plants shown pictured on the four centavos stamp of the current issue for Mozambique Company.

In all a pretty good menu I would say. And coffee and cigars thrown for good measure to finish off the meal.—A. LeDUC.

ary, and the Norse-American issues has history been revealed to me. I am thankful for what I have learned from my stamps. (Condensed.)

U. S. 20th Century Imperforate

The question is often asked as to why the 20th century U. S. issues appear imperforate. They were first turned out in this condition early in 1908, in order that the designers of postage stamp vending machines as well as affixing machines could make up private coils to meet their own requirements and which could be fed from their own machines. These private coils were the forerunners of the official coil which was later adopted by practically all machines with one exception, namely, the Schermack variety which is still in use. If this firm should discontinue business without doubt the issuing of our lower values in imperforate condition would cease. They

Do You Know

Do you know that Cuban stamps were used in Fernando Po from Dec., 1868, to 1879? This can be shown by the postmark and should be very interesting to anyone interested in Spanish colonial issues. Look over your Cuban stamps of the period in question.

Do you know that there is a picture of a French admiral on a British Colonial postage stamp? It is Comte Bertrand Francois Mahe de Labourdonnais on Mauritius type A40.

Do you know that certain Austrian stamps were surcharged "Hochwasser 1920?" This means "High Water." These stamps were sold at three times their face value, the excess being for the benefit of the flood sufferers. The selling price for this set, being 180 Austrian kronen, would appear to be a lot of money but this was in depreciated currency. Scott catalogues the entire set at only 55c so they are within the reach of all collectors.

Do you know that most of the stamps of Great Britain issued between the years 1858 and 1881 show small figures somewhere in the side of the design usually. These are plate numbers and some are much scarcer than the ordinary ones. These are plainly seen if the designs are studied closely and you have become familiar with them. They are worth looking for.

Do you know that the United States has issued three regular postage stamps that did not bear the words "United States" or the abbreviation "U. S."? They are the 1, 2 and 5c stamps of the Pilgrim commemorative series of 1920.

Do you know that there have been no special issues of stamps for the Canary Islands? Can't see why the Spanish government let such an opportunity pass. Do you know that the large letters, "O.S.G.S.," surcharged on many of the stamps of Sudan, mean "On Sudan Government Service?"—A. C. LEDUC.

From Our Dictionary

Ultramar.—Shown upon some of the stamps of Cuba, etc., meaning "beyond the sea."

Uttwar.—Same as Alwar. A British India native state. (See Alwar.)

Unappropriated Dies.—A somewhat lax term applied to certain British varieties which should perhaps be more correctly rendered as "Unappropriated plates." These are duty plates with blank labels upon which any required inscription may be afterwards printed so that they can be "appropriated" to any desired purpose.

Uniao dos Atiradores Civis.—An inscription shown upon the private stamps issued in Portugal for the use of the Civilian Rifle Clubs. It means "Union of Civilian Riflemen."

Unie van Zuid Afrika.—The Dutch equivalent for "Union of South Africa" shown upon all the stamps of that confederation.

FERNANDO PO

This is a volcanic island in the South Atlantic ocean about 20 miles off the African coast of Cameroons, belonging to Spain. It is a very mountainous island and is densely covered with forests containing valuable wood. It has a very fertile soil and all tropical fruits are raised here. The climate is very hot and unhealthy. The population, numbering about 25,000, is practically all African blacks. Before the Spanish-American War this island was used by Spain as a keep for Cuban political prisoners. In recent years some effort has been put forth to develop the colony. The island's trade is insignificant. However, there have been many postage stamps issued for this colony. The first stamp for this island-colony shows a picture of Queen Isabella II, who was the Spanish ruler at the time. This stamp was issued in Sept., 1868, and was in use until Dec. of that year. From then until 1879 the stamps of Cuba were current in the colony. From 1879 to 1889 the stamps show a picture of King Alfonso XII, and since that time the stamps show pictures of the present ruler, King Alfonso XIII, at different stages in his growth from an infant to manhood. Besides the regular issues of stamps for this colony, many have been issued with various surcharges. Also many revenues surcharged for postal use have appeared and in general are quite scarce. Younger collectors usually try to get at least one stamp from each of the Spanish colonies, but on account of their relative scarcity are content with a few representatives.—A. C. LEDUC.

ADMIRAL de LABOURDONNAIS

Comte Bertrand Francois Mahe de Labourdonnais was a French naval officer, and strange as it may seem, his picture appears on a British Colonial stamp—that of Mauritius 15-cents blue of 1899.

This man was born in 1699, so we can see a reason for issuing a special stamp in 1899—that being the three hundredth anniversary of his birth. Let's look back into history to see if we can find out anything else about this interesting looking gentleman. De Labourdonnais entered the service of the French East India Company when only a young man. In 1735, he became governor-general of Ile de France (now called Mauritius) and of Ile de Bourbon (now called Reunion). This position he held until 1746. Both of these islands are located in the Indian Ocean and belonged to France at that time. (Reunion is still a French possession.)

While governor of these islands he took command of a French fleet and defeated the English fleet near Madras. He disagreed with the governor-general of the French Indies over the terms offered the English. He was recalled to France and imprisoned in the Bastille for three years. In 1851 he was tried by a commission, acquitted, and restored to liberty. His spirit was broken by so much disgrace, and poverty stricken, he died two years later; French justice had been too slow!

It was left to the people of the island

STAMPS THAT GLITTER

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

One of the values in the newest set of Christmas stamps issued by Holland this year is a dainty confection in red and silver. It raises the novel suggestion of a stamp collection resplendent in flashing colours, comprising stamps alive with the sparkle of gold, silver and bronze. There is quite a considerable number of government postage stamps printed wholly or partially with one of these blazoning metals, but the number could be increased, and the gorgeousness enhanced by including some of the Russian and Scandinavian locals. Some of the most spectacular colourings are to be found on Russian locals, such as those of Tikhvin, where a single stamp is found like Joseph's coat in many colours, for example, gold, silver, pale blue, blue, red and black all on the one stamp.

But to keep to stamps more familiar in our catalogues, the first stamps in shining armour were the famous "bears" of Madrid, the 1 cuarto bronze and 3 cuartos bronze, Spain, 1854, both now scarce, as also are the bronze sixpennies of Western Australia of 1857 onwards. In 1862 came the Swiss copper-bronze 60 centimes, and the gold and bronze-gold francs, which are more accessible to the young collector, and the gold franc stamp of 1881 is in many a schoolboy's collection.

Persia provides quite an array of stamps in bronze, silver or gold from the 1894 issue onwards, and among the most gorgeous examples are the 50 kran vermillion and gold (1909) and the silvered kran and golden toman values of 1915. They bring us glints of mosques with shimmering domes lit by the Eastern sun.

Holland gave us its familiar golden 50 cent. in the Nusser type sixty years ago, and most young collectors will remember the brightly silvered and gilded backgrounds of the 1fl and 2fl Hungary in the "letter" type of 1887. The Dominican Republic issued a 1 peso in gold in 1880, still a cheap item in the catalogues, and Salvador illuminated its 1 centavo and 5 centavos of 1897 with gold. Then there are the higher values of the 1901 set of Greece, 2 drachmai bronze, 3dr silver and 5dr gold, with similar values and colours in the 1902 postage due set. More recently Danzig has issued the 50 marks 1922 in red or crimson and gold, 5000 marks 1923 in pink and silver, and Bolivia in an extraordinary but unissued set illustrating the gateway of the sun provided them with a golden base.

Gold and silver have also been used for overprints on stamps of the Hejaz, Transjordan (on Palestine and Hejaz), and on the Persian issue of 1925 to commemorate the deposition of the ex-Shah and the advent of the Provisional Pehlevi Government.

Most of the stamps so pretentiously arrayed are not expensive, but perhaps the wisecracks will say also that they are not gilt-edged securities. —Stamp Lover.

NORTHWEST PACIFIC ISLANDS

By HERMANN FOCKE.

It will be noted that the new catalogue quotes the used high values of the last surcharged issue for this group at, or even below face value without giving the collector any hint as to the actual character of these particular stamps, but it should not require an unusual amount of thinking to arrive at the conclusion that there must be something wrong, a postally used £1, 10sh and so down to the 9d and even 6d postage stamp from these out of the way places where there is seldom an occasion for their use on mail matters, can be had for less than an unused copy.

The truth is that all these so-called used stamps have done duty towards the payment of cable charges and other similar revenues, and it is not to the credit of our cataloguers and dealers that this should not be made clear to the unsuspecting collector and client.

The next catalogue should state the fact or a good many collectors will be sore the day when they discover their delusion. Any of the high values, generally postally used, if at all to be had are without a doubt by far scarcer than the unused ones.

By the way, the last five stamps of the surcharged Australians are by no means things to be scoffed at, their life was short and they will be mighty hard to get later on, especially in postally used condition. Try to get them from your dealer even now!

NEW CUBAN IMPERFORATES

By W. H. AVERY.

JUST a couple of days before Christmas, the Post Office authorities of this beautiful island issued the 1 and 2 centavo stamps imperforate. They were classified as a novelty in this country, since up to date only very few Cuban stamps are known as imperforate, with the exception, of course, of the very first issues, and those few now in the hands of philatelists are rather to be classified as printers waste, or essays, than legitimate issue.

These present imperforate stamps were originally printed several months ago, and were intended for use in slot machines. Due to the excessive humidity of the Cuban climate, the machines failed to work. The stamps would stick in the machines, or the machines were not adaptable; anyhow, after several tryouts the stamps were shelved, a few blocks probably stolen from the printer got out. These were mostly sold locally as great rarities.

On the persistent requests of local philatelists, the P.O. has finally decided to place these stamps on sale, and now they are obtainable for regular postal use. They are only sold at the Central P.O. of Habana, and no other post office has any of these stamps. It is stated, that there were 100,000 copies of each value printed, and that no more of these stamps will be issued. I have this information from the best possible source, but I have learned to be rather conservative in accepting all sorts of talk in this country.

The stamps are printed in sheets of 400, each sheet is divided in the center both horizontally and vertically by lines, similar to the stamps of the U. S. Thus each sheet consists of four panes of 100 stamps. On the horizontal margin of each sheet, on the outer edge of each pane the plate number is shown, besides, each sheet is numbered. The current numbers of these sheets, however, bear rather high numbers, which might cause some misunderstanding in the future. This is caused, however, by the simple fact, that ordinary current sheets were taken and since the printer's contract has already run quite a while, the number of sheets already delivered was rather high, before the order came for these 100,000 pairs of stamps. This is the reason, that the sheet numbers will be rather high, the 1c values are coming with numbers about 1,731,000, and the 2c with about 3,710,000.

For the printing of these stamps the ordinary current plates were used, and the stamps are on watermarked paper (large star), just like the current stamps of the same denominations. Speculation is strong and it is stated that the small existing supply will be taken by speculators in a very short time.

I use this opportunity to state, that for at least several months to come there is not much chance for any new issue in this country. I have received several inquiries, since apparently a reliable European philatelic paper has published some notice about a new issue about to appear to commemorate the opening of the new legislative palace. I don't know where this paper got the information, but I am quite willing to state that the legislative palace cannot and will not be ready for some time, and while there was lots of talk at different times within the past year about a new issue, I am inclined to doubt that such will materialize. Cuba would have an excellent opportunity within this coming year (1927) to issue several sets of commemorative stamps, but the powers behind the desk claim that they have no money to purchase the new plates, and, although the local philatelists have been quite busy doing a lot of talking, up to date there is no visible effect of their efforts. I am in the hope that within the next year Cuba will present the world's philatelists with a beautiful set of new stamps, but I believe I would have to find first a philanthropic philatelist, who would present the P.O. with the necessary plates. If there be any such in the audience, please hold up your hand.

BUREAU PRINT PRECANCELS

To the uninitiated, the collecting of Precancels may seem to be of such a nature that it is a waste of time to do so. There are numerous arguments presented by the collector of postage stamps against the taking into consideration the collecting of these city and town stamps. There may be some little basis to these arguments, but when one gets down to solid earth and learns of the arguments in favor of collecting precancels the story changes.

I am not going to delve in the collecting of general precancels, nor any form of state or value specialization. But, there is one form of precancel collecting which should appeal to every collector, general or specialized, who takes unto himself the issues of these United States. That is the Chasing of the Bureau Prints.

First, what is a Bureau Print? This is a name given to a certain type of precancels, which are not printed in local post offices, or printeries, but are actual emissions of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, D. C. Remember, actual Post Office issues. They are printed on the same press as the postage stamps themselves, in the same operation, and the sheet of white paper fed into the press, comes out at the other end, not good for United States postage, but only good for postage in a certain city in the United States. Hence it can come under that class as do the early locals, or city issues.

Of course, if one does not wish to collect precancels no argument can be presented which will convince him that he should. But there are many reasons why there is the greatest of joy and pleasure to be derived from the collecting of Bureau Prints. And when there is joy secured out of anything, there is no reason under the sun why that something should not be accepted by those seeking joy.

In order to show this pleasure, I will first show that Bureau Prints are free of those things which cause general, State or issue precancel collectors displeasure. First, these stamps are the regular issues from the 1c up to the 10c values, including the 1½c and all of the coils. There are no Commemorative issues under this class, hence there is obviated that tendency to visit the postmaster and have him fix up a few for you. Secondly, they are printed at Washington, D. C. in the same operation as the stamps themselves, doing away with all double and inverted printings. There are a few spread letters or shifts coming up now and then, but they cannot be classed as errors. And now for that final joy. There is no collector who cannot say he is seeking the greatest completion possible. There are about six hundred of these stamps known, and it is a safe assurance that the number will fall far short of one thousand. Practically all of those known are precancelled for use in the larger cities, making their accumulation to a certain extent an easy one. Yet, to keep things from being too simple and to add that smack of chasing which all collectors enjoy, whether they be after china, arrowheads, coins, watches, or whatnot, there are a few towns which are pretty hard to find, such as New Britain, Conn.; Miami, Fla.; Macon, Ga.; Fulton, N. Y.; and Rahway, N. J. In between these two classes of Bureau Prints there are numerous towns and cities which are scarce enough to give one a little difficulty in picking them up. With all of the lure of the chase, still the collector of Bureau Prints may be able to keep in mind that this collection may be completed.

There are seven types of Bureau Prints, which does away with that sameness which might be shown on album pages were they all the same. These types are distinctive and once known are very easily distinguished from the ordinary local printed precancels.

The first of the present Bureau Prints made their appearance in 1924. There is another class of Bureau Prints which made their appearance in 1918. These were issued in an endeavor to cut down the expenses of the Post Office Dept. After requesting various offices to give them an estimate of what it cost to do the precancelling locally, the Post Office Authorities found that in only three offices could they make a saving, Springfield, Mass., Augusta, Maine, and New Orleans, La. Quantities of various values were precancelled at Washington and furnished to these offices, all being in the same type, a gothic letter much larger than the present Bureau Prints. These stamps were precancelled after they were printed, but really are the fore-runners of the present effective method of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving in issuing precancels.

Bureau Prints have attracted such a vast number of collectors to its doors that the Rotnem Stamp Co., compilers of the Precancel Catalogue, have seen fit to issue a separate edition covering Bureau

SIMPLIFIED STAMP COLLECTING

The man who indulges in stamp collecting as a hobby usually belongs to one of two classes. He is either a "general collector" or a "specialist," the latter stage being reached by evolution from the former.

Now, there are many general collectors who will never become specialists. They realize the hopelessness of trying to complete a world-wide collection, but they have neither the interest in one small group, nor the passion for minutiae, that will enable them to specialize. They have no wish to give up collecting, yet to go on without a settled plan leaves them as unsatisfied as ever; they are in the doldrums, and the collection languishes.

One way of getting over the difficulty is to form a simplified collection, cutting out varieties of die, shade, watermark, perforation, and so forth. This, however, is apt to be unsatisfactory, because such a collection is neither really "philatelic," nor is it even a true summary of postal history.

What, then, is the alternative? Let us see if we can find one.

It has often been said that stamp collecting teaches history, or geography, or any one of a number of other admirable things. This is not strictly true, for stamp collecting does not teach these things; but it does stimulate the desire for knowledge of, and is an admirable "footnote" on them, and it is just this last named attribute of philately that I wish to emphasize.

Philately is, or can be made, a fascinating record of "the passing show." It is so closely connected with everyday life, that there is hardly an event of importance that does not leave a record in the pages of the stamp album, and the compilation of this record provides unlimited scope for the collector's activities.

"Yes," you say, "but how is it done?"

Well, there are no rules. The great beauty of the scheme is its lack of convention, its "go-as-you-please-ness." There are no tiresome boundaries, and no attempting to achieve impossibilities. It can be made as simple or as detailed as you like.

Not stamps only, of course, but postmarks, covers in fact, anything philatelic, will be the material of the collection, and provide the illustrations to the text, composed of cuttings from the newspapers of your own manuscript notes. Is there a revolution somewhere in South America? If so, there will almost inevitably be provisional stamps which indicate the change of Government. Is there a "brighter trade" campaign conducted by a Minister of Commerce? If so, you will probably find your correspondence postmarked with a slogan cancellation—"So-and-so's Goods are Best." Is there a strike of transport workers? Then your letters may be carried by an emergency air service, as happened in this country during the railway strike of 1919.

It would be possible to detail any number of instances, but these few must serve. Every collector can show examples of something of the kind, and, as I have said, the scope is unlimited.

It must not be imagined that a collection formed on these lines is a mere accumulation of trifles. It is, rather, an epitome of current history, and may have considerable educational value. It can be adapted to deal with one country only, or with many, and in either case the successive issues of stamps, and the reasons which rendered them necessary, can be shown with any desired amount of detail.

Some research will generally be required to provide the explanatory notes, for the collection must, of course, be written up; but, though this is a bugbear to many collectors, I am confident that any trouble taken will be well repaid. A collection such as this will be pleasing not only to its owner, but to others, and will be an admirable example of the human interest that clothes the bare bones of philately.—The Manchester Philatelist.

ALF. CACHIA & CO.

If there are any readers of our paper who have failed to secure replies to orders sent the above mentioned firm, we suggest that complaints be registered with Sidney E. O'Donoghue, American Consul, Valetta, Malta. It is probable that Mr. O'Donoghue will render assistance of value.

U. S. PERFORATIONS AND LINES

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

The very first thing I learned about my stamps was the manner and method of measuring perforations. I had little or no trouble with the United States issues because with the exception of the first perforated issue all were Perforated 12.

Some collectors, even to this day, believe that the counting of the number of indentations along the top or side of the stamp will give the measurement desired to agree with the statements in the catalogue, such as perforated 9½, 10, 10½, 11, 11½, 12, etc.

A method like that will show: The current 2c Perforated 11 stamp to have 13½ indentations on either the right or left sides and 11 or 11½ indentations at top or bottom, or both, or slight variations of the numbers of indentations given.

In recent years the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Washington, D. C., has adopted the philatelic method of measuring perforations, so that any enquiry regarding perforations addressed to the Bureau will receive a correct and authentic answer, thus avoiding any confusion. It is recalled that enquiry addressed to the Bureau several years ago regarding some compound perforated stamps, elicited the reply that all the Bureau printed stamps were compound 10x12 perforation—in other words, 10 indentations at the top and 12 indentations at the side. Today the Bureau would reply that such stamps were Perforated 10, all round.

The correct measurement of perforations, a practice that was adopted by stamp collectors years ago, long before I started to collect stamps, is the number of "perforations" in the space of two centimeters, or as we name it, twenty millimeters. In a single stamp the "perforations" appear as indentations.

With the above five paragraphs as an introduction, I want to refute the statements on page 712 of the Dec. 27, 1926, edition of the WEEKLY, by the United States new issue chronicler. Quoting his article:—"the stamps which we now designate as perforated 11 are really 10¾." The stamps which we have heretofore designated as perforated 10 are really 9¾."

I defy anyone to show a Perforated 10 stamp with only 9¾ indentations in space of two centimeters! If such had been the case with any of our United States stamps, either flat plate or rotary, they would have been chronicled thus years ago. I have noticed in Fred J. Melville's recent work on United States stamps 1922-1925, and also in the Stamp Lover chronicle, edited by Mr. Melville, that our current Perforated 11 stamps have been listed as "Perforated 10¾." Surely Mr. Melville's perforation gauge or millimeter scale is inaccurate. In fact, I have also noticed, that a perforation gauge is absolutely the worst way in which to measure perforations. Frequently, if not always, the little black spots placed in a row, are irregularly spaced, if not shrunken or enlarged in length of the row by printing, either engraved, lithographed, or typographed.

If we were to adopt Mr. Ward's theory, or even Mr. Melville's, then all our Perforated 12 stamps would be perforated 11½ or thereabouts.

Unfortunately, at this writing, I haven't had an opportunity of measuring the new perforation adopted for rotary press printed stamps of the U. S. Mr. Ward states that it is "exactly 11x10½." If the new perforation was measured on the same scale as he measured the Perforated 11 as "10¾" and the Perforated 10 as "9¾," it is doubtful that it is "exactly 11x10½." However, on another page of the WEEKLY, I see that Mr. Nickles gives the new perforation as "Perf. 11x10½," so I guess it must be.

All the U. S. stamps are perforated as stated in the catalogues, and do not measure even a quarter of a mm. in variation either top or side, unless, through error.

If they measure otherwise, then they are unrecorded varieties.

On page 690 of the Dec. 20, edition of the WEEKLY, Mr. Ward draws attention of his readers to the two lines on the left vertical margin of the sheet of plate No. 5493, stating that the lines were guides aiding in the transfer of the subject from the transfer roll to the plate and were no doubt cut by an amateur, or they would have been unnoticed.

The whole subject of these lines was thoroughly covered in an article in the Philadelphia Stamp News, Volume 1, 1911-12.

On page 180 it is stated: "Another style plate 'has two lines running across the margin of the sheet above the imprint of the Bureau and plate number.' We have not seen any other, but suppose the lines run along the side margin and on the bottom margins. There are two lines; the one next to the plate number and imprint is thicker than the outside one and the distance between them is 3mm."

Making enquiries, I received the following letter from the Bureau:

"Sir:—I am in receipt of your letter in which you enclose a piece of the margin from a sheet of one-cent stamp, and request to be advised of the reason for the horizontal lines running across and above the plate number. In reply I beg to say, as you are, no doubt, aware, the initials of each plate printer were printed from any plate are struck upon the plate. The line which you call attention to is placed upon the plate for the purpose of indicating that the initials of the printers are to go above it.

(Signed) J. E. RALPH, Director."

I gave further information at the time in the P. S. N., but I think the letter explains the matter. The margin submitted to Mr. Ralph had two lines. Most of the margins I had seen had the printers' initials on the left side margin. But as far back as the 1901 commemorative stamps, the initials were placed over the stamps or on the top margin. These stamps were printed sideways, however, and the initials were placed on the right margin of the plate, which, reverse, after printing, would be the left margin of the stamps, which in the case of the 1901 issue became the left margin of the sheet, when the sheet was righted.

Keeping the subject current in 1901, on page 218 of the same volume of the P. S. N., I published the fact that 1-cent stamps had been seen from plates 5634, and 5637, with lines on the margins as remarked on page 180 (this page quoted above). Then on page 241 there was recorded plates 5634, 5635, 5636, and 5637, with marginal lines. This was followed by: Mr. Koslowski also sends a block of four with side margin attached, but without plate number. The initials on the margin are 'C. V.' This margin submitted we find three lines instead of two; the line nearest the stamps is a double line, the outside line being a single line and heavier as usual.

I have this block in my collection today, and I also have, a block with marginal lines with printers initials between the lines. Frequently the printer overstepped the lines and the initials were zigzagged as formerly all over the side margin and the placing of the lines was soon discontinued. Likewise, the placing of the initials was soon discontinued away with by the Bureau.

It has recently been my pleasure to acquire from Mr. George C. McNabb a block of the Wilson 17c Canal Zone overprinted stamps with the word CANAL in the center of each stamp and halves of the word ZONE at both top and bottom of each stamp. And from the same source comes the new series of postage dues for the CANAL ZONE, the overprint with pointed top A's instead of the flat top A's as previously issued, values 1c, 2c and 10c.

BERMUDA NOTES

By BENEDICT PRIETH

The new 2 1/2 pence blue and the 3 pence brown on yellow paper, both script watermark, appeared so unexpectedly that all collectors of British Colonials were surprised, I am sure, when their issue was chronicled.

The first inkling I had that there had been a change was when the Postmaster at Hamilton returned a perfectly good check on the Bank of Bermuda with the remark that there was not a single three pence stamp to be had for love or money. I immediately sent checks to other post offices in Bermuda, but, alas! they were all returned to me with the information that foreign customers could be supplied through the main post office at Hamilton only. So farewell Harrington Sound, St. Georges, Flatts, Ireland Island, etc. Henceforth I shall know you no more save in my memory, where there shall always be a warm spot for you.

The 3d blue is likely to become scarce, mint as used, as it was in use but a short time. The 2 1/2d olive will be scarce in mint condition, as few dealers had stocked it. The 2sh6d and 10sh on CAC watermark paper have great prospects, as has also the 1sh jet black on olive paper.

STAMPS OF TO-MORROW

Algeria—It seems that the charity postage stamps previously foreshadowed are to be issued after all in aid of the orphans of Algerian soldiers who fell in the recent campaign in Morocco. Thirteen values of the contemporary pictorial stamps are to be surcharged and sold for double face value in aid of the fund. The printing will comprise 50,000 copies each of the denominations 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 35, 40, 50 centimes and 1 franc, and 30,000 of the 2fr and 5fr respectively.

Barbados—The proposed design for the Tercentenary stamps shows the good ship William and John, which brought the first colonists to the Island, with a portrait of the King inset.

Bulgaria—The existing stock of the London printed 10 levas stamp being well nigh exhausted, it will shortly be superseded by one of the same value in an enlargement of the general design of the Bulgarian stamp of 1881.

Chili—A new denomination of 80 centavos is about to be added to the current series, printed in brown with a portrait of General Fy. B. Antonio Quintanilla.

Cirenaica—The Italian Government has approved the issue of special postage stamps in the denominations 60 centesimi and 1.25 lire to commemorate the annexation of the oasis of Giarabule, lately ceded to Italy by Egypt. The pictorial design is the work of Comm. Antonino Calcagnadoro.

Dominican Republic—A new set of stamps in the "Arms" type of 1924 is announced for early issue, comprising 5, 10, 20 and 50c, 1 peso. At the same time there will be a re-issue of the 10c Express Delivery Stamp of 1925 with the word "EXPRESSO" substituted for "ENTREGA ESPECIAL".

France—Further alterations in the contemporary postage stamps are heralded in the form of a 30 centimes green and 90c red, both in the "Pasteur" type, together with a new Postage Due Stamp of 80 centimes.

Germany—A set of Christmas charity stamps is in course of preparation and will continue the series of heraldic designs commenced last year.

Italy—To mark the anniversary of the death of St. Francis of Assisi, which falls on October 4th, it is proposed to add a 30 centesimi stamp to the existing commemorative series, printed in deep blue in the Della Robbia design of the 5 lire denomination.

Italian Somaliland—A definitive series of pictorial postage stamps will shortly replace the overprinted types at present in use.

Jugo Slavia—A Ministerial decree of July 30th, ordains that for a period of three months all postage stamps shall be sold at a premium of 50 para upon face value in aid of sufferers from the recent floods on the Danube. The stamps to be issued in connection with the Millenary of Croatian independence are to comprise the values 50 para, 1 and 3 dinar, which will also be sold with a surtax of 50p or 1d.

Monaco—New denominations of 30 centimes green, 90c red and 1.50fr blue are about to be issued in the current portrait type. The stamps of 1.05fr and 2fr will only be issued after they have been surcharged 1.40fr and 2.50fr respectively.

Morocco—In the forecast of colour changes given on the authority of the Vigie Marocaine last month, reference was made to the 5c Air Post stamp. This was an error for 50c, which will in future be printed in red-orange instead of blue.

New Zealand—It is probable that the new 2sh and 3sh stamps recorded last month will have a short life. Replying to criticism in the House of Representatives on July 23d, the Postmaster-General announced that it was intended to improve upon the design with which his Department was not satisfied.

Nigeria—The 5sh stamp with script watermark was expected on October 1st

Norway—The next value to appear in the re-engraved type will be the 10 ore followed by the 20, 15 and 40 ore in the order named.

U. S. A. BANKNOTE ISSUES

ABSOLUTELY UNPICKED

I recently bought a lot of U. S. stamps from a local junk dealer. These are Free From Paper and Absolutely Unpicked by anyone with a knowledge of stamps. The only information I have is that they were saved by an old lady between 1870 and 1892. I have neither the time nor the inclination to pick over or count them. I have, however, weighed them. There are three bags, net weight as follows:

- (1) 1c blues, 2c browns, 3c greens 1870-83 3 lbs. 7 oz.
- (2) 1c blues (214), 2c browns (210), 2c greens (212) 9 lbs. 2 oz.
- (3) 1c and 2c 1890 1 lb. 1 oz.

I offer these for sale at the following prices:
3 oz. of (1) above for $12.50
3 oz. of (2) above for 10.00
3 oz. of (3) above for 5.00

One ounce showed 485 stamps, therefore three ounces would run about 1450

U. S. INVERTS

While I am always in the market to purchase any individual item or collection of fine United States postage or revenue stamps, nevertheless right at the present time I am especially anxious for those with inverted centre.

Whether you have a single copy or several copies, I would be pleased to have them submitted upon approval. I desire not only the postal issues of 1869, 1901 and 1915 with inverted centers but also the revenue stamps as well. Only copies in fine condition are desired.

If you want to turn your United States holdings into cash, the money is ready. I do not ask for stamps upon consignment as is quite often the custom, but if the condition and price is satisfactory, immediate payment is made. In the last couple years, I have handled many of the largest collections that have come upon the market and am prepared to pay substantial prices for unusual properties.

PARTNER WANTED

I have during the past few years, working part time, built up a mail order stamp business, the success of which can not be questioned. However, in order to take better advantage of the stock I have accumulated and to fully utilize my excellent connections here and abroad, I am now considering opening an office in a good location in New York City—to develop a local business. With this end in view, I am looking for a man with a fair knowledge of stamps who would undertake to manage such a stamp business and who is able and willing to invest about $3,000.00. References to be exchanged. If interested, kindly address: S. S., c/o MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, Beverly, Mass.

New 20c Air Mail Stamp

Several weeks back we mentioned the possible appearance of new air mail stamps and under date of January 12th, Mr. R. S. Regar, Third Assistant Postmaster General, announces that a new 20c printed in green will be available at both Washington and New York on Tuesday, January 25th. It will be on sale at other offices as soon as an extra supply is available. The stamp is similar in design to the current 10c and 15c air mail stamps and the necessity for the issuing of this denomination arises from the new rate of air mail postage of 10c a half ounce, effective February 1st next. The 20c stamp pays the double rate.

We are told by the Information Service of the Post Office Department, that existing stamps of the 8c, 16c and 24c denominations in use under the present cumbersome zone system will be recalled. The 15c air mail stamps will be retained until the supply is exhausted, as two of these stamps may be used under the new rate on packages weighing one and one-half ounces. If the Department recalls the air mail stamps specified, they will no doubt be retained by the Philatelic Agency for the benefit of collectors.

The postal order calls attention to the fact that this new stamp, as well as all other air mail stamps, are lawfully valid for postage on any mail matter but their use should be restricted as far as practicable to matter to be dispatched by air mail, for which they are specifically intended.

2c White Plains, Imperforate Horizontally

"Specimen" Departments

Mr. William West adds to the list of "Specimen" error Departments a new variety not heretofore noted, namely, the 10c Navy. Mr. West recently acquired this from a Pacific coast source where it was possibly found. There seems to be an unusual amount of interest taken in these stamps here of late—hence, during the last year or so half a dozen or more new errors have come to our attention.

In my chronicle of January 3rd, mention was made of the fact that I had never heard of any of the Departments either with or without overprint appearing in imperforate condition, other than the well known 3c War.

Mr. William C. Kennett, philatelic secretary to Mr. Arthur Hind, kindly writes under date of January 11th:—

"I thought you knew Mr. Hind had a complete set of Departments in strips of three imperforate, except the high value States which are in pairs. There are two sets of singles also existing. I do not know of any without the overprints except the 3c soft paper War of which I has a block of six."

Information as to the existence of the imperforate Departments with "Specimen" overprints comes as a surprise, as it is odd that they have not been mentioned in print heretofore. I have written Mr. Kennett for further details as to these varieties and hope to inform our readers as to where they were located. It is quite possible that they are from the famous Ferrari collection, as many of the varieties of this type, such as the imperforate Newspapers, were found in this accumulation.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of January 10th, the Information Service of the Post Office Department announced that pilots of the United States air mail service shattered all speed records during the year just closed. The east bound transcontinental planes broke three speed records between Chicago and New York, one of the pilots having flown from Chicago to Cleveland, 327 miles, in one hour and 59 minutes, at the rate of 164.8 miles per hour. The best previous time was two hours and two minutes.

From Cleveland to New York, a distance of 399 miles, was made at even faster rate, namely, 2 hours and 21 minutes or at the rate of 169.7 miles per hour.

The record from Chicago to New York was lowered to 4 hours and 10 minutes. The records now prevailing on the other routes, all of which were made during 1926 are:

Chicago to Omaha—2 hours, 10 minutes.

Omaha to Cheyenne—3 hours, 20 minutes.

Cheyenne to Salt Lake City—2 hours, 40 minutes.

Salt Lake City to Reno—3 hours, 10 minutes.

On the Reno to San Francisco route alone, the former 1925 record of 1 hour, 28 minutes has not been equaled.

The Department further announced that they were highly gratified to learn under date of January 14th, that Shiley J. Short, ace of the Post Office air mail pilots, had been awarded the Harmon trophy for 1926 by the American Section of the International League of Aviators. Short was selected in preference to Lt. Commander Richard Byrd and Lt. Floyd Bennett first to fly over the North Pole in an aeroplane because he flew 2,169 hours and 14 minutes between July 1, 1923 and November 1, 1926, without a serious mishap, on scheduled air mail flights, night and day, in all weather, and in various types of aeroplanes used by the Post Office Department.

PHILATELIC AGENCY AT PANAMA

By CLINTON L. CHALFANT.

There has been considerable complaint, and justly so, regarding the philatelic agencies at Washington and Ottawa but if any pointers are needed, lessons can be taken from H. B. Cooper, postmaster, also in charge of the Philatelic Agency of the Panama Canal Zone. Mr. Cooper is prompt, careful, and uses excellent judgment in supplying stock in place of items ordered which his agency does not carry.

Regarding promptness, the writer sent a small order of $5.29 on December 24, 1926, and received his order, carefully packed and each sheet wrapped in wax paper on January 15. An order for surcharged 5-cent Ericsson was enclosed, due to the fact that MEKEEL's announced that they would be sent to the Zone. Mr. Cooper substituted instead 2-cent Liberty Bells, with plate numbers.

Stamps available now at the Zone are 1/2, 1, 1 1/2, 2, 3, 5, 10, 12, 14, 15, 17, 20, 30, 50, $1 and 25-cent and 49-cent stamp booklets of ones and twos, also one-cent envelopes and postal cards, and two-cent envelopes. Washington might take a hint from the agency there and list booklet panes of present and past issues in stock, such as the three-cent used during the war.

Greece, #126, net $1.35; #127, $2.65; #161, $1; #162, $3.25; all used; others, GEO. H. SPRAGUE, 223 E. 67 St., Chicago, Ill.

Exhibitions, and we say unequivocally that New York 1926 was the greatest of them all. By very reason of its greatness it has created a standard that should be our pride to maintain and improve, and because of the incentive thus given to us we seize the opportunity of throwing open for discussion the whole question of Philatelic Exhibitions.

In our report we have endeavored to do justice to the kind welcome we received, but we will not leave this page without expressing editorially our deep appreciation for the boundless courtesy and kindness that made this visit of ours to New York an infinite delight.—Philatelic Journal of Great Britain.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

Unions.—Some big prices have been paid and paid for certain Union of South Africa, imperf. one side. These, in the case of the air stamps, are from outside of the sheet. In some countries, where more plentiful, these are called "straight edges," and rather desired, but with a popular modern country like the Union they command very high figures. Verb sap. For money making go for the popular groups or countries all the time; both the standard varieties and the minor varieties are much more saleable and make more.

Mauritius.—The emerald surfaced Mauritius stamps, both one and ten rupees, are worth buying at present quotations. It should be noted that more stamps of the higher values appear to be used in this Colony than formerly, and that consequently the high values are worth much more mint than used. Of the 10 rupee it will be noticed that it is catalogued less in Die I (emerald) than Die II (MCA); these figures might be reversed, as the latter stamp has been obtainable until quite recently, possibly still, in the island itself.

Gambia.—The 5sh Gambia, new type, old watermark, has appreciated rapidly in value since it became obsolete last summer. It is now rivaling the 5sh in the small type for scarcity, and although the supply lasted about four years, there do not seem to be many about. Its history is very similar to the 10sh Cayman referred to above. It exists on two papers, and the pale yellow variety appears to be distinctly the scarcer. It is to be noted that both these stamps are in very popular Colonies. Gambia being one of the most popular of the African group and Cayman Is. of the West Indian group, and both are amongst the smallest Colonies of their group, so that printings tend to be small too. The Edwardian series of both are also very good, and continue on the upgrade always in market value, especially the 1st multiple King Edward set of each Colony.

Selling.—A feature of Modern Colonials appears to be the number of people advertising as wanting to buy them, often offering particular prices for the scarcer items. All this goes to show the liveliness of the market, and it would not be surprising to see some very astonishing price changes when trade becomes more normal in the country generally. In this connection a correspondent says that these prices offered are usually "very low, and would attract none who knew the value of his stamps," and instanced 10sh only being offered for the 1sh Turks script. Of course, we must remember these are required for resale, so that one might expect only about two-thirds of the ordinary retail price to be offered, which is what we usually find; sometimes even more with the rare items, such as £22 recently offered for the 10sh Malta MCA, £10 for the £1 St. Kitts Tercentenary, whilst 45sh was offered for the 10sh Caymans MCA, all figures only slightly less than these items can be bought for retail or at auctions, and showing the great market strength of the rare Modern Colonial.—Philatelic Magazine.

THE PERSONNEL OF OUR FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

A Striking Tribute to the Stability of the World's Greatest Philatelic Publication

Every once in a while some stamp paper is bold enough to claim the distinction of being the one and only great paper. We should not be over-modest in our own behalf, and to substantiate a self-evident truth in many quarters, we list below no fewer than 688 subscribers who during the past three years have taken out five-year subscriptions to MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS. There has been no cheapening in price and no premiums of any kind have been offered, and withal many messages of cheer and good-will have accompanied the remittances. What paper of any kind, published anywhere in the world, can claim any such record as this? We have published names and addresses with the expectation that honorable dealers will observe the ethics of the trade and refrain from sending out unsolicited approval selections. Price lists mailed will no doubt be read and publishers of stamp papers are invited to mail specimen copies.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

W. W. Betts, Clearfield, Pa.

H. L. Porter, Boston, Mass.
George H. Sprague, Chicago, Ill.
Louis C. Muller, San Francisco, Cal.
223 E. Marquette Rd.,
Chas. L. Brisley, Detroit, Mich.

It is paying quite a tribute to the WEEKLY for one who has long been an advertiser in our columns to take out membership in our Honor Club. This has happened in the case of W. W. Betts of Clearfield, Pa. He writes us a warm letter of commendation and suggests that this remittance is the proper thing for him to make "as everybody is doing it". Elsewhere in this issue we call attention to the fact that Mr. Betts begins in this number a 5000-line contract in advertising.

Singularly enough we had hardly entered Mr. Betts as a member of the Honor Club before an application came in from Neil Gronberg of Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Gronberg is also a dealer. He has used adlet space in the WEEKLY for many months and has only recently taken out a contract for displayed space. We thank him for his tangible appreciation of our paper.

In joining our Honor Club, Geo. H. Sprague, Chicago, says that he is the second deaf man to enter the five year subscription class, his friend, W. Austin Amory, having preceded him some months ago. Mr. Sprague, who is 41 years old, says that he would like to know how many deaf persons read the WEEKLY. The collecting favorites of Mr. Sprague are the U. S., British and the stamps of a few other countries. Welcome, Mr. Sprague.

In Louis C. Muller we have a very active member of the San Francisco Stamp Society. He is manager of the auction and sales department, with address 176 Devisadero St., San Francisco, Cal. He writes:—"I am always ready to assist in the advancement of our hobby and believe that the WEEKLY is a wonderful asset to philately in this country." Mr. Muller remits for a five-years renewal of subscription and we take pleasure in entering him as a member of the Honor Club.

As we close the forms for this week's issue two applications are received, one from W. H. Schmidt, 8 E. 48 St., N. Y. City, and the other from H. L. Porter, Boston, Mass. Both are unaccompanied by any letter, but in both instances the check for $5.00 is a substantial witness to their approval of our Honor Club project.

STOP PRESS MEMBERS—Charles L. Brisley, Pres. Mich. Stamp Club, Detroit, Mich., and L. A. Missbach, Brooklyn, N. Y. Welcome, Messrs. Brisley and Missbach, to our Honor Club.

U. S. ESSAYS AND PROOFS

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

(One of our Juniors, A. H. Seymour, requests information in regard to U.S. essays and proofs and Mr. Ward responds with the following. We do not use this upon the Junior Page as it is rather too lengthy an article. Moreover, there are many collectors to whom this information will be acceptable. —W. O. W.)

The new collector is often at a loss as to what is meant when reference is made to an essay or proof. When the Department formerly decided upon a new denomination, they submitted their ideas to the bank note company holding the contract for the printing of stamps and they in turn submitted sketches and designs for the approval of the department. At times they went so far as to actually engrave varieties and submit them for the inspection of the Postmaster General. From these he would generally pick out the one of interest and make suggestions as to changes, should these be necessary. In such a case the rejected varieties are what is known as essays, these stamps being proposed, but not actually prepared and used.

The bank note company with the criticisms of the Postmaster General at hand turned out the new variety and submitted further impressions to Washington for inspection. If these were approved we would then designate the approved design which was usually printed upon India paper or cardboard, as a proof. Die proofs and plate proofs differ in that the die proof is a direct impression from the die and may be told usually by the very large margins; whereas, a plate proof is an impression from the entire plate which in turn was usually cut up into singles and these individual items coming from the plate are, therefore, designated as plate proofs.

In former years the Department permitted these to be distributed. Around the year 1902, special books of all proofs were made up for distribution among the Senate, but if I recall rightly at that time, there was considerable criticism as to this expenditure and President Roosevelt issued an executive order preventing the further issuing of proofs in such manner. From remarks made at the Bureau, I am led to believe that a further executive order would be necessary before proofs could again become generally available.

LOOKING ROUND

By "MARQUETTE"

A feature of the stamp market at the present day is furnished by the very high prices which the better-class early Colonials are fetching. The investment value of these fine old stamps has always been recognised, but now the demand is increasing more rapidly than ever before while existing supplies are dwindling very fast. I anticipate a very sharp rise in the catalogue prices of many items before long, so that anyone who has money to lock up for a short period, and who will buy with judgment and discrimination, should make a very pleasing profit.

The sharp rise in the value of the franc will have its effect on Continental quotations and will possibly lessen the volume of purchases made in France by collectors outside that country. This will only apply to the ordinary stamps, as the rarities sell wherever found. Stable conditions in the international exchanges will make things very much easier for collectors and also for the stamp trade.

A feature of the past few weeks has been the entry of Germany into the buying field in a more active manner than has been the case since the War. Several German firms are now advertising in England as urgently for rarities and fine collections as are the home dealers—another evidence of the all-round shortage of supplies of the better stamps.

Charity stamps and commemoratives are often neglected by those who look at them purely from the investment point of view, but it should not be forgotten that many of these stamps are in wide demand among collectors generally, and that the issues are usually limited.

THE SOUTHERN PHILATELIST, 109 E. Cary St., Richmond, Virginia

Thus we find Austrian and Italian charity and commemorative stamps rising steadily, and there are others worthy of attention. Regard must be paid to the methods of the government concerned, in regard to remainders, etc. In the case of the two countries named, these methods are such as to produce a steady appreciation in value, with practically no possibility of any set-back.

The stamps of Soviet Russia are very widely collected just now. This country is continually in the news, and likely to remain so, which keeps interest alive. The best investment is in the rarer stamps of the ordinary postage series and the scarce items in one or two of the overprinted Charity issues. The latter commemoratives are also rising. The Russian Government Philatelic Bureau controls all stocks, and prices rise sharply as the available supplies are reduced. A purchase of all stamps of Soviet Russia priced at 20s or over today, should show at least a 25 per cent rise in price within a couple of years. If a few stamps are picked out, the rise may not be so great.

While it is easier to take your profit on the rarer stamps in which you may invest from time to time, it will pay to give careful attention to stamps of the early or middle issues of all countries where the catalogue price is from 1s to 2s6d. These stamps do not have very much importance for those who price the various catalogues, and many of them have almost disappeared from the market without any marked appreciation taking place. Some of them must be worth 10s to 20s and upwards to-day. In some cases a comparison of the prices given in various catalogues will reveal underpricing of this nature on the part of one or several of them. In others the rarity of a lowpriced stamp is revealed by search of dealers' stocks. Norway is one country which might receive attention on these lines, but there are many others.—Stanley Gibbons' Monthly Journal.

FRENCH STAMPS AT NEW YORK

The International Philatelic Exhibition Presented A Wonderful Display

By Dr. S. AVAZON, 140 W. 42 St., N. Y. City.

In my last article I promised to give a detailed description of the cancellations and unusual blocks, strips and pairs on and off cover that I exhibited under the Class, Stamps, Before 1870, at the International Exhibition in New York.

I sincerely regret that I was only able to exhibit a very small part of my collection as I only had two frames.

and dull vermilion and is considered extremely rare.

Another page from my collection showed the various types of fortune cancellation on the first postage stamps of France which was put in circulation
January 1, 1849.

These stamps with the regular common cancellation are worth perhaps fifty cents,

The most attractive page of my exhibit was one franc dull vermilion with the extremely rare five-pointed Poinsettia (so called fortune cancellation) used January, 1849, from Station J (Place de la Bourse). No doubt this is probably a unique copy with this cancellation according to all the information I have been able to gather from various authorities on this continent and Europe.

According to the statement in the Yvert & Tellier catalogue on France and Colonies, this fortune cancellation may be found on 20c black and 1 franc vermilion

but due to the fact that a regular system of cancellation was not adopted until a month later, and due to the diversity of cancellations used and the few sent out, these stamps with a fortune cancellation are very rare and worth five dollars to one hundred on and off cover, depending on the condition and scarcity.
Even the small towns had their own system of cancellation until a regular system of cancellation was adopted when uniformity in cancellations was established.

If you will look at the illustration you

Battleship Cancellations

This is something that you do not get to see every day and they are very seldom advertised by any dealer. I have secured a few covers with these cancellations, they are all kinds, ordinary hand cancellation, machine cancellation, or whatever they happen to have to cancel their mail on the ship in question. Some have two or three different postmarks. As long as my supply lasts I will dispose of them as follows: Sample cover 25c; 10 for $1.00; 25 for $2.50; 50 for $5.00; 75 for $7.50. Larger lots on application. Every cover has a different cancellation. [83c] will see that the fortune cancellation marked A was used at Lille, France, while that marked B was used at Place de la Bourse, Paris. I consider myself indeed fortunate to have been able to secure both of these cancellations on 20c black and also the poinsettia type of fortune cancellation on one franc dull vermillion.

The town cancellations from the 1st of January to the 15th of the same month are very greatly sought after by specialists because of their scarcity.

The postal authorities of the time were of the opinion that the then current black cancellation was not obvious enough and resorted to the use of red and blue cancellations on any stamp, but such cancellations are now considered rare.

A decree was issued in April, 1850, to change the 20c black to 20c blue, and this stamp, although prepared, was never put into circulation as the postage rate was changed from 20c to 25c. The postal authorities attempted to surcharge them 25c in red, but the results proved unsatisfactory and all were destroyed except one copy of this essay.

In the Special Exhibition Number of October 4th, there was an illustration of an original cover sent from Paris to London with an unbounded grille cancellation in red-brown color used on 40c orange, which is probably the only one known of this kind of cancellation in this color on a se-tenant pair, types I and II.

This unbounded grille cancellation is a very interesting cancellation and is generally used on the mail that was sent from France to foreign countries, especially England, United States and the eastern and Balkan countries.

On certain values, such as the 25c blue, this unbounded grille is rare, while on other values it is very common. I shall give further details of this in a future article in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS.

A block of four 10c bistre on yellow issued July, 1850, was another one of my special items. This block of four had the checkerboard cancellation. A checkerboard cancellation exists in many varieties—squares, fine dots and oblong, and generally appears on letters sent from France to America, and letters from the French Colonies to their mother country. On some issues it is rare while on others it may be considered common.

On the same page was a strip of three 10c dark bistre-yellow with a number cancellation in the lozenge. Every number signifies a different town from which a letter was mailed or a different section of Paris from which it was sent.

The third cover on this page was pair of 10c bistre-yellow with an unbounded grille cancellation.

The next page showed about twenty-five pieces of 15c green and deep green issued in 1850. There were pairs and singles on original cover and off cover, the rarest of which was an unusually fine copy with a medium size date cancellation. There were also a very rare 15c pair dark green on cover with a railroad cancellation. This dark-green on cover is certainly a rarity from the view point of a specialist.

I want to stop a minute to say that any French stamp bearing a railroad cancellation is of interest to a French stamp specialist and brings from full catalogue to above full catalogue price.

In the line of 20c black I exhibited a strip of five in unusual condition with a small size date cancellation dated January 6, 1849, and a strip of three with a fortune cancellation (a great rarity) and a small sized red date cancellation cancelled January 4th.

On still a different page appeared a block of four 25c 1850 issue in beautiful condition on a large piece of cover. This is rare.

A strip of four on original letter in pale-blue was shown directly below the block of four. This stamp in this condition is rare but the grille cancellation on it is not rare.

In February, 1850, 40c orange and orange-yellow was issued by the French government. One of the pages from my collection exhibited contained a strip of three on original cover, also a block of three on original cover with a lozenge with number cancellation. Surely this is considered a rarity. Altogether I have one hundred pieces with various cancellations. The most interesting pair of this denomination was the two types of four together (se-tenant) in unusually fine condition. This variety occurs twice in the bottom row only of each sheet of three hundred stamps, and was caused by the re-engraving of two cliché of 20c introduced by error into the plate of the 40c. One of these stamps has the wide "4" on both sides, the other on one side only.

Another attractive page contained a 1 franc carmine-brown and bright carmine issued in December, 1850. The most interesting item of the denomination was a block of four. This is considered a very great rarity, because it is a block four.

On the same page was a horizontal strip of three carmine-brown (a rare shade) with a sheet margin on the left side and an unusually large margin around, considered especially rare in French stamps. One of my previous articles spoke of the rareness of large margins on French stamps imperforate issue.

There was also a bright carmine strip of three with the unbounded grille cancellation. Altogether, I have one hundred fifty copies of this denomination, some in various shades in pairs, strips and blocks on and off cover, ranging in cancellations from the commonest to the rarest.

In 1852, two new denominations were issued, 10c and 25c, bearing the head of Napoleon, and the inscription "Repub. France."

Napoleon Bonaparte was well started on his meteoric career, and in December (Napoleon's month) seven million people voted for him, and due to the rapid succession of political changes and the great popularity of this world renowned general and statesman, the two denominations of 1852 bore Napoleon's head. The 10c yellow bistre strip of three I dis-

Don't Be A Mourner

A year from now many collectors will be regretting that they failed to put away a few of the special Exhibition sheets of the White Plains stamps. This sheet of 25 stamps, with its "International Philatelic Exhibition" on the top margin, "New York, N. Y." on the bottom and plate numbers on four sides, is sure to enhance in value. Uncle Sam never before put out anything of the kind. No Government issue ever before was so closely attached to philately.

I offer a single sheet of any of the four plate numbers for only $1.00. Four sheets, one of each number, for $3.50. The four plate numbers are 18770, 18771, 18773, 18774. If you want a profitable investment, let me sell you ten sheets of each number, forty sheets in all, for only $27.50.

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamps or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

J. O. Moore, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.

played was on original cover and had a beautiful margin on all sides, "ds 2" appeared in the center of the lozenge which signified that it was mailed from the station at No. 28, Rue de Clery, Paris. I have about seventy-five copies of this denomination, many singles, pairs, strips of three in horizontal and vertical condition with cancellations varying from common to rare.

In the line of 25c blue, I have in my possession over three hundred pieces—pairs, strips and blocks with many rare cancellations, such as grille which is very common on the 1849 issue but rare on this issue, color cancellations also considered rare on this issue.

In this 1852 issue pairs, strips and blocks are rare because of the short life of this stamp; for after a few months it was withdrawn from circulation. This same Napoleon Bonaparte donned the Imperial Crown and became Emperor Napoleon III in December, of the same year, forming the Second Empire. The stamps of this period bear the inscription "Empire France."

From 1853 to 1860 there appeared eight different denominations, and two denominations bear two distinct shades. These stamps are 20c pale blue on greenish issued in 1855, and 80c rose in April, 1860.

A block of ten on original cover of 20c blue, bluish, in very fine condition was my contribution in this issue. Certainly it is an unusual block in this condition, used on a single letter. On the same page appeared a strip of seven 40c orange on a single original cover in beautiful condition. In this condition this strip is rare, especially on original cover.

Another one of my special items was a block of four 25c dull blue, bluish, November, 1853, issue with an unbounded grille cancellation. In the eyes of a French specialist this was certainly an attractive page.

In April, 1860, there was issued a rose-shade stamp of the denomination 80c and bearing the head of Napoleon and the inscription, Empire Franc. I exhibited two covers—one a strip of eight on original cover with a fine dot cancellation and the other a strip of five on original cover with the large number in the centre of the lozenge—a very rare strip with a very rare cancellation. I also exhibited a block of nine of the same shade on original cover. This block of nine is extremely rare on original cover.

Among the issue of October, 1854, I displayed a strip of seven on original cover in unusually fine condition and a strip of five with a very fine dot cancellation on an original cover, and a block of ten off cover with a small number in the middle of the lozenge. Surely all of these are great rarities because of the largeness of the blocks and the cancellations.

In my collection I have over five hundred pieces, some of various shades of rose and carmine and of unusual blocks, strips, and pairs.

The second rarest stamp of the regular issue of France is 1 franc Empire of 1853. I exhibited about thirty copies on original cover and an extremely fine strip of six on original cover with a branch post office of Paris cancellation. I also displayed a strip of four, two strips of three and four pairs vertical and horizontal and three singles.

The most attractive of this lot was on original cover with the unusual large margin in a very attractive condition. I have about eighty-five copies in my possession, some of various shades and cancellations. These pages certainly caught the eye of a French specialist and were of greatest interest to him.

In some of my future articles I will mention in greater detail facts about the cancellations and other factors that I have touched on briefly here. I shall also tell more about the much sought after Bordeaux issue, some of which I exhibited.

I exhibited under the Classic Stamps Before 1870 and competed with the world's most famous collections—collections which have been internationally recognized and have carried off medals in previous stamp exhibitions. I consider myself indeed fortunate to have had my collection considered of any special value among such illustrious collections and am indeed proud of the medal the judges thought fitting to bestow on me.

NEW 20c AIR MAIL STAMP

We are indebted to Albert E. Gorham for first day covers of the new double rate 20c air mail stamp. The color of the stamp is green and the design is the same as the 10c and 15c. One cover is postmarked "New York" and the other "Washington" both under date of Jan. 25. This value covers postage on mail matter double rate and the 15c for one contract line plus transcontinental rate of 10c per half ounce.

A FINE OPPORTUNITY occurs to obtain choice early BRITISH COLONIAL STAMPS in superb condition. They can be selected from at under 1/2 catalogue. Also EDWARDIAN AND GEORGIAN issues, either mint or superb used, mostly at 1/2 catalogue. Approval, references.

MICH. STAMP CLUB CELEBRATES

By HERMAN W. BOERS.

The 300th meeting of the Michigan Stamp Club was held at the clubroom in the G.A.R. Building, Detroit, Mich., on Saturday evening, Jan. 15. There was a gathering of fully seventy-five collectors, ranging from the boy with his small album to the advanced collector with his possessions representing thousands of dollars. It was a big, good-natured crowd and a friendly feeling prevailed. Visitors were shown every courtesy. Incidentally six new applications for membership were received.

The committee in charge of the event may rightly feel proud of it. Tables for exhibition purposes were placed about the room, each exhibitor pointing out the merits of their treasures. In order to secure the entries, gold prizes were given as follows:— Class 1, for best general collection, 1st prize, $10 gold piece; 2nd prize, $5 gold piece. Class 2, for best single stamp used or unused, 1st prize, $5 in gold; 2nd prize, $3 in gold.

Vernon Wilson exhibited U. S. very complete; F. F. Bott showed St. Vincent, which was noted for its completeness and was mounted in a beautiful manner; Braunsen Beach showed a very fine lot of King George issues; Dr. Preston E. Hoskins, an ardent precancel fan, displayed a volume of precancels, including many rare; J. E. Scott exhibited his big collection of 3c red, cancellations, exceptionally good and many special designs; stamps of Roumania were shown by T. Foster, including an 81p 1858 Moldavia blue wove paper; George Mannebach displayed a specially arranged volume of Bosnia, including many scenes and portraits of prominent people of the country.

Refreshments were served and it was nearly midnight when the affair broke up. It was one of the best functions that the Michigan Stamp Club has ever staged. The judges appointed by Pres. Charles E. Brisley were: Alex Livingston, Horace F. Hartwell and F. S. Kirster. Prizes were donated by Messrs. Hartwell, Brisley, Fred F. Bott, Harry Carter and C. H. Holden. The entries in the two classes and the awards were as follows:—

Class 1. General Collections
Air Mails of all countries—A. J. Kaufmann.
Bosnia—George Mannebach.
Belgium, Holland, France and Great Britain—W. C. Lancsweert.
Roumania, including Moldavia, No. 4—Thos. A. Foster.
Latvia, 144 varieties—L. A. White.
Malta, 1885-1919—J. B. Jackson.
Brit. Col. Fiji to St. Helena (Geo.)—B. W. H. Beach.
U. S., B. N. A. and Canal Zone—A. G. Meyer.
U. S. 1920 to date specialized Corner and guide lines—J. H. D. Reynolds.
Complete Swiss Charities—H. M. Hedrick.
U. S. 3c Cancellations—J. E. Scott.
U. S. General—Vernon Wilson.
St. Vincent almost complete used and unused—Fred F. Bott.
Early Precancels—Dr. H. P. Hoskins.
Prizes:—Palm of Honor, Fred F. Bott.
1st Prize, Vernon Wilson. 2nd Prize, J. E. Scott.
Best Single Stamp (Used Off Cover or Unused).
St. Vincent No. 29, 5sh unused—Fred F. Bott.
U. S. 1861, 90c used—A. G. Meyer.
St. Kitts, No. 62. One Pound unused—S. E. Andrews.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO.

1482 BROADWAY

HERE AND THERE

From Dr. Thorlief L. Stangebye, New England, N. D., we have received a copy of the Minneapolis Journal containing the article, "Twins Work Way Through University of Minnesota by Collecting, Selling Stamp," illustrated by a fine picture of Roy and Ray Lawrence, 22-year-old twins of Anamosa, Iowa, "looking over their precancelled stamps." The text of the article abounds in references to stamps and their profit possibilities and as will be admitted is good publicity.

Mr. L. S. Slevin, Carmel, California, writes: "I noticed an article in your issue of May 24, 1926, regarding the collecting of street-car transfers. I had quite a collection of them but cannot remember what became of it. However, two of them survived, issued by Ferries and Cliff House Railway Co., in 1888. I donated one to a museum and still have the other."

The program of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society for the year is embellished by a front cover design, the work of Mr. R. L. Hustis, which includes a "stamp" that catches the eye. Our "M. T. Dome" is a versatile chap and the program was compiled by him, as well. Each meeting revolves around a special country or group and the dates extend through June 21, 1927.

Dr. Lowell Ragatz, whose work for the WEEKLY is remembered and who now is connected with the George Washington University History Department, was awarded recently at the meeting of the American Historical Association in Rochester, the Justin Winsor prize for 1926. This prize is awarded every two years and is the highest in the field of competitive writing offered by the American Historical Association. Dr. Ragatz' thesis was on "The Decline of the British West Indies, 1763-1883—A study of the Fall of the Planter Class," embodying research by the writer over a period of years.

From W. F. Slusser, U. S. A., Fort Kamehameha, Hawaii, we have received a menu of the annual meeting and dinner of the Hawaiian Philatelic Society held January 11th, at Honolulu. The menu is really a philatelic one, embracing collecting terms in a happy manner. There are twenty-nine members, exclusive of four life members, one of whom is Mr. C. F. Richards of New York.

The Senn Stamp Club recently gave a dinner at the Rogers Park Hotel, Chicago, that was a success in every way. Richard J. Schwarz presided on the occasion and the club of thirty-five members made a good showing at the meeting, which was enlivened by clever philatelic and other entertainment that was provided by the talent among the members, among whom Norman Curtis, president, Frank Cunningham, vice-president and Raymond Hamey are to be mentioned. The club meets once a week on school time and every Friday evening at the home of a member.

The new 20-cent airplane stamp has made its bow and the understanding is that one or more values of higher denomination will be announced in due time.

The banquet held January 16, 1927, by the German speaking collectors' club of Chicago, as it was originally, at Weiss' Hall was attended by nearly seventy members and friends, including the ladies. The large attendance was a tribute to Mr. Julius Loeffler, the president, in a measure, as he has been untiring in bringing the organization up to its present numerical standard. The menu was good and the exercises of the evening enjoyable. The enthusiasm shown by those present augured well for the continued well-being of the society and among the speakers of the evening were Messrs. Severn, Golding, Rech and others.

OUR BOOK REVIEW

We have received from the Harris Publications, 46 Victoria St., London, Eng., a twenty-page booklet on Turkey. It consists of random notes by G. A. Higlett dealing with the bi-sected stamps, over-printed commemorative issues, provisional postage due stamps and certain other provisional issues. There are numerous illustrations. Price 25c.

EDITORIAL

It is likely that our readers will grant that last week's issue was worth waiting for and now that one record has been reached after years of striving, we shall not rest on our oars. In our drive for ten thousand subscribers, we have been impressed by the co-operation of many of the paper's readers who have aided us in attaining our object and we make public acknowledgment of their assistance. In fact, the results of their enterprise are becoming more apparent each day and we are being given such a boost that we shall soon regard the ten thousand as a stepping-stone.

Some years ago, Mr. Michael Miller, Baltimore, Maryland, began working on a checklist of American Expeditionary Force postmarks and he now has a compilation of the Army post offices that were established, numbering one hundred or from 701 to 799. Some of the fixed post offices had no designation, Mr. Miller says, and in this connection he would appreciate the co-operation of those to whom these markings appeal. He is now checking up the numbers subsequent to 800. Mr. Miller's address is 800 Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md.

Master Sam Freedman, New York City, writes: "There has been a great hue and cry over the fact that Juniors are not duly considered in this country. This is not true for there are hundreds of Junior Stamp Clubs in the United States. Practically all the high schools of the larger towns have a stamp club and in the smaller communities the boys organize a stamp club in their own locality. Thus, philately has become a nation-wide hobby among youngsters as well as grown-ups." Each one of the clubs mentioned has its influence in spreading a knowledge of stamp collecting and when practically all sections of this country become aware of the existence of philately, public acceptance of stamp collecting will follow.

It is a good sign when a man such as the incomparable New York correspondent, O. O. McIntyre will rise in his majesty and avow that stamp collectors extract more of the essence of fun and knowledge from their hobby than collectors do in any other field. He trips momentarily when he says that it seems a rather silly foible but recovers himself when he admits that some of the most intellectual men are philatelists; and he mentions that they will cross the ocean time and again to attend a sale in Europe. He places collecting on a par with golf or bridge as a pursuit of absorbing interest.

A correspondent in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, sends a warning against certain covers, masquerading as genuine, bearing the issues of Honduras, 1866 to 1877, when in reality they are artfully contrived wares that are the product of modern swindlers. These covers have indications of genuineness and so cleverly are they fashioned that they could impose upon the cover collector who is unsuspecting. They are of local origin and our informant is of the opinion that the ones responsible for them will turn their attention to the early issues of other Central American countries which are scarce on the envelopes, legitimately used. It seems that this is not the first time that fraudulent covers have appeared from Honduras as we remember having seen a lot of them years ago, some of which bore the business cards of local firms, with manipulated postmarks and cancellations.

Mr. Newton C. Comfort, Philippines, favors us with a first day cover with the 2c and 4c of the new commemorative set, which includes six values. A feature is the special postmark: "Commemorative Stamps, Manila, P. I., 20 Dec. 1926. First-Day Sale" in green, of enlarged size. This is something of an innovation, as applied to regulation postage stamps and it may be copied by other countries.

From Canton, China, a reader sends word that the currency fluctuations in parts of the country are so drastic as to make it necessary to apply a check on the sale of postage stamps in order to circumvent the speculators. He adds that surcharges have been ordered but because of the disturbances in China that have disorganized routine procedure, it is now problematical to say what the results will be in a stamp sense. He observes that in China, the stamps of that country are so highly esteemed that prices that are quoted in this country are lower than those prevailing there. The rule is that the issues of a country find their best market in their place of origin. Mr. Theodore Siddall, China, writes that the prices in his catalogue of China and the Treaty Ports, published January 1, 1926, should be altered, according to the changes printed in supplements that have been issued several times, and for that reason it is advisable that he know the names and addresses of those who have bought his catalogues other than from him. Mr. Siddall says: "I see by the late papers that the 13c is to be discontinued. If I am not wrong, there was an official notice to that effect published in 1922, but the stamp is still on sale. There are other values that seem to be much more likely to be withdrawn than the 13c, as they are not as much used."

The reason for the issue of an eight centavos, Mexico, in the new set is due to the reduction of postage from ten centavos to eight centavos, in the rate from Mexico to the United States. In sending this information, Mr. A. C. Carpenter adds a few words concerning the set, celebrating the second Pan-American Postal Congress at Mexico City, 1926, and says that it seems to have attracted little attention. He agrees with the statement of a correspondent that the stamps in question are scarce, relatively speaking, and may be destined for good prices.

FINE APPROVAL BOOKS—References.

J. D. MITCHILL, Apopka, Fla

Several letters have been received relating to the Philatelic Agency at Ottawa, Canada, and its concerns, which we shall cover in the following sentences: The current and some of the obsolete stamps are sold at the Post Office Department, Ottawa, Canada, Financia Branch, Post Office Division. In a circular dated July, 1926, the statement made: "As the supply of the old stamp is limited, only four of each denomination will be sent." The current stamp are sold at face, and only the severe obsolete stamps that are listed are rate higher, and in answer to inquiries as to the prices that are placed on the old issues, it would seem as though the restriction as to the quantity given on purchaser would argue that the service was deemed an accommodation. Stanley Gibbons catalogue is used by the department in identifying the stamps offered for sale.

"Scott's Monthly Journal" through the offices of Mr. Alex A. Cohen, Guatemala City, Guatemala, seems to have established the position of the Guatemala issued in 1923-25, surcharged "Official." According to official statements, these surcharges were never sold to the public and were used only for official correspondence to the exterior. A rubber stamp surcharge was applied to the stamp franking official mail just when the mail were closed. The surcharges were superseded by the perforated officials over year ago. Thus it is obvious that the official marking was in the nature of control to show official origin and was not intended to constitute a special issue particularly as no record was kept of the stamps surcharged, as Mr. Cohen learned. It is probable that these officials will be dismissed from the catalogue in view of their history.

WHOLESALE

Having some very excellent connections in Europe, we are regularly receiving consignments of stamps which are usually too large for us to handle in our retail business. The shipments consist chiefly of 20th century stamps of the better sort, also most of the new issues—that is, stuff which is a rule is not found in wholesale price lists and which, therefore, are very good sellers.

In order that we may turn over to them with a minimum of profit parts of such shipment, we solicit inquiries from a few dealers who would be willing to receive such lots on approval and who are able to furnish satisfactory references.

JULIUS C. MORGENTHAU

(By a New York Dealer.)

Much has been written in reference to the great New York Exhibition, and the articles in the last Collectors Club Journal were truly generous in bestowing credit. However, there was one group which seemingly escaped mention, because, perhaps, we, in New York who were in close touch, knew the work done by this group and took it for granted that everyone else did, too. Nevertheless, as the symposium in the Collectors Club Journal was to be a record of achievement for the world at large to read, this group and its personnel must be noted.

This refers to the Executive Committee of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions—that small group of nine men—Charles M. Ams, Abraham Hatfield, John A. Klemann, Harry M. Lewy, John N. Luff, Arthur E. Owen, Charles J. Phillips, Theodore E. Steinway, and more particularly to its central figure and inspiration, Julius C. Morgenthau.

Each of these men did his part and contributed materially toward the success of the 1926 Exhibition, and the mere mention of their names is sufficient to stamp them as men of experience and veterans of the Exhibition of 1913.

It was J. C. Morgenthau, however, whose tireless energy and judgment as Chairman of the Executive Committee carried the 1913 Exhibition to its successful conclusion; it was J. C. Morgenthau who, as President of the Association and head of this committee continuously since that time, kept the organization alive so that, when the 1926 Exhibition was suggested, he was able to take it up and carry it through with an organization experienced and completely functioning.

It was J. C. Morgenthau who organized and appointed the various committees for the 1926 Exhibition in the beginning, but like the good general he is, appointed younger men to posts of importance, so as to give them the experience against a future time, always watching and carefully guiding them by timely suggestions.

His modesty and self-effacement were very evident, for after the work of organization was complete and the Exhibition Committee was working smoothly toward the completion of the plan and schedule laid out by him, he attended the meetings largely in the role of an observer, and only entered a discussion when he believed an incorrect conclusion was being reached.

To J. C. Morgenthau, therefore, should be tendered a Palm of Honor, the man whose untiring efforts for philately never cease, whose virile brain and generous purse have supported its every need, and whose life long work culminated in this great success, the development of his "College of Philately," the seeds of which he planted thirteen years ago.

BOSTON-NEW YORK FIRST FLIGHT

By F. W. MOORE.

You may recall that some months ago the writer showed you some covers, first flight, Boston-New York Air Mail. I am describing below a type of error that appears in copies in my possession on contract route number 1—Boston-New York, via Hartford, Conn.

The Hartford, Conn., postmaster prepared two distinct "First Flight" cancellation stamps, one reading in part "Hartford, Conn., 6.30 A. M. July 1, 1926"; the other "Hartford, Conn., 6.15 P. M. July 1, 1926." Obviously the first was prepared for the north bound mail for Boston, the other for the south bound mail for New York City. In error the south bound stamp was applied to some north bound mail. This error was discovered by the postal authorities, who to correct their mistake, took pen and ink to draw a line from the rounded part of the letter "P" to form a very odd looking "A." The time, namely 6.15, was not altered.

The postmark, therefore, reads in part "Hartford, Conn., 6.15 A. M. July 1, 1926" whereas, the correct postmark for north bound mail reads 6.30 A. M. The ink correction has dried an indigo shade which contrasts with the coal black cancellation so as to make a clearly discernible error. The fact that these covers are duly back stamped in Boston at 11 A. M. July 1, 1926, clearly establishes the fact that they arrived in Boston on the north bound plane.

COMMEMORATIVE PHILIPPINES

We have received from Percy A. Hill and N. C. Comfort, specimens of the new commemorative "Palace of the Legislature" issue of the Philippine Islands. The issue is to commemorate the new Capitol Building in Manila, completed last year. The stamps were put on sale

Dec. 20. Both covers bear a handsome postmark showing an octagonal design in which is a circle with the following inscription:—"Commemorative Stamps, Manila, P. I. 20 Dec. 1926 First Day Sale." This special marking is in green, while the small regular Manila postmark is in black.

The design consists of a colored frame with the picture of the Capitol Building in the center. We have Mr. Hill to thank for a complete list of the denominations, colors and number issued.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—“I collect British Colonials and Persia. These I mount on one side of the page in a loose leaf binder. On the other side I have written useful information and notes that I have taken from magazines or some like source. I venture this hint for other juniors.”—DAVID RASK.

—Louis Press informs us that in looking over a lot of covers he found a letter from Ireland with the slogan “Buy Irish Goods,” another from England with “British Goods are Best,” and a third from England “Say it by Telephone.”

—A Junior Stamp Club has been formed in the Dallas, Tex., Y. M. C. A. Meetings will be held Saturdays from 1 to 2 P. M. Clipping from Horace E. Smith.

—Gordon Jackson wishes to know if the Goodwin book “U. S. Specialized” is illustrated. It is not fully illustrated as this is not possible under our present laws. It does, however, have illustrations of varieties.

—“I am a member of the Junior department in your publication. I am 12 years of age. I have just finished a book by the name of “Don Sturdy in The Port of Lost Ships.” Near the end of the book I found a mention of stamps in the fact that Don finds a stamp collection, 50 years of age, in one of the lost ships. When he gets back to civilization, he sells this collection to a leading stamp firm for the sum of $30,000.”—MANDELL KAPLAN.

—Bernard E. Stoloff tells us of a promising stamp club in the West Phila., Pa., High School. It meets weekly and is doing good work. The club has been entertained recently by Prince Ott, Eugene Klein, and Messrs. Emmert, Bickert and Hetzel. The club is under the supervision of a member of the faculty of the school. James Hutchins is Pres., Harry Breda, Vice Pres., H. Robinson, Sec., Bernard E. Stoloff, Treas., New Baird, Auctioneer, and Robert Wilson, Editor-in-Chief of the monthly “Philatelic Post.”

Only Two Limericks So Far

We are a bit surprised at receiving so far only two limericks. Come on, Juniors. Here is one at hand:—

To me, United States stamps

Are kings in the realm of champs.

The Columbian series

Always cure my wearies,

And troubles at once decamps.

ROBERT C. A. TRUMBLE.

And here is the other:—

A boy saved stamps in Savannah,

His mother said “So does Aunt Hannah.”

So quickly he went

And an evening spent,

On a specialized lot of Baranya.

JOSHUA OAKS HATCH, JR.

The Stamps of Nyassa

By ROBERT STRAUSS (15).

Nyassa is in Africa, one of the colonies of Portugal. The stamps of this country were first issued in 1897, and even in the earliest issues were especially interesting because of their beauty. The unused issues, however, of 1901, 1910, 1911, 1919 and 1921, are very attractive because of the colors used. These stamps are not rare and can be gotten by any collector. These also, if arranged properly, make an attractive and beautiful page which cannot be surpassed by any page of any country in any album.

What Is a Lithographed Stamp?

John Havener asks the above question and we venture the following information:—

Lithography is a printing process very frequently employed in the manufacture of postage stamps. In lithography, instead of steel or copper plates, thin slabs of a special variety of fine grained limestone are used. First of all, after the face of the slab has been made perfectly smooth, one of two things happen, either the design is drawn direct upon the stone, or it is drawn or printed on paper in a special kind of ink for transfer to a stone. The stone is then wetted and printing ink is applied with a roller as in typography. The printing ink does not affect the wet surface of the stone but only adheres to the lines drawn or impressed in the special ink, and from this it is transferred to the paper in exactly the same way as printing from type. The early stamps of India, Nevis, and Uruguay and the 1861-62 stamps for the Confederate States are examples of a few stamps printed by lithography.

Origin of Countries' Names

(Insert in Your Album.)

JAMAICA.—This name is the Indian word jaymacas—“isle of springs.” It was discovered by Columbus on May 3, 1494, and called by him Santiago—“St. James,” the war cry of the Spaniards. The 1st of May is the Festival of St. Philip and St. James.

LABUAN is the Malay word labuh-an—“an anchorage.” The island has a very fine harbour.

LAGOS.—This place was so named by the Portuguese in the fifteenth century owing to the number of lagoons there, from Portuguese lago—“a lake,” and lagoa—“a lagoon.”

LEVANT means the East of the Mediterranean; Italian levante—“The East Wind,” the country where the sun rises, from Latin se levare—“to rise.”—Stamp Collecting.

Robert Cook's Limerick

Robert is only 13 yrs. old. His Limerick may not be quite up to some of his competitors in merit, but the Managing Editor seems to see in it a picture that is a bit familiar and so we print it:—

There was a precocious young lad,

Who really had stamps for his dad,

And when he grew older

He became much bolder,

And printed a stamp news—not bad.

Robert says “I belong to a stamp club and have a collection of about 2,000.”

Seen on Stamps

On the stamps of Kedah 1c to 8c we find a sheaf of rice as the central design.

The tropical bread-fruit tree is shown in full splendor on the Tonga one penny stamp of 1897. The four pence stamp of the same set shows a “close-up” of a cluster of the fruit.

Olives are shown only as a watermark, on the franc values of French Congo.

Heads of wheat are shown on several values of the 1893-1902 issues for Roumania. Wheat harvesters are shown on many of the stamps of Hungary. Sheaves of wheat as a design, were used for surcharges in 1919.

Pineapples come as watermarks on the first issues for Jamaica. A close-up of a pineapple is shown on the 50c Liberian stamp of 1923.

Cocoon palm trees are shown on the

Stitch Watermarks

I beg to acknowledge your answer to my question as to what was or what is “Stitch” watermark, given in your “Stamp News for Juniors,” and I thank you very much for the information. There must be a great many of us who are not “Juniors” when measured by age but who are mere tyros when measured by stamp “wisdom.” Your above mentioned page is not only an incentive to Juniors in the specific sense, but to many others, especially to those who live out-of-the-way places and have no expert to consult.—CHAS. T. RAMSDEN.

Postmaster Stamps of the U. S.

By TEDDY PLATT.

The United States entered the field of postage stamp issuing countries in 1847. There was then no co-ordination among the postal services of the republic, each town or city was free to develop its own letter-carrying systems.

certain areas, the local authorities realized that stamps facilitated the work of their postmen and prepared issues of adhesives. This happened at Alexandria, Va., Annapolis and Baltimore, Md., Braintree, Vt., Boscawen, N. H., New York and Lockport, N. Y., New Haven, Ct., Providence, R. I., Milbury, Mass., and St. Louis, Mo.

In design they are rather novel, and the skill in preparing them can be considered primitive.

Junior Glossary

Duty Plate.—The overprint plate used for inserting the name of the country and the value on the stamps printed from general plate.

Embossed.—Designs standing out in relief with or without color.

Entire.—A complete envelope, card, or wrapper. Used on Entire.—A stamp on the complete envelope.

Error.—A stamp faulty in design, overprint, paper, color, perforation, or watermark.

Essay.—A design submitted for a proposed issue of postage stamps, but not necessarily that accepted.

Facsimile.—An imitation sold as such.

Fake.—A genuine stamp that has been fraudulently altered in colors, value, etc., in order to increase its value. In road sense “fake” or “forgery” are synonymous terms.

STANLEY GIBBONS LTD.

Capital: $500,000

DEPT. 20, 391 STRAND, LONDON, ENGLAND.

(No connection with other firms of similar title.)

We have a strong all-round stock in all countries and issues. Recent special purchases include a fine collection of FRENCH COLONIES AND P. O.'S. (Cat. about $25,000); a magnificent lot of New Zealand pictorials in mint blocks; and other important lots.

Strong stocks of RHODESIA and IRISH FREE STATE are also on hand.

Approval selections of any country or issue can be sent immediately to collectors furnishing business references, preferably European. Stamps from want lists sent on approval. [85]

SUBURBAN STAMP AND CURIO CLUB

Fred O. Ohlund, president of the Suburban Stamp and Curio Club, has very kindly sent us a list of the members of the club for the purpose of sending out a sample copy of our special number. Nearly two hundred names are upon the list and we appreciate very much the courtesy extended.

This club is not only a very friendly, but a lively one and offers many advantages to the stamp collector. Besides the usual auctions the club has numerous exhibits and social times with an average attendance of fifty. There were sixteen applications at the December meeting.

A dozen of the members attended the New York Exhibition and two of them were awarded three silver medals. The club uses two rooms at the Quincy House, Boston, where meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays at 7 P. M. Any interested party is invited to correspond with Mr. Ohlund at 434 Norfolk St., Mattapan, Mass.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB

Victor G. Loly, Anaheim, Cal.

Mr. Loly's application for membership in our Honor Club was received just too late to be included in our published list of last week. However, we give him the distinction of being No. 1, towards our further objective of one thousand members. We believe it possible and are looking forward to the day when the WEEKLY can proudly announce that it has that number of Honor Club members. Mr. Loly remits $5.00 for a five years renewal with all good wishes for our future success.

Our new member has had experience as both collector and dealer and many of our readers have been numbered among his patrons. His activities are not confined to philately. He is the president of the Anaheim Lions Club, a service club that is especially popular in the western part of our country.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

OUR EYE:—

EVERETT C. ERLE adds Balboa Heights to our list of twelve post-offices in the Canal Zone. He also suggests that anyone who wishes to obtain information in regard to post-offices may obtain it by consulting the U. S. Postal Guide at the local post-office.

A CONTRIBUTOR to our special New York number stated that the child welfare stamps of Jamaica could be obtained locally during the months of November, December and January. Christian Pepper states that a letter signed by the Assistant Postmaster informs him that these charity stamps are sold only to local applicants. Orders from abroad are returned.

H. A. TUTTLE of Escondido, Cal., has a file of the WEEKLY from November, 1911, to date which he will present to some stamp club that will pay cost of transportation. Please file your request with him at once.

WE are indebted to N. A. Merrell, Riverside, Cal., for four clippings. One of them advises that the airmail postage rate of 10c per half-ounce will be applicable to mail to foreign countries with the addition of the regular international rate of 5c for the first ounce and 3c for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.

ON Jan. 20, the Bloomfield, N. J., Stamp Club had Herman Toasperm, F.H.S.L. of New York as its guest. He gave a fine exhibition of stamps and accompanied the same with a stamp talk. The club felt highly honored in having so prominent a philatelist with them. Fred Klingenstein, who sends in this news item, translates Mr. Toasperm's title as:—"Filatelist-Humorist-Spendthrift-Linguist." We are willing to accept the most of this characterization

While I am always in the market to purchase any individual item or collection of fine United States postage or revenue stamps, nevertheless right at the present time I am especially anxious for those with inverted centre.

Whether you have a single copy or several copies, I would be pleased to have them submitted upon approval. I desire not only the postal issues of 1869, 1901 and 1915 with inverted centers but also the revenue stamps as well. Only copies in fine condition are desired.

If you want to turn your United States holdings into cash, the money is ready. I do not ask for stamps upon consignment as is quite often the custom, but if the condition and price is satisfactory, immediate payment is made. In the last couple years, I have handled many of the largest collections that have come upon the market and am prepared to pay substantial prices for unusual properties.

Washington Notes

The new 20c air mail stamp made its appearance on January 25th, in accordance with previous announcement, the stamp having been placed on sale on this day in both New York and Washington. It is in a pea-green similar to the old $5 perf. 10 variety of 1916, and I would say that the ink was the exact mixture of the old emission. So far, I have seen varieties from plate 18891 only although our usual list will mention all plates made.

I also learn officially that the 2c rotary stamp with the new compound perforation is giving satisfaction and that they are gradually changing over all of the perforating machines for the sheet rotary stamps. It is expected that the other denominations from 1c to 10c inclusive will appear before the end of February. As these stamps will be perforated and put into stock they are likely to go to any post office and it is doubtful as to whether we are going to have any definite first day issues, although Washington will try if possible to get some of the first supplies.

As to the new postal rates, at this writing the matter is in the hands of the Senate and they have not as yet taken definite action.

The Postal Bulletin of January 21st states that the stock of 2c White Plains commemorative stamp is now exhausted and that postmasters should refrain from submitting further requisitions to the Department for a supply of this stamp. The same bulletin announces that there is still a supply of the 2c Sesquicentennial postage stamps available, which will be issued on requisition.

Playing Card Stamps

Mr. R. H. Lardon is the first to advise us that he has seen the new playing card stamps from the coils, recently described in this column. He states that they are from the sidewise coil, imperforate horizontally and perforated 10 vertically. The copy which he has is overprinted in red in two lines "U.S.P.C. Co." between two horizontal bars. This cancellation by the way is applied at the Bureau.

1918, 3c Offset Print

I have recently had shown me a pane of one hundred of the 1918-3c offset print, type IV, wherein a part of the margins are missing. This sheet was overprinted in violet in four lines as follows:

"SURFACE DIVISION"

The subjects missing from this sheet have been properly accounted for."

The sheet should have been removed as defective by the inspectors. It illustrates how carefully the Bureau checks up every scrap of paper, for not a single stamp is missing but simply a portion of the margins.

Air Mail Notes

On February 1st, the new flat rate of 10c on air mail goes into effect and with the exception of Springfield, Ill., no special cial postmark is likely to be used for occasion, as the Second Assistant Postmaster General has not authorized special cancellers.

Mr. William H. Conkling, the postmaster at Springfield, Ill., is quite an aggressive individual and seems to be doing everything to popularize the air mail. Other postmasters followed his example in a short time a good portion of mail would travel in this manner. Under date of January 22nd, Mr. Conkling sends out a "penalty" postal advising that they have prepared a distinctive postmark which will be placed on all mail carried from Springfield, Ill., on February 1st. He invites collectors to have one or more air mail greetings mailed to themselves or friends and call attention to the fact that he will enclose with each communication a copy of Lincoln's famous Gettysburg speech.

Under date of January 7th, the Second Assistant Postmaster General announces that effective February 1st, postage on letters or articles sent by letters from the United States to foreign countries, and intended for transportation by the United States air mail service, irrespective of routes or distances traveled, will be as follows: When addressed to countries to which United States domestic rate applies, the aeroplane postage only, viz., 10c for each half-ounce fraction thereof, will be charged; when it goes to other countries, the aeroplane postage plus the international letter rate of 5c for the first ounce or fraction thereof and 3c for each additional ounce less the domestic rate of 2c per ounce fraction thereof. For example, the postage, including the air mail fee, on a letter to Great Britain, will be 10c for each half-ounce or fraction thereof, plus a letter to France, the charge will be 10c for half an ounce, 23c for more than a half-ounce and not exceeding one ounce, 34c for a letter not exceeding one one-half-ounce, 44c for one not exceeding two-ounces, etc.

Readers should remember that the rate of 10c on local air mail covers entire postage. It is not necessary to add 2c extra as it is the case with special delivery mail.

Canal Zone

Mention has been made before that the current Canal Zone stamps come in two types of overprint, namely, the first printing with the flat top to the letters "A" and the second printing showing sharp tops to these letters. Mr. George Brett writes that the Canal Zone Philatelic Agency advises that the denomitions from 2c to 30c with the sharp "A" are on sale. So far, all have appeared with the sharp variety with the exception of the 1/2c, 1c, 1 1/2c, 14c, 50c and the 1c booklet. Personally, I have not kept a checked list of these varieties but Mr.

Brett evidently has.

Philippines

The new Philippine commemorative stamps heralded a few weeks back have now made their appearance and I desire to thank Mr. Walter Bruggmann for a first view of these varieties together with information as to the number of each stamp printed. The stamps all have black centers with colored borders, the designs being identical. We are shown the "Palace of the Legislature" in the center, across the top within a ribbon, "Philippine Islands" and "United States of America" at the bottom. Ver-
with a palm tree on the right. In the lower right corner we find a figure of value together with the word, "Centavos."

The Director of Posts went to a great amount of trouble in getting out a very special cancellation for the occasion of the first day of issue, namely, December 20th. This postmark is octagonal in shape and within a circle we find, "Commemorative Stamps, First Day Sale, Manila, P. I., 20 Dec. 1926." I find on one postal the cancellation in green, whereas, on others, it is in black. The usual Manila hand stamp postmark is also applied. The following were the denominations issued together with the number of stamps printed:

Denomi- nations.	Colors.	Quantity.
2c	green and black	500,000
4c	red and black	300,000
16c	olive and black	200,000
18c	brown and black	100,000
20c	orange and black	100,000
24c	gray and black	100,000
1p	heliotrope and black	10,000

OFFICIAL STAMPS	Quantity.
2c green and black	90,000
4c red and black	90,000
18c brown and black	70,000
20c orange and black	70,000

The Official stamps are overprinted horizontally across the center, "OFFICIAL" in red. I imagine that they like the other denominations are sold to the general public, although Mr. Bruggmann does not so state in his communication.

AFGHANISTAN.—New Designs and Values.—Mr. G. S. Jaura writes us that owing to postal changes various new designs and values are expected to appear soon. Stocks of some of the current values are already exhausted.—Philatelic Magazine.

BELGIAN EAST AFRICA.—The three new values listed below under "Congo" have been surcharged "Ruanda Urundi" for use in this colony. The overprint on the 45c is of one line in red while those of the 75c and 1fr 25c are of two lines and in black. Mr. Henry Hooreman sends copies for chronicle.

BULGARIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the 2L design as A72, in stone color.

CONGO.—Mr. Henry Hooreman informs us of the following new issues: 45c brown-violet, design as A44; 75c rose-red, design of A37 and 1fr 25c grey-blue, design as A35.

DOMINICA.—We have received from Hermann Focke a specimen of the new 10c in blue and black. The design is of the same type as the 2c carmine.

FRANCE.—Rev. J. Dreyer, S. M., writing under date of Jan. 17th last, advises that "the Directors of the Funds of the Bonds of National Defence and of the Sinking Fund for the reduction of the Public Debt and the French Post Office Department have agreed upon the following series of postal values: (1) a postal card of 40+10 centimes; (2) a postage stamp of 50+25 centimes; (3) a postage stamp of 1fr 50+50 centimes.
These are to be authorized by a special law for five years. The amounts added to the postal values are to be turned into the public Treasury for the above mentioned purpose. The French name of the beneficiary of the surplus value

GOLD COAST.—New Designs Proposed.—African World of Dec. 18th, states that the issue of a new series of postage stamps for the Gold Coast is under consideration. It is proposed to retain the Sovereign's head on the new stamps, with the addition of a characteristic scene of local interest beneath. Suggestions were invited from officials and local residents some time ago, but apparently none of the designs submitted were considered suitable for reproduction.—Philatelic Magazine.

HONDURAS.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 10c dull-blue, No. 188, with the two line surcharge "Vale 6 Cts. 1926" in red. Our correspondents also advise that they have two distinct shades of this provisional, one, pale-blue and indigo.

The Economist Stamp Co., besides reporting the above mentioned stamp, have shown us the 2c rose, the 1915-16 issue with the surcharge "Habilitado, 1926" in two lines in green.

JAMAICA.—We have received a fresh supply of Jamaica stamps and note quite a new variety in the 5sh pictorial type with script watermark. The colour of the frame in the first printing is yellow-brown, whilst in the new one just received it is orange. The centre portion of the stamp is also a duller blue than the first printing.—Whitfield King & Co's Philatelic Bulletin.

MEXICO.—From The Economist Stamp Co. comes a copy of the 8c orange, in the new set.

SAN MARINO.—From an Official Decree of November 17th, we learn that the 1.85 provisional was issued on November 25th, and that 55,000 were printed. From the same source we learn that the 1.25 lire on 60c Express was issued on the same day, 50,000 copies being printed. In addition, 40,000 copies of a new 2.50 lire on 60c have been ordered.—Philatelic Magazine.

To Collectors of XXth Century Br. Colonials

I am working on an authoritative and correct list of all British Colonial stamps issued since January 1, 1901. Several so-called lists have appeared lately, purporting to be lists of Twentieth Century Colonials, which list, for instance, Barbados 1892, eight years before the century, Leeward 1890, twenty years before the century, and again omitting altogether such important Twentieth Century issues as the British Occupation of Batumi, the British issues of Bussheire, the Provisional British issues for Mesopotamia on Turkey, and other more or less important items. If there is one thing I do pride myself on it is deathly accuracy and this new XX Century list is going to be accurate to the dot. It gives Scott's number. No matter how people over in Europe may kid themselves; Scott is the authority here and is likely to stay so for this Century anyhow. (Mr. Clark will kindly buy the lunch for that.) So my list will have Scott's numbers and will be priced in Dollars and Cents—not in half pennies and shillings, nor in German marks, nor in Czecho ztots.

This list will not be ready till about April—but if you want to do it "eventually if not now" send me Fifty Cents and you will get it in due course, or if you think that's too risky send me a postal and I'll notify you when it's ready. As I ran Stanley Gibbons, Inc., for over 20 years perhaps some of you know me.

THE NEW GERMAN ISSUE

The already long-expected German issue, bearing the portraits of famous German men, was issued on the 1st November, 1926. Judging from the illustrations in the German daily newspapers, the designs have obviously been very well prepared. This, the latest issue of stamps made by the German State Post Office, is undoubtedly a great success. The heads, which have been exceedingly well prepared, are enclosed in a frame common to all values. The inscription "Deutsches Reich," is found on all the stamps, the figures of value appear in both upper corners, and the names of the celebrities, reading up and down on both sides, form a simple frame for the great men whose effigies are represented therein.

The set comprises ten values, 3, 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, and 80 pfennig. In addition to the present series, new values have been issued for 15 and 25 pfennig. These values are necessary for foreign correspondence. On the contrary, the 60 pfennig value is omitted, as owing to the present rate, it will be little used. The 10 and 15 pfennig stamps are of the standard colour, red; and the 20 and 25 pfennig are blue, both of course in different shades. In cases, where, owing to dull colours, the heads did not show up distinctly, very bright colours were chosen.

The portraits represented on the stamps are of famous men of the time of the German Classics. One of the greatest portrait painters in German history was Durer, who lived hundreds of years ago.

The distribution of the effigies on each stamp follows according to the principle in which colour the head is best worked. There are nine different heads on the ten stamps. Goethe appears twice; but it has not been very clearly explained as to why the prince of poets should be shown on the value for foreign correspondence. For these stamps, it would have been much better if they had had ten different heads, for a tenth famous man could easily have been found.

For the design of the stamps, contemporary exhibits (pictures, copper-plate engravings, etc.) were referred to; the design of the frame is from the Berliner-Graphiker-Lucian-Zabel. The whole execution of the stamps has been accomplished by the Berlin State Printing Offices. The plates have been so constructed, that even the finest line will appear sharp and clear.

The following portraits on the new stamps will be found arranged in order of value:—

3 Pfennig, Brown—Joh. Wolfg. Goethe: Exhibit: From a design by J. G. Schreiner, for a picture by Karl Josef Stieler (1781-1858).

5 Pfennig, Green—Friedrich V. Schiller: Exhibit: Copper-plate engraving by Schwerdgeburth (1785-1878).

10 Pfennig, Carmine—Frederick the Great: Exhibit: Picture by Anton Graff (1736-1813).

15 Pfennig, Red-brown—Immanuel Kant: Exhibit: Engraving by J. F. Bause (1791) for a picture by Johann Veit Schnorr (1764-1841).

20 Pfennig, Steel Blue—Ludwig Van Beethoven: Ex-

United States List

Owing to the enormous demand for United States stamps following the International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York last year, we have exhausted two (2) editions of our price list. The third edition contains a very large number of price changes and should be in the hands of every United States and British North American collector.

Whilst we have been forced to raise prices on many stamps, principally the unused twentieth century United States issues, we have also been able to reduce a great many prices due to fortunate purchases we recently made. We are also pricing blocks of four wherever we have a sufficient stock of these.

Included in this list will be found particulars of the famous "Oriental Albums" and every collector should write to us for a copy, which we will gladly send free of charge.

Besides these stamps, others will also appear corresponding to the new rate, postcards with and without reply 5 pfennigs, and postcards for abroad 15 pfennigs. As the new stamps do not go well with the hitherto soft paper wrappers, a whiter paper will in future be used for these.

The old stamps which have been used up to now, will be used up, and then be invalid for prepayment of postage.

With the new issue, the German State Post Office has accomplished a long existing wish, and the stamps bear the effigies of the leading representatives of German art and German magnanimity. It is to be hoped that the new stamps will find general approbation, and help to exalt the appearance of the German Empire and the German people in the eyes of the world.—West End Philatelist (Die Postmarke.)

PRECANCELLED REVENUE CAT.

By W. C. BLACK, 7647 Washington St., Kansas City, Mo.

Did you ever notice one of the 1898 revenues with a printed cancellation or precancelled, and then wonder what company used them, what different cancellations were used by this company, what different dates were used, what did this pay the revenue on, and where was that company located?

The writer suggested to Mr. V. W. Rotnem, publisher of the Standard Precancel Stamp Catalog, that a catalogue and price list of these was needed, to which Mr. Rotnem replied, "send us the data and we will publish the Precancelled Revenue Catalogue."

I now have two incomplete check lists, the first being compiled by Franklin S. Smith and published in the Stamp Herald in 1916, the other by C. H. Chappel and published in Bushnell's Magazine in 1919. Can anyone suggest where any more data in the way of check lists or special articles on these can be found?

If this catalogue appeals to enough collectors to justify the time and expense necessary to publish, let your wants be known either by card or letter to the writer, and if there is enough support it will be pushed to a conclusion. Please remember it is the intentions at this time to start on the 1898 issue and complete this before attempting the earlier or later issues.

JUMBLE:—

SAMUEL BENNETT, 221 Sassafraus St., Millville, N. J., would like to know the present address of Conrad G. Kay, formerly of Council Bluffs, Sioux City and Sheldon, Ia. Who can help Mr. Bennett?

WE do not permit the offering of mixed stamps in our advertising columns, but a worthy shut-in, Alma Newcomb of South Brewer, Me., would like to hear from any of our subscribers who desire to purchase stamps of this character.

IN the Yakima Republic of Yakima, Wash., there recently appeared under "Yakima Hobbies" an account of the collecting activities of Harold C. Lamb, manager of the Lamb Fruit Co. of that city. He has a fine collection which fills eight volumes. Stamps constitute his winter hobby and fishing his summer recreation.

WE have a letter from George A. Hunt, in which he makes a contribution to the millimetre scale discussion. He quotes from a letter received by him from the L. S. Starrett Co. of Athol, Mass., as follows:—"We are sorry to tell you that we are not in a position to quote on scales made from steel or ivory that would be guaranteed not to expand or contract." Mr. Hunt adds the caustic comment:—"Any 10c paper scale is good enough for ordinary purposes."

A NEW wholesale pricelist is at hand from the Grossman Co., Box 120, Madison Square Sta., N. Y. City. It prices stamps per ten and hundred and a copy will be mailed on request.

THE Toledo (Ohio) Philatelic Society has thirty-one members in good standing. At the meeting Jan. 17, forty were present and an auction sale furnished the entertainment of the evening. J. W. Scott was auctioneer.—F. B. McGown.

THE Van-Cleland Ltd., firm of Winnipeg, Can., has taken over an agency for our books. We have many Winnipeg subscribers and we urge them to look over our very fine lot of publications.

A BOOK entitled "Postal Progress in Siam 1885-1925" has been called to our attention by Henry H. Hart. It was issued to commemorate the fortieth anniversary of the entrance of the Siamese Kingdom into the U.P.U. The book treats of the old mail routes, the origin and development of the modern postal system, but the most important section to stamp collectors is one entitled "Categories of Postage Stamps," a listing of all stamps issued from Aug. 4, 1883, to the airmail stamps of 1924. There is a series of plates illustrating the stamps. Photographs of postal officials and post-offices appear also, other pictures relative to the postal and telegraph services. We thank Mr. Hart for this information.

United States "Educators"

For those who are not certain of their classifications of 19th Century U. S. stamps (and that means nine collectors out of every ten) we have made up this series of packets and approval booklets, in which every stamp has its correct catalog number.

PACKET A.—30 varieties of U. S. postage only, all classified, including every issue from 1851 to 1890 inclusive, only$2.00

PACKET B.—20 varieties of the hard-to-place Bank Note issues, each one numbered according to Scott's catalog, 1871 to 1890$1.00

"EDUCATOR" APPROVALS contain almost all regularly issued stamps of the United States from 1847 to 1900. No stamp priced more than $5, most of them at big discounts from catalog prices. Sent only against references or deposit.

SOME "BALLON MONTE" NOTES

By H. BEDFORD-JONES.

An industrious Paris dealer who sends quite a bit of material to the U. S. A. for sale by auction and otherwise, showed me a brand new forgery today in the Ballon Montè line. It is a Gazette, with Gare du Nord cachet, addressed to Aix and bearing the Aix cachet of arrival, with Dec., 1870, dates.

He, himself, knew nothing, or little, of these balloon post letters, and gladly turned over a batch which had just been returned to him by an American dealer, who also knew little of them, obviously. These were entirely genuine; more, they were extremely rare, being balloon newspapers. One had the "Aerostiers" cachet. The American dealer had turned it down at $5, when the last two sold in America have brought $75 each. The usual Paris price is not less than 700 francs for such specimens. Expertization proved these all to be genuine.

The craze for air mail collecting has brought these "ballon montès," as they are known, into high regard, since they form almost the first genuine air mail. Those of the siege of Metz form the first, but are not available to general collectors. For perhaps another year, Ballons Montès will also be available; after that, the prices will soar, as they are already skyrocketing in certain quarters. Some of the largest lots to come upon the European auction mart this year have gone to Champion, which is significant.

The ordinary letters can be bought in Paris now for twenty-five to seventy-five francs, according to the dealer; if distinguished by special obliterations, etc., they bring much more. A dealer sent to America, a fortnight ago, an Agence Havas marked at five hundred francs—when the usual price here is around two thousand. He knew no better. Still another dealer sent a round dozen Gazettes to an American specialist, at $7.50 each, last week, without even knowing the numbers of them.

All of which goes to show that some good things go cheap to America. There is practically no get-together spirit among the French dealers, and with some exceptions rarely deal one with another. A dealer who specializes in air mail and sells usually in England, was the other day lamenting the dearth of good material, being willing to pay more than most for any rarities, while two blocks away was another dealer, not a specialist, with an entire correspondence of Ballons Montès, among them a Montgolfier news-sheet, a rara avis if there is one.

The most common news-sheet, the Gazette, has certain rare numbers more easily found at home than abroad. Number 1 is extremely rare; eleven almost as rare, while No. 32 is a choice morsel if flown. Numbers of No. 32 are obliterated Jan. 28, 1871, but not by balloon post, as the last balloon left Paris at six that morning.

Letters with foreign rate of 30 centimes are worth about double ordinary inland letters; those to prisoners of war in Prussia, as much again. Rarest of all are those with the 80 centime rate to Russia. These, and those to Prussia, were rarely backstamped.

The unused letter forms frequently offered at home, are worth nothing at all. An unused file of the Gazettes, if complete, is worth a good deal. The thirty-two Gazettes, flown, are the goal of air mail collectors. A Bordeaux collector who has above six thousand Ballons Montès, offered a complete file for 10,000 francs last week, and has probably sold it by now. Postal cards are five times as rare as letters.

It is estimated, fairly closely, that 2,500,000 pieces of mail left Paris by balloon during the siege. Some fell by the wayside, others fell among thieves; they were not highly regarded until the rise of aviation, and it is probably a safe estimate that a million now exist, two-thirds of these being ordinary letters. Yet they are lessening. Only last week I saw a fine lot of fifty, from which an enterprising urchin had cut out all the stamps, some of them very rare letter-newspapers with a value running into the thousands.

Needless to say, forgeries are many. Ordinary letters are rarely forged; but on them is placed the red or blue cachet of the "Aerostiers" by the forgers. Mint Gazettes are given letters, stamps, and obliterations. Verbum sap,—in other words, know your dealer.

THE 2c CANADA PROVISIONALS

(Dr. E. G. Mason, Regional Governor for Canada for the American Philatelic Society, has sent us a copy of a letter received by him from L. J. Gaboury, Deputy Postmaster General of Canada. This communication is interesting enough for us to reprint it in full, and we thank Dr. Mason for his courtesy. Answer No. 2 does not tell all that the question calls for.—W. O. W.)

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 15th instant regarding the 3c Canadian stamps, which were surcharged down to 2c in two types, in which you ask for replies to six questions mentioned in your letter.

(1) Was there a shortage of 2c stamps that made the surcharges necessary?

No. There were plenty of 2c stamps on hand to meet the demands of the different Post Offices.

(2) Why were two types of surcharge necessary?

The first type, that is with the words two cents in one line, was tried out by the King's printer and the work was not satisfactory, so it was discontinued, and the manufacturer of our postage stamps, namely, the Canadian Bank Note Co., was then asked to do the work, and the company requested that they be allowed to place the surcharge in a different way, namely, with the figure two above the word cents, in order to distinguish it from that tried by the King's printer. Although this work was much better it was not considered satisfactory by the Department, and the manufacturer was not allowed to continue.

(3) Were employees of the Government Printing Bureau permitted to acquire a large number of sheets surcharged by the Bureau?

No. Every sheet of the stamps surcharged by the King's printer was returned to the Post Office Department and under the supervision of an officer from the Auditor General's Department were destroyed, with the exception of 500 sheets of the best specimens, which were kept for philatelic purposes.

(4) Were the surcharged stamps on sale at any Post Office in Canada?

No. The supply kept was so limited, namely, 500 sheets of those tried by the King's printer, and 1,000 sheets by the Canadian Bank Note Company, that it was impossible to distribute them to the various Post Offices throughout Canada, and they were kept on sale at the Philatelic Branch at Ottawa, in order to oblige philatelists who might desire stamps of that kind. They know in the different Post Offices that the stamps are good for postage purposes and can be used for that purpose to pay postage to any part of the world.

(5) If supply was so limited why were dealers allowed to buy large stocks to sell to collectors at enormous profit?

Dealers were not allowed to buy large stocks, the largest number sent to any individual stamp collector, one sheet. Owing to the large demand for stamps this was reduced to a much smaller quantity in a very short time.

(6) What action will the Post Office Dept. take to nullify the speculation in the postage stamps of Canada as exemplified by the following advertisement, which appeared on the front page of the Stamp Herald, Vol. XII, No. 8, Jan. 5, 1927?

The Department does not intend to take any action regarding the sale of these stamps by stamp dealers. They were sold at the face value of the stamps, the same as any other current issue, and certainly the Department can not be accused of speculating in any way with the stamps. Regarding the Stamp Herald, which you speak about, the proprietor of that journal received the usual number of five sheets, but there were a number

THE FINE SPECIALIZED COLLECTIONS OF NEW BRUNSWICK, NOVA SCOTIA AND

FORMED BY COL. C. W. WICKERSHAM, OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this fine collection and have mounted the stamps in a large number of my well known approval books. All stamps are priced separately, at very moderate net prices, and books of unused, used or blocks and sheets can be sent on approval.

All three collections, in addition to many copies of the standard rarities, include a large number of color proofs in singles and blocks of four. They are also specialized in cancellations, including many fine varieties.

This makes the seventh collection of British North American I have bought within a short period, and I am willing to buy several more at the top market prices. Shall be glad of offers of any collections of early issues, also of Rarities, and Stamps on Covers of of orders which came from Kitchen where this paper is published, from individuals asking for one sheet, and course had to be filled, and it is qu possible they were friends of the prop etor, who ultimately secured the stamp. I am sorry that there is any criticism among philatelists as to the method of the Department in dealing with these stamps because they were not issued for speculative purposes at all, and, as I stated before, can be used for the prepayment postage on letters at any time.

FIRST DAY 10c AIRMAIL

With the first of February the trans-continental rate of 10c became effective, and we thank Albert E. Gorham for a specimen cover with Washington-New York-Boston markings.

Raymond V. Bahr kindly sent us what is called a "last day service" cover with the further inscription "Old airmail rate, Jan. 31, 1927." It bears the winged airmail design in green, which the Springfield, Ill., post office uses.

Mr. Bahr also sends us a rather unique cover showing airmail service rendered from the Springfield, Ill., post office to Portland, Me. This letter had in addition to the 10c airmail a 2c White Plains precancelled vertically "Springfield, Ill." Not only was the winged airmail design on the face of the cover with lettering in red and green, but on the reverse side was an appropriate "Home of Lincoln" rubber stamped, advertising the new airmail rate of 10c per half ounce.

DEATH OF HARRY WENNBERG
(Recently we published the news of the death of Harry Wennberg, the well-known dealer of Stockholm, Sweden. Edwin P. Seeborn has sent us the following article.—Ed.)
I suppose you have already been notified of the death of Harry Wennberg of Stockholm. It occurred on January 4th, after a short illness, at the age of 55 years. Mr. Wennberg lived in N. Y. in the early nineties, but moved back to Sweden and founded the firm of Harry Wennberg in Stockholm. Philately is very active in that city and he made a great success and his beautiful store on Drottninggatan is well known to all stamp lovers who have visited Stockholm. Mr. Wennberg became one of the leading citizens of Stockholm and was known for his good work in connection with the Swedish Landstorm and with many philanthropic institutions. He has four sons, unless I am mistaken, and two of them were in New York during the Exposition, where the Wennberg firm had a booth. I used to deal with him way back about 1893 and have met him many times in Stockholm since and been hospitably entertained by him.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 1482 Broadway, N. Y. CITY

JOTTED
The Chicago Precancel Club has been organized and will probably be recognized as a branch of the Precancel Stamp Society; the president is Fred S. Raff and the treasurer, A. Hippchen. Meetings will be held once a month at the Briggs House, Chicago, until further notice.

The Tacoma Philatelic Society, the Puget Sound Branch of the American Philatelic Society and the Washington State Philatelic Society, acting conjointly, will hold a stamp exhibition at Tacoma, March 5th, and at Seattle, March 12th. There will be junior and senior divisions, with numerous subdivisions affording fair chances for competition. In the junior division, prizes of stamps, etc., will be given; in the senior division, the judges will award artistic diplomas of merit. Outside exhibits will be welcome and will be carefully guarded, it is announced, and returned to owners free of charge. Particulars may be obtained from Mr. Cecil F. Blogg, president of the Tacoma Society, 4022 N. 27th Street, Tacoma, Washington, or the secretary, 2365 Wilkeson Street, Tacoma, or from Mr. C. S. Ernst, secretary of the Puget Sound Branch of the American Philatelic Society, 1014 Third Avenue, Seattle, Wash. Both cities have live and flourishing societies and expect to hold an exhibition of more than local interest.

In Battalia Filateliche, Florence, Italy, December, we find an article by Dr. Diana highly praising the Exhibition at New York and chiding important Italian collectors for not having responded more liberally with representations at the Exhibition. This Italian monthly strongly advocates the collecting claims of postal cancellations of all countries, especially Italy.

Filatelica is the official journal of seventeen stamp societies of Italy, and is in the tenth year of its existence at Turin, Italy. It is a large paper plentifully illustrated, with a penchant for cancellations, especially on Italian issues. The back part of a recent number includes ten pages of novelties with engravings of new issues, arranged so that the pages may be attached to the stamp album.

The monthly journal published by the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, "Ripples," is edited by Miss Mabel P. Green, the daughter of Ben Green, the Chicago dealer who entered actively into the philatelic life of Chicago before his death. Her talent in this capacity is marked and she gives the magazine an individuality that has attracted a large following.

Mr. D. C. Turnbull, Mishawaka, Indiana, was a recent visitor to Chicago. He has done much work in stirring up interest in collecting in his section of the state and as a collector he can qualify as a cover expert.

Some of the air mail cover enthusiasts did not neglect the opportunity to add "last day" covers, so far as the old air rate is concerned, to their collections.

The secretary of the A. P. S., Holland A. Davis, has compiled a list of U. S. first day covers, from the 1847 issue to the last of the century. The earliest dates of use of each of the stamps is given and we suppose that the list is open to correction; at least, the compiler asks for information fortified by the covers from those in a position to give it. The price of the leaflet is ten cents, we believe; published by Holland A. Davis, 3421 Colfax "A," Denver, Colorado.

The annual banquet of the Chicago Philatelic Society will be held on the evening of February 17th at the Brevoort Hotel, Chicago, and plans, under the direction of Mr. H. F. Rech, are progressing to make the occasion a memorable

From Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens, Greece, we have received a copy of La Liberté, a French newspaper published in Cairo, Egypt, that gives front-page prominence to the Port Fouad stamp scandal, on the occasion of the sale at the newly-opened office of the four surcharged stamps; the date was December 21, 1926, "date mémorable." The paper does not mince matters and the writer of the account of the contretemps evidently is not averse to making a bit of political capital out of the incident. In a two-column article there is a spirited description of the disgraceful circumstances of the sale of the stamps and the postal administration, and the police are flatly charged as having worked in unison for their own advantage. We read that the stamp wicket was opened at 10 A. M., but in a short time "lamentable scenes were unrolled." The natives tried to rush the post office and the police used them harshly, and the injured were transported to Port Said. That there were no deaths at the time is regarded as a miracle. Gross irregularities are laid at the door of the postal administration and charges of evasion, dishonesty, and what you will, are alleged against the officers and functionaries, who feathered their nests at the expense of philatelists and the public. Faith was not kept with the public, in accordance with the pledges made officially, and the postal administrators are called guilty of fraudulent manipulation in the sale of the stamps, of which there were three thousand sets of four varieties each. Mr. Drossos says that not even fifty sets were sold to the public who stormed the post office with such disastrous results to many, and his Cairo correspondent reports that the set is sold for over sixteen pounds, but "foresees that the stamps will be faked and the prices fall." In the same issue of La Liberté, there is the following foot-note to the story, dated London: "The correspondent of the Times at Port Said reported that he never had seen so big a crowd at Port Said. He decried the rush to buy the stamps of inauguration of Port Fouad."

have been recalled and postmasters have been instructed to return stocks of these stamps to their accounting offices.

Mr. George M. Staplin, 551 Century Building, Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "It has been definitely stated at the office of the Postmaster, George W. Gosser, of Pittsburgh, that the Pittsburgh-Cleveland airmail service will be started between the 1st and 15th of March. This is a contract route and was to have been put in service May 30th, last. Government inspectors refused to approve the type of planes the contractor proposed to use and it is said that the long delay is due to his inability to pay for the heavier machines that were ordered at the time. Connection with the transcontinental airmail lines will be made at Cleveland. As the uniform 10-cent airmail postal rate went into effect on February 1st, with the use of a special delivery stamp, a letter mailed in Pittsburgh at nine o'clock in the morning addressed to Los Angeles will be delivered by seven P. M., the following evening. Judging by the volume of letters that are being held at the local post office for first day cancellations, there is a decided interest among philatelists in the new route. It is said that the postmaster at Cleveland is holding a similar grist of letters for the first trip. Your correspondent was assured that all of this mail will be canceled with the special hand stamp to be furnished by the department for the purpose."

Our contributor, Mr. Charles E. Roe, sends the following bit of lore: "Recently I came across what, I think, is the first philatelic notice in English literature. It is a description of the Mulready envelope and occurs in the 'Ingoldsby Legends,' by Richard Barham, and will probably be new to the present generation. He brings and no special marking seems to identify the air mail covers.

We have received an interesting letter from Professor Frank E. Robbins, assistant to the president of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in which he tells of linking local history with covers. He says: "I simply bring together an 'historical collection' of covers from some one town one is particular interested in, which show pictures of the place in the old days. Business concerns used to, and still do, to some extent, advertise by putting illustrations of the places of business on their envelopes. These are not so common as one would think, I imagine, though I have not had the opportunity to look over a great number of covers. An envelope with a three cent of 1861 shows the Tremont House, Chicago, surrounded by quaint street traffic—two omnibuses, a hearse, a bug and two men on horseback. Incidentally I should like to know the significance, the postmark. It is a double circle with 'Chicago, Ill.' around the outside and 'A Oct 16' in three lines in the center. Why 'G. A.'?"

It is apparent that there are collectors who recognize the appeal of printed pictures and announcements that are found on old envelopes, and we know that covers of hotels, business places and other concerns are given a high place in the preferences of these collectors. It is known that suggestions of local history are found in these cover accompaniments, and the return cards of theaters, educational seats, societies, railroads and dozens of other kind are attended to by collectors who are attracted by these reflections of the past, when they are thrown in for good measure with the philatelic interest of the covers.

(This interesting story is taken from the Philadelphia Public Ledger of Jan. 28 and we are indebted to Edward H. Sprangers for the clipping. The story was accompanied by several illustrations, the entire feature being one of the finest bits of philatelic publicity that we have seen for many a day. We give Mr. Eugene Klein full credit for the part that he has played in promoting Prince Otto's philatelic activities.—Ed.)

It was through a Philadelphia philatelist that young Prince Otto of Hungary won the junior class bronze medal for his stamp collection at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York last October.

The collection consists of a complete set of Hungarian stamps, dating from 1871 to 1918, and would bring a pretty sum were it for sale. Handsomely bound in embossed leather, fitted with chased silver and marked with the Prince's initial and the royal coat-of-arms, the volume is at present in the charge of Eugene Klein, a well-known stamp expert of Philadelphia, who is responsible for its being on display at the exhibition.

"It happened rather curiously," said Mr. Klein. "About a year and a half ago I was traveling in Hungary, where I met several other collectors. We were looking over some of the valuable items owned by stamp collectors of Budapest, and the Prince's collection was brought out for us to examine.

"I said, 'You ought to show that in New York. It would arouse a great deal of interest.' They did not say much about it, except that the Queen mother would have to be consulted, and the subject dropped. I heard nothing more until the fall, when a stranger came to my office carrying a package.

MESSAGE FROM QUEEN

"Queen Zita sends you this," he said. "She wishes you to place it in the exhibition."

"The man was one of the Prince's tutors from Budapest. I opened the package and it was this volume. The result was that I entered it in the International Exhibition, and it took the bronze medal of the junior class. That will please its 14-year-old owner. I shall send the medal to him shortly, with the collection."

In all the twenty-five years of his philatelic career, Mr. Klein says, this collection is unique in his experience. It is not only a virtually complete set of Hungarian stamps, carefully chosen, so that the cancellations do not hide the design, but the book which contains the stamps is the only one of its kind.

Hand-drawn and painted by Eugene Haranghy, professor in the Academy of Fine Arts, Budapest, the title page describes the contents in illuminated lettering. On the first page is the most valuable set of stamps, that of 1871, bearing the Emperor's head with the conqueror's wreath, and above at the top of the page is the coat-of-arms of Hungary in color.

Other designs follow on the subsequent pages, forming a setting for the stamps, and bearing in turn the coats-of-arms of the different Hungarian Provinces. There is one full-page illustration in color, showing the royal coronation ceremony, and on the two banners are placed stamps bearing the heads of the royal pair, Emperor (and King) Charles and Empress (and Queen) Zita, Otto's parents.

A FINE COLLECTION

"It is a fine collection," said Mr. Klein, "and I feel complimented to have been entrusted with it. The Prince will be pleased with the prestige the medal will give him among his playmates, and older collectors of this country have been interested in seeing this royal treasure."

Prince Otto's collection was shown recently by Mr. Klein at the exhibition conducted in Lansdowne by the Lansdowne Stamp Club, an organization of stamp collectors of Delaware County, and, while it was not entered in the prize competition, considerable comment was voiced as to its beauty and completeness.

Otto II, called the "Little Prince of Misfortune," is the oldest son of Karl of Hapsburg, who died in exile in Madeira in 1921, after several unsuccessful attempts to regain the throne of Hungary, taken from him by the Entente nations. Otto has a tremendous following in Hungary, which is threatening to overturn the present regency and place him upon the throne of his father, with Queen Zita as regent.

He is now living with his mother and his seven brothers and sisters in the town of Lequeito, the province of Viscaya, Spain, in a castle provided for them by King Alfonso.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—A. V. P.—In answering your question "Why are stamps collected in pairs and blocks?" we can only say that it is because there is a fascination with many collectors in stamps of this kind. A block of four or a strip is very attractive. This is especially true of imperforate stamps.

—Wm. S. Kinney, Jr., writes an interesting letter and asks us two or three questions that will be answered in due time.

—Juniors who have blue stamps where the proper color is green, and vice versa, should bear in mind the term "chemical changeling." It can be easily done.

—D. C. Van Voorhis, Jr., 161 Brook St., Dunmore, Pa., informs us that a new society for juniors has just been organized. Write him for particulars.

A New Club at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Francis C. Ryan informs us that the Triangle Stamp Club has been organized at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., with a goodly number of boys. Mr. Ryan is to be their adviser and has subscribed for the WEEKLY in the name of the club. Any nearby collectors who wish to assist in the Club's activities may send donations of surplus stamps to Mr. Ryan at 27 La Grange Ave.

Slogans Seen Lately

From Valletta, Malta, we get the slogan, "Come to Sunny Malta, The Island of History and Romance." Also, in the same cancellation but separate box we find, "For Your Health, Spend Your Wealth, in Sunny Malta."

St. John's, Newfoundland, tells us to "Wear a Poppy—Remembrance Day".

Jamaica advertises its climate also, as the machine cancellation at Kingston tells us, "Come to Jamaica, B. W. I., the Ideal Tourist Resort"—A. C. LEDUC.

Philatelic Agency

The Philatelic Agency is a branch of the Post Office under charge of the Third Assistant Postmaster General and may be addressed at Washington in his care. This branch endeavors to keep on hand well centered copies of the current postal emissions, including postal adhesives, envelopes, booklets and coils. They also have on hand the immediately preceding issue as well as a number of the late commemorative stamps. These are available to dealers and collectors at face value plus return postage and registration. Nothing is sent upon approval, but must be paid for cash in advance by means of money order or cash. They issue a circular which may be had upon application free of charge, giving a list of the items available.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Junior Glossary

Fiscal.—Stamps used for the collection of revenue fees, taxes, etc., as apart from postage stamps. Some fiscal stamps have done postal duty, and these are postal fiscals.

Forgery.—A fraudulent imitation of a stamp.

Fugitive Colors.—Colors that "wash off" or change on the application of chemicals to remove the postmark—as a safeguard against fraudulent cleaning. Doubly-fugitive is a still more sensitive ink.

Grille.—A pattern of small square dots embossed in the substance of some stamps of U. S. A., Peru, etc.

Hair Lines.—Minute lines which cross the outer corners of some stamps of Great Britain distinguishing the impressions from certain plates. The term is also used nowadays to describe accidental lines upon certain stamps often due to a hair, etc., in the printing ink or adhering to the plate.

Imperf.—Imperforate. Stamps that are not perforated.

Prince Otto—Stamp Collector

Elsewhere in this issue is printed a story that will interest all our juniors. It deals with the collection of Prince Otto of Hungary, who won a bronze medal for his stamp collection in the junior class at the New York Exhibition.

We feel that the picture of the Prince properly belongs on the Junior page. He is fourteen years old and is the proud possessor of a splendid collection of Hungarian stamps from 1871 to 1916. With his mother's permission it was exhibited last October under the care of Eugene Klein of Philadelphia.

A Chatty Little Letter

By FRANCIS W. MONARCH (17).

I enjoyed the current issue very much. This is the first time that I have written to your magazine, but having progressed thus far you may hear from me again. I am a devout follower of Philately. I am a general collector, although I have a preference for U. S. and British Colonials. My collection numbers at present about 6,000 and it is being added to daily. There is no stamp club here, as yet, but there may be in time. I guess most of the stamp collectors, at least the ones that are the most interested, belong to the Boston Philatelic Society. Just a word or two about "Postfaerge." This surcharge occurs on the parcel post stamps of Denmark. These stamps are used on postal packets by local ferry services.

Origin of Countries' Names

(Insert in Your Album.)

MOROCCO is the Arabic Mayrib-al-Aqca — "Extreme West." It is really the name of the chief city, not of the country.

MOSUL = Al Mausil. This town stands on the site of a suburb of the ancient city of Nineveh. One of its patron saints is Jonah, vide St. Matthew xii. 41. In 636 A. D. there was a town here called Al-Mausil, of which the meaning is "The place of Connexion." Al is the Arabic definite article, found in such words as algebra, alchemy, &c., adopted from the Arabic.

NIGER is the Latin niger = "black." Arabian geographers call the river the "Nile of the Negroes." This literally, to illustrate the absurdities of some words and terms, means "The Blue of the Blacks." Negro is the Spanish negro = "black," and Nile is the Persian nil = "blue."—Stamp Collecting.

NAURU AND OCEAN ISLANDS

Although these islands are only about 36 miles south of the equator, the climate is all that could be desired, the temperature rarely rising above 86 degrees, while the weather is considered exceptional; the temperature falls below 80 degree. Life is very enjoyable there, the only difficulty to be overcome being the maintenance of a regular supply of fresh food, although some live stock is kept. Fruit and fish are readily obtainable, and there is an up-to-date refrigerating plant on both Nauru and Ocean Islands.

The islands themselves are very unproductive, and the inhabitants are dependent entirely on the rainfall for the water supply, of which large reservoirs are kept in concrete reservoirs. No diseases have made their appearance, the islanders, like others in the Pacific being comparatively free from infection. The islands have a very healthy climate and every possible comfort is provided. One white man has lived on the island for 17 years, and is quite content to remain there, while the British Phosphate Commission has been besieged with applications for a position at the islands.

Nauru Island, which is 13 miles in circumference and rises to 200 feet above sea level, is encircled by a good road which carries all types of wheeled traffic from motor cars to bicycles, while Ocean Island, which is seven miles in circumference, is provided with a similar road. It is estimated that one in every six of the natives own a bicycle, which is generally the means of conveyance for his wife and children also.

The islands are constantly kept informed of events in other parts of the world by means of wireless telephony and although Ocean and Nauru Islands are 166 miles apart, there is no difficulty in communication. Wireless telephony has been carried on with places as distant as 900 miles.

Every modern convenience has been installed on the islands, which have electric light and sewerage systems. A feature is the electrically lit tennis court, while many indulge in pleasant recreation. There is a fleet of motor launch in commission, while music is provided by a native brass band. Each island has a model village, which contains a theatre, billiard saloons and other means of enjoyment. There are three medical officers on each island, and well-equipped hospitals. Both the natives and white inhabitants take great interest in sports and are keen cricketers. Swimming is favourite pastime. The Nauru Islanders have taken up football seriously, and have four teams, among whom are a number of promising players. The Europeans play Soccer.

The staffs of the Commission number 60 on each island, and there are also Government officials and a New Zealand trader. The populations are:—Nauru Island, 100 whites, 800 Chinese and 1,000 natives; Ocean Island, a number of white inhabitants, 300 Chinese and 800 natives.—Clipping by A. C. LEDUC from South Sea Philatelist.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Mrs. J. Dowling, M. D., Detroit, Mich.
Fred F. Bott, Detroit, Mich.
J. Heitzenroeder, St. Louis, Mo.
H. Wilson, Coronado, Calif.
Albert G. Rivers, Phoenixville, Penn.

Singularly enough upon the same day (January 28) we received two applications for Honor Club membership from at live philatelic center, Detroit, Mich. helps to bear out Mr. Boers' contention that his city is a hive of philatelic activity. Two applications in a single day leads us to believe that there are others who propose to do their part in carrying the membership of the Honor Club to the thousand mark. Dr. Dowling resides at 2100 Seyburn Ave. and Mr. Bott's address is 909 Transportation Bldg.

We also take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of a check for $5 for five years renewal of subscription from E. J. Heitzenroeder, 3128 Texas Ave., St. Louis, Mo. We are glad to add him to our list as an Honor Club member. As we go to press a fourth application comes from G. H. Wilson, Coronado, Calif., and a fifth from Albert G. Rivers, Phoenixville, Penn. Thanks.

Approval selections of any country or issue can be sent immediately to collectors furnishing business references, preferably European. Stamps from want lists sent on approval. [85]

TESTIMONIAL TO J. W. SCHAEFER

On January 28th the Buffalo (N. Y.) Stamp Club gave a testimonial dinner to John W. Schaefer, oldest member and dean of Buffalo collectors. It came as a distinct surprise to Mr. Schaefer.

The WEEKLY regrets that it could not be represented upon this occasion. The philatelic activities of Mr. Schaefer have covered many years and the tribute paid him was well deserved.

He began collecting in 1869 and has been a general collector and has acquired an immense holding of postage stamps, stationery and literature. His British Colonials are magnificent and his U. S. are also a superb lot. His U. S. revenues are complete.

Entire panes and blocks of varying size 1851-1857 postage and many issues of U. S. revenues will give one an idea of his treasures. He is also strong on match and medicine and private proprietaries.

Personally, Mr. Schaefer is a very companionable man. His kindly nature has endeared him to the Buffalo stamp men and especially the younger collectors. He resides in Hamburg, N. Y., and every Friday evening travels fourteen miles to attend the meetings of the Buffalo Club.

The dinner referred to above was a most delightful affair. George Graham presented Mr. Schaefer with a hand-tooled gold morocco book in which each member had written a testimonial and mounted a copy of his favorite stamp. Pres. Adolph Steeg, Dr. Francis Miller, Cuba, N. Y., LeRoy Brown, Olean, N. Y., Kenneth Cobb, N. Y. City, F. P. James, Lancaster, N. Y., Leslie Davenport, Toronto, Can., Fred Koepf, Theodore Gundlach and R. C. Fisher, M. D., made brief speeches, to which Mr. Schaefer responded.

Telegrams and letters were received from a score of collectors and an auction sale and bourse concluded the evening's program. The committee in charge consisted of:—F. J. Sleght, James Storer and Theodore Gundlach.

SAMOA

By HERMANN FOCKE

This little Colony has sprung a surprise on us with the recent issue of the new 2sh and 3sh stamps of New Zealand, with portrait of King George in Admiral's uniform, surcharged SAMOA in the usual type, thus supplanting the same two values of the N. Z. Revenues, Scott's type, A19, and considering that the 3sh violet of the latter was only issued in 1925, and was probably not used extensively, this stamp should become a scarce article in the near future.

Scott, fortunately, does not overburden the general collector with the varieties of these Postal-Revenues with rough and clean-cut perforations, of which a specialist, however, should take cognizance, because there is a decided difference in the colours and general appearance of the two kinds. The 2s 6d value comes only with rough, and the 3sh and £2 only with clean-cut perfs.; the 2sh blue with the former having been issued only in 1918 and superseded immediately by the one with clean-cut perfs. is a decidedly hard to get stamp, and Stanley Gibbons who prices the first issue of 1914 with rough perfs. at double the value of the second issue, fails to give any price for this particular 2sh stamp. Who is the lucky owner of a good postally used copy?

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)
W. Somerville, Mass.

DO YOU KNOW:—

That on February 3rd the new 3c and 10c rotary print, perforated 11x10 1/2, were placed on sale for the first time at Washington, D. C.

Even the Post Office was not aware definitely when the Bureau would have these stamps available until a few days before they were ready—hence, no advance information and not the unusual large number of first day covers.

For $1.00, I will furnish one of each of these first day covers together with an unused single copy of both the 3c and 10c. If you did not get the 2c, which was recently issued with this perforation, mention the fact when sending your order and I will include one of these used the first day without extra charge—in other words, three covers and two mint stamps for a $1.00 bill.

If you overlooked ordering the 20c air mail first day cover, recently placed on sale in both New York and Washington, these can be furnished at 75c each. If the two are ordered together, a Sesquicentennial envelope used on the last day of the Model Post Office in the Exposition grounds will be sent without extra charge.

3c and 10c Perforated 11x10 1/2
Announcement was recently made in this column that the 2c rotary had been issued in sheet form, perforated 11x10 1/2. Under date of Thursday, February 3rd, there was placed on sale at Washington further denominations with the same perforation, the product of the rotary press, namely, the 3c purple, portrait of Lincoln, and the 10c yellow, portrait of Monroe. The Bureau is distributing these denominations to other post offices as the stock now being made up, of the rotary press sheets, are being perforated in this size. We may look for the 1c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c and 9c in short order.

Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, writes, "at this time that no change in the perforation" at present used on the coil stamps is anticipated. These will remain perforated 10 as heretofore.

Air Mail Notes

The Information Service of the Post Office Department announced, under date of January 28th, that the Postmaster General had just awarded to the Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle the contract for carrying mail between Chicago and San Francisco. Bids on the eastern portion of the transcontinental route were rejected with the announcement that new bids would be called for shortly. The western route will be covered at the rate of $1.50 per pound for the first thousand miles and 15c a pound for each hundred miles additional. The route covered is 1,906 miles long.

The financial responsibility of the company is regarded by the Postmaster General as beyond question, while the practical part of the business is under the direction of Edward Hubbard, who has flown the oldest established contract lines operated under the Post Office Department between Seattle, Wash., and Victoria, B. C., where connection is made with the trans-Pacific steamers. This information comes as news to me, for I was not aware of the fact that the Department operated a contract line into Canada.

The reason that the bids for the eastern portion of the route were not awarded is due to the unsatisfactory offers.

"Specimen" Departments, Imperforate

A few weeks back mention was made in this column of the existence of certain "Specimen" Departments in imperforate condition in the collection of Mr. Arthur Hind. These came through Mr. John A. Klemann, who informs me that they are on the regular paper used for printing these varieties and are in the same colors as the perforated stamps. They are not from the Ferrari collection, as I had surmised.

Narcotic Varieties

Heretofore two of the Narcotic strip stamps have been known in imperforate condition, having been issued in this form in order that they might be applied to packages by means of a special machine designed to take the imperforate variety. This company has just had occasion to use a further stamp, namely, the 1c, size I, and this variety now comes not only rouletted, but imperforate as well.

I desire to thank Mr. Allan P. Vestal, who states that he has seen a copy of this new imperforate stamp, for the information.

Philippines

Mr. Walter Bruggman, in writing of the new commemorative series, advises that while they were produced locally by primitive methods, that they are giving better satisfaction to the collector, as the sheets are reasonably well centered and there are no straight edges. He states here of late that it is difficult to get more than fifteen well centered stamps out of the average sheet produced by the Bureau.

Mr. Bruggman is under the impression that no more stamps for the Philippine Islands will be produced in Washington and he is informed that proper machinery will be installed so that Philippine stamps in the future will be made at home. The

This information is given just as it comes to me from Manila and I have received Washington confirmation of the news.

ALBANIA.—The current Air M stamps have been overprinted "Republi Shqiptare" and it has been arranged to the Air Mail service between Tirane and Valone will be carried on during the winter. The current issue of ordinary stamps with portrait of President Abdi Bey Zogu are to be overprinted with a crown and will subsequently be superseded by a new issue now being printed in Paris.—Whitfield King & Co's Philatelic Bulletin.

AUSTRIA.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 5 groschen red and the 28 groschen blue postage stamps in the design of D11.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman sends for note copies of the 5fr bright green and 10fr brown in the design of A58.

CEYLON.—The Economist Co. of Whitfield King & Co. send copies of the 2c brown-orange, Die 2, and 5c violet, Die 1, both on script watermark paper.

DENMARK.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the following varieties in the new ship design: 155 red, 160 grey, 250 light blue, 300 yellow, 350 brown-red and 400 green.

DOMINICA.—Mr. John Edgar tells me that he has heard that the 3s purple-yellow (Mult. wmk.) is obsolete and procurable in the Colony. From the Crown Agents for the Colonies we have information that a supply of this variety together with the 5s black and green has been printed on Script CA paper and will be sent out to Roseau at the earliest possible moment.—Stamp Collecting.

FRANCE.—Whitfield King & Co. of the Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 65c Sower type, in green, the postage due stamp, type D2, in magenta and the 30c light brown and 60c red type D3.

FRENCH COLONIES.—Rev. J. Drer S. M., in writing to us under date of 25th of Jan., advises that the Mirror of Colonies has decided to modify the present types of stamps of the va-

ONLY TEN CENTS PER THRILL

Oh, Boy! ! Don't it give you a big kick when you open a letter and find a brand new U. S. postage stamp—one, possibly, that you had no information would be issued?

At a service charge of only a dime, plus the face value of the stamps supplied, I will send you a mint copy of each new stamp as issued. If you want a block of four the charge is 20c instead of 10c.

No more bothering about when stamps are to be issued. No wasting a lot of time buying a money-order or ordering in advance.

Send me a deposit of $1.00 (if you want single copies) or $2.00 (if you want blocks of four) and I'll do the rest.

Or, if you want further dope just say the word.

(It's robbery, of course, to charge 12c for a 2c stamp. If you are collecting as an investment this U. S. New Issue Service will not interest you. If you are collecting for the fun of it, however, you'll find the service worth the cost.)

NETHERLANDS.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the 35c olive-brown, 40c deep brown and 50c blue-green of the 1924-25 issue have appeared on the watermarked circles paper.

NEW ZEALAND.—The chalky paper of the 6d Express Delivery stamp, comb perf. 14X14½, chronicled in our October 23rd issue, is Messrs. Cowan's manufacture.—Stamp Collecting.

PERSIA.—"Regne de Pahlavi."—An additional value is reported in Champion's Bulletin. 30k carmine and brown. From the same source we learn that the 12c is now on issue. This leaves only the 9 and 10ch still to be issued.—Philatelic Magazine.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 1c lilac postage due stamp has been issued. This value has been held up for some time and has not been available.

TANGANYIKA.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the new King's Head design of this colony. The 5c to 75c are in the same design as the Nyasaland ½p to 1sh and the new design of British Honduras. They bear the inscription "Mandated Territory of Tanganyika" and are printed in unbroken sheets of 100 (10X10). On the 1sh value the head plate is the same as that used for the high values of Nyasaland with the following differences: the word "Postage-Revenue" takes the place of the written value in the upper tablet, the value only appearing on either side at top as before, the space on the side is filled in by the design continuing from the bottom of the stamp; the name tablet is a clear curve instead of a wavy one. The values and shades are: 5c black and green, 10c black and yellow-orange, 15c black and rose, 20c black and light brown, 25c black and blue, 30c black and purple, 40c black and brown, 50c black and green, 75c black and olive and 1sh black and green.

Modern Used British Colonials

By ROBERT S. GORDON, Middletown, O.

The following article will attempt to cover the various British colonies in much the same way as the French colonies were covered, although there will be some omissions, due to lack of sufficient data. It should be repeated that these are merely my own conclusions. In no case has there been made any effort to obtain exhaustive information; and in no case is any claim made that the experiences of others will coincide, either exactly or approximately, with my own. Rather is it hoped that these notes imperfect as they are known to be, will encourage others to report in like manner and improve on the haphazard method of presentation.

Colonies not mentioned at all are those whose stamps used are obviously less valuable than unused.

Aitutaki—A considerable difference in favor of the used stamps, a difference which is fairly consistent throughout all issues.

Ascension—Used are better. The first issue used, with correctly dated postmarks, is at least twice as good as the same unused. Later issue less so.

Antigua—I consider all issues better unused. There are some postmarks, however, which are very scarce on some stamps; lack of definite information leads me to omit mention of these.

Bahamas—Generally the same used or unused (later issues only). War Tax all slightly better used.

Barbados—With a very few unimportant exceptions, all are better unused.

Barbuda—Obsolete now. Correctly dated postmarks raise the value of a used stamp much above the same stamp unused, and covers ought to bring very good figures in the not too distant future.

Bechuanaland Protectorate—With some important exceptions, used are a trifle better. Occasionally no difference worth noting. The difference in favor of the used stamps seems to increase with the later issues.

British Honduras—All seem to be better unused with the sole exception of the War stamps, which are scarcer used.

British Solomon Islands—Without an exception, used are as good as, or better than, unused. There seems to be less difference in favor of the used stamps in the first and fourth issues than in the second and third. Tulagi is by far the commonest postmark.

Brunei—All issues are quite uncommon used, which might be explained by the fact that the present white population of the colony amounts to the total of 35! Covers of the first (provisional) issue are very scarce.

Cayman Islands—A slight difference in favor of used. Covers of the pre-Georgian epoch seem rather scarce.

Cook Islands—Used are slightly preferable; but much less so than most of the other Pacific Islands—which seems unreasonable in view of the much greater importance of some of them, Samoa for example.

Cyprus—Of the more recent Cyprus stamps, there seems to be none which holds any promise of being better used.

Dominica—Of the twentieth century stamps (the only ones being considered), all values above twopence halfpenny (and lately threepence) are somewhat better used. Lower values better unused.

Falkland Islands—Exactly the same as Dominica. The difference in favor of the used high values is greater than in the case of Dominica. These stamps used in South Georgia are very hard to find.

Fiji—With two minor exceptions, used are more common.

Gambia—Unused are always at least as good as used, with the possible exception of Scott's Nos. 33-40 and 49-52 inclusive. In view of the comparative insignificance of this colony, this is rather surprising.

Gibraltar—Unused are better, except for Scott's Nos. 54-57.

Gilbert and Ellice Islands—All issues slightly better used, the second (pandanus) issue more so than the others. The difference is very slight in some of the more recent stamps, however.

Gold Coast—All stamps are at least as good unused as used.

Grenada—Same as Gold Coast.

Hejaz—Unused are at least as good as used in every case, I believe, in spite of the fact that unused are offered more frequently. There are a few stamps which are very hard to find on correctly dated covers, but I haven't enough information to be more definite than this.

Indian States—No information.

Iraq—All issues seem to be much better unused.

Kenya—Better unused, with the possible exception of the high rupee values.

Kuwait—So far, the used are much better. If the present set continues to be current, however, it is almost certain that this difference in favor of the used stamps will diminish and perhaps altogether disappear.

Leeward Islands—Unused are a little better, with some unimportant exceptions.

United States List

Owing to the enormous demand for United States stamps following the International Philatelic Exhibition held in New York last year, we have exhausted two (2) editions of our price list. The third edition contains a very large number of price changes and should be in the hands of every United States and British North American collector. Whilst we have been forced to raise prices on many stamps, principally the unused twentieth century United States issues, we have also been able to reduce a great many prices due to fortunate purchases we recently made. We are also pricing blocks of four wherever we have a sufficient stock of these.

Included in this list will be found particulars of the famous "Oriental Albums" and every collector should write to us for a copy, which we will gladly send free of charge.

Mesopotamia—Probably better unused, except for Scott's Nos. 39-50.

Montserrat—War Stamps are a bit better used; others unused. The difference in any case is not much.

Morocco, Great Britain and Gibraltar Offices—Unused are always better.

Nauru—Very little information, but I believe used are slightly better.

New Guinea—Used are a very little bit better so far, but, like Kuwait, this condition is very likely to disappear altogether. Rabaul and Kawieng are by far the commonest postmarks of the thirteen to be found in all.

New Hebrides—Used seem to be somewhat better on the average, but there are wide variations. The 1911 set is about the same in either condition.

Niue—Earlier issues are quite a bit better used, and especially so on cover, in which condition they are very seldom found. In later issues the difference in favor of used is comparatively small, but still pronounced.

North Borneo—Legitimate town cancellations are generally of more value than an unused stamp, but this is far from invariable. Important exceptions are Scott's Nos. 117-117c and Nos. 149-156.

Northern Rhodesia—No information. Nyasaland Protectorate—Unused are generally better. The high values are possible exceptions.

Palestine—Unused are invariably better.

Papua—Used may be slightly better, but hardly enough. I believe to justify the Gibbons quotations. Later issues are about the same either way, with any difference in favor of used.

Penrhyn—Early issues used certainly justify Scott's prices. These stamps are by far the most difficult to obtain used of any of the three New Zealand dependencies—Aitutaki, Niue, and Penrhyn. The total population is 400!

St. Helena—Very little difference in any of the modern stamps. Used are generally a bit commoner.

St. Kitts-Nevis—No information.

St. Lucia—Unused are better in every case, with the exception of the War Tax stamps, which are the same used or unused.

St. Vincent—Unused are as good as or better than used. This seems to apply to Scott's No. 117 also.

Samoa—Except for the provisional surcharges, Samoans seem to be better used, with no single exceptions. The last permanent issue (of 1921) is likely to prove better unused, however, which it is not, at present.

Sarawak—Generally much better unused, except for No. 48. Postmarks other than Kuching are seldom seen.

Seychelles—Very nearly the same, with unused a trifle better.

Somaliland Protectorate—Used stamps are slightly better, with the exception of the one anna values. Some postmarks are very scarce; Berbera is by far the commonest.

Southern Rhodesia—No information.

Tanganyika—Used and unused are about the same at present. Used will likely be commoner in the future.

Tonga—The last (and only twentieth century) issue is a bit better used so far, with the doubtful exception of No. 54.

Transjordan—Much better used, generally; numbers 1-11 less so. Some of the numerous issues are almost impossible to get used with proper dates. Covers should be good property. The 5m and 1 pia. values are commoner used, particularly Scott's Nos. 13, 19, 20, and 66. How many postmarks have you besides "Amman"?

Turks and Caicos Islands—Invariably better used, but the difference is usually very little.

Virgin Islands—Used are considerably better, which is not surprising. The "capital city" boasts a population of 475! Edwards and early Georges are scarce on cover.

Zanzibar—Unused are almost always quite a bit better.

WHERE ARE THE SANDWICH ISLANDS?

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

Last fall an English philatelic journal criticized the most beautiful New York 1926 International Philatelic Exhibition label, drawing attention to the fact that the designer or engraver thereof had failed to include the Hawaiian Islands in the pictured Western Hemisphere.

What was my surprise, while recently examining some of the Canadian Christmas postage stamps of 1898, to note that the designer or engraver thereof had made the same omission!

The error of omission or of commission is probably excusable for the Canadian stamp which was particularly designed for the purpose of showing the British possessions of the world and issued by a British dominion.

The Canadian stamp was, however, made by the American Bank Note Company and the error in topography should not have occurred. It is probable, however, that the design supplied, possibly, by the Canadian Government, likewise omitted the Hawaiian Islands, an American possession.

But what is one to say about the exhibition label? An American production, made by the self-same American Bank Note Company and, albeit, freely donated by them to an American event, doubling an identical error, omitting the most valuable possessions of the United States from a picturing of the world!

Surely this was not intentional. Was it through ignorance? Or, what kind of maps are used as models by the designers or engravers of stamps?

The place from whence came some of the most valuable stamps of philately, not alone valuable because of their great rarity, but historically so because of their use by the missionaries, surely should always have its place on a philatelic map.

Those Interesting 3c '51s

The publication of Dr. Carroll Chase's great study of these stamps so stimulated interest in the collecting of their many plate varieties, their shades, their cancellations, that for a time we feared our carefully collected stock was to be hopelessly shot full of holes. But during the past few weeks we have had fine opportunities to build it up again. Some of these things may interest you:

Plate III, last three rows fully plated, showing all the extra and missing lines. All fine copies, some cancellations$50.00
A very fine little collection of covers, 126 of them, all with town cancellations, some with locals and carriers, pages full of covers with green, red, brown, or blue postmarks, even a couple of scarce railroads. A nice little investment to exhibit$250.00

A good collection of shifts, more than 100 varieties, offered on approval, for selection. Prices from $1.25-10.00
The var. Line through THREE CENTS, fine 10.00
The var. star crack, or recut button, fine 8.50
Fine cover, LIVINGSTONE, TEXAS, stamp killed with PAID in wide oval. A very worth while cover 20.00
Canton, Mi., PAID 3 in black letters in oval 12.00

Almost anything you may need in the line of varieties of recutting, shades, plate cracks and flaws. Your want list, accompanied by satisfactory references, will secure our prompt attention.

Have we had your order for Stanley Ashbrook's great book on the 1c stamps of 1851-57? It is profusely illustrated and tells you how to identify all the important minor varieties. Worth one hundred dollars but sent post free for one hundred cents.

J. O. MOORE, Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y.

OBLITERATIONS OF THE '70s

By DR. WM. EVANS, 313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

The stamp-cleaning industry was quite well patronized for some years after the Civil War, we are told. Here are a few examples of what some postmasters considered quite the proper thing to prevent it. No doubt their efforts were eminently successful, for a stamp adorned with one—any one—of these cancellations, would hardly be described as lightly cancelled, and the temptation to try to clean it for using a second time would be extremely slight. All used in the 70s.

Mr. C. W. Parker has sent a lot of covers, mostly used, from 1893 to 1898, and of course most of them are cancelled and postmarked in the prevailing and regulation types of that period. That is some time ago and perhaps a good many of our present-day collectors do not know what were the prevailing types and a few notes on them may be in order.

Most of the larger places were using machines which postmarked the letter and cancelled the stamp at the same time. The postmark was usually circular with the name of the city at the top. The abbreviation of the name of the State at the bottom, and the date in the center, or with the name of the city and abbreviation of the state name at the top, the year at the bottom, and the month and hour in the center. The year was not always included in the first type. Some other forms were in use but these were the most common ones.

There were several types of obliterations. One was to represent a flag flying from a staff. Stars in the upper left corner and several curved lines extending to the right to cancel the stamp. Another form was made up of the wavy bars alone, and another of straight bars. Then there were two or more types made up of a number of diagonal lines.

Smaller places ordinarily used hand-stamps. The postmark was also circular, with the name of the town at the top, the abbreviation of the state name at the bottom, and the date, including the year and hour, in the center. Most of the obliterations seem to have been cut in cork or wood, and the number of designs was not large. Sometimes there is just a round solid disk, sometimes there are white streaks through it, and again it is divided into quarters.

Another favorite type was concentric circles, or as it's frequently called, a target. Then there was the disk with cuts both ways, making little squares, or cut so that each segment was a triangle with its outer side curved. Perhaps others were common but they are not recalled just now, and this will suffice for the present, as this is not to be an exhaustive treatise on the subject.

Now for Mr. Parker's unusual ones. A cover postmarked Meriden, Conn. The whole front of the envelope is a U. S. flag with 45 stars in a blue field in the upper left corner, seven red and six white stripes. The address is written in three of the latter. A very colorful cover. Date June 15, 1900.

M. G. HANNA

Box 936,

Another cover is from Pasadena, Cal., May 13, '98. On the left a flag floating from a staff, in red, white and blue. Placed diagonally below it, and covering part of the flag is a picture of a Battle-ship surrounded by a frame with rather elaborate scrolled ornaments at the upper and lower left corners projecting outward from the frame.

A solid star in a circle is used as an obliterator on the stamp at Highmore, Colo., July 16, 1895, on a 2c Columbian at Waucoma, Iowa, Dec. 6, 1893, at Percival, Iowa, Feb. 21, 1895, and at Long Grove, Iowa, Nov. 22, 1893.

From Defiance, Iowa, July 8, 1895, comes a five pointed star, probably cut in wood, so that the star shows colorless, and the uncut portion appears as a small pentagon in the center with triangles between the points and inside the lines forming the points. This type is more frequently seen in the '60s and '70s than as late as this.

Mountain Dale, Colo., on Nov. 25, 1893, used a postmark with fancy slanted letters, and this cover shows that Jefferson, Colo., on the next day used a postmark with the date in a single line across the center of a circle, and an obliterator in the form of an oval grid of 16 bars. The stamp is a 2c Columbian.

Hamburg, Iowa, July 20, 1 P.M., 1893, cancelled a 2c Columbian stamp with a round black disk, into which was cut an H.

The postmark at Ute, Iowa, on Mar. 20, 1895, has the names of both town and state at the top and is struck squarely on the stamp. Unusual for a postmaster to do this so late, but very much more satisfactory than some of the blobs and blots not infrequently seen.

Chicago, Ill., July 19, 7.30 P.M., 1895, used an obliterator of six long heavy wavy bars, with a break in the center of the four inner ones in which appears a large letter B, and on June 24, 7.30 P. 1895, the obliterator is six straight bars with the two center ones broken in the middle for a letter O. The letters perhaps designate branch Post Offices. Who knows?

Perhaps it would not be amiss to say that a number of the obl iterators used in the 70s and 80s, of the elliptical grid type with a figure or a letter in the center were still used in these years, and some of the other types used in those earlier years had not been entirely discarded and are not infrequently found even later than the years in which the above lot of covers were used.

Mr. L. A. Heilman has sent some more of his interesting items. This time a 3c green, from Ilion, N. Y., Jan. 23, 1878, cancelled by a solid star all in magenta, another from Lenox Furnace, Nov. 4, 1881, Berkshire Co., Mass., in a double circle. The name of the town at the top following the curve, and the rest in three horizontal lines, with three short curved lines above them. The obliterator is a colorless star in a disk, surrounded by a circle.

A large envelope addressed to London, has a red New York P. O. postmark and a 12c and 6c Continental stamps cancelled by the New York Foreign Mail obliterator which Mr. J. M. Bartels has listed as A10 in his Collectors Club Philatelist list. It also bears the red London receiving mark dated 26 Jan 75.

Then there are some 1c Continental covers. Three from Meadville, Pa., with a large colorless M in a round block as an obliterator. A strip of three with postmark and bull's eye canceller in magenta from Mason, Mich., and another strip of three with postmark and bull's eye in blue from Minneapolis,

FORMED BY COL. C. W. WICKERSHAM, OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this fine collection and have mounted the stamps in a large number of my well known approval books. All stamps are priced separately, at very moderate net prices, and books of unused, used or blocks and sheets can be sent on approval.

All three collections, in addition to many copies of the standard rarities, include a large number of color proofs in singles and blocks of four. They are also specialized in cancellations, including many fine varieties.

This makes the seventh collection of British North American I have bought within a short period, and I am willing to buy several more at the top market prices. Shall be glad of offers of any collections of early issues, also of Rarities, and Stamps on Covers of

C. I. CROWELL TAKES 3,000 LINES

DEAR MR. WYLIE,

I find MEKEEL'S the best medium for reaching collectors, and my rapidly expanding business is the rest of your bringing home to collectors my policy of co-operation. I am signing a three thousand line contract for 1927 as I need more space to keep up with this expansion.

C. I. CROWELL.

The above is self-explanatory. We congratulate Mr. Crowell upon the expansion in his business which makes possible the use of 3,000 lines during 1927. A testimonial of this character carries conviction with it.

METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 1482 Broadway, N. Y. CITY

ODDS AND ENDS:—

L. O. Ward sends us a clipping from the Indianapolis News of Feb. 1, in which is detailed an interesting story. Twenty-five years ago Lucien King, who was then collecting stamps, located a correspondent in Cairo, Egypt, with an interchange of letters and stamps. At the present time the sons of these two men are now engaged in a similar exchange of courtesies.

IN the Export Trade and Finance for Nov. 20 and 27, appears a valuable article on "Chinese Money" which is an admirable survey of the currencies of China. We contemplated the reprinting of it, as the publishers very courteously released to us this copyrighted production of Mr. Warrack Wallace. We find, however, that the article is too lengthy and not sufficiently philatelic for us to reprint. Interested parties can secure copies of the two issues above mentioned by remitting 20c to the publishers, 20 Vesey St., N. Y. City.

SEC. SCHMALZ of the Cincinnati Collectors Club informs us that Jack Cost gave an entertaining talk on U. S. coins at the meeting held Feb. 3. It was supplemented by an exhibit from his collection.

W. G. Watt, M.D., South Deerfield, Mass., has a complete file of the WEEKLY from 1913 to 1926 inclusive that he will present to any stamp club paying transportation charges. Dr. Watt writes:—"I hate to part with them after all these years, but the pile is getting bulky and I need the room."

THE Bloomfield (N. J.) Stamp Club meets every Thursday night at the Community House at Bloomfield. The club now has eighteen members.

C. L. CARTER, 2761 Constitution Road, Camden, N. J., would like the present addresses of Sanford Newman, 570 Union Av., N. Y. City, H. Kittenplan, 1040 Fox St., N. Y. City, and H. H. Wood, 5561 Ashland Av., St. Louis, Mo. Who can favor him?

WE have a Volume I, Number 1 of the Junior Stamp Echo, Box 226, Times Square Sta., N. Y. City. It is a well printed magazine and looks promising. A sample copy will probably be sent upon request. The new magazine is edited by F. L. Wilson and we wish the new publication all success.

IT will be remembered that the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Inc., had a very large advertisement in our issue of Oct. 4. The Jewett Printing Co. furnished a large number of reprints of that advertisement for the use of the firm at the New York Exhibition, a second edition followed, and now a third order for 5,000 copies has been filled.

IN our issue of Dec. 27, Sevard under "Seals, Slogans and Stamps" called attention to a rare type of the first issue of Christmas seals with the words "Happy New Year" attached, the same being a second printing. It was stated that this item was not in exhibit 321 at the New York Exhibition. In a letter from Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, he writes:—"I possess this item on an original cover on face of envelope with 1c U. S. green of the 1902 issue attached and postmarked Wilmington, Dec. 28, 1 P. M. 1907."

MANAGING EDITOR VISITS EUROPE

Willard O. Wylie, managing editor of the WEEKLY, plans to leave New York, May 11, on the De Grasse for a trip to Europe in which business and pleasure will be combined. As our publication has numerous business connections abroad it is Mr. Wylie's intention to become better acquainted with our patrons and to meet any who contemplate advertising in U. S. stamp papers. His tentative dates are as follows:—

May 20-25, Paris, France.
 " 27, Berne, Switzerland.
 " 28-29, Interlaken, Switzerland.
 " 30, Lucerne, Switzerland.
 June 2, Zurich, Switzerland.
 " 4, Heidelberg, Germany.
 " 6, Cologne, Germany.
 " 7-10, Ostend, Belgium.
 " 11-12, Brussels, Belgium.
 " 14-16, Amsterdam, Holland.
 " 18-23, London, England.
 " 27, Edinburgh, Scotland.
 " 30, Glasgow, Scotland.
 July 2, Belfast, Ireland.
 " 5, Queenstown, Ireland.

AS AN INVESTMENT

By E. J. NANKIVELL.

When a stamp collector is charged with being extravagant and with spending money lavishly and foolishly on a mere hobby, he may very justifiably reply that even his most extravagant spendings may be regarded as an investment.

The ordinary investor in, say, industrial securities, is fairly content if he can, with a little risk, secure a steady six or seven per cent. If he launches out into more speculative shares, yielding higher rates of interest, he must be content to face a much greater risk of the capital invested. Now, the severest test of an investment is the yield of interest over a series of years covering periods of depression as well as periods

Many messages of good-will have come as a consequence of the issue celebrating the high-water circulation mark of ten thousand. We are gratified to hear from the readers who seem to take a personal interest in the WEEKLY's welfare and their opinions are welcome; and expressions from brother editors have been music to our ears. One of the non-philatelic publishers who circulates about a million of his monthly and whose mentorship is welcome says: "It is a feat to get a real swing of ten thousand copies for a paper that cannot go out into the highways but must content itself by working in the by-ways. Your success indicates that your readers do something to help you along and you are fortunate to have the co-operation of a host of them." We know it!

Ever since we published references to the imperforate Philippines of the current issue, we have been receiving comments in connection with the stamps. Mr. Charles F. Becker, Livermore, California, says that a correspondent in the islands remarks that the only canceled copies that he knows of are in the possession of two collectors; and that the stamps are few in number. Mr. Becker forwards a picture of an envelope bearing the complete set, including the special delivery, of the imperforates, which is accompanied by the following statement of the Director of Posts, Manila, September 24, 1925: "This is to certify that this envelope was the only one of its kind which bore unperforated postage stamps, carried by Commander Francesco de Pinedo from Manila to Aparri. The stamps are also a complete set of all Philippine postage stamps." The stamps are canceled with the aeroplane cancellation, "via Pinedo's flight round the world."

A correspondent in Montevideo, Uruguay, says that the commemorative issues of recent years have stimulated stamp interest there; and he adds the usual comment that the very early issues of Uruguay are most elusive there, although many of them are held in great collections in South America.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.

1 WEST 47TH STREET,

NEW YORK, N. Y.

From the somewhat veiled allusions of a friend who writes from Washington, one or more drives are impending for commemorative issues but no definite information is given. One thing is certain and that is that the movement for additional stamps of the kind does not originate in the post office department!

* * *

A correspondent knowing of our interest in the earlier phases of philately, which in the aggregate may be said to constitute its history, has sent us an interesting notice that was distributed by an enterprising citizen of Kansas City, Mo., over fifty years ago or in January, 1875. The following card was addressed to Postmasters and was signed by Harlow J. Boyce, Postoffice Building, Kansas City, Mo.: "I would call attention of postmasters to the fact that there is now in their hands a large number of postage stamps and stamped envelopes of the issues of 1861 and 1869, which I am desirous of obtaining to fill collections. If any postmaster will inform me of the amount of these stamps and envelopes he may have, I will immediately send him the money to purchase the same, which will not only assist him, but prove a benefit to the Postoffice Department by withdrawing the stamps from sale. This will not in any way infringe on the P. M. General's order that forbids the soliciting the sale of stamps by a postmaster outside of the delivery of his office, as the soliciting is altogether on my side, neither does it injure the department in any way."

The foregoing offer was made in the Coin and Stamp Journal, Number One,

Volume One, published at Kansas City, Mo., by W. E. Winner and dated January, 1875. In its second year, this paper was issued by Joseph J. Casey, New York, and some time later, Mr. Casey, who is well remembered for his long association with philately, ran afoul of M. Kottshofski, New York, publisher of the Philatelic Snoozer and sued him for defamation of character. The philatelic editors were fire-eaters in those days and many of them thought it a sign of weakness to dwell in amity with their fellow editors.

From two of our readers we have received samples of unused U. S. locals that have been in their possession for many years and they have high hopes that their holdings may be of great value. Naturally, they will be disappointed to learn that their stamps are almost valueless as they are to be classified as reprints or worse. Almost from the beginning of philately, there was a demand for locals from Europe where they seem to have been appreciated more than at home. As a consequence, it was said by Mr. W. P. Brown in 1870, that Mr. Kline of Philadelphia and Mr. Hussey of New York brought about a condition to meet the desires of collectors for the stamps. It is said that they were instrumental in securing from the proprietors of some of the posts quantities of the original stamps and that from others they obtained the original plates which were utilized to largely increase the visible supply of the stamps. These reprints were in original colors approximately. It was not long before the market was demoralized as a consequence because of the difficulty of segregating originals from reprints. Then fancy colors came forth to spur interest and S. Allen Taylor and others turned their maladroitness to imitating the locals and the results of this activity made the locals danger-signal to the ordinary collector. However, for years, reprints of the locals were sold by large dealers at cheap prices and they were employed by mail collectors to fill in the pages of the album. One of the arguments of the vendors of the stamps was that the originals were beyond the reach of the collector and that the fac-similes filled the "unsightly gaps" on the album pages. Today, those who specialize in U. S. locals want the stamps on the original cover not alone because of the interest in such covers carry, but because they lose authenticity to the stamps.

It is to be said that the Confederate locals similarly were sold as fac-similes soon after they appeared and collectors were aware of their desirability. For instance, in 1872, an eastern dealer advertised that he would supply fifty varieties of them for eighteen cents, postage free, and it was a poor collector, indeed who could not afford to avail himself of this bargain price. For that matter the same dealer advertised U. S. locals at three dollars per thousand stamps when they were put up in sets of 25, 50,

100 varieties, five thousand were priced at $12.50. No fewer than one thousand are to be had at these quotations; and it is reasonable to say that some of these will survive to this day.

The scandal of the sale of the Port lad provisionals is so glaring that no philatologists for the stamps themselves have appeared. On the contrary, they are condemned by all those who have any knowledge of the surprising circumstances of the sale of the stamps. An ideal is made that the four surcharges are boycotted as they represent speculation and riot. It is said that King Fuad, whose philatelic enthusiasm is established, was presented with two hundred sets of stamps. The prediction is made that the unjustified quotations that are made of the set will decline, when sober second thought has sway. We thank several correspondents who have written to deplore this senseless orgy of stamp lust.

TAIL LIGHTS FOR THE GOOD OLD B. C. BJS

PARKING WITH YOUR TAIL-LIGHT OUT—WELL, IT'S NOT CONSIDERED GOOD FORM IN OUR TOWN, THOSE CUTE LITTLE WINDOWS at the end of most every BRITISH COLONY are meant to be FILLED with a nice RED or GREEN or BLUE or YELLOW picture of KING GEORGE with a "WAR TAX" SIGNAL ACROSS IT. AND YOUR BRITISH COLONY IS NOT COMPLETE UNTIL YOU HAVE ADDED THE "TAIL-LIGHT". The "WAR TAXES" mean a lot—THEY STAND FOR THE THRILLINGLY QUICK RESPONSE EVERY COLONY MADE WHEN BRITAIN NEEDED THEM—LOCAL PRINTINGS, quickly brought out and PRETTY SCARCE, and LATER PRINTINGS to supply a revenue. We append a COMPREHENSIVE LIST—PRICES ARE AS LOW AS IS CONSISTENT WITH GUARANTEED STOCK—ALL MINT—CAREFULLY SELECTED—GENUINE ORIGINALS—

CANCELLATIONS ON 2c RED PERF. 11
By SEVARD.

Those who desire a primary check list on the current 2c perf. 11, red cancellations, may include the following:

Townmarks: 20mm, 21mm, 25mm, 29mm, 31mm with a 29mm R. P. O.

Wave mark:

Wave number breaks: Chicago die numbers and Massachusetts postal district numbers.

Flag mark: From American machines.

Straights:

Straight station breaks: Like G. P. O. Annex, Pratt Str. Sta., New Lots Sta., Bush Terminal Sta.

Postal Station Boxes: Like Stapleton Station, Clearwater, etc.

Postal Station Boxes with district number and die letter: As for Back Bay and North Postal in Boston.

C, D, R & T marks: Waves and Slogans, as in City Hall Station, N. Y.

Die Number Slogans: Chicago Let's Go.

Slogans: The many slogans in past four years. A nicely centered airplane from AIR MAIL SAVES TIME.

Duplex Handstamp Numbers: 1 to 8 and a few ranging in the higher numbers. Note that there is no sequence.

Vertical Bar Handstamp Numbers: Here again there is no sequence. Nos. 25 and 59 you must have seen.

Duplex Handstamp Letters: C is commonest.

27mm to 29mm Town Handstamp Grids: Thin, medium and thick.

R. M. S. from 29mm R. P. O.—Several types.

31mm Town Regulations: Thick bars and thin bars, also slogan type "Show Your Return Address On All Mail."

Rollers: Several types, staggered tread, Atlanta, Ga., type.

Boxes: Name of town in rectangle.

Ovals: Plain centers, Station Registered with plain center.

Oval Letters: Small, medium, large.

Oval Numbers: Low numbers and drug-store ovals.

Oval Datings:

Oval Station Legends: G. S. STA., C. P. O., S. P., FERRY.

Dispatch Marks: Registered, M. O. B., C. O. D., Return to Sender, Mailed on Rural Route, Via Air Mail, Insured, Fragile, Parcels Post.

Smudges:

Targets:

Corks: Quadrants, sextants and octants. Precancelled showing types.

Oddities the which and whyfore are querulously insouciant.

When asked for the value of these, I bethink myself of an old skit at Tony Pastor's. An accoutered maid in distress bewails, "Here I have been dusting and dusting and dusting. I promised to meet my lover at twelve o'clock and here it is half-past eleven and he isn't here yet."

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—A junior wants to know where he can get the book, "Postage Stamps of Rhodesia." Please try Eugene Klein, whose address is given on our first page.

—Roy Danford sends us a clipping giving the particulars of the activities of the stamp club connected with the Piedmont (Cal.) High School. It has had six months of life and is proving very successful.

Are These Stamps Alike?

No. I.

No. II.

Above are two 1d King George stamps of Great Britain. Can any of our Juniors detect a tangible difference? If so write us a letter and you may get something for your trouble.

"Postfaerge"

The Parcel Post stamps of Denmark, 1910-24, have the word "POSTFAERGE" surcharged on the regular issues of 1913-22. The stamps are used for postal packets sent by the Esbjerg-Fano and Logstor-Aggersund Ferry Services. The variety "POSTFAERGE" occurs once in the setting of the surcharge and is found on all values.

We have been very much pleased at the interest shown by our Juniors in locating "Postfaerge" on the stamps of Denmark. All kinds of letters accompanied the solutions received, and we are very glad that we have been able to provide our young readers with a worthwhile hunt. We list the names of those who found the word. A suitable stamp award has been sent to each, and it is probable that a supplementary list of names will be published next week:—

F. W. Monarch (17), J. C. Brooks, David Van Voorhis Jr., Jerome M. Contune, O. Fay Allen Jr. (14), Lois P. Allen (10), Jack Morgan (11), Alexander A. Zoesch (13), John F. Halleran (15), James Staver, G. Harrison Townsend (16), Chester Marcinkowski (15), Edw. Merrill, Louis A. Otto Jr. (15), Joseph Wilker, Chas. S. Latham, Fred B. MacMahon, Robert Raffan (11), Max Meiere, Wm. S. Kinney Jr.

Junior Glossary

"Jubilee" Line.—A colored rule surrounding the sheet (on the margins) on most of the surface-printed issues of Great Britain and Colonies, first adopted in 1887 (Queen Victoria's Jubilee). This line also protects the outer rows of clichés from undue wear.

Key Plate or Head Plate.—The plate from which the head and general features of design, apart from name and value, is produced in modern British Colonial stamps.

Locals.—Stamps having a franking power limited to a town, district, or route.

Marginal Inscriptions.—In addition to having control numbers and letters on the margins, some sheets of stamps have inscriptions such as:—names of printers, dates of manufacture, instructions as to use and value, etc. Marginal inscriptions are sometimes watermarked in the paper.

Margins.—The paper around a sheet or pane of stamps.

Mint.—Means an unused stamp in perfect condition with full gum, as when issued by the post office.

Obsolete.—Stamps no longer current, but not necessarily demonetized.

Nauru

By WM. S. K. JENKINS.

Nauru was once owned by Germany and called Pleasant Island, but its affairs were handled at the Marshall Islands capital Jaluit. The first German stamps were overprinted Marshall-Inseln and were of the Colonial Ship type. When the Great World war broke out, the Australian troops occupied the Island, the British Government decided to hold a temporary control of the Island, and sent British stamps with the overprint Nauru. These stamps are very interesting.

The Junior's Dictionary

Used Abroad.—A term applied to the stamps of a country used in one of its colonies, protectorates or consular offices maintained in a foreign country. In many of the British colonies British stamps were on sale before the colonies issued their own distinctive stamps and these are generally termed "British used abroad." Similarly the United States stamps used at the consular office at Shanghai are "U. S. used abroad."

U. S. I. R. (United States Internal Revenue).—A watermark found in connection with many United States revenue stamps.

Uskub.—A city of Turkey. This word with Turkish hieroglyphics was surcharged on certain stamps of Turkey to commemorate a visit of the Sultan to Rumelia in 1910.

U. S. Mail.—Appears on the 2c carrier's stamp of New York issued in 1846.

U. S. Penny Post.—Is shown upon the first 2c carrier's stamp issued in Boston in 1849.

U. S. P. O. (United States Post Office).—These letters are shown upon all the Philadelphia carrier's stamps issued in 1849-52.

U. S. P. O. Despatch.—Appears on the 1c Eagle carrier's stamp issued in 1851.

U. S. Postage.—Shown on most of the postage stamps of the United States.

U. S. P. S.—These letters were watermarked in most of the United States postage stamps issued between 1895 and 1916. They stand for "United States Postal Service."

Origin of Countries' Names

(Insert in Your Album.)

NATAL.—Vasca da Gama had a view of the place from the sea on his voyage to India on Christmas Day, 1497, and called it "Terra Natalis," with reference to Dies Natalis = "the Birthday of Our Lord."

ST. CHRISTOPHER.—This name was bestowed by Columbus, who discovered the island in 1493. The name means "Christ Bearer," from the well known legend.

ST. HELENA, after whom this island was named by Joao da Nova, its discoverer, on May 21st, 1502, was the wife of Constantine the First, and the mother of Constantine the Great. When of great age she went a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and as a legend tells, was associated with finding the Cross upon which Christ was crucified, in memory of which event the Festival the "Invention of the Cross" was founded. In Greek mythology Helen is Sarama = "The Dawn." In the myth, the bright cows, i.e., the rays of the sun, are stolen by the Panis, the powers of darkness, and Sarama, the early dawn, is sent to look for them. The verse, "Sarama is looking for the cows," meant "dawn is beginning to break."

ST. LUCIA is so named because discovered by Columbus on St. Lucia's Day. The name is the feminine of Lucius = "born at daylight" from Latin lux, lucis = "light."—Stamp Collecting.

LETTER FROM A JUNIOR

(The following letter is a fair sample of many that are coming to the Managing Editor in connection with our new feature of the Junior Page. It indicates the interest that being taken by juniors in stamp collecting, and the absolute necessity of cultivating that interest. Philatelic newspapers and societies generally will do well to meet the great need of educating juniors in the fundamentals of philately. We publish this letter without asking Mr. Todd's consent, believing that it carries with it, its own lesson to those who consider themselves advanced collectors.—Ed.)

DEAR JUNIOR EDITOR:

I have been wanting to write to you for quite a while, but as I graduate from high school this week, and have little to do, I have finally found time. I am almost seventeen years old and my collection of about 6,000 was started in 1922.

My collection is mainly general, but of late I have been specializing as much as my purse will allow, in Hong-Kong. My brother, who is twelve years of age, has a collection about as large as mine mainly because he started at the time I did and gets half of all the stamps that come into the house. He specializes in Barbados, and we each get first call on our specialties, and then fight over the other countries.

I have a paper route and manage to make enough money to buy a million of the stamps I want.

I notice that quite a few of my Queen Hong Kong are cancelled with a gr. that has B62 in the center. Is this cancellation merely the one allotted to by the British government, or what?

My brother and I manage to get a number of the new issues by going in the banks and importing houses and asking for stamps. We have the late Persian set, the one surcharged "Reign of Pahlavi," almost complete and many others, too.

I bought some White Plains stamps and found a dot over the T in state. This stamp is in the third row and first column of plate 18767.

One more question. I have some Orange River Free State Stamps surcharged TF. Their catalogue numbers unsurcharged are 43, 32, 2, 3, 24, and an ultramarine stamp with Zes Pence on it, the catalogue number must be 42a, but the one I have is used and the catalogue says it was not placed in use without a surcharge. Will you please tell me if the stamps are out-of-the-ordinary and what their value is? I enclose a stamp addressed envelope for a reply.

GEORGE TODD.

HARRIS PUBLICATIONS LTD.

We recently published two articles from the Philatelic Magazine. They are both written by Calaban and in some unexplainable manner proper credit was not given this splendid publication.
We make public amends, expressing regrets.
We learn that the Harris Publications
Ltd. are about to celebrate the 300th anniversary and seventeenth year of continuous publication of the Philatelic Maga- zine under the same management. We congratulate Mr. Albert H. Harris upon the success he has achieved. Of the more than half-dozen magazines and annals issued by this firm the Philatelic Magazine easily takes the lead. It is well edited, splendidly printed and got-ting up in an attractive manner.

STAMP CONTROVERSY IN GERMANY

The new German stamps have produced a storm of criticism in certain parts of Germany. It is finding expression not only in the spoken word but in articles and cartoons appearing in the German press. The two clippings which we print below are taken from British papers, although our correspondent does not indicate their names.

J. L. Riedel of Nurnberg has sent us a cartoon in colours which appeared in a Bavarian paper. It shows the set of eight stamps and each is used for a head, for a figure which portrays at full length the subject of the stamp. Underneath the cartoon is the inscription "Bavarians, do not write any more letters. There are only foreigners on our stamps."

A PRUSSIAN KING'S HEAD ON REPUBLICAN STAMPS

BERLIN, Nov. 28.
The 10 pfennig stamps bearing the head of Frederick the Great, popularly known as "Fredericus stamps," were issued in spite of Republican and Bavarian objections and have been in use for several weeks, but now the Reichsbanner organization has suggested two methods of recording Republican dissatisfaction with this emblem of the Prussian monarchy.
One is to use on all envelopes requiring ten pfennigs postage two 5 pfennig stamps (bearing the head of Schiller), and to indicate that this choice is deliberate by sticking one in each of the top corners instead of both together in the right-hand top corner. The other method is to frame the head of Frederick the Great in Republican colours. For this purpose special squares of paper with gummed backs have been provided.
Upon them a frame of black, red, and gold is printed round a blank space the size of a 10-pfennig stamp. These squares are stuck in the corner of the envelope and the "Fredericus" stamps are affixed to them. The Minister of Posts, however, has just issued a communication warning the public that such procedure is contrary to the postal regulations and announcing that letters stamped in this manner will not be delivered.

REPUBLICANS' OBJECTION TO FREDERICK THE GREAT

BERLIN, Dec. 28.
Although the 10 pfennig stamps bearing the head of Frederick the Great have been on sale for a number of weeks, energetic Republicans are still inventing new methods of recording their dissatisfaction. The Ministry of Posts put a stop to the affixing of two 5 pfennig stamps (bearing, in the new series, the head of the poet Schiller) in opposite corners of the envelope as a mark of protest, and also to the ingenious process by which the "Fredericus stamp" was framed with the Republican colours.
Certain Republican institutions in the Hanover district thereupon hit on the idea of refusing all postal matter stamped with the head of Frederick.

For this purpose they had special labels prepared bearing the words "Acceptance refused because stamped with Fredericus stamp, as protest against the Monarchist-militarist propaganda of the German Reichs Post Office." These labels were affixed to all letters or packages arriving with the "Fredericus stamp," which were then returned to the postman. According to the Socialist Hannoversche Volkswille, the Postmaster of Hanover recently addressed notices to several institutions requesting them to accept delivery of postal matter stamped with the "Fredericus stamp," and describing the wording of the labels as an insult to the Reichs Minister of Posts. The Postmaster declares that he took this step in only one case.

He admits having given notice that letters and packages refused by the addressees and decorated with the label in question would not be returned to the senders, because the wording of the re-an insult to the Minister of Posts.

Postal matter thus refused would simply bearing only the words "Acceptance re-

NEW PHILIPPINES

There has recently been issued at Manila a series of stamps, locally printed, illustrating the Legislative Building. The issue consists of a 2c, 4c, 16c, 18c, 20c, 24c and 1 peso. Of the latter, only 10,000 were printed. These stamps are in two colors, are attractive, and I am informed that the plates have been destroyed so that no further quantity can be issued.

Price for the complete series in mint condition $1.50—pairs or blocks at proportionate rates.

Prices on the Philippine imperforates recently offered are herewith withdrawn. While some are still available, the prices are somewhat advanced.

If you are looking for anything in the way of United States issues, I offer a wonderful stock from which to select. I am also in the market for anything in the way of fine United States items or properties.

1922-25, 5c Rotary Double Paper

I have just been shown a strip of twenty of the 5c blue Roosevelt rotary print, perforated 10, on the double paper previously described in this column. This is due to a paste-up in the paper and has appeared on several other denominations heretofore. This strip was found at the San Francisco post office and shows the Bureau precancel of that city. It is from plate 16671.

The Nassau Stamp Company have also located the 1 1/2c rotary, perforated 10, showing a similar variety of paper.

2c Sesquicentennial

The Postal Bulletin of February 3rd carries a notice from Mr. R. S. Regar, Third Assistant Postmaster General, stating that the requisitions submitted by postmasters for Sesquicentennial Exhibition stamps in response to a notice published in the Bulletin of January 21st, have already exhausted the quantity available, and that a number of requisitions are now on file that cannot be filled from stock. Postmasters are, therefore, instructed to withhold further requisitions for these stamps. They are notified that those received after the depletion of the available stock will be returned to postmasters. This means that in so far as the Post Office Department at Washington is concerned, the Sesquicentennial issue is at an end.

White Plains Stamp

I understand that the Chamber of Commerce at White Plains was greatly disappointed to learn through a recent Postal Bulletin that the supply of White Plains stamps had become exhausted and I am informed it is their intention to ask the Department to supply them with a further quantity. It is doubtful whether they will consent to reissue this variety, although the matter has not as yet been officially presented and, of course, no action can be taken until it is.

Air Mail Notes

As previously mentioned in this column, the new flat rate of 10c per half ounce on air mail in the United States, irrespective of destination, went into effect on February 1st. While special cancellations furnished by Washington were not supplied, several of the cities applied markings of interest and worthy of note.

The postmaster at Springfield, Ill., who solicited business with the understanding that the covers would bear a special postmark was unfortunately prevented by Washington from using this postmark. He, however, sent out very attractive communications in specially prepared envelopes and on the back of the covers, we find a marking in blue within a circle reading, "New Air Mail Rate 10c Per 1/2 Ounce—The Home of Lincoln" showing a portrait of the log cabin in the center. The postmaster at Salt Lake City had prepared a special violet marking in three lines reading, "First Flight New Rate—February 1, 1927—From Salt Lake City, Utah."

Those from Elko showed the well known violet insignia of the air mail service.

Seattle marked its communications in magenta, "Via Air Mail."

Minneapolis used a large stamp reading, "Air Mail."

Cleveland used an insignia similar to Elko but printed theirs in magenta.

Detroit had a most attractive marking, which by the way they applied on the front of the cover, wherein we find within three concentric circles the following: Air Mail Anywhere In U.S.A.—Feb. 1,—10c Each 1/2 Ounce." This was applied in magenta.

Letters on the first day from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Pasco, Fort Worth, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis, the other terminals of the several air mail routes, bore no special markings although they were all postmarked on both the front and back showing that they were carried on the first trip of the new rate.

FIRST FLIGHTS under the new 10c rate for Air Mails, took place Feb. 1st. The Postmaster at Springfield, Ill., prepared special covers and applied a special cachet on the back. We have a few, properly backstamped covers (large size) @ 40c. THE AMERICAN AIRMAIL CATALOGUE is now ready. Fully illustrated. Price $1.00. Until Mar. 1st—The above cover and The American Catalogue Postfree, $1.20. THE BERKSHIRE EXCHANGE, CUMMINGTON, MASS.

FELIX COHEN P. O. Box 1823, ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT
Member of the A.P.S. since 1908. [261-90]

trait stamp of 1918-23, 8 pies grey-brown.—Stamp Collecting.

CUBA.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that the Express stamp, their type "C", has been issued on the star watermarked paper.

EGYPT.—"Port Fuad."—M. M. La. Philatelic Orientale informs us that the surcharge was lithographed. A "considerable breeze" is going on in Egypt about these stamps, and we have received numerous newspaper reports but no official announcement seems to have been made yet.

Air Mail.—The same correspondents send us an Official Notice undated, which states that on the 12th inst. the Air Mail would be extended to Basra and announcing various changes in the postal rates. Our correspondent states that the present air stamp is likely to be withdrawn and, as no great quantity have been printed, become scarce.

Stop Press.—We are officially informed that 2,500 copies were printed of each of the three low values, and 1,500 copies of the 50pi, Port Fuad commemoratives.—Philatelic Magazine.

FIJI.—Mr. R. Roberts notes the following new issues: 1p purple, new color; 1 1/2p carmine, new value and 2sh purple and blue on blue, all script watermark.

FRANCE.—The Economist Stamp Co. inform us of the following new issues: 80c red-orange, Sower type, surcharged "50c" in black; semi postal issue, 1fr design as SP8, with the added value 25c; 1fr type D3, in red-lilac color.

GERMANY.—Mr. J. L. Riedel advises that the German Reichpost Minister announces that the whole stock of the 1924 and 1925 Charity issues, Scott's Nos. 482-485 and Nos. 486-488 have been burnt.

KELANTAN.—3c is on order in brown, being a change of colour and first time issued on script paper.—Philatelic Magazine.

LATVIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. send for mention a set of five values of oblong stamps 45mm long by 26mm wide, perf. 10, with the inscription in small letters at the base "Laikrakstu Parvada-jumu Samaksai." Figures of value are in each upper corner and in the centre the usual Coat of Arms with the words "Latvijas Dzelsceli." The values and colors are: 10s olive-gray, 15s red-lilac, 20s red-orange, 50s green and 1l yellow.

MAURITIUS.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co., Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. copies of the 3c green, 8c orange and 10c carmine, King's Head type, script watermark.

MONACO.—Mr. Henry Hooreman reports the appearance of the 1fr 50c blue, design as Scott's A13.

New GUINEA.—The Economist Stamp Co. call our attention to a new value in the current type. It is the 1 1/2p red-orange.

NYASALAND.—The 2sh blue and lilac on blue, script watermark, same design as the 1sh of the new set chronicled last week has been issued. Copies have been received from Mr. R. Roberts.

POLAND.—Two interesting new stamps are promised for early issue, viz.:—80gr, Portrait of Frédéric Chopin and 1zl, Portrait of new Polish President.—Stamp Collecting.

SAAR.—Mr. J. L. Riedel submits for chronicle a new 20c brown-red stamp of new design. It is oblong shape, perf. 13, and is the forerunner of a new series of fifteen different values. Mr. Riedel describes these stamps as "wonderful pictorials." Another correspondent advises that 10c and 30c will show the Fountain of St. Jean at Marche; the 15c and 75c, a view of the valley of the Saar at Guding; 20c and 40c, picture, Part of the Fortifications at Saarlouis; 25c, 50c and 5fr, the Abbey of Tholey with view of Schaumberg; 80c and 1fr have a scene of the Mine Pits and the 1fr 50c, 2 and 3fr "Burbacherhutte."

SAMOA.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 2sh and 3sh stamps of New Zealand, King George Admiral uniform type, have been overprinted in red, for use in this colony.

SEYCHELLES.—A new value has recently been issued. It is a 9c rose, script watermark. Mr. R. Roberts sends a copy for chronicle.

SIAM.—A commemorative series was issued on November 8th to mark the anniversary of the accession of King Prajadhipok to the Siamese throne. The following particulars are from M. Th. Champion:—

New design, engraved and printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd., London. 2s, 3,000,000; 3s, 5,000,000; 5s, 6,300,000; 10s, 5,000,000; 15s, 700,000; 25s, 400,000; 50s, 400,000; 1t, 400,000; 2t, 400,000; 3t, 400,000; 5t, 100,000; 10t, 100,000; 20t, 100,000; 40t, 100,000.—Stamp Collecting.

URUGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us that the 3c green has been issued in the re-engraved type, design as of A100 but with the imprint "Imp Nacional."

The Map Stamps of the World

By W. L. KINKEAD, Ridgewood, N. J.

(This list of Map Stamps is reprinted from our files of 1924. No doubt a goodly number of additions can be made and we want our sharp eyed Juniors to send in additional lists of candidates for our chronicle. If you get only one we shall recognize your cooperation on our Junior Page. This is for Juniors only.—Ed.)

Naturally, when one starts to study what map stamps can teach them they look to their own country first, and we find only the 10c Louisiana Purchase Issue, Scott's No. 327, with its story of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803 from Napoleon for $15,000,000, carried through by Mr. Robert Livingston, then Ambassador to France. That map shows our country, but not North America, which we find depicted on a set of stamps, issued by the North American Telegraph Co. to frank their tolls, Scott's Nos. 3477-3484.

Canada was far reaching in this respect, issuing the two stamps, Scott's Nos. 82-83.

Newfoundland's one stamp shows in outline its entire country, Scott's No. 98. Mexico, fortunately, was not so ambitious, and she made no remarks on her two map stamps, Nos. 512 and 624.

It may seem odd that more map stamps have been issued by 14 different countries in the Western Hemisphere than in all the Eastern. But is this to be wondered at, when we realize that the people of these Western countries are far more concerned "about being on the map" than their older sisters of the Eastern Hemisphere?

In Central America we find more map stamps than in any other part of the World, for here we find those map stamps issued during the Seebeck Days by Nicaragua, to the number of 67, both in the general issues and her officials, Scott's Nos. 81-98i and 863-880i.

Then comes Costa Rica with her two beautiful stamps of 1923, with the map showing the Western Hemisphere and the head of Columbus, whom so many Western countries have delighted to honor, and his three caravels, Scott's Nos. 123 and 125.

Here we find Panama with her 130 map stamps, Nos. 1-83, 101-139, 151-162, 179-184, 196, 203, 205, 302, 341-346, 401-407, 431-435, 529-530, picturing two oceans and the Isthmus, celebrated because of the Canal.

The 18 Canal Zone stamps, Nos. 1-3, 9-15, 28-30, 46-48, on those of Panama, with the dark green stamp showing the relief map of the Zone, brings us to the single stamp of the Colombian Republic, Scott's No. 668, for which I had a long hunt—who has it used?

Brazil globes, Nos. 172-173, 215-217, 225-226, 234, and Argentina map stamps, Nos. 286-291, 308-309, 319, 629, are of interest, but the writer questions whether the former should be mentioned as map stamps.

Venezuela, in 1896, issued five stamps, Scott's Nos. 119-123.

Turning our faces North, we find the ten stamps of the Dominican Republic, Nos. 111-119, showing the Island with Haiti.

Cuba next adds its eight, Nos. 253-260. Crossing the Atlantic, we first reach the Azores, Nos. 74-77, with their four stamps surcharged on the Globe map stamps of Portugal, and the same four stamps, of course, by Portugal, Nos. 106-109.

Going North, we find three stamps with a figure that looks more like a bear than the map of Ireland, Nos. 46-48.

Belgium No. 53, Bulgaria 153 and Esthonia 76, each contribute one stamp to our collection.

Belgium's map is especially noticeable, as it is the tiniest of all shown, as well as the first issued (1884-5).

Bulgaria's is but an outline, while Esthonia's is nicely framed.

We find the Australian Commonwealth map stamps surcharged, North Western

SOME PEOPLE LIKE 'EM

Here are three philatelic side-lines that sound almost too easy until you try to get a good showing together. Then you discover that while none of the things date back much more than twenty years, and some of it less than ten, it is quite a trick to find them.

SPANISH AMERICAN PATRIOTICS

Used in 1898-99. There should be plenty of them among your own files of correspondence. We looked and found nothing. We advertised, and got nothing—at first. Finally, after months of advertising, we picked up three small collections, and a very few odd covers. The best of the collections showed less than 50 varieties. All are exceptionally clean, bright covers. Some show only flags, shields, etc. Others have patriotic and war-time slogans, a few bear caricatures. We offer some of them at $1.25 each; 5 var. $6.00.

Commemorative Issues on Covers

It seems as if any regularly issued U. S. stamp brought out since 1890 should be very easy to find on cover. We have found it otherwise. Any of the 2c stamps are easy enough, from the Columbian issue to the Norse-American or White Plains, but the odd values, particularly the 3c, 5c, are hard to find in any commercial quantity. We recently bought an accumulation of several hundred such covers, with contemporary postmarks, but not enough of any to list here. We can supply the Columbian issue, as singles or in various combinations, on covers, from the 1c to 50c values; all of the Omahas; all of the Pan-Americans; many of the Panama-Pacific. There are duplicates, so if you want a fairly representative little collection or only wish to fill in some gaps, let us have your want list and we will supply quotations or send on approval.

Air-Mail Covers

This is the first time we have advertised air-mail covers. We began putting them aside years ago when the first official mail routes were established. We find little interest in the exhibition hops made prior to 1914, but have preserved first flight and regular flight covers over a great many routes. Not enough of any of them to advertise as bargains, but we have them at prices ranging from 25c to $10. Let us know what you seek.

"WHAT NEXT?" ASKS MR. PHIL. ATLEE

By H. P. ATHERTON.

Did this jolly little query ever pop into your head when you had secured the last lone lingering standard catalog number in your pet country? It is a wonderful sensation, getting a fine specimen to fill the last vacant spot in your album pages. It has been done by many a collector, and in many of the countries. Collectors used to boast that they had one country complete; this was before the World War. They would open their album to Poland, where sure enough, right in the middle of the page would be a flat little narrow stamp, in pale blue and pink, now known as Poland No. 1. Yes, it was a complete collection—then.

They would turn back a few pages and bring to our gaze the three old friends in orange, blue and lake, the Ionian Islands, beautiful stamps, and rich colorings, yet there was a bit of regret always that we could not see a used copy. Some showed counterfeits, and never knew it, too. You hadn't the heart to tell them their prizes were "cft". There was lots of fun and rivalry in collecting in the old days, a stamp was a stamp in those days. Poland, however, has come to the front with a burst of speed since 1918, and in eight short years has put out over 225 postage stamps, and if their machinery doesn't get worn out completely, we will look for more issues right along.

But to get back to Mr. Atlee, who has been collecting about one year, and has just asked himself "What Next?", the occasion being the arrival of a peach of a copy of No. 15, the 5 shilling violet, "C C" of 1871, which completes his Jamaicas, tho he hopes to be able some day to replace a few of his "pineapples" with specimens that have a better color.

What next? How about U. S.? No, most of his friend collectors have too big a start on him. How about France and Colonies? Too many of them. Same with Germany, Gt. Britain, Portugal and Spain. How about the Windward Islands? Good idea. There's quite a lot of these, too, even if he has got Jamaica complete. He is looking at his Jamaicas as he ponders the question.

One of the stamps is cancelled with "A01" in a sort of ellipse formed by a couple of short curved lines at each side, and three lines above and below. That must signify a town cancellation, and probably the most prominent one, as many other A01s appear. He drags down the family Atlas, and finds that Kingston is in the biggest letters of any of the towns shown on the map, and he rightly muses, "So this is Kingston," and this Jamaica collection is not anywhere near complete, for here is an A32 with nothing between it and A01, and it would be fun to try and fill in those missing towns. He makes it a point to write a collector friend that day ending with a request for "the dope" on the cancellations of Jamaica. His friend is one of those good and helpful scouts, who laboriously copies all the list from an English catalog and sends it back with "Why don't you get a catalog that shows what these cancels mean?"

Mr. Atlee is now at just the point many collectors are, he collects stamps; but he has neglected the studying of stamps. He gets busy with a piece of tracing paper, and goes all round Jamaica on a little map which he got from a friend who is employed in a steamship agency. He gets to know the ports, and the locations of towns in the interior.

His steamship friend pays him a call one evening, to find him busily engaged in drawing the outline of Jamaica on one of his album pages, with notes, and lists, and dots for towns. He tells him Jamaica is a wonderful vacation resort and pretty soon the S. S. friend is getting interested himself in the stamps, for he allows he can get lots of stamps with pictures of "that girl mixing bread" (he means "Arawak making Cassava") and some with ships on etc., etc., which come to the office. Further, he has a friend with an S. S. Co in Marseilles, whose lines touch all along the North African coast, and he is sure that Jack will send him some of the stamps from their mail.

This is the way stamp collectors are made. Most men say, "Oh, yes, I collected stamps when I was a boy!" accent on the boy, of course. If these same old boy collectors stick around a while and see that stamp collecting has developed into Philately, that a torn copy is taboo, that a rich color is preferable to a mild one, that a stamp cancelled from a wee town is far scarcer than that from a city, that a used block of four is harder to find than four single copies—well, this intrigues them. "The game seems good. Guess I'll start in again, wonder where that old album is that I had when I was a kid."

The "What Next?" can best be answered by yourself.

Shades, perfs., and watermarks offer interesting study to many. If you like cancellations the field is vast in the larger countries. If you like used blocks there is still a chance to gather them. If you like covers, early ones, you may be surprised at the small amount of letter writing some countries have done.

Early covers from many small countries are surprisingly hard to secure, Bermuda, Bosnia, Bolivia, China, Corea, Cuba, Cyprus, Dominican Republic, Hayti, and right on down the list, countries having stamps that catalog little, cents rather than dollars, these are among our "hard-to-gets." The argument that covers take up too much room is rather laughable when applied to many of these countries, for if you get one, a whole album page is where it belongs.

Take any small country, say Guatemala; there are 20 stamps of the regular issues catalogued at a dollar or less, mostly less, before 1886. Sounds easy to get some of these on cover; but it isn't. Once in a while a parrot cover shows up; but you are indeed fortunate to find one of these quetzals (they have just named their coin for this bird, too) sitting on a cover, and the early heads and the shields are almost impossible to find. Try any other small countries—same way.

There is always an answer ready for your "what next?" Philately is big, and it is intricate.

OUR BOOK AGENCIES

Elsewhere in this issue on the Junior Page will be found a complete list of our book agencies, and subscribers interested in philatelic literature should examine our publications, of which there are over forty. The list is not published each week because of the space necessary to give it publicity.

We are frequently asked as to the remaining stock of our Dictionaries. We now have on hand some 300 copies out of an edition of two thousand. It is not likely that the book will be reprinted and those who desire to secure this valuable publication should do so at once.

How about 300?

COLONIAL NOTES
By "CALABAR."
Dealers Offers are always of interest to those who follow the market in modern Colonials, as they show quite clearly what stamps are in demand at the moment, as well as those which are due for further rises. By far the greater number of dealers' offers are made in the British philatelic press, which is only natural, in view of the fact that the London market, so far as modern Colonials are concerned, is the most active. Amongst the stamps wanted, I note the Cayman 10s 1921, Gibraltar 8s 1912, Jamaica 3s 1920, Malta 5s 1914, and 2s6d 1919, St. Kitts ½d to £1 1923, and Tanganyika 10s and £1 wmk. sideways. All of these are very popular stamps, and whilst selling in each instance at a substantial margin over face, top prices are still to be reached.

Barbados—It is surprising how few offers one sees of the large Seal type 3s 1916 printing—the more striking when compared with the numerous offers of its companion stamp, the 3s 1918. Whilst Catalogue prices are about the same for the two (22s and 20s, respectively, in the 1927 Gibbons) the market values show a much greater variation, the bi-coloured printing fetching 12s6d, with the other bringing close to £1. (This variation between market values, by the way, is less noticeable in the United States than elsewhere.) At the present time, the earlier printing is well worth buying, if obtainable at any considerable discount from Catalogue quotations.

Elsewhere in the philatelic press has appeared a most interesting article, which clears up, once and for all, the misunderstanding surrounding the particulars of the sale of the 1s small Seal type script. Hitherto, it has been assumed that the greater part of the issue was bought up by two or three speculators, whilst a few were disposed of over the counter. This assumption is now proved quite erroneous, the true facts being as follows. On September 18, 1924, a resident stamp vendor purchased 2,100 copies from the Treasury, Bridgetown, where the stamps had been deposited following their arrival from London. The G.P.O., learning of this transaction, took over the remaining stock—3,870—which they then put on sale. Two orders had already been cabled from dealers abroad, but owing to the limited stock on hand, the G.P.O. was unable to supply these in full. Of the 3,870 copies taken over by the G.P.O., 1,620 were used in filling orders from abroad, whilst the remaining 2,250 were disposed of to local buyers.

One other point, which the above-mentioned article settles, is worthy of note. Readers will recall that the 1s MCA was on sale again after the script printing had become exhausted. This fact has raised the question, why was the 1s script put on sale?—on the surface of things, a very natural question. As in the case of many other recent Colonials, however, there is more here than meets the eye. On September 18th, i.e., the date on which the 2,100 copies of the 1s script were purchased by the stamp vendor, a small supply of the MCA 1s was on hand at the G.P.O. In the ordinary course of events, the G.P.O. would have sold out this small supply before taking over the script variety, but this they were unable to do. Once the Treasury commenced selling the 1s script, the G.P.O. was automatically forced to begin selling this stamp themselves. The 1s script was completely sold out at the end of ten days' time, the MCA variety not becoming exhausted till the end of the year.

Solomon Islands Protectorate—The minor coloured paper varieties, e.g., 1s "experimental," 4d on lemon and pale yellow, &c., should be picked up whilst still obtainable cheaply, as these are bound to show a steady upward trend as time goes on.

Dominica—According to indications which have appeared recently in several quarters, the current 3s is well worth keeping an eye on during the next few weeks. Last November this particular stamp was "wanted for immediate cash" by a certain Continental dealer. This was highly significant, and showed quite clearly to those with knowledge of market activities that "something was up." Now comes the news that Gibbons' pricing is cancelled, proving fairly conclusively that the party making the above offer was in possession of certain well-founded information, and that we may look for things to begin happening very shortly. Whether this stamp is destined to repeat the performance of several other recent Colonials, e.g., Caymans 10s MCA, Turks 2s MCA, etc., is, at the time of writing, purely a matter of guess-work. At any rate, it will be well not to let slip the opportunity, in the face of these indications. Copies obtainable at the usual current issue rate are recommended as worth seizing on at once—Blocks of four being especially good, and likely to prove quite desirable property.

Gambia—The 5s current Pictorial type, old wmk., appears to be much scarcer than one would expect, $4 being asked several weeks ago in the WEEKLY. This stamp, readers are aware, exists on two distinct papers, viz., yellow and pale yellow. The latter is much the better of the two, and at present is changing hands for as high as £1 5s on the British market; the former, whilst quoted at a lower figure, is showing a steady hardening, rising from 12s6d to 18s6d in little more than a month. Used copies, postmarked during the proper period, are exceedingly hard to find anywhere, and, needless to add, of considerable rarity.

Speaking of used Colonials, the only safe way to ensure one's getting used copies of the scarcer items, is to make a practice of buying all sets of the out-of-the-way Colonies on entires as soon as they appear (or else pasting the stamps on the envelopes and sending them out oneself). Once a stamp starts soaring, even those dealers who handle modern Colonials on entires are, nine times out of ten, completely sold out, if the stamp in question is from one of the Colonies with a small stamp-using population.

DEATH OF H. A. MOUNT

Just as we go to press we hear of the death of H. A. Mount, through a letter from Philip H. Ward, Jr. None of the details incidental to the loss of this friend of Philately are available and the sad news will come as a severe shock to those who knew him. He had been in apparently good health. His connection with the Washington, D. C., Philatelic Agency brought him many friends through his unfailing courtesy.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

By CHARLES E. ROE.

Stamp tongs with celluloid tips would be lighter and less apt to tear the stamps. I find that ivory tipped forceps, such as chemists use, are much better than metal ones.

Stencils of bristol board with different sized rectangular holes help a lot in mounting stamps in blank albums, since the "square" can be quickly traced with a hard sharp pencil. These would be better if made of transparent celluloid.

I would like to see a perforation gauge made of thin celluloid, octagonal in shape, about eight centimeters in diameter, with the perforations from 8 to 16 inclusive, set in pairs along the edge. With this, a mounted stamp could be examined without disturbing it.

Smaller albums of about octavo size, of uniform make and appearance would help to keep the collector's library neater. I have about a dozen different shapes and sizes of album, like most of the collectors I know, and I would welcome

AN ENTOMOLOGICAL REFORM

By C. E. R.

In those dear dead departed days of yore, when Prohibition Was merely a mild theory, and not a stern condition, There lived a man named Henry Jones, a most congenial soul, Whose greatest fault was too much love for the well-known Flowing Bowl. A kind and gentle heart he had, likewise a loving wife, And a wondrous stamp collection which he valued more than life. His worship was distributed among the trinity Of Hymen, Philatelia, and Bacchus, these same three; But while at first he favored none, at last it came about, As has been intimated, that John Barleycorn won out. Then, driven past endurance, his wife took measures stern To break his shackles, so that he might to her arms return. She took some small domestic bugs, of various handy sizes, And glued to ev'ry insect's back one of Hank's paper prizes; She put them in a fancy box, and left it full in sight, And Jones, when he came reeling home, discovered it all right. He lifted up the cover, and before his starting eyes A hundred stamps erupted, to his horrified surprise. Some flew, some crawled, some hopped about, and Jones, he feebly said; "My eyesh hash sure gone back on me, I guesh I'll go to bed." He sought his cot, closed those said eyes, prepared to pass the night In trying to forget that horrid, fear-inspiring sight Whose memories were making him a feeble-minded wreck, When all at once a stamp came up and bit him on the neck! (The thing he thought was guilty was a black stamp from Bavaria, But the veritable villain was a Cimex Lectularia!) This was too much, oh, much too much, for his whiskey-weakened will, He took the pledge, and he kept it, and I think he keeps it still. For if he ever trips, his wife brings to his recollection That awful night, when he was bitten by his own collection!

Probably these suggestions are not novel except to myself, nor of any value; but such as they are I give them freely.

RADIO AND STAMP COLLECTING

Clipping from L. F. Beuchel.

A clear voice emitted by a loud speaker awakened in a stamp collector instant mental activity: "We have just received a letter from the steamship Cathlamet, a United States Shipping Board vessel, telling us that our program was received clearly off Gold Coast last week. The letter was mailed from Acora, Gold Coast. This is Station KDKA, Pittsburgh."

Gold Coast—Gold Coast! Why, he had no stamp from Gold Coast; in fact, he had never heard of it! The atlas was consulted; yes, there it was—a coast colony of the British Empire, along the Gulf of Guinea, in Northwestern Africa.

Now, how could he get that stamp? Would the management of KDKA let him have it? he wondered.

The next day he called at the studio and explained to the director what he wanted; told of his lifelong love for stamps, of the conflict which had been going on in his interests, between stamp collecting and the radio.

The director listened understandingly. He, too, had taken a great liking to his hobby of saving rare stamps. He had a whole drawer full of letters from far-off countries, commenting on the programs from the stations, and he had preserved intact all the envelopes with their queer stamps.

Opening the drawer of his desk, lifted out a handful of odd envelopes, all shapes and sizes. Some of them were addressed in English; others were written in angular Teutonic, with straight lines and few curves; some were back printed in vivid inks from the many nations of the globe.

The collector feasted his eyes on the envelopes. Ah! he breathed, here indeed was a treat. Many of the stamps on the envelopes were mates of ones in his collection, many were strange.

The Gold Coast stamp was on top; threepence postage and revenue stamp gray-blue with relief printing along the sides, and blue letters on white background at top and bottom. The classic profile of a bearded man might have been one of the Georges in primeval dress it might have been a tribal chieftain of the early Christian era; a Roman Senator.

After looking over the collection the stamp collector sighed; but it was a sigh of happiness. Sincerely he thanked the director for the happy hour, and promised to come back soon. * * * With him he proudly bore the gray-blue Gold Coast beauty homeward.

Stamp collecting and radio were working in harmony at last!—N. Y. Times.

CANCELS—ESPECIALLY SHIP

By SEVARD.

One is happy to see his old friends, the Canadian slogans, repeating for the 1927 season. SPORTS D'HIVER, PARCELS POST and ANNUITY slogans are coming along as usual.

A rather queer looking handstamp, resembling our 29mm grid, emanates from Cuba, P. I. The grid has been swayed out to the outer circumference of the handstamp making the left hand a straight line. Instead of a circle town, the legends are placed at will, with this addition: ADDRESS MAIL TO STREET AND NUMBER. As this is a quite unusual postal marking in every respect, one can't help bringing it to notice. In the United States, we have, and have had, a number of handstamps bearing slogans and Homestead, Iowa, has been using one for the past few years. One will recall the deluge of handstamp slogans in the rubber face ADDRESS YOUR MAIL TO STREET AND NUMBER in cuts exactly like machine cancel. The difference lay in the town mark which was either a 29mm or a 31mm circle instead of the 20mm large-town mark. As the rubber marks came from small towns, unfortunately they were called 4th Class Slogans.

OCEAN BEACH, N. Y., was original in rubber 4th class slogan. It read ADDRESS OCEAN BEACH VIA BAY SHORE, N. Y. and put OCEAN BEACH in the town mark. Detroit and Dubuque in 1st class marks also added their town names in machine slogans.

The U. S. S. Wyoming once varied its regular station names which should appear between the three heavy lines to the right of the town mark. The postal clerk inserted DON'T FORGET BOX No. which evidently was a needed admonition on board the ship.

And the earliest navy cancel we have is a 5c 1847, cancelled with a shield, showing the legend U. S. NAVAL LYCEUM with the representation of a frigate—'tis what I believe it is. This cancel was shown in the "American Philatelist" one month ago.

Someone asked us when the navy marks were first used. Our earliest dating that we find is Jan 3 1910, for the 31mm thin line regulations, and MAY 10, 1914, for the 31mm three-line interpolations mark. The earliest naval registration mark is MAY 24, 1914, although we have a SEA POST, JAN. 20, 1912. Of course, the Navy Yard marks are all much earlier, but we refer to the purely naval cancels, used on board ship. Even so, the marks are scarce enough to make us want to know if anyone has or has seen earlier marks than these?

We were under the impression, quite founded except on hearsay, that the present mark for naval ships was first used in 1914 for the Vera Cruz incident. Many have these, I know, but who has the earliest?

Full of pathos, the prodigal son came home and got a very frigid welcome from father. Thus runs the tale in THE SUMS OF BERLIN, a foreign moving picture shown in the United States. The old man was too busy with his stamps, and the picture shows him with a few volumes of stamps, a pair of stamp tongs, and a magnifying glass. And I'll wager the card lying on the desk was his A.P.S. membership card. We liked the picture very much, especially the father as a stamp collector, even though he was sort of mean. Or perhaps he was plotting the early issues?

6071 is the highest meter number just now, which means that we may expect to see our lists from 5,800 to 6,000 completed within the next month. Our highest New York 4th class permit is 9188. Which all has absolutely nothing to do with stamps.

MILWAUKEE EXHIBITS

What promises to be the most successful exhibition yet given under the auspices of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society is now on in the Public Museum. Nearly 1,000 album pages or approximately 10,000 stamps are displayed in special frames and cases, all stamps being under glass. Almost every stamp-issuing country in the world is represented and while there is an exceptionally large and fine showing of U. S. in all its branches the British Colonies, Old Europeans and other "pets" have by no means been overshadowed nor pushed aside.

Aside from the general educational feature, the main idea has been to "sell philately to the individual" rather than to the public as a whole. Many of the 100 members of the M. P. S. are well known otherwise than as philatelists, and, with this in mind, every single one was asked to show at least six sheets bearing his name so that friends or acquaintances might realize that he actually "collects stamps." A membership roll of the M. P. S. is also prominently displayed and we have heard almost hourly "Say!—I didn't know he collected stamps!" and "I know Mr. —, —I'm going to look him up." The above schemes combined with a very generous amount of newspaper publicity have given the public much of interest, added to new collectors knowledge of "how it is done," and resulted in several applications for membership in both the local and national societies. Many "hermit" collectors who did not realize there was so much to be gained from meeting regularly with and exchanging views with fellow-hobbyists, have "seen the light." Running from February 15th to March 15th, it is bound to aid philately in Milwaukee in all ways.

There are two ideas back of philatelic exhibitions,—one, a competition between philatelists and the display of their "rarities" based on monetary value,—and, two, a philatelic display made up from the standpoint of interest to the general public, the beginner, and the collector who "hasn't 'em all yet." A happy medium of the two has been attained here. Our "show" is a success,—why don't YOU have one?—R. L. HUSTIS.

TWENTY-FOUR IN ONE LOT

EDITORIAL

Lincoln's birthday and Valentine's day did not slip by without a bit of philatelic ceremonial. In our mail, we got envelopes postmarked at Lincoln, Indiana, and Lincoln, Illinois, respectively evidently through the kindly suggestion of Mr. LeGrand Payne of Indianapolis. The postmarks bore the anniversary date. The stamp on a letter from Winchester, Illinois, bore a stamp cancelled with a purple heart of generous size, through the courtesy of Mr. Ted Tyrrell.

The following circular has been distributed by the post office department: "Following its policy of cutting corners in transportation and expediting the delivery of mail,—a policy exemplified in the development of the air service,—the post office department has completed reciprocal arrangements during the past year with twenty-three foreign countries for the extension of special delivery service. Until a year ago, Canada was the only country in which the American business man could obtain special delivery of his letters. Within a short time similar arrangements are expected to be consummated with the remaining important countries in the Universal Postal Union. The fee for the service is twenty cents. Under the agreement, foreign mail is entitled to secure the same service in the United States. Business men in the western part of the United States are speeding up the movement of their foreign destined letters by using the air mail service. Some of them, however, are saving an additional business day in the country of destination by paying the foreign special delivery fee which insures expeditious delivery abroad. The countries which thus far have entered into the reciprocal agreement are as follows: Austria, Australia, Belgium, Canada, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, France, Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Germany, Hungary, Irish Free State, Italy, Japan, Lithuania, Netherlands, Norway, Panama, Poland, Portugal, Sweden and Switzerland." This progressive step will be welcomed as a practical convenience and it is hoped that full particulars as to the operation of the plan will be forthcoming.

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.

1 WEST 47TH STREET,

NEW YORK, N. Y.

We understand that a few more than one hundred thousand sheets of the souvenir White Plains were issued due to cautionary measures to provide for the original supply of ten thousand.

How are we to write the history of philately in America? It is time that someone should attend to this duty that becomes more difficult of fulfillment as the years slip by. There are few collectors living whose connection with philately was established, say, in 1865 and who continued their association with stamps up to the present; and each year the number of collectors whose lives have spanned that of stamp collecting grows smaller. While it is to be supposed that the man whose mind is rich in philatelic associations is best equipped to act as historian, it is fortunate that it is not necessary to depend alone on him for data. The stamp papers of the times reflect in their columns the news, problems and conditions of philately; and such papers as were published in the centers of collecting naturally recorded local news as well as general philatelic intelligence. Inasmuch, as much of our history revolves around philatelic life in collecting centers, it follows that on these printed pages, there is much material for historical preservation, when once it is collated and its importance gauged. If the stamp history of the whole country is a subject that seems too formidable for one student to compass, the alternative that suggests itself is that a number of writers concentrate on the histories of their respective cities. A history of philately from the beginning to today in any large city would prove to be a compilation of interest as well as an archivist's roll. It is suggested that the local stamp societies discuss the propriety of instituting measures having for their objective, contributions of the kind. With libraries rich in the periodical literature at his command, the person with some degree of leisure and an inclination for investigation could work with good results.

* * *

Every now and then, an old collector resumes his stamp occupation that may have been lain aside for years and a letter comes from him telling of the days when he was in his philatelic prime. Reminiscences should not be lost or forgotten and the philatelic historian of a city will fortify his position by interviewing those who are known to have participated in the activities of former years and incorporate in his chronicle those recollections that strike notes out of the ordinary. It may be imagined that the recorder could become enthusiastic about his work which, after all, would not cover a great number of years and which if once began would not lag for lack of interest of the historian in his task.

We have spoken before of the need of a philatelic history and the receipt of an inquiry from Mr. Jason D. Shumway, London, England: "Where may I obtain a history of philately in America?" prompts our present utterance. The proposed history would show the progress of the pursuit in a way to impress the collector and the outsider alike, and even the dissenters would be impressed by the material success that stamp collecting has commanded. The romance of the growth of philately makes a fascinating story. It is almost unbelievable that in 18 when the New York Ledger, which Robert Bonner made famous in his day, was hailed in so many hearths where words were accepted as final could tell what "philately" was. The mass mind of the Ledger's correspondent column admitted that he was floored by the question and said: "We have searched cyclopedias and dictionaries in vain, and can find no trace of 'Philately.'" means a friend of something, but what that something is, is the thing that puzzles us. The ately part of the word, neither Latin, Greek, French, German, Italian, Spanish or Hebrew, and admits of no interpretation as a noun substantive in either of those languages. Perhaps it is Sanscrit or Chinese. Write Koopmanschop, of San Francisco, and maybe he can enlighten you." The construction of the word, philately, is not too happy, but that fact does not explain the editor's ignorance, which was due to the fact that philately's flame flickered fitfully in those days.

The following clipping from the Chicago Tribune is handed in and is appropriate at this season of the year when Lincoln is so much in mind: "Joe Drinkwater has also acquired a new hobby, which is nothing less than an extremely old one—namely, the collecting of postage stamps. His collection, however, is not the ordinary affair of a small boy, as he is specializing in the stamps of the United States, which are some of the most beautiful issues in the world, as well as the most interesting. It would be delightful to know the hobbies of more of our distinguished writers." Drinkwater has commenced himself to us because of his reverence for Lincoln and his play on the subject of the great personage stands forth as masterly and appreciative handling of the theme. In our opinion, the stamp showing Lincoln's features embraces an important place in a collection of Lincoln material and it is certain that Drinkwater emphasizes this aspect of his specialized collection of U. S. stamps.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB
Royce Robertson, Gardena, Cal.
M. D. Meiser, Elkhart, Ind.

On Feb. 3 we received two applications for membership in our Honor Club. One was from Royce Robertson, of Gardena, Cal., and the other from M. D. Meiser, 687 W. Lexington Av., Elkhart, Ind. Mr. Robertson includes in his check, $1 additional for a new subscription for a friend, which makes his application doubly welcome. Mr. Meiser remarks that we have but a small number of Honor Club members from Indiana and he desires to swell this state's list of members.

PORT ORANGE, N. Y., STAMP CLUB
The Exhibition Committee for the Port Orange Stamp Club has just provided a fine program in connection with the exhibition held during the week of Feb. 21, in the Rotunda of the Educational Building at Albany, N. Y. The stamp exhibits were classified according to chronological and historical interest. On the evening of Feb. 22, Dr. James Meyer, state librarian, addressed the Club. "The 3c U. S. Imperforate of 1851." The collection of Theodore Horton was exhibited and used to illustrate the many interesting varieties. March 1 there will be a talk on "U. S. Commemoratives" with exhibition by Mr. Conley.—CHESTER J. MOORE.

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP
BOX 3, JACKSON HEIGHTS, NEW YORK
J. Avery Wells, Telephone, Havemeyer 3350 J. Van Kirk Wells

ODD ITEMS:—
THERE is a letter at this office for Mr. F. W. Moore. As our mailing list is not arranged alphabetically we must ask him to kindly send his address to this office, when the letter will be forwarded.

WALTER C. RITTER sends us a clipping from the Knickerbocker Press in which is printed the news that the Oneida County (N. Y.) Historical Society has petitioned Congress to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the defeat of the Burgoyne campaign that resulted in the setting up of the U. S. as a nation. This society goes the ordinary publicity campaign one better in that it asks for four different 2c issues. It claims that this would be an "educational stamp issue." Evidently the time has arrived when philatelic societies should let Washington know that the postal department should not be used for advertising purposes.

FROM Mr. Ritter we also learn that the Fort Orange (N. Y.) Stamp Club held an exhibition during the week of Feb. 21. The plan of the exhibition is quite extensive and we shall be very glad to give a report of the event.

ANYONE interested in airflight covers should write to Arthur Barger & Co., 839 Beacon St., Boston, Mass., for the current number of the Flying Salesman published by that firm. It is a very comprehensive list.

HERMAN TOASPERN addressed the New Haven Philatelic Society's mid-winter meeting, February 8, in a downtown restaurant before two score members. A midnight lunch was enjoyed before sending Brother Toaspern back to New York by a late train. The New Haven Society, M. Ray Sanborn of Yale Library, president, and Earl A. Young, Sec.-Treas., sent a letter of congratulation to former member Ireland because of his work on the New Haven postmaster issue.—R. T. BULKELEY.

FLINT, Mich., will entertain Saturday, April 9. Bourse at 3.30 P. M., banquet at 6.30 and an auction at 8. Collectors and nearby clubs are invited to attend. Over a hundred collectors will be in attendance and make this a real meeting. Reservations and auction catalogs should be secured from Irving C. Root, Sec., 211 W. Newall St.

"IN the March issue of the Blue Book Magazine is a story dealing with postage stamps entitled, "Salvage" by Stephen Hopkins Orcutt, which is worth reading. The main plot hinges on stamps.—FRANK BENNETT.

F. J. Hagan, Bishop, Cal., has in his possession some A.E.F. covers bearing a blue official notice from Statistical Division 8, A.E.F. Interested parties will please communicate with Mr. Hagan, who wishes to know concerning the rarity of covers of this kind.

DEATH OF G. F. RAPKIN

We learn from the British press with deep regret of the death of G. F. Rapkin, which occurred Feb. 1. Mr. Rapkin's name is a philatelic household word in its association with albums and other philatelic accessories. Our relations with him have always been most pleasant and satisfactory and his death is a distinct loss to World philately. We shall later publish a more extended notice.

BRITISH COLONIES - MINT - 20th CENTURY

We hold a stock of these popular stamps worth close to six figures—valued at our own extremely reasonable selling prices. We invite you to compare these prices with any offers made here or abroad. We usually hold a quantity of each item offered—we seldom have to use our "sold-out" sign. In other words, our offers are true and not made with an idea of attracting attention in order to sell you something else! Many collectors are undoubtedly tiring of ordering merely to get the answer "the stamp is gone!" The remedy is to try our service. Another feature is that our stock is full of rarities and high- and extra-high values—also a wonderful assortment of blocks. A very large proportion of our sales are made to dealers, and even Europe forms no inconsiderable part of our selling market. We cannot do justice to our stock by advertising specific offers—it is too large. However, we mention just a few here to give you an idea:—

NOTE.—We are now preparing separate books of each Colony which are intended for collectors with larger wants. These books will be sent to parties known to us—otherwise against usual references. It is worth your while to apply for such selections at once. We suggest you mention several Colonies so as to avoid waiting as it will require some time to complete this series. Collectors with a few scattered wants should make definite enquiries.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—A Junior Stamp Club has been organized at the Central High School, La-Crosse, Wis. It has twenty-five active collectors. F. W. Pederson thus informs us.

—George W. Mayo writes us an interesting letter concerning a junior club of stamp collectors at the Masonic Home at Franklin, Ind. Quite recently the membership consisted of three adult members, thirty-nine boys from 9 to 18, and three girls about 12. Mr. Mayo has been sponsor for the club and writes enthusiastically concerning stamp collecting as a hobby for juniors.

—Karl D. Ebers.—If you will write to Dr. Evans he will no doubt be able to give you the information you desire in regard to railway post offices.

—Lee Hoover informs us that the Oregon Journal of Portland, Ore., has a stamp club called the Oregon Journal Junior Stamp Exchange, with a membership of one hundred. The Beaver Stamp Club of Portland has adopted this junior club instead of starting a junior department.

—Edward Sandell (12) sends us a limerick which has merit, but not quite sufficient to warrant our using it. However, we appreciate Edward's interest in our Junior Page.

—From Moose Jaw, Sask., Can., comes a letter in which Lewis Broatch enters a criticism of those who would dictate what others shall collect. Lewis makes a good argument for general collecting and without a doubt nearly every stamp collector is a general collector until he has arrived at the stage where he prefers to specialize.

—Bertram Balthis calls our attention to the fact that an interesting anniversary will soon be here. March 3, 1847, was the date when stamps were first issued in the United States.

—F. B. M.—Your stamp with one edge imperforate is not unusual. The stamp is imperforate horizontally as you have described it.

—Two essays have been received that are meritorious but not enough so for us to print them. One is by F. B. McMahon, Tarrytown, N. Y., on San Marino, and the other by Eugene H. Funke, St. Louis, Mo., on the Trans-Mississippi issue. Will our Juniors accept the suggestion not to place too much dependence upon the catalog in preparing their essays?

—In connection with the Staten Island Institute of Arts and Sciences a stamp club for juniors meets every Monday at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. P. A. Bonney assisted by Miss Anna King have charge of the club. The Institute is located at the Museum, Stuyvesant Place and Wall St., Staten Island. Mrs. Bonney advises us of the activities of the club and sends us a complete list of the membership for us to sample copy.

Postfaerge

We are very much gratified at the large number of answers that have been received to our POSTFAERGE contest. We supplement the list published last week with the following names, also prize winners:—

Clarence Hartis, Allen Harding, Walter Lang, J. Raymond White, Wesley L. Furste 2nd, (11), George Todd, Teddy Platt, Donald Favor, H. M. Faser Jr. (16), R. A. Bowman Jr., David Q. Weaver, Kazuo Sakaue, Kathleen Petersen (12), Mary Elizabeth Phillips (12).

My Dream — A Limerick

The postmarks were green, blue, and red,
Letters of the long ago dead;

My fortune is made,
My collection's "A" grade;—

But just then I fell out of bed.

KENNETH MARKHAM (12).

Sewing Machine Perforations

Sewing machine perforations are perforations to be found upon stamps which have either been actually applied by running the sheet through a sewing machine or have received indentations similar in appearance to those that have been run through a sewing machine. The only United States stamps that I recall with such perforations are several revenues of the Civil War period. The perforations were not applied officially but it is believed that the stamps were actually issued in imperforate condition and the sewing machine perforation was applied after they had left the possession of the Department.—PHILIP WARD, JR.

The Junior's Dictionary

Ukraine.—The region of the middle Dnieper Valley from the marshes of Pinsk to the cataracts below Ekaterinoslav. As a result of the great war Ukraine became an independent republic.

Ukrainska Narodna Republika.—An inscription shown on the stamps of Ukraine, meaning "Ukrainian Peoples Republic."

Uku Leta.—An inscription shown upon all of the numeral stamps of the Hawaiian Islands signifying "paid letters."

Unissued.—These are stamps prepared for use and in some instances even distributed to post offices and then, for some reason or other, never placed in circulation.

United States of America.—Issued its first governmental postage stamps on August 5, 1847, though the postmasters of some cities anticipated this important step by issuing stamps under their own authority one or two years previously.

"United We Stand, Divided We Fall".—The motto shown upon the stamps issued by the postmaster of St. Louis in 1845.

Unio Catalogne.—Certain small labels bearing this inscription and a nondescript device were issued in 1919 to raise funds for the cause of Catalonian self-government. They were not postage stamps, and the Spanish government quickly applied a quietus.

Union Postal Universal.—An inscription shown on certain stamps of Colombia, Nicaragua, etc., to show those countries are members of the Universal Postal Union.

Uno official.—These are varieties which never received official sanction, such as the "Susse" perforation on early French stamps, the roulettes on the triangular stamps of the Cape of Good Hope, etc.

Origin of Countries' Names

(Insert in Your Album)

Tasmania was discovered by a Dutch navigator, Tasman, 1642, and by him named "Van Diemen's Land," in honour of his patron.

Turks Island is so named because the island abounds with a certain cactus, the melocactus communis, known as the "melon-thistle," "Turk's-cap," and "Turk's head," from the appearance of the head of the plant. The Turks came originally from Central Asia, and were known to the Chinese as Hiung-nu, and as Tu-Kiu, of which latter word the name Turk is said to be a corruption, and also to mean "brave, fierce." A probable derivation because the Tu-Kiu, from a very small tribe, became a great empire.

Vancouver is named after George Vancouver, an English navigator, who explored the island in 1792.

Zanzibar.—In the eighth and following centuries small Arab States, called Zeng

A Precancel Limerick

John J. Fitzgibbons sends in a limerick that falls on good ground. The editor recognizes it as a good publicity stunt but we fall for it right away. We shall print all the precancel dope that we can lay our hands on. Jack, your limerick wins a stamp award:—

To the one who edits this page I say,
Some news on precancels would surely pay.
Though the game is new,
It should have its due,
So do not, forsooth, reply with a "nay".

JOHN J. FITZGIBBONS.

Junior Glossary

Original Gum (o.g.).—The gum as applied to the back of a stamp at the time of its manufacture.

Overprint.—Something printed on the face of a stamp after the stamp was completed, either an inscription or device, the name of another country.

Pair.—Two unsevered stamps.

Pane of Stamps.—Sheets of stamps are frequently divided into sections or panes by means of horizontal or vertical (often both) margins.

PERFORATION.—Clean Cut.—Denotes that the holes are well cut out.

Comb.—A machine which perforates three sides of each stamp in a row at the same time.

Harrow.—A machine which perforates a block or sheet of stamps at one operation.

Machine Perforation.—Rows of holes punched between the stamps, the small round pieces of paper being cut out.

Perforation.—(Perf., Pl.). First devised by Henry Archer, in 1852, as a more convenient mode of separating stamps than cutting them apart with scissors. It consists of small rows of holes punched out from between the stamps to facilitate their separation.

Pin Perforation.—A row of small holes, merely pricked between the stamps without removing any paper.

Rough.—When the holes are not clean cut, but ragged.

Roulette.—A line of short cuts, either straight, oblique, or triangular, punched between the stamps. A primitive form of perforation.

Single Line or Guillotine.—A machine which perforates one vertical or horizontal row at a time.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS
Batoums.—We are always willing to deal in these notes with queries concerning Modern Colonials, but sometimes points are raised that it is difficult to reply to accurately. A reader recently asked the face value of the Batoum note as on the stamps of that country, and whether the stamps are still available for postage there.
 I believe the paper rouble it represents has been demonetised, as it has been in the Soviet Republic. At the time the stamps were issued it was about 1d or 2d. Any reader can send along more accurate information, we may be able to do it.

Off Centred Stamps.—Another query is propounded by a correspondent as to the relative value of well centred and off centred modern stamps. Is a subscriber to a new issue service entitled to return stamps that are not well centred? he asked. No, sir! I think not, unless some special agreement to that effect exists.
 Dealers cannot sell stamps in better condition than are issued by the post office. In certain stamps quite a proportion are more or less off centre. It is also as well to sound a note of warning against the fastidiousness on this question. Firstly any stamps are mathematically exact in their centring, but provided the perforation does not actually or almost approach on the design, the collector need not grouse.
 It is chiefly in certain rarities where the design is appreciably smaller than the stamp itself that a substantial difference in market price occurs, as in the high value Malas and St. Kitts Tercentenary, of the 10sh Malta, an off centre copy of which recently sold for about the previously mentioned figure.
 People, of course, who insist on stamps much better than the average issued may have to pay prices above the average.

Modern British Colonials

The vogue of the modern issues of the British Empire is not surprising. As stamps, they are not unattractive. As an investment, they have the merit of producing surprising "jumps" in value, every year. Witness the Malas, St. Kitts-Nevis Tercentenary, Turks & Caicos 2s, and many others.

Some of the stamps current today will go the same way before long.

We now stock all Colonial stamps as soon as released by the British Crown Agents, and can send regular selections on approval, all over the world. A current 1/2d stamp sells at 2c, —a current shilling stamp at 32c and others pro rata. We invite your enquiries.

STANLEY GIBBONS Ltd.

(Only address) Dept. 20, 391 Strand, LONDON, ENG.

Investment Bargains.—It is worth while for the investor to observe certain stamps amongst Modern Colonials that are distinctly lower in price in our universal guide, Gibbons, than foreign catalogues. They may generally be seized on as likely to make a big advance in catalogue quotation, and well worth seizing on whenever obtainable at any discount off current Gibbons quotations.
 Examples of these are:

Jamaica 3sh MCA	15/-	$7.50 (30/-)
St. Lucia 2d orange	3/-	$1.50 (6/-)
But there are a number of others, including the 2s6d Dominica, old design, on script paper.
In France, also, with the franc going below 150 to the £1, many stamps are fetching appreciably higher prices than here, especially in the group of Modern Colonials so popular there, such as the Mediterranean Colonies. In a recent bargain price list, issued by a Paris dealer, the writer noted the following:
Malta
2sh "Postage"	325 frs.	£2 5 0
5sh "Self-Govt."	275 frs.	£2 0 0
St. Kitts-Nevis
Tercentenary 1d-5sh
	950 frs.	£6 10 0

All these show the world trend of prices in Modern Colonials, and with the depressed trade conditions in this country, many fine pieces are making prices here below the average, and are, incidentally, leaving the country.

For those who have the courage and foresight to invest now while prices are relatively low here, there is no cheaper market than London at the present time.

FINDS INSIDE OF COVERS

By W. W. MACLAREN

The specialist, upon being shown a 3c '51 or a "penny black" instinctively reaches for his glass. The experienced stamp hunter just as naturally holds every cover to the light. Why? Because he hopes to find something some one had forgotten. Handling many thousands of covers every year, many and curious are the things found in them. Perhaps the most common is a sample of cloth—mother or daughter was making a new dress, and wanted the other to see what the material was like.

Then there are the news clippings, usually a death or obituary notice, a verse of poetry, or a brief personal mention from the town paper.

One Confederate cover from a soldier at the start of the war now in my collection, apparently had a stamp in it, judging by its appearance, but when shaken out it proved to be a piece of paper folded up the size of a postage stamp on which was written "sample of camp fleas"—now we call them "cooties." I opened it very carefully, as I did not want any of them to get on me, but would you believe it? Every one of them was dead—evidently for sixty years or more.

Shin plasters, small scrap pictures, a small valentine, invitation card or folder—these are amongst the commoner things found.

Those things of especial interest to a stamp collector consist usually of unused postage stamps, meant for return postage, or occasionally a small remittance. I have found quite a number of mint copies of 3c '57 and '61, including several pairs, and one beautiful vertical strip of three 3c '61, with the top and left sheet margins intact. Not at all common, but occasionally found, especially with Confederate covers, are the turned envelopes, with stamp, etc., of course, inside.

Frequently the stamp has been removed—you can imagine my grief at finding one such, from which a pair of 5c '47 had been peeled, leaving just enough of the stamps to show what they were.

One of the best turned covers in my collection has a 3c '61 on outside, and a 2c Black Jack inside, the envelope having first been used for local mail. Most of those I have kept have either 3c '51 or 10c Confederate on both sides.—The Stamp Hunter.

JAMAICA INVERTED CENTER

1 SHILLING, NO. 83a

The Jamaica, 1 shilling orange, issue of 1919-21, Scott's No. 83a, exists with an inverted center, being listed by all important catalogues but priced by none of them. It is exceedingly rare and is most unusual for in the eighty-seven years during which time Great Britain and colonies have been issuing stamps, I recall but six of their varieties with inverted centers, an error seldom made.

One of the foremost collectors of 20th century British Colonies and owner of one of these varieties, has recently investigated the history of this Jamaica invert and writes as follows:

"There was originally one sheet of sixty, but half of the sheet was destroyed; twelve unused copies and one postally used copy are known; seventeen more are supposed to have been used for telegraph purposes of which eleven or twelve have turned up."

My own investigation has confirmed the above insofar as the unused copies are concerned but in the case of postally used copies, I know of three with about ten or eleven with revenue cancellations, so that the total available copies check in the two investigations.

At the present time I offer subject to prior sale a perfection mint specimen from the bottom of the sheet showing sheet margins. It is fresh, with full gum, and has never been hinged. It could not possibly be finer.

I also offer a superb lightly cancelled postally used copy of the same variety.

Prior to serious collectors upon application.

Am in the market to purchase any of the other United States or British Colonial stamps with inverted center, in fine condition.

Washington Notes

As mentioned previously, the 2c, 3c and 10c rotary prints, perforated 11x10 1/2, have made their appearance in both unused as well as precancelled condition. I am now informed that the 1 1/2c and 5c have been distributed from the Bureau in precancelled condition, and that these two values will appear through the Agency possibly before these notes reach the public. The perforating machines for producing these stamps are gradually being changed and in a short time the rotary sheets of one hundred, perforated 10, will be a thing of the past.

So far the new perforations in the case of the 3c have been from plates 18445 and 18446 and the 10c plates have been numbers 18614 and 18615.

As our readers appreciate, the imperforate stamps heretofore have been issued in order that they might be made up into special coils by the manufacturers of vending and affixing machines. The imperforate sheets from the rotary press delivered here of late to these people have been unsatisfactory, due to the large gutters between panes, which have resulted in coils which cannot be used in their machines. Rather than furnish further flat plate stamps, the Department has been considering the advisability of making up coils of three thousand subjects with the gum side out, with the usual perforations as heretofore, namely, perforated 10. These coils, however, will differ from the normal in that one or two perforations have been left out at the edges for strength. If they are finally furnished in this condition, there will no doubt be two denominations, namely, the 1 1/2c and 2c. It is doubtful if the 1c will be coiled in this manner unless, of course, the postal rates are changed, making necessary the extensive use of the 1c denomination.

The attention of our readers was recently called to the fact that the Department had asked postmasters to return to Washington for redemption the 8c, 16c and 24c air mail stamps in their possession. The supplies are gradually reaching Washington and are being destroyed. A substantial supply, however, will be retained by the Philatelic Agency in order to take care of the requirements of collectors and dealers. No more of the 15c air mail stamps will be printed but those now in the hands of postmasters will not be recalled.

The Philatelic Agency at Washington is still about ten days behind in their work and it is my personal impression that a great amount of trouble, as well as delay, is caused by the fact that the Agency is handling envelopes. The average order calls for one of each kind, which necessitates the picking out of from thirty to fifty varieties and figuring them up on the basis of their face value plus the fractional value of each envelope, which results in an unusual amount of labor. It is at times as difficult to fill one envelope order as it would be to fill ten or twelve normal adhesive stamp orders. The demand for this stationery is not great and if the handling by the Agency was entirely eliminated, it would decrease the number of complaints which have been received in the past due to the slow delivery of stamps ordered. The Agency has not the facilities for

This is the first rotary star overprinted for the Zone that has come to my attention, but no doubt others will appear in due order, for the manufacture of the flat plates on the denomination from 1c to 10c inclusive, have been discontinued and there is no possibility of more such plates being made. I am inquiring of Washington as to what other denominations from the rotary press have been overprinted.

CORK-CARVERS

vs.

ENGRAVERS

THE JACK-KNIFE ARTISTS

THE ENGRAVERS

As Philately has developed in America during the past few years is is a question whether the place of honor, among stamp makers, goes to the cork-carvers or the engravers.

Canton, Miss., or Waterbury, Ct.

Of the cork-carvers two were and are pre-eminent. They were the lads who used the pen-knife and then the easily accessible champagne corks. The gentleman from Canton, Miss., seems to have been the only man in the post-office department of the 1850's to have produced a whole series of complicated design. His Canton lyre is a household word among those who like stamps or covers with strange "killers", or obliterations. There were two types of the lyre, one rather coarse and stodgy, the other a thing of ethereal beauty (with obvious apologies to B. L. D.) Then there came a series of open stars, of geometrical designs, and a weird PAID 3 in blank letters centered in a blob of black. After the lyre the most desired of these cancellations is the I. O. O. F., post mark with its three links at the top over crossed arrows. Even the Canton, Mi., town canc. is desirable either in black or red, and also the nice little circular red grid which ties some stamps to the covers of the Carroll-Hoy and Buchanan-Carroll correspondence. We have a very nice lot of these Canton, Mi., covers from the Dr. Carroll Chase collection of 3c 1851's. Among other nice things from this lot we have a LIVINGSTONE, TEXAS, with a beautiful PAID in oval on the stamp, some lovely red, green, brown and blue town cancellations, and some scarce railroads and carriers. One cover with a strip of four '55 printing and a strip of four '56 shade from Auburn, Calif., makes a nice item.

The second great jack-knife artist hailed from Waterbury, Ct. Of his masterpieces we usually have a few nice things in stock. Our classified stock of cancellations from 1847 to date is probably the most extensive in existence.

Only on the 1851 issue of United States stamps do we find any extensive work of retouching. It is this work makes the 1c, 3c, 10c and 12c stamps of 1851 so popular with studious collectors throughout the world. Until recently it has been almost impossible for the dilettante to understand and to intelligently collect these very interesting varieties. However, since the completion of Dr. Carroll Chase's monumental work on the 3c stamps of 1851, and the important monograph by Stanley Ashbrook on the 1c stamps of the same issue, it is a simple matter to form a useful acquaintance with these stamps. Col. Tracy has done a great deal to simplify acquaintance with the 12c black, its shifts, recuts, etc., and there is extant a useful article on the 10c green.

At the command of those interested in these readily advancing varieties we offer the most highly specialized stock, and the most comprehensive, ever gathered. Our collection of 1c '51s, both on and off cover, always runs into the hundreds of copies; the 3c '51s are represented by thousands; the 10c and 12c by dozens or scores. Practically every stamp in this stock has passed through the hands of the world's leading specialists in these stamps. If we make an error in classification it is corrected, and without any compliments to our faulty eyesight. If you ask for the recut button, the triple transfer, the GENTS shift, loop in frame line, dot in triangle, inverted transfers, double recut top or bottom, you get from this stock precisely what you are looking for. Most of these things we can supply in pairs with the normal varieties.

Many minor varieties of the foregoing stamps are as yet sadly neglected. The scarcity of the "full shells" from the bottom row of Plate 1 of the 10c cataloging only $12.50 should rank nearer the Type 1a of the 1c from the bottom row of Plate IV, cataloging $125. Many interesting varieties of shifts, errors of recutting, and combinations or recutting are still uncataloged and well worth digging into from the standpoint either of the student or the speculator.

WE ARE LIBERAL BUYERS

When you have any stamps to sell or exchange try us. We always are in the market for fine stamps, either singles, collections, old correspondence, accumulations. Almost anything in the line of stamps or covers, providing only the condition be fine or the quantity large enough to make it worth while. We can use Confederate covers, patriots of either the Civil or Spanish-American wars, Departments on or off cover, revenues, high value current issues, or what have you?

2 IMPORTANT BOOKS

If you have overlooked either of these new reference works, better order them today. Stanley Ashbrook's "The Types and Plates of the 1c 1851-57", published by Scott, tells more about the important minor varieties of these interesting stamps than you could learn from the stamps in ten years. Profusely illustrated, price, postfree, is only $1.00.

Another fine investment is "Notes on the 12c 1851-57" by Lt. Col. J. K. Tracy and Stanley B. Ashbrook. Illustrates and describes many fine recuts, shifts, etc. Postfree, $1.00.

OUR APPROVAL SERVICES

SPECIALIST selections of superb or otherwise quite unusual items in plate varieties, cancellations, covers, rates, combinations, fancy pieces, patriotics, departments, "specimens", Confederate States form the backbone of this business. We cater to those who want the super-fine, and usually can show interesting selections of any single stamp or group of stamps of the United States, as well as many early European issues. All items are mounted singly with catalog numbers and any needed description.

GENERAL selections, for those who want fine stamps but only those listed in the Standard catalog. We can supply fine copies, either used or unused of 90% or more of the regularly issued U. S. stamps, with 20th century issues and commemoratives in unused blocks. Our general selections of classic foreign stamps, priced to average 50% of catalog, will fill many of those hard to get items.

EDUCATOR U. S. approvals. These are intended for those who do not wish to spend a great deal of money in gaining acquaintance with early issues of U. S. stamps. While there are no badly torn or stamps of bad appearance in these books, they do offer at a minimum of cost opportunity to acquire practically any U. S. stamps at a fraction of catalog value. This refers particularly to stamps cataloging from $3 to $35, many of which are to be found in the EDUCATOR approval books at from 1/2 to 1/3th of list prices. All stamps have correct catalog numbers, and the books are of real assistance to those uncertain of the placing of certain issues.

REFERENCES

Our undeviating rule is to send approval selections to no one without first having references. We prefer the names of other stamp dealers with whom you have done business. We have known men with triple AAA credit ratings who made very unsatisfactory clients for stamp dealers. So, references, please.

This is a very desirable stamp and should be in every U. S. collection. We have them in quantities and in all kinds of conditions, all colors of cancellations, also railroad and other scarce cancellations at prices ranging from $3.50 to $75.00 each.

For this sale we have set aside about ninety copies that are what are usually called good or average copies. They will cut into the design very slightly, however, at some point or other, but at least three sides will have white margins. In some cases you may need a magnifying glass to find out just where they cut into the line. The catalog price of this stamp is Seven Dollars. Our price to you is an exact Four Dollars. We guarantee the stamp we send will please you. We will refund the money to anyone dissatisfied for any reason whatever.

If you can use a pen-cancelled copy of this stamp, send us $1.00 less. Better order today. DO IT NOW.

MICHIGAN STAMP & COIN COMPANY

912 MICHIGAN AVENUE

DETROIT, MICH.

perforated 11, in which one stamp showed a very distinct re-entry or what we generally call a double transfer. Almost the entire stamp was double.

BAHAMAS.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle copies of the 4p orange, which is a much different shade than the last issue. The former color was more of a yellow orange, while this is a deep orange shade.

BELGIUM.—The following new values are momentarily expected: 30c mauve, 50c rose, 90c grey-blue, 10fr green, 20fr rose. Gibbons Monthly Journal describes a used strip of the 25c violet, current type, in which one stamp shows four stars on the collar instead of three, the fourth star being in a line with, and immediately above, the two right-hand stars. The additional star is stated to be as clearly formed as the others.

Parcel Post.—M. Gisquiere reports receipt of four new high values in the "Chemins de fer" (presumably 1923-24 transverse oblong) type, viz.: 6fr brown, 7fr yellow, 8fr brown and 9fr lilac.—Stamp Collecting.

FRANCE.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the 65c Sower type, in green.

HONDURAS.—We have received from Whitfield King & Co. copies of the 2c carmine, No. 185, and 2c carmine, No. 175, surcharged "Habilitado 1926" in two lines in green. Our correspondent informs us that the latter stamp is in sheets of 100 surcharged 50 at a time, the right hand portion of the sheet being printed the reverse way to the left hand portion so that the two centre rows are tête bêche pairs. They have also received a new Air Post stamp, 50c blue, large size, showing an aeroplane in flight over the great Cordilleras. The stamp is inscribed in a tablet at the top "Porto por expreso aero" and in a tablet at the base of the stamp "Central American Air Lines, Honduras, C. A.". These stamps are printed in small sheets of four with margins all round, each sheet being numbered, whilst on the back of the stamp is a rubber stamp impression with the date "Dec. 19, 1926."

HUNGARY.—According to L'Echo de la Timbrologie, five denominations of the air mail set of 1924-5 are about to be employed as provisional Postage Dues, thus:—

1fr on 500k yellow-green and green.
2fr on 1,000k brown and bistre.
3fr on 2,000k blue and deep blue.
5fr on 5,000k mauve and violet.
10fr on 10,000k purple and carmine.

These will be followed by 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 32, 50 and 80 filler values in the definitive Postage Due type of last year.—Stamp Collecting.

ITALY.—The handsome pictorial issue emitted in aid of the much discussed "Fascist Militia" was printed in the following quantities:—40+20c, 200,000; 60+30c, 200,000; 1.25+60c, 100,000; 5.00+2.50l, 100,000, says Champion's Bulletin.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

JAPAN.—Mr. E. Y. Teramoto tells us that the current 1 yen stamp, printed 50 to a sheet, instead of 100 to the sheet as are all the sen values, has hitherto been perforated either 10 3/4 or 12 by single-line machine. Now it is to be perforated 13x13 1/2 (comb).

He states that the paper used for stamp booklets of 1 1/2 and 3 sen has been improved recently, the quality being that of the 3 sen stamps printed on the Goebel machine.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

NEW GUINEA.—Referring to the new denomination reported last issue, 1 1/2p brick red, this stamp was engraved and printed by the Commonwealth Treasury at Melbourne.

PORTUGAL.—Our Oporto correspondent, Mr. C. J. Chambers, reports having received a new 4c due from the Mint on January 9th:—Postage Due, 4 centavos grey-green.—Stamp Collecting.

RUSSIA.—In a recent letter received from the Russian Stamp, Coin and Art Collection Co., they advise that the 10 kopec stamp for Russian Children's Relief, 1926, on watermarked and unwatermarked paper, has already been announced, but a 20 kopec stamp in blue has been issued recently and are also two types, with and without watermark. The complete issues number only 400,000 stamps and are semi-postal charity stamps for general use in Russia and for foreign mail. The design has been made by the artist, Kuprianoff. The 10 kopecs from each stamp is to be used for Children's Relief. Besides the Post Office of the Soviet Union these stamps are being sold in local administrative centres, governmental departments, banks and by postmen. As mentioned these stamps are valid for ordinary registered mail leaving the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics for any country that is included in the International Postal Union.

VIRGIN ISLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts advises of the issuance of the 1p violet, and the 1 1/2p red, both on script watermarked paper. The latter value is a new one for this colony.

JANUARY SUBSCRIPTIONS

January was a very busy month with new subscriptions. No fewer than eleven dealers sent in more than ten subscriptions each, and we are extremely gratified with the showing. First honors to the month go to the Hawkeye Stamp Co. for 27 subscriptions, and the Anchor Stamp Co. follows with 19. There is a newcomer this month in the Johns Stamp Co. of Jamestown, N. Y. The firm has sent in 18 subscriptions during January. The following have ten or more to their credit for the past month:—

AN AERO MAIL PROTEST

(From Aero News)

Now that the Exhibition is a thing of the past and one can coolly consider the reception Aero Philately received there, it seems fitting that we who are concerned with the future of this interesting and rapidly growing hobby should go on record as to the treatment accorded to Air-mail collectors there; not in the spirit of harsh criticism but with a desire to show what should be done in the future, in order that such collectors may feel that it is worth while for them to exhibit. For it is obvious that in most of the Exhibitions within the last two or three years, the Airmail collectors, through ignorance of what Aero Philately is, has not received just consideration.

To begin with it was only after much protesting that Airmails were given a section by themselves; after having been classed in the first program with "Philatelic Stationery" and other odds and ends, and then was only given two classes e. g. Unused Stamps and used on covers, with no recognition of the various special classifications made by collectors. Moreover, even when the final classification was made stamps were considered more important than the Flown Covers, as was shown by the fact that a Gold Medal was offered for stamps and only a Silver-gilt for Flown Covers.

Moreover, having invited entries from Airmail collectors the world over the committee then failed to place on the Jury any Judges familiar with this specialty. It is true Mr. Fred Melville interested in Air Stamps from the beginning, was on the Jury, but he was not given any part in judging Airmails. Every other specialty was provided for by qualified judges. Why not Air Mails?
Surely such collectors had a right to expect the same treatment as was accorded to other specialties. To make matters worse the Chairman of the Jury recognized its inability to handle this judging, since just before the opening of the Show

he told one of the Exhibitors that there would be no difficulty in judging stamps but they did not know anything about the covers and every one that was competent whom they might get, was exhibiting.
He was told the names of several people present at the Exhibition who were well versed in Airmails but judging from the results, their advice was not asked for.
It seems to Airmail collectors from past experience, and it is true abroad as well as in this country, that there is a pronounced tendency on the part of the regular Stamp Collector to treat Aero Philately as an unimportant newcomer that will probably soon disappear from the Philatelic world and even when recognizing its existence they try to apply to the collecting of Flown Covers the same standards as they do to stamps—apparitly ignorant of the fact that while akin to Philately, Aero Philately depends not on the stamps but upon the cancellations and cachets which prove that they have been carried on historic and interesting flights, thus recording progress in the conquest of the air and proving the value of the Aeroplane in the transportation of mails over long distances.

Hence, the lack of open-mindedness towards something new and this ignorance of the principles of Aero Philately are both responsible for the many mistakes made in the classification of exhibits and their judging at the Show. For example, an exhibit of "Rarities" which included a number of valuable Flown Covers and only about twelve rare stamps in singles, strips, and blocks, was placed in a class devoted to stamps alone and was actually given a medal. It was ignorance which failed to give any recognition to a complete and carefully annotated collection of Pigeon Post covers of New Zealand which showed scholarly Philatelic research. Above all, in the section for Flown Covers, through ignorance, the judges were unable to rightly estimate the relative value of great rarities and were carried away by admiration for some truly beautiful and artistic mountings, giving a first place to a collection which rightly should have come in after three others. It was lack of interest that allowed the Airmail Collections to be separated, so that part were mounted in one corner of the Hall and another lot in the farthest removed other corner.

Still another matter for criticism was the fact that Section 4, for Commercial Flights and Section 6, First Day Flights, were merged into Section 6, although Section 4 was clearly intended for Contract Airmail Covers. Yet with the merging of seven entries in the Class only two prizes were given, and Mr.
Dinnebier's complete and beautifully mounted exhibit of Contract Airmail covers received no recognition whatever.

One of the outstanding exhibits at the New York Show to which we feel enough notice has not been given, was that of the Przemysl Siege covers exhibited by A. D. Von Arx of Switzerland. It was unfortunate that it was placed in competition with two very remarkable exhibits of Paris Siege covers or it would undoubtedly have received a Gold Medal. His exhibit shown in four frames was arranged historically beginning with the covers flown during the first Siege, which are very rare, and then those covers flown during the second Siege by Aeroplane and Balloon. The exhibit was practically complete in varieties of color and surcharges, and was accompanied by a great deal of historical information, so that the whole exhibit showed a good deal of painstaking research and he should be highly recommended for the contribution he has made to this field of Aero Philately about which not much has hitherto been known.
He has written a brief account of these Siege covers and we hope shortly to be able to publish it in our paper.

Surely such facts give Airmail Collectors a right to protest and we feel that as the only definite Airmail Organization in this country we should come forward and voice our feelings. Not that anything can be done regarding the past, that is over, but so that future exhibitions may realize that a suitable provision should be made for Airmail Collectors if they are asked to Exhibit at all.

MODERN COLONIALS ON ENTIRE TIRE

By CALABAR.

(In our issue of Dec. 27 we reprinted an article from the "Philatelic Magazine" by Calabar and inadvertently neglected to give proper credit. We apologize for the omission. Will our British Contemporaries when reprinting from our paper give us full credit instead of using, "M. W. S. N."?—Ed.)

Modern colonials on entire are frequently criticised on the grounds that they are practically "cancelled to order," having been pasted on envelopes and sent out to the colony for no other reason than to receive the postmark. Now, whilst this is quite true, the nature of the stamps themselves, I think, is sufficient to justify this procedure whatever its offense in the eyes of the philatelic purists. To remove successfully coloured paper and chalked surface varieties from the original envelopes is exceedingly difficult without harming the colour or the paper. Probably this very fact accounts for the disfavour with which many collectors regard used colonials. Rather than go to the trouble of looking up a dealer whose specialty is modern colonials on entire, or pasting the stamps on the envelopes themselves and sending them out to the colonies, they confine their attentions to mint colonials, which, in these days of New Issue Services, are easily procurable, provided the chequebook holds out.

Covers in Demand.—This state of affairs, most observers will agree, is slowly but none the less surely changing. The interest taken in, and the demand for, original covers is greater today than ever before. More and more are collectors turning to this specialty finding in the postmarks a fascination and a flavour of romance which is quite lacking from a collection of mint stamps. The quaint postal markings (in Arabic) of the Kuwait P.O., for example, carry with them a suggestion of the bizarre splendour of the East; whilst the small, neat postmarks of Ascension and St. Helena call to mind with a peculiar vividness these lonely outposts of the South Atlantic. What stimulants to the imagination are the big purple cancellations of Tonga, which seem to breathe the witching spells of the vast South Seas.

The Investment Standpoint.—Aside from the romantic angle, original covers are of especial interest from the investment standpoint. If wisely chosen, their eventual possibilities are as excellent as those of any of the mint colonials which are recommended from time to time in the columns of this paper. Not all colonies, obviously, are suitable in this connection, and whilst it is next to impossible to draw any hard and fast line, I should be inclined to consider the stamps of Ascension, Barbuda, the Cayman Islands, the Falkland Islands, Gambia, the Gilberts, Kuwait, Nauru, New Guinea, the New Hebrides, the New Zealand Dependencies—Aitutaki, Niue and Penrhyn Island—the Solomon Islands Protectorate, St. Helena, St. Kitts, Tonga, the Turks and Caicos Islands and the Virgin Islands as offering a sound field for those wishing to invest in original covers. (I am speaking in this list of the modern issues only.) In the case of Nauru, exception must be taken to the lower values of the overprinted series—½d to 1sh—which are quite common used. Similar remarks apply to certain of the North-West Pacific overprints.

Postmark Interest.—In nearly all of the above-mentioned colonies there are several P.O.s, and, of course, the smaller the office the scarcer the cancellation. Thus, for example, the Cayman Brac postmark is more desirable than the Georgetown (Grand Cayman) pmk., the Virgin Gorda pmk. more desirable than the Roadtown (Tortola) pmk., etc., etc. Generally speaking, the number of offices varies in accordance with the size of the colony, but this is not always the case. For instance, there are only four P.O.s in the Solomon Islands, as against, say, the Fijis, where there are more than forty scattered throughout the group.

Modern "Used Abroad."—In concluding these brief notes, I should like to call attention to the possibilities of modern colonial postmarks from the point of view of the specialist and student. Consider for a moment the New Hebrides. First we have the New South Wales and New Caledonian stamps "used abroad" in these islands, followed by the so-called "locals." The overprints come next, then the definitive series, and lastly the surcharges. Besides the ordinary postmarks—French and British—which are in purple, blue or black, and vary in type, there are the French "steamer" pmks., not to mention the scarce Port Sandwich cancellation. The various pmks. which have been used from time to time in British Honduras make a most interesting study. Several years ago the G.P.O. burned down, and as a result provisional cancelling-stamps were brought into use.

This will give a very faint idea of the wealth of material awaiting the discerning individual. Let us hope that those who have already taken steps in this direction will favour us with the results—however incomplete—of their study.—Philatelic Magazine.

O'CONNOR SEARCH SUCCESSFUL

Ft. Wayne (Ind.) "Gazette" Clipping.

The nation-wide search instigated by the American Philatelic Society for Willard O'Connor, 19, of 1105½ Broadway, and hundreds of dollars' worth of French and British colonial stamps ended here yesterday when the youth was arrested by operatives of the Lightcap detective agency.

Circulars announcing two awards for the lad's apprehension were mailed to police departments in all large cities last October after O'Connor disappeared with three lots of the society's stamps.

O'Connor is charged with grand larceny. The affidavit against him was filed by L. A. Pike, 4221 South Jefferson Street.

Mr. Pike acted as guarantor of O'Connor's account with the national stamp society because the lad was a minor. When O'Connor received three certain sets of the stamps he is said to have disposed of them to independent New York collectors at an extreme reduction in price.

J. E. Guest, of Dallas, Tex., sales manager of the American Philatelic Society offered one of the rewards for the arrest of the youth. Mr. Pike offered the other one.

According to officials of the Lightcap detective agency, O'Connor confessed to them that he sold a $200 set of the society's stamps to a New York stamp merchant for $50.

Other stamps, which O'Connor is said to have disposed of illegally, have been located in New York. Texas authorities have been notified of his arrest.

Airpost Collectors' Chronicle

Notes On New Issues Of Air Stamps, Latest Flown Covers, And Details Of New Discoveries

Albania.—The set of seven airpost stamps, first issued in 1925, has now been overprinted "REPUBLIKA SHQIPTARE" and will probably be in use on the Tirano-Valona line during this winter.

Australia.—The new official cachet in use at Camooweal, on the Western Queensland service, is here shown (No. 30).

Bulgaria.—The first Bulgarian service took place on September 28, 1926, reports Champion's Bulletin. Covers were franked with the ordinary stamps obliterated in red, in Bulgarian characters as follows: "Vasdouchna Pochta 1926." The service was of short duration, being suspended for the winter.

China.—Our Pekin correspondent advises us that there was an airmail between Sungyan and Yenkou in 1924. It operated for a few days only, the first being on May 1st.

Guatemala.—Cachets numbered 27 and 28 were applied to the mail flights listed in January, the former being applied for the Esquipulas mail from the capital, and the second for the Guatemala-Santa Rosa flight.

Germany.—Referring to our paragraph last month on the Chemnitz Flugplatz (1911) postmark, our information regarding the number flown is incorrect. Mr. Bein advised us that twenty pieces were despatched by each of two friends, and as others must have been sent in the ordinary course—though it is improbable many were afterwards preserved—there would be about 60, at a fair estimate, in existence. We are indebted to him for pointing out the discrepancy and repeating the details given in his first letter.

Hungary.—Special labels were prepared and issued for the first Budapest-Miskolce airmail last year, writes Mr. Orvos Janos, but fortunately the postal authorities refused to sanction their use, though not until the last minute. They depicted a raven carrying a letter, in flight, and were printed in black and brown on various shades of paper. From the same correspondent, we learn that the vignettes used on the Przemysl Commemorative Balloon mail of last year, were printed in the following quantities: Printed in blue, 2,000 copies; black, 400 copies; violet, 200 copies, and green, 100 copies.

Italy.—The first flight from Trieste to Zara took place on October 15th last year. The mail carried to Zara, an Italian town on the Dalmatian coast did not exceed 200 pieces, we are informed by Dr. Martini. The Trieste air postmark then used was of a different type (No. 26) from that of the first flight to Turin in the previous April. It reads "Trieste Posta Aerea 15.10.26." The return flight was made the same day, but ordinary postmarks only were applied to the mail.

Iraq.—Messrs. Stack and Leete, whose achievement is noted elsewhere in this issue, carried the first official air mail from Iraq to India in December. This was collected at the Baghdad Post Office after the following public notice had been issued:—

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

"A limited amount of letter mail, not exceeding 5lbs. in weight, will be despatched by air to India through the courtesy of Messrs. Stack and Leete. No letter to exceed 10 grammes. Postage, including surtax, 6 annas. Letters to be handed over the counter at the Baghdad Head Post Office between the hours of 10 a. m. and 11.30 a. m. Tuesday, 21st December, 1926. Any letter presented after the limit of weight is reached will not be accepted."

Major H. C. Mason, to whom we are indebted for this news, states that the original mail bag weighed 6lbs., and contained 408 covers. Later, a further mail of fifty-seven letters, postmarked either 22nd or 23rd of December, was included, bringing the total weight to 7lbs. 3 1/2 ozs. The special official cachet illustrated (No. 23) was used to obliterate the franking stamps, the quantities of each denomination being:—1/2 anna, 190; 1 anna, 137; 1 1/2a, 157; 2a, 147; 3a, 156; 4a, 102; 6a, 110; 8a, 37; 1 rupee, 11; 2r, 8; 5r, 4; 10r, 4 in the first mail; and in the additional mail:—1/2 anna, 35 stamps; 1a, 25; 1 1/2a, 33; 2a, 32; 3a, 32; 4a, 27; 6a, 16; 8a, 13; 1r, 7; 2r, 3; 5r, 3; 10r, 3. Three covers, bearing one 10r, one 5r, and one 2r stamps arrived too late, but were given the special overprint and returned to the sender. These were addressed to Aziz Dand.

Perhaps the greatest rarity in airport stamps that we have been privileged to examine for some time is the manuscript airmail "overprint" on the 3c Caribou stamp, in unused condition. The Postmaster of Newfoundland at the time of the Atlantic flight trials, Mr. J. A. Robinson, personally inscribed the stamps on a few of the letters contained in the mail that was prepared for the attempt of Messrs. Morgan and Raynham, after the adhesives had been attached to the envelopes, but this stamp appears to have been the only copy that was not postmarked, and its genuineness in all respects is undoubted, for there is known to experts a definite method of detecting forgeries.

Sarawak.—The following check list of first airmails has been compiled through the courtesy of Mr. F. P. Raynham.

First Airmail in Sarawak: Carried by seaplane from Sibiu to Kuching on July 18, 1926, about 70 letters flown, 6c and 4c Sarawak stamps were used, and the covers inscribed "By Air Mail" by the Sibiu postmaster.

Other mails were flown between these towns on later dates, but no special postmarks or inscriptions were applied.

On August 17th, mail was flown from Kuching to Singapore, ordinary 6c stamps being used. About 100 letters were carried, and were backstamped at Singapore on August 20th. Special postmark "Kuching Air Mail, 17 Aug."

At Singapore, mail was picked up for Port Swettenham. Stamps were obliterated on August 21st. The contents of one bag were backstamped "Port Swettenham, 12.30 p. m. 23 Aug."

Switzerland.—Dr. Vogler sends us a photograph of the statement of the Postmaster at Basel as to the numbers of letters constituting the first flight Basel—Stuttgart—Berlin. Forty-one were addressed to Stuttgart, 1 to Leipzig, 74 to Berlin, 50 to Frankfurt-on-Maine, 1 to Erfurt, and 15 to Stockholm. We shall report his special information regarding the Swiss—Africa flight mail next month (see cachet No. 29).

The other Swiss cachet (No. 31), is that of the Lausanne Comptoir flight mentioned in December.

Union of South Africa.—Particulars of the rare airmail flown by Sir Alan Cobham on his return from Cape Town to London are given us by Mr. Baldwin. The mail consisted of 18 letters only, three of which were addressed by the Governor-General, including one to His Majesty the King. Of the remaining 15, twelve were for one London address, and three for another. The mail was franked with Union stamps, postmarked at Cape Town on February 26th, and at Hampstead on March 27, 1926, and autographed by the pilot.—The Aero Field.

FROM AN OLD-TIMER

By THOS. P. MARTIN, Okla. City, Okla.

A copy of your excellent paper, under date of January 31, has been received and for which I thank you. I have read over carefully your "Ten Thousand Strong" article on page 54, and it reminds me that I was a subscriber to your paper when first published at St. Louis. I started to collect stamps in 1881 at Fort Worth, Texas, where in 1883 I published a stamp magazine called the Texas Stamp, and in which venture I was backed by George H. Richmond, 5 Beekman Street, New York, and of whom I have lost track for many years, to my sorrow.

In those days, from memory, I pick the names of E. B. Sterling, C. H. Mekeel, Nassau, Richmond and others, also the everlasting Scott's, whose album, vintage of 1880, I still have, filled with a collection of stamps from what I thought at that time was a wonderful one of about 6000 varieties; my main interest being in United States, Confederate and Mexico.

My collection took first prize over Texas in 1884 at Dallas State Fair, and wherever I have exhibited it, has attracted a great deal of attention. I obtained an unusually fine collection of Confederates while at McCabe's School Petersburg, Va.; in 1887, many duplicates, original envelopes, hand stamps etc. Have also a big collection of Confederate money, coins, etc. My collection being so old is quite a curiosity to many who have seen it, and enthusiastic collectors of the modern day come a long distance to look it over. I have made few additions in the last 35 years.

You have a wonderful paper and congratulate you on your continuing success.

SEVENTEEN CITIES

New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Richmond, Greensboro, and Atlanta are included on the Atlantic Seaboard air mail route, bids for which were opened on February 23rd.

Cleveland, Akron, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati, and Louisville are the cities on the Louisville-Cleveland route. The contract was awarded November 8, 1926, and the first flights will take place about April first.

The Detroit to Grand Rapids and Cleveland to Pittsburgh routes are scheduled for beginning of operation at an early date.

Ponca City, Oklahoma, will be added to route 3 and a special cancellation used for the first flights.

The above seventeen cities are booked for inclusion in the air mail system in the near future and official special cancellations will be used on the first flight mail.

I will send you one cover from each of the above named cities as they come along for only $4.00, cash with order. Covers all will be properly backstamped, franked with good copies of air mail stamps, and will be addressed to someone at landing point of plane. They will not be addressed to me.

Less than the set of 17 covers may be ordered at 30c each.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN
In some mysterious manner a small collection filled with approval sheets has disappeared from an office near Boston. The patrons of the office are so few in number that suspicion can rest only upon a few persons. Prompt reparation in the form of the WEEKLY will make happy the owner and ease the conscience of the one who has experienced a mental and moral liberation. A Boston postmark will tell tales.

DENVER MAN IN THE PUBLIC EYE
The press recently published the following despatch, but we have not had the opportunity of corroborating the statements:—
DENVER, Feb. 17. Reversal of the procedure which takes American dollars to Europe for curiosities and antiques, has brought a fortune of $38,000 from Vienna to the door of a poor man—August Luttenken of Denver. This is the price a Vienna stamp dealer has agreed to pay for Luttenken's collection of stamps, for the latter demurred and said he would rather pleasure from collecting them rather than from money.
The collection includes about 250,000 catalogued and mounted stamps, mostly of the United States, but including a book of stamps of foreign countries. Luttenken is 68 years old, and since he was 15 has followed the hobby. He accumulated many of the stamps during 18 years of service in the British navy. His wife also is a proficient philatelist.

Some Days It Rains

Other days you can't lay up a cent. With us it has poured 3c '51s, consequently we have not been able to lay up a cent but we have laid by the best lot of 3c '51s ever in our stock.

COVER COLLECTIONS, PAIRS AND STRIPS

One little lot of covers has only multiple rates, nothing but pairs and strips, 90% in very fine condition, none poor. Among them a strip of six, five strips of four, six strips of three, eight pairs, and a few with the 10c rate to Canada made up of three 3c and a 1c '51. A fine little lot at a modest price.

ROUTE MARKINGS, ETC.

Only thirty covers in this little lot but it includes river, lake and ocean steamer markings. Mississippi packets, Steam, Steamer, Steam-boat, Way, Way 1, etc., together with some unusual "forwarded" covers many of them marked "Due 5". As a lot we can afford to sell them much below what they would price up singly.

CANTON, MI. ART.

An almost complete set of these scarce cancellations as illustrated in Dr. Carroll Chase's recent articles in the "American Philatelist". There are both types of the lyre, PAID 3 in blank letters, various stars, etc.

COLORED AND FANCY TOWNS

This lot consists of more than 100 unusual town cancellations. There are reds, greens, ultramarines, browns, blues, magentas. Many of them are rare, and in view of the steadily advancing prices we think them not only a pleasure to own but a nice little investment. Quotations of course, and on approval if known to us.

Here's the Forum back again. It started Sept. 20, 1924. The first group of cancellations started on Jan. 4, 1926, the twentieth and last of that series ended on Oct. 4, 1926. This is mentioned so that you may check up on these if you wish to keep a file of these cancellations. With this group we begin the second lot of twenty groups. Some of these have never shown up in duplicate, so you may look for some real rarities in the cancellation collecting.

Above is a "Whatdoyoucallit" group for a starter. There is one more of these groups of unknowns in our second twenty groups, and I'd be obliged if you would answer the question implied in the name of the group if you can do so to any of these. Would like to know the town that used them, what they may be, and why adopted?

The first is probably a conventionalized leaf. All in this group are struck very clearly on the stamps, and are drawn as accurately as possible in order that you will see the same thing that I do. Number 2, 3, 4 and 5 will remain mysteries unless some kind reader tells us what they are.

The last five should be solved—they look like something, but what? I am interested in learning what No. 6 really is, for it is not uncommon at all. Some say it is a set of false teeth, but to me they do not look exactly fitting, tho they may be of cast iron. It is said that George Washington wore iron false teeth.

No. 7 might be a sand shaker, used in lieu of blotters in the sixties. No. 8 is said to be an elephant gaily caparisoned, wearing a palanquin; maybe it has to be something unusual to make such an odd shaped elephant. Maybe it's something else?

What is No. 9? Looks like an antique of some kind. No. 10, I am assured, is a wolf.

Against these cancellations you will see my initials under the "Reported by" column, more often than you really should, for some of the senders of these cancellations do not wish to be bothered by mail asking about them. In some cases the sender was a bit bashful possibly, take for example our No. 5, this sad creature is said to be the top of a Totem Pole in profile. Can you blame the owner for having me put H.P.A. after a thing like that, rather than the correct name of the owner? Of course the No. 10 is different, for I am assured that this is actually a wof, as told by its bark, moreover, it is closely related to the goof, and together these quaint animals delight in chasing dodos, their choicest food morsels.

This is a rather insipid lot of cancellations to begin with. There is but one more group of nondescripts, which is well.

Am still owing letters to several readers, and these are being returned little by little, so that if yours is not back yet, do not give up all hope, as I get away a few some days, and none on other days.

If you have any real nice cancellation that has not been seen yet in this column, it will be well received and returned in due course. If by Registered Mail, it comes back quickly. If not registered, it comes back as received, in order of receiving.

A STUDY OF THE DOMINICAN REPUBLIC AND HER ESCUTCHEON

By HERMANN FOCKE.

It may be a little outside of the realm of philately to speak about the Coat of Arms or Heraldic Shield of a country, but seeing that all the issues of this Republic, aside of commemoratives, have it as their main subject, it may be permitted to pass some comment on the matter.

The Coat originally consisted of a shield in the national colors of dark blue and red in four fields divided crosswise by two broad white bars, thus the upper left and lower right field are dark blue and the upper right and lower left field are red, as shown on the commemorative issue of 1913-14. Stretched across this shield are four and sometimes six national flags in the same colors, two or three pointing to either side, with their ends folded into a loose knot.

Between the staffs of the flag there is placed an open book, presumably the Bible, over which there is a large cross, against which there was leaning in the original design another staff with a liberty cap, or the "gorro de la libertad" as it is called by the Spaniards.

Entwining the lower part of the shield there are two branches, one of laurel to the left and one of palm to the right, covered by a waved ribbon, bearing the words DIOS—PATRIA—LIBERTAD (God, Fatherland, Liberty) to further explain the meaning of the escutcheons design.

The first issue of stamps was decreed on September 20, 1865, typographed in Santo Domingo City and issued shortly after, consisting of two values, on wove paper, 1/2 Real black on rose and 1 Real black on green, and a few months later the same two values appeared on laid paper respectively green and yellow. All these four stamps had the escutcheon as described above, minus the branches and the ribbon.

In 1866 there appeared a third issue, also printed locally on paper of various colors, having a more complete design of the escutcheon, but the ribbon with the words DIOS, PATRIA, LIBERTAD was stretched over the top, whereas across the branches there is stretched a second ribbon without any inscription.

Almost every successive year brought new issues of the same design, but on differently colored papers, until 1879, when in July a new issue of four stamps appeared, printed by N. F. Seebeck, in New York, consisting of the same two values, 1/2 and 1 Real each on white and on colored paper. This time the escutcheon has been altered considerably, the red fields of the shield appear unshaded or white, the Cap has been omitted and the ribbon has been returned to its place at the bottom, while at top there is a second ribbon bearing the words Republica Dominicana.

In October, 1880, there appeared another issue, this time lithographed from stone plates by the Manhattan Bank Note Co., of N. Y., on which the shield shows again the white fields and the ribbon with the word DIOS, PATRIA, LIBERTAD is once more removed to the top.

Five years later to the date we have again a new issue, this time engraved from copper plates by the American

NEWFOUNDLAND

FORMED BY COL. C. W. WICKERSHAM, OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this fine collection and have mounted the stamps in a large number of my well known approval books. All stamps are priced separately, at very moderate net prices, and books of unused, used or blocks and sheets can be sent on approval.

All three collections, in addition to many copies of the standard rarities, include a large number of color proofs in singles and blocks of four. They are also specialized in cancellations, including many fine varieties.

This makes the seventh collection of British North American I have bought within a short period, and I am willing to buy several more at the top market prices. Shall be glad of offers of any collections of early issues, also of Rarities, and Stamps on Covers of

CONTRACT CORRESPONDENCE
N. Y. CITY, Feb. 23, 1927.
Dear Mr. Wylie:—
Please pardon delay in replying to your favor. We have decided to take another contract with you for 5000 lines to begin March 1st.
We must say we are, on the whole, well pleased not only with the returns out with the way you have set up our advertisements, and when you write Mr. Jewett we wish you would mention it to him.

OUR REJOINDER
BEVERLY, MASS., Feb. 25, 1927.
My dear Mr. Coombs:—
I am very glad to receive your letter of Feb. 23 and to learn that you will use 5000 lines of advertising space during the coming year. Pleased as we are to obtain a contract for this amount of space, we are even more pleased to have the renewal of a contract. It gives evidence of a satisfied advertiser and reassures the publishers as to the worth-whileness of their newspaper as an advertising medium.
Yours very truly,

RED CROSS SEALS—STAR PLATE NOS.
By SEVARD.
"Are you with me?" queries the tall comedian, and his partner rejoins, "I am away ahead of you." When we spoke of the Red Cross seals, we didn't believe so many would write to us for further references as to that historical little seal, and like the comedian, we feel that we must go ahead of the collecting gentry, and speak of seals in general, as collectible items. For PRESIDENT, W. J. BRYAN reads one of our seals, another reminds us of a Newark celebration in connection with local history, still another seal encourages one to ONE PEOPLE, ONE COUNTRY, ONE FLAG. Then there are the LIBERTY LOAN seals or pasters, the THREE MILLION WAR FUND, the annual S. A. G. stamps, each from a different year but without a date. The Red Cross seals, of course, are so national that they are quite important, but one recalls the years 1909 and 1910 when state anti-tuberculosis societies issued their own seals, with anti-tuberculosis crosses and pertinent designs. A 1910 local seal says, CURE THE CHILD AND STAMP OUT TUBERCULOSIS, showing an emaciated child in bed, its wan face expressing an inkling of a beatific smile. Who shall resist collecting seals and pasters glorifying so piteous an appeal?
S. A. G. stands for Saint Anthony Guide. Automotive engineers may have been wondering. Roman Catholics have been writing S. A. G. on the backs of letters since July 23, 1729, says our historian, and the custom of invoking St. Anthony's protection in regard to mail originated when a first day cover was sent from Lima, Peru to Oviedo, Spain.
Then there are those SANITARIUM stamps, Religious Associations, the various Relief Societies, like the Dental Relief. This last often worries us, as we believe in dental relief of any sort. Be kind to your teeth or they will be false to you.
Mountain, Wisconsin, has a homemade cancel, evidently copied from a 31mm regulation, embellished in the sinuosity of wavy lines attached to the townmark. There are several cancels from small towns which one can only catalog as homemade, and one or two of them are worthy of emulation.
Save your star plate numbers. And then study them.
Sometime ago, mention was made of the three classes of postal markings. These were (1) the townmark, (2) the subsidiary mark, or auxiliary, such as a star, a grid, wavy lines, or a slogan and (3) dispatch marks. Applying these to United States marks at the present, one feels that a fourth class should be made, that of the joined marks, such as the handstamps and machine cancels. Then our cataloging is much simpler, and we have:

1. Independent townmark.
2. Independent canceller.
3. Townmark and auxiliary joined.
4. Dispatch marks.

Progressing one more step, we divide our classes into kinds, or under each, in general, we may note whether the mark is a City Mark, a Received, a Rate Mark, Ship, R. P. O., C. O. D., Transfer Clerk, Drop Letter, R. F. D., M. O. B., Parcels Post, Returned to Writer, Steamship, Penny Post, Carrier, Registered, or what have you? Of course, all of these do not appear under each class, but it is queer to note how many really do.

In arranging the townmarks some years ago, on the 3c 1851's, one noted that similarity ran geographically, and one reached the postulate—not the kind you barked out on in the calculus—that a postmark salesman did the country there and about, running his overcoat into the expense column, selling these very types of townmarks. And one could romance over the chap starting north from Chicago, hitting the trail, until they caught him in La Crosse. Then were the happy days when mail came twice a year, and no gas bills.

THE MATTER OF CREDIT
The WEEKLY is co-operating with the A. S. D. A. and proposes to make it increasingly difficult for irresponsible dealers to prey upon philatelists. We appreciate the energy the secretary, Tom V. Binmore, is displaying in weeding out this class of advertising, and we urge dealers to actively support that organization. Our recent experience with a San Francisco transient advertiser, whose patronage was accepted upon the basis of A. P. S. membership, leads us to a decision to accept only banking, commercial or A. S. D. A. references in the future.
As one who for years has been a member of the A. P. S., and has served it officially, the Managing Editor earnestly suggests that it co-operate with the A. S. D. A., and clean house of those members who are financially irresponsible. Moreover, speed is necessary in dealing with tricksters, and for that reason the closer the union, the better.
At the present time membership in any one of our stamp societies is not a

STOCK TRANSFER AND FUTURE DELIVERY

We indicated last week a sweeping decision by the U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue dealing with the possession and sale of stock transfer and future delivery stamps. It is a comprehensive decision as will be seen by the text which follows. This means that the WEEKLY cannot in the future accept any advertising of these stamps. The decision will undoubtedly work a great hardship in certain quarters, and especially with those dealers who may happen to have a supply of these stamps on hand. Our columns must be closed to any further advertising of these stamps. The decision follows:—

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has, through Treasury Decision 3976, amended Article 80, Regulations 71, relating to the distribution and sale of adhesive stamps, by changing the designation of paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) to (c), (d) and (e), respectively, and by adding paragraphs (a) and (b), reading as follows:

(a) No person other than a collector of internal revenue or duly authorized deputy collector of internal revenue, or designated United States depository, shall sell or expose for sale, give away, traffic in, trade, barter, lend, borrow, or exchange any stock transfer or future delivery stamps issued pursuant to these regulations: Provided, That any person or corporation which has been duly appointed and constituted, and is acting agent of any State for the sale of stock transfer stamps of such State may, upon approval by the commissioner and upon giving a bond satisfactory to the collector, sell United States stamps issued pursuant to these regulations: Provided further, That a bond shall not be required when such person or corporation uniformly purchases such stamps from the collector for cash.

(b) No person shall buy, receive, or have in his possession, or under his control, any stock transfer or future delivery stamps issued pursuant to these regulations, unless such stamps have been purchased directly from the collector of internal revenue, or duly authorized deputy collector of internal revenue, United States designated depository, or a designated agent for the sale of State stock transfer stamps, authorized by the commissioner, in the district in which the stamps are to be used.

MARKET IN MODERN COLONIALS

Canadian Provisionals.—Much interest has been aroused in the recent Canadian provisional 2c on 3c, and a wide range of prices having already been quoted, a few notes on these may be of interest. The figures of numbers issued are given, presumably authoritatively, as 50,000 and 100,000 for the two printings. At first sight this seems a very small number for so large a country, and one might expect only a small number would be available for philatelic purposes. It transpires, however, that the overprints were not passed for general use, and that the above figures represent the number that were retained for use for philatelic purposes and issued by the Philatelic Bureau. Only the best examples were kept, and the quantities were based on the approximate estimated demand. One might wish that they had all been destroyed, as collectors do not require varieties to be kept for their special benefit if they are not going to be used in the ordinary way.

Considering that the vast majority of these stamps will have come into philatelic hands, there is no need to anticipate any acute shortage, and the value should be comparable with any small or popular Colonial issue. The commonness of the Tongan surcharges, 2d on 5d (1924, was issued to the number of 28,000 and now, after two or three years, 10 tails for about 15h each, or to take provisional of the same denomination the 1d on 15h St. Vincent, cat. at 6 after 10 years, was issued to the approximate number of 15,000, or less than on third of the scarcer Canadian provisionals 2c on 3c. This stamp, like the ones under discussion, appears to have been largely bought up by speculators.

New Shades.—The 6d Virgins (current type) has recently been reissued, a slightly different shade. The 6d Gibraltar was the first of the 6d scripts to be issued in a new shade, and already the old shade has appreciated to 3 or times its original value. Some change in colour of the 2sh duties are all worth watching; here again Gibraltar was one of the first countries to be noted although several other of the less popular groups have made the same change, but whether this is permanent or not remains to be seen. In both the above cases the recent printings of 6d and 2sh values show more red with the blue, although whether future printings will conform to the new standard is not clear.

Barbados.—The new Commemorative stamp should, from the advance description, be an interesting addition to the album. Judging by the numbers usually ordered of this denomination (1d) from the Colony there should be plenty to go around, but one never can tell. In the Peace Issue about 500,000 were printed of the 1d Script watermark, as against 50,000 of the 2d. A difference that is not yet fully shown in the respective catalogue prices.

A reader asks for numbers printed of the 1912 and 1916 issues, but I am unable to oblige. If we knew the number overprinted of the former issue, it might help (for revenue purposes). In the connection it is interesting to observe that they were overprinted "Revenue" in two different settings, and about seven different colours. What an outcry there would have been if they had been postage stamps, about varieties made for collectors, etc.! But it rather gives the lie to the statement that these various overprints, etc., are made for collectors. As a matter of fact, practically all recent Colonial overprints or provisionals are made irrespective of what philatelists may or may not want, and herein lies one of the reasons for the popularity of and the great market strength of modern Colonials.—Philatelic Magazine.

EGYPTIAN NAVAL CONGRESS SET

By CHARLES SIDNEY THOMPSON.

Egypt presents us with another set of commemoratives, this time for the International Naval Congress. There are three stamps in the set, all bi-colors; 5 mils. brown and black, 10 mils. carmine and black, and 15 mils. blue and black.

The stamps are of the same format as last year's Agricultural Congress set, but are vastly more interesting historically. The design is a reproduction of a painting on one of the dividing walls of the Temple of Deir-el-Bahari, erected by Queen Hatshepsut, and shows one of her ships.

Queen Hatshepsut Maat-ka-Ra, to give her of her titles, reigned from B. C. 16 to B. C. 1481. One of the XVIII dynasty, she was the daughter and heir of Aa-Kheper-ka-Ra, Thothmes I, and succeeded him on the throne of Upper and Lower Egypt. In accordance with the Egyptian custom, she married her half-brother, Thothmes II.

Hatshepsut is one of the most interesting women in all history on account of her vigorous administration of her government, and her devotion to the pursuit of peace and progress, rather than war and conquest.

She erected the magnificent temple of Deir-el-Bahari, unique in its way, beneath the Theban Hills. The greatest historic interest of this shrine lies in the presentations of her commercial expedition to Punt, or Ta-neter, the "Land of God." Aug. Mariette, H. Brugsch, and Gaston Maspero, all great authorities, consider Punt to be that part of the African coast extending from the Straits of Bab-el-Mandeb (Arabic "Gate of Tears") to Cape Guardafui.

Punt was a country rich in ivory, incense, amber, and other things dear to the ceremonial-loving Egyptians, and the expedition of Hatshepsut, consisting of five large vessels, was purely scientific and commercial. The fleet returned with full cargoes of ivory, ebony, pyrrh, and gold, not to mention many other things, and the complete story is set forth at Deir-el-Bahari.

Hatshepsut also erected two obelisks at Karnak, the larger of which is about 10 feet high, simply enormous, which as quarried at Assouan, inscribed, polished, and set up in the almost unbelievably short space of seven months!

In the upper left corner of the design of the stamps, one notices a royal cartouche and hieroglyphic inscription. This refers to the reigning king of Egypt, and translated as follows, beginning with the upper left glyph, as the animals are coming to the left:

"He is the King of Upper and Lower Egypt. Fuad. Great King, live forever." This translation is made by the writer on the basis of Arabic idiom, which the modern Egyptian is turning into ancient Egyptian, expressed in hieroglyphs.

The glyphs have the following values. Upper left, the male determinative meaning "he." Upper right, the earliest-known symbol of royalty, a bee. This is found on a sarcophagus of the III dynasty, and means "king." These two glyphs are written above small characters resembling capital D's, and the group of four as a whole mean "Upper and Lower Egypt."

The four characters written vertically in the cartouche, as all royal names are inscribed, are, reading downward, F—U—A—D, the present sovereign. Below the cartouche are two other glyphs, that at the left being "ankh," which means "life," the group of three at the right reading "tchetta," which means "eternity" or "forever." Hence the rendition as first given.

The issue is limited to 400,000 sets, and is to remain in use, if not sooner sold out, until March 9.

Some of these stamps were overprinted PORT-FUAD and sold at the opening of this new Egyptian port on the Suez Canal. Port Fuad is opposite Port Said. It is named in accordance with the Egyptian custom, which requires that towns along the canal be named after reigning Egyptian sovereigns. Thus, we have Ismailia, for the Khedive Ismail, 1863-1879; Port Said for the Viceroy Said Pasha, who gave de Lesseps the canal concession; and finally, Port Fuad.

NEWS NOTES:—

ANYONE interested in United States warship cancellations will do well to note the Strasser advertising. He submits an interesting one from the U. S. S. Denver, under date of Jan. 31, 1927, which bears on a White Plains stamp, a Nicaragua marking. Thanks for the courtesy.

THE State Stamp Company of New Kensington, Pa., has removed its office to the Logan Trust Bank Bldg., of that city. The firm's office space has been tripled and it is now in a better position than ever before for the conduct of its business.

PONCA CITY, OKLA., has been designated as a stop on air-mail route No. 3, Chicago-Dallas. The date of starting will be close to March 15. A first-flight cancellation will be provided for use at Ponca City on the opening day. Those desiring first-flight covers may send them to the postmaster of Ponca City.

SOME months ago we suggested a shower of postage stamps for Raymond J. Burke of Dubuque, Iowa, who was then in the Sunnycrest Sanatorium. We think it well to quote the following from a letter just at hand:—"While yet in bed sixteen hours a day, I am gaining strength rapidly. I wish to inform you that I received over 13,000 stamps in reply to the item published in your paper last August. My collection now numbers 4,000 different, where it was then 1,500. I have made many friendships which I surely appreciate. There seems to be a fine bond of fellowship existing between stamp collectors. I want to add that certain stamp dealers favored me

The Finest STAMP VALUES In America!

HARRISCO Quality-Bilt PACKETS and COLLECTIONS

At Prices as Low as 1-4th to 1-10th of Catalogue!

How much does your Stamp Dollar really buy?

If you are now paying $\frac{1}{2}$ catalogue elsewhere, when you can obtain the same stamps from Harris & Co. at $\frac{1}{4}$ th to $\frac{1}{10}$ th of catalogue, it is obvious that your dollar is working under a tremendous handicap and at only a small fraction of its real capacity. Hundreds of collectors, recognizing this fact, are NOW getting utmost value for their dollars by investing them in Harrisco Collections.

These collectors have found that Harrisco collections contain stamps of uniformly fine quality, with a gratifying absence of the fiscals, "duds," and other undesirable items which seem to be present in all of the cheap "imported" packets frequently advertised by others.

Also important, in their estimation, is the fact that every Harrisco collection bears a money-back guarantee and therefore must give unqualified satisfaction.

If you would select your stamps wisely and well, in a field where your dollar, too, will bring CAPACITY VALUE, study the values below and send in your order TODAY. We'll make a little wager with you that after just one trial, you'll embrace with unbounded enthusiasm this new, economical method of stamp-buying!

The important feature of these packets is their restriction to face-different varieties only, which means that stamps with perforation and watermark distinctions (of which there are thousands) have been completely eliminated. EDITORIAL

We have received a letter from a connection in Washington that is of some importance in its intimation that stamp collecting may have the sanction of the government, to the extent that the authorities will encourage it as circulating a knowledge of the post office department and its accomplishments and ambitions. In short, the post office department is animated with a desire to have the public interested in its work. Latterly, we know that the department has been alert to improve and amplify its service and its record is one that bespeaks energy and intelligence. The co-operation of the public is sought to improve conditions as time goes on; and it is to advantage to have the people think of this branch of the government, with which they come directly in contact. In some respects the history of the department is a fascinating one and if the public once attends seriously to what has been done for it and what is being done to better the service, general benefit will result. We regret that nothing definite is said about any plan that Washington may have to encourage the collecting of stamps, U. S. presumably, in order that through the stamp issues an appreciation may be gained of what has been done and of what is to be done.

 In our opinion, the authorities could publish a history of the postal office department in popular form with effective results. A book of the kind, conceived in popular vein would meet with favor and would center attention on the progress of the postal system from the beginning to the present day. There are many developments that have a story worth telling surrounding them and the interest that all people have in the postal organization would be enlarged by the work, it is fair to assume. If we are not mistaken, the government at different times in the past, has circulated literature that described the coinage of the country and it would seem that stamps should have an inning.

Mr. LeGrand Payne, Indianapolis, Indiana, writes: "I saw a write-up in a

CORRESPONDENCE INVITED

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.

1 WEST 47TH STREET,

NEW YORK, N. Y.

paper recently on the Hussey stamps and am wondering if any connection could be made between the stamps and an advertising token of the firm that I enclose." The coin is one of the civil war tokens and has on the obverse: "Time is Money," at the top, with a horseman underneath and underneath is the date, 1863, and "Emergency." On the reverse is the legend: "Hussey's Special Messenger Post, 50 William St., New York." This token was circulated just about the time of the removal of the post from William Street to 54 Pine Street.

Mr. R. W. Ireland, general traffic manager of the National Air Transport, Inc., Chicago, writes to tell of an extension of the Chicago-Dallas air route: "Confirming our conversation, the Post Office Department has authorized the extension of air mail service to Ponca City, Oklahoma. This stop will be included as a part of C.A.M. 3, operated by the National Air Transport between Chicago and Dallas, Texas, with existing stops at the tri-cities (Moline, Rock Island and Davenport), St. Joseph, Kansas City, Mo., Wichita, Kan., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and Fort Worth. Ponca City lies between Oklahoma City and Wichita. The Post Office Department has advised that a special first flight cancellation stamp will be used on air mail letters leaving Ponca City on the first day's flight, going either north or south. The exact date of the flight depends upon the time the work on the Ponca City landing field is completed but it will probably be about March 15th, certainly not earlier. Collectors and others interested in first flight covers may send them to the Postmaster at Ponca City, Oklahoma, with the request that they be held for dispatch on the first day's flight. The letters may be addressed to any point in the United States." The air mail postage of ten cents a half-ounce will apply and letters should be marked distinctively and preferably air mail stamps should be used, although any other stamps will serve the purpose. Letters could be sent to the Ponca City postmaster by air mail.

 We thank Mr. S. Tanner Green, Quebec, Canada, for an envelope bearing two of the one Canada jubilee stamps canceled with the Quebec Sports' slug, the cancellation showing a dog-team and driver, such as the eighteen that will compete in the "dog derby" the last week in February. Above the spirited picture are the words, "Quebec Winter Sports D'Hiver."

 At the banquet of the Chicago Philatelic Society, held February 17th, the sixty members and friends present had the privilege of inspecting a large block of the counterfeit two cent stamps that were discovered some time ago by Mr. Stern of New York. Through the courtesy of Mr. H. F. Rech and T. C. E. Hunter, president of the Chicago Philatelic Society and the secret service department of the Post Office, those in attendance were enabled to examine the forgeries and listen to the graphic account of how the counterfeits were made and circulated by the crooks who were soon brought to grief. The counterfeits

COLLECTORS CLUB OPENING
HOUSE-WARMING HELD AT THE NEW SITE RECENTLY ACQUIRED ON WEST 48TH ST.

(Clipping from R. W. Pelton)
(In the New York Times of Feb. 20 appeared the following account of the house-warming of the Collectors Club, N. Y. City. It is such an interesting story that we are reprinting it in full. It bears the earmarks of having been written by one who is not only a philatelist, but a real newspaper man.—Ed.)

More than one hundred members and guests attended the housewarming entertainment recently in the new home of the Collectors Club, 51 West Forty-eighth Street. John N. Luff, the United States stamp expert, and a former President, said it was the first time since the organization of the club, thirty-one years ago, that it had ever held Ladies' night. Since the club took possession of its building, between Fifth and Sixth Avenues, it has been almost entirely refurnished, and ample space has been provided on the top floor for the philatelic library, which is one of the half dozen largest collections of the kind in the world.

The new President, Harry L. Lindquist, who has a choice collection of early Norwegian stamps, was master of ceremonies, assisted by the trustees and governors, including Charles Curie, Dr. J. Brace Chittenden, Charles J. Phillips, John N. Luff, Alfred F. Lichtenstein, the leading prize winner in the recent international stamps exhibition; Theodore E. Steinway, Julius C. Morgenthau, Joseph S. Rich, Harry M. Lewy and Harry M. Konwiser, the new Secretary.

Other well-known philatelists present were Hugh M. Clark, J. Murray Bartels, Max Ohlman, George B. Sloane, Elliott Perry, Herman Toasperm and Percy T. Berry of Australia, one of the judges at the international exhibition last October, and who arrived in New York with Mrs. Berry during the week from England on his way back to Australia.

Centre of Philatelic Trade
The Collectors Club occupies the upper floors of the four-story building which stands on Columbia University property. Several stamp dealers occupy offices there, and it has become the philatelic trade and club centre of the city. The stamp exhibition meetings this season have been of more than usual interest. Dr. J. Brace Chittenden will show a portion of his Austrian and Lombardy - Venice collection on March 2.
Several balloon post letters sent up in balloons from Paris during its siege by the Germans at the close of the Franco-Prussian War in 1870 will be sold by Max Ohlman in his forthcoming sale on March 4, 5 and 9 at 116 Nassau Street. For several weeks that was the only way by which news could be sent to the outside world from Paris, and fine copies of the balloon letters with the official postmarks seldom appear in the auction room. All of the copies in the sale have the 20-centime stamp of that year affixed for postage and they were sent out of Paris from September to December, 1870.

Another interesting lot of envelopes is in J. Murray Bartels' sale next Friday and Saturday at 116 Nassau Street. The collection includes more than forty hand-stamped envelopes from many post-offices in the Confederate States during 1861 and 1862. Several of the offices at the outbreak of the war used specially designed provisional stamps, but they were soon superseded by the regular issue. There was often a scarcity of stamps, and the postal rate was then hand-stamped on the envelope with the town postmark. Within recent years these early reminders of postal conditions in the Confederacy during the war have been eagerly sought, and good specimens have advanced in value during the last half dozen years.

To Sell American Issues
The concluding portion of the British colonial stamps in the William Wolter's collection of Honolulu will be sold by J. C. Morgenthau at the Collectors Club on March 2, 3, 7 and 8; and George B. Sloane will sell a general assortment of United States and foreign stamps at the same place next Wednesday and Thursday.

A striking illustration of the enhanced value attached to a comparatively common stamp, owing to some unusual use, was presented in a London stamp auction recently when a copy of the Great Britain 1 penny black used on the first day of issue, May 6, 1840, and on the original cover sold for $45. That was

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—Juniors under eighteen years of age are invited to enter exhibits at the Maryland Academy of Sciences, Baltimore, Md., on March 26. For full particulars write to C. Lat. Wilhelm, 105 W. Franklin St., Baltimore, Md.

—POSTFAERGE.—We have already published two lists of names of subscribers who have been able to solve this puzzle. A few additional names have been received, including:—Florence Lyons, Francis T. Laney, Paul Hardacre, Moritz L. Hammer, E. P. Chamberlayne, M. Lernow and Doris M. Wood.

—Our Swedish milkman says "faerge" means scow or barge, the whole word "postfaerge" meaning mail carried on a boat. My Dad says "faerge" is probably the same as our word ferry. He has taken MEKEEL'S for many years and now when he is through with it he gives it to me for the Junior page.—MARY ELIZABETH PHILLIPS (age 12).

—"I have been doomed to be a philatelist ever since I was born, as Dad had some stamps saved then. In fact, I cannot remember the day when I was not interested in them. I now have a general collection of nearly 11,000 different, a specialized collection of Austria, Germany, etc., am president of the Moscow Stamp Club and S. P. A. No. 4707. Of course I am supposed to be the only member of the family interested in stamps, but in the past week Dad (who is a college professor) has sorted more than nine pounds of mission mix, and mother comes snooping around whenever I am sorting stamps to exclaim about the cancellations."—FRANCIS T. LANEY (age 12).

To Measure Perforations

Perforations seem to puzzle the young beginner more than any other of the features of stamps that must be reckoned with in collecting. But there is no reason why they should present any difficulty. First of all, banish the notion that we count the perforations at the top, bottom, or sides of a stamp. We do not count them, but measure them.

Our measure—called a perforation gauge—shows us how many perforations fall within a measured line of twenty millimetres. The gauge bears a scale of dots ranged to represent perforations of different sizes. You pass the edge of the stamp up or down this scale to find that somewhere the perforations will fit the dots on the scale. The number at the dots give you the gauge or measure of the perforation of that particular stamp.

The edge of your stamp may be longer or shorter than twenty millimetres, but no matter; if the perforations and scale coincide so far as they go, you need not bother further.

Do You Know?

Do you know that there is a picture on a postage stamp, of a person milking a cow? This is found on North Ingermanland 80p of the pictorial set of 1920.

Do you know that there is a picture of a "ford" on a postage stamp? No, you guessed wrong! It is the kind of ford where you wade through a shallow river. The ford of Kitim is shown on the 1913 set of French Guinea.

Do you know that there is a picture of a man climbing a tree shown on a postage stamp? Look up the 1913 set of Dahomey and see whether you could do the stunt in the same way.

Do you know that there is a stamp showing a plowman's horses scared at the approach of an airplane overhead? The air post stamps for Denmark, series of 1925, show a pair of horses rearing on their hind legs, supposedly because of the roar of the airplane engine. Can't blame them much if it is as close as it looks!—A. C. LEDUC.

More About the Chinese Junk

By Miss FLORENCE LYONS.

Several weeks ago I read on the Junior Page an article on the Chinese Junk. One came to Norfolk recently which had crossed the Pacific in 87 days. It was painted without brushes and made without nails. The Chinese smear the paint on with their hands and use wooden plugs instead of nails. The man on board said the crew had left because the ship was "cross-eyed," that is, the wooden eyes on the bow were not straight. The Chinese think that if a ship is cross-eyed it will run into storms. The Junk had lightning painted on the deck to frighten the real lightning away.

The Junior Dictionary

Uniontown, Ala.—Confederate postmaster provisionals issued during the Civil War in three denominations. They are very rare.

Universal Postal Union.—A confederation or association of most of the countries of the civilized world having mutual arrangements governing the receipt and despatch of international mail matter. It was founded in Berne, Switzerland, in 1874, when delegates from twenty-two countries signed a treaty agreeing to certain fixed charges on certain classes of mail. Most countries are now members of the Union, which retains permanent headquarters at Berne, and meetings are held every five years so that international postal regulations may be revised and amended as required.

Unpaid Letter Stamps.—These are special stamps affixed by the postal authorities in many countries to unpaid or insufficiently prepaid letters to denote the amount of postage or fine to be collected from the addressee.

Unperforated (not perforated).—A word frequently used in the early days of philately and now superseded by "imperforate."

A rare one—Oh Boy!
And she smiled all over her face.

The World's Rarest Stamp

By ROBERT STRAUSS (15).

A junior collector of stamps, L. Vernon Vaughan in 1872, while searching through some old papers for stamps, came across a few old Guianas. One of these was the one-cent magenta of 1856. To him this stamp did not seem unusual and removing it from the letter sheet, he put the stamp in his album.

Later he decided to sell this stamp and he did, to N. R. McKinnon, for six shillings, about $1.50. Mr. McKinnon, a short time afterwards, sold his collection to Thomas Redpath for £120 ($600). Then the stamp was sold to Philip Ferrary of Paris, for £125 ($625).

At Mr. Ferrary's death his collection was seized by the French Government and sold at auction. The stamp was bought by Arthur Hind, its present owner, for £7,343 ($40,000). This stamp is known as the world's greatest rarity.

Persia

By E. P. CHAMBERLAYNE.

Persia is a large country of southern western Asia, most of which is desert. Its capital is Teheran. The ruler is called the "Shah." The stamps of Persia were issued in 1872. These stamps had pictures on them of the Persian lion holding a sword, with the sun shining brightly from behind. The "Gold and Silver" stamps of Persia are generally acknowledged to be among the most beautiful stamps in the world. They are so called because of their gold and silver borders.

Ne Pas Livrer Le Dimanche

The above is a French inscription appearing on a tablet at the base of all Egyptian stamps issued from 1893 until 1914 meaning literally "Do not deliver Sunday." Letters franked with stamps from which these labels were not removed were not delivered to addressees on Sunday. Sometimes the label may be found attached at the top, due to an improper separation of the stamp from the sheet. Emil F. Scholz who writes us regarding this matter says: "I am 15 years old and started collecting stamps about two years ago. My first stamps came from—dump. But at that time I didn't know that there was a stamp company in town. Now, my collection numbers but 1,500."

Orange Free State Surcharge TF

George Todd wants to know about Orange Free State with overprint. It is found on many stamps supposed to have been used for telegraph purposes, but many of these were allowed to be used for postage in spite of the overprint. The initials are the first and last letters of the word "telegraaf."

Origin of Countries' Names

(Insert in Your Album.)

St. Vincent, discovered by Columbus on St. Vincent's Day, therefore so named. The name comes from the Latin vincere—"conquering."

Salonica was built 315 B. C. on the site of the ancient city of Therma. Cassander, and named by him after his wife Thessalonica, half-sister of Alexander the Great.

Sierra Leone was discovered by Portuguese navigator Pedro de Sintra in 1462, and named by him "Serra Leoa" from Portuguese serro—"a saw," "mountain," and leone—"lion-like."

Solomon Islands (British).—Discovered in 1567 by a Spaniard named Álvaro Mendana, who, being an optimist named them "Islas de Salomon," with visions of riches to come.

Sudan.—This name is an abbreviation of the Arabic term Bilad-as-Sudan—"the country of the blacks."—Stamp Collecting.

B, C OF PRECANCEL COLLECTING

By W. B. HOOVER HAND STAMPS

The Post Office Department supplies individual postmasters with the means for PREcancelling by the method best suited to his needs:

(a) When the amount of outgoing mail does not warrant the printed type rubber stamp with the city, name and date is supplied. It is with this stamp at the smaller cities PREcancel. The impression is generally less clearly defined than the printed type and although the theory the majority use black ink, the PREcancellation generally looks gray. This condition exists always with any rubber stamp on any paper as can be understood. The styles of type are similar to those used on the electros. The and stamps are made in various sizes—generally to cover 5, 10, 15, 20 or 25 subjects.

(b) Rubber roller. In this type which is not very common, the lines are generally thick and instead of the name of the city being printed on the line and the state centered under it, will be seen that the top line contains the rotation the name of the city and state and repeated the full width of the sheet. The second line is physically the same in appearance, but because the two lines do not start directly under each other the impression on the stamp is one of staggered appearance, like this:

Orange, Mass., Orange, Mass.
Mass, Orange, Mass., Orange,

(c) Mail Order Cancellations. In some of the large mail order houses which use so many of the higher denominations for mailing and who receive so many stamps in payment of bills, provision is made whereby under supervision of the Post Office Department, they are permitted to precancel the stamps they receive and use them for mailing outgoing packages or other mail. These houses are assigned a rubber stamp of special design and for their use only. There is no rule that can be given to distinguish this class.

So, we have divided PREcancels into two (2) major classes, of which there is a total of eight (8) sub-classifications:

- 1) Printed
 - (a) Electros
 - (b) Typeset
 - (c) Coils
 - (d) Bureau Prints
 - (e) Multigraphed and Mimeographed
- 2) Rubber Stamped
 - (a) Flat Hand Stamp
 - (b) Rubber Roller
 - (c) Mail Order Stamp

Now, in the matter of the style of type used: First, let us say that there is a term used that has a great bearing on the description of a style of type. Serif, a little line on the bottom of an "I" or "T" that sort of gives it a base on which to stand. These little lines, of course, are on other letters, such as the "ang-overs" of the "T."

In the beginning we referred to an existing catalog of PREcancels. This catalog is published by the Rotnem Stamp Company, 709 Northwestern Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn. A chart is used as a guide in classifying the styles of type. We quote from their catalog in explaining what is called the Universal Style System. "We use a Universal Style System, by which all regular types of PREcancels which are similar and used by different cities are grouped into 'Universal Styles,' which means that all plain, Gothic letters without serifs of an approximate height of 3 1/2 millimeters and less than 1/2 millimeter in thickness are used. If Printed safely be called Universal style No. 1 or abbreviated U1. The Universal Styles 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 or U1, U2, U3, U4, U5, U6, U7, U8, are all according to this Universal Style (heart), plain letters without serifs, but of different sizes and shapes. U9, U10, and U11 all have serifs on their letters. Beginning at U51, we have the hand-stamps and up to and including U60 have serifs above and below. U61 is a rubber roller described, in which Orange,

Recent Gibbons (London) Purchases

There is no doubt that, while a big stock such as ours can always provide the collector with much of interest, the chief opportunity of the specialist comes when good collections come to be broken up.

Here are a few of the fine collections recently purchased:—

NEW ZEALAND (Pictorial issues), in mint blocks of four.

SOUTH-WEST AFRICA (on Union of S. Africa), complete, with many blocks and errors.

SAN MARINO (Bronze Medal, New York). Practically complete, with numerous blocks, and some interesting proofs and covers.

HEJAZ. Issues from 1916-1922, mostly in marginal blocks, with many errors.

Approvals of any of these if unsold on receipt of enquiry.

STANLEY GIBBONS Ltd.

(Only address) Dept. 20, 391 Strand, LONDON, ENG.

Mass., was used as the illustration. U71 to U81 are Hand Stamps with Lines and in various shapes and sizes—with and without serifs. U91 to U97 are the regularly PREcanceled coils (not Bureau Prints). A chart showing all these Universal Styles will be supplied to new collectors of PREcancels, without charge, by applying to the author.

This concludes a general description of PREcanceled stamps and probably after reading it one is inclined to believe, after all, that there cannot be a great deal more value in them than in ordinary postage. To that question let me make this reply: With every commodity, whether it be elephants' tusks or postage stamps, the value is dependent upon the supply as compared with the demand. Therefore, it is obvious that the small towns having only one or two firms using precanceled stamps, do not issue as many precancels as New York or Chicago would. And the rule holds good, too. For, as an instance, precancels from small towns in Louisiana, Mississippi, etc., are scarce, hard to get and have value. Compare this condition with regularly cancelled stamps that have their origin in these same towns.

Take the 2c current issue as an example—with a regular cancellation on it; it is worth about five cents a thousand—but let that 2c stamp have a precancellation Shreveport, La., on it and it has a catalog value of fifteen cents. Why? Because so many less are PREcanceled than regularly cancelled.

So it can be seen that the value-setting of precancels has a logical foundation and one is assured of a positive increase in value as years go on.—Stamp Collector's Magazine.

LOOKING ROUND

By "MARQUETTE."

Critics of the new Danish list in Gibbons 1927 Catalogue are almost unanimous in stating that the inverted frame varieties are overpriced. If this is so, and it may be true for the moment, one cannot agree with the remark that in the majority of cases the inverted frames are as common as the normal. The 8 öre, 1896-99, is certainly plentiful, and one or two other values of the same issue are not scarce, but taking them all round, the inverted frames are only a fraction of any wholesale parcel examined. Collectors are now seeking them, and this demand will tend to hold up prices, though some of them may fall.

I was looking through the price list of a Continental dealer who specializes in Jugo-Slavian "Chain-breakers" the other day, and was not surprised to find that his wholesale prices for many of the scarcer shades and printings were far above "Gibbons." I glanced at our Publishers' stock books, which have been strong in these issues since the old Monthly Circular days, and found that most of the better things were disappearing rapidly. I anticipate a big rise in all but the dozen or so of commoner shades and printings. Not so long ago complete sheets of many "Chain-breakers" were on offer from the Continent. Now sheets or blocks are rarely seen. If any reader knows of complete sheets for sale he can introduce the owner to "Marquette."

The 2 1/2d Thom, Irish Free State, has been asked for by dealers at its Catalogue price of 1s 3d. This has now been doubled, I understand, but may go higher

ARE WE ACQUAINTED?

Some of the finest, the most worth-while friendships of which I can boast are with men I have never seen, and probably will never have the pleasure of meeting and knowing personally.

Stamp-Dealing is a trying vocation very often—because it takes all kinds of people to make up a world, of course.

But the very large majority of stamp-collectors are the very finest and squarest type that one will find anywhere—and it is my pride and my privilege to be acquainted with many such.

Most of them I have never met personally, but I know them just the same, and I know them well.

They are my friends as well as my customers and I have tried to make that feeling of friendship mutual.

My line is limited. I deal only in unused 20th Century British Colonial stamps, in which I have a great, abiding faith.

But 20th Century British Colonials are of interest to thousands of collectors, and it is with those that I want to become acquainted.

I not only want to sell them stamps, but I want to know them as friends, and I want to be of service to them in every way possible.

Are you and I acquainted?

yet. I am told the 10d Thom is the next stamp due for a climb. One thing I know is good, and that is the 1 1/2d Thom with the black overprint. The Saorstat blacks are also likely to be worth having, particularly the 2d among the lower values.

The 4d New Zealand, South Seas Exhibition, is selling at anything up to half a crown in London. New Zealand dealers report "no offers" of this set, and I do not imagine that there are any large stocks in England. The Exhibition sets of 1906 and 1913 are also improving.

I cannot refrain from a word of praise for the new Luxembourg series. If this beautiful set draws attention to the earlier stamps of this interesting country, it will be a good thing for collectors, as they have been too long neglected.

I recommend the 8d and 10d values of Rhodesia, both double-portrait and Admiral types, as worth watching. Also any modern Rhodesians catalogued at less than three times face value, unused. There are not many of the latter, but the all-round demand for Rhodesians must force up their price.

South-West Africa does not seem to be represented by any considerable London stocks, and if dealers are to buy it seems as though many selling prices will have to be raised. South African holders might do well to offer now to London dealers, as unless stamps are soon available English collectors will give up South-West in disgust, through sheer inability to get even the ordinary items.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)
W. Somerville, Mass.

DO YOU KNOW

that I offer the beginner as well as the advanced specialist of the issues of the United States, one of the finest stocks in the hands of any professional from which to select? If you are looking for a fine copy of a stamp cataloging but a few cents or desire one of the great rarities, I am likely to have it. My comprehensive stock of the adhesive postal and revenue stamps of the United States is especially strong in superb early pieces, late mint blocks, in addition to a wonderful lot of revenues of the Civil War period. These latter stamps, by the way, offer opportunities in a much neglected field. Now is certainly the time to pick up evasive pairs and blocks before they are really appreciated. Want lists are solicited from serious collectors.

In buying numerous collections, I accumulate a large number of good sound stamps in good average condition cataloging up to $10.00, which I am pleased to offer at half catalogue. Want lists for this type of stamps will be given prompt attention. If you are prepared to spend from $100 to $200, I am often in a position to furnish collections of United States issues which catalogue from two to three times this amount.

IF YOU ARE THINKING

of disposing of your collection or duplicates, or any of the rare individual pieces that you might own, I will be glad to have them submitted for inspection. I am always open to purchase at highest market prices, fine properties in the way of United States issues. Cash to any amount is available and the best of banking and commercial references will be furnished to interested parties. Whether you buy or sell United States issues, it will pay you to communicate with me.

United States

Washington Stamps

In the President's address to Congress on February 22nd, he brought to their attention, as well as to the millions of listeners in on the radio, the fact that in five years we would be celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. A commission was appointed by Congress a little over two years ago to look into the subject and arrange for a suitable celebration and the President is now asking for the participation of the several states. He also asks for general suggestions and it goes without saying, that the attention of the commission in charge will be brought to the fact that a suitable series of postage stamps should be issued at that time, picturing possibly the events of importance in the life of our national leader. It is too early at the present time for the Department to give consideration to the subject, but it should not be allowed to be forgotten until the last minute, for in such a case we will get one stamp of little importance such as the Sesquicentennial variety. This was an opportunity for a series of unusual interest but due to the lax method in which the subject was taken up with the Department, it resulted in the stamp being asked for just a few weeks before the Exposition was ready to open. In the hurry, one stamp alone was produced and this one possibly the most unsatisfactory ever issued by this country.

New Compounds

Rev. J. Dreyer, S. M., kindly sends for inspection one of the new 1 1/2c perforated 11x10 1/2, precancelled Chicago. The 5c has also been issued in similar condition. So far neither of these stamps have been issued in an uncanceled condition and I understand in view of their distribution in precancelled condition, the Philatelic Agency at Washington is not likely to arrange for first day covers for any of the remaining values. As stated in this column before, the Bureau has changed over its presses and as all of the rotary work being turned out in sheet form now have these perforations, they are unable to say exactly when a certain stamp is issued as most of the supplies are precanceled and these are sent out just as soon as available.

So far, the 1 1/2c, 2c, 3c, 5c and 10c have appeared. The 4c, 6c, 7c, 8c and 9c will no doubt be in the hands of the public before these notes appear. It is doubtful if we will get the 1c immediately as the demand for this denomination under the present postal rates is not large. Of course, if some city asks for the 1c precanceled, a supply will be run through, in which case the Agency will arrange for some of them without the cancellation.

Hawaiian Stamps Suggested

Mr. James A. Garvie kindly sends newspaper clipping evidently from the Hawaiian Islands in which it is suggested that American postage stamps picturing some of the incidents associated with the discovery of Hawaii by Captain James Cook in 1778 will be recommended to Washington by Postmaster J. Frank Woolley. The clipping states that he has had the proposal before him for some time and recently received valuable suggestions from Mr. Garvie, a well-known philatelist of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Hawaiian Historical Society at a recent meeting gave further consideration to the subject, inasmuch as the matter of such issuance was proposed to a committee of the society a year or more back.

It is stated that stamps issued at post offices in the islands and cancelled by a dater advertising the proposed sesquicentennial anniversary of the discovery by Cook would greatly advertise the Hawaiian Islands.

Among the pictures suggested are the Cook monument, head of Captain Cook such as now found on some of the stamps of the South Sea Islands, head of Kamahameha I, as well as one showing his statue, together with a stamp showing the expedition ships Resolution and Discovery.

will locate a terminal at Ponca City, Oklahoma. The date of starting this service has not been definitely fixed but will probably be close to March 15. Mr. Ireland writes that the Post Office Department has announced that a flight cancellation stamp will be provided for use at Ponca City on the opening day. This canceller will no doubt, the well known cartwheel postmark used on first day contract air mail from other cities.

I wish to thank Messrs. Herman Boe and LeGrand Payne for covers from Valentine and Washington, mailed February 14th and 22nd respectively.

Canal Zone

I mentioned in this column last week that I had been shown a copy of the Canal Zone, perf. 10, the product of the rotary press. I now learn officially from Washington that the following stamps all perforated 10 and the product of the rotary press were furnished the Canal Zone Government. Of the 2c, 890,000 3c, 200,000 and 10c, 100,000, there were also 228,000 of the 2c furnished in booklet form of the 25c type with 120,000 booklets of the 49c type. As previously mentioned, none of the flat plates of the low denominations are now being run, that future deliveries to the Zone of values through the 10c will be of the rotary type.

ABYSSINIA.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us that two new provisionals have made their appearance. They are the guerche on $1 and the 1 guerche on $2. Both surcharges are in two lines in black.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—The 1s 4d turquoise has appeared with the imprint of Mr. A. J. Mullett on the obverse.

The 1d green, K.G., has arrived, per 13 1/2x12 1/2, by new comb machine (issued 22.12.26). Mr. A. Rosenblum, B.S., who sends us our first copy from Melbourne, informs us that all values of the Georgian issue are expected with the perf., and that the new wmk., 1d ar 1 1/2d (perf. 14), should be good.—Stan Collecting.

BRAZIL.—Our agent at Rio de Janeiro writes us that Brazil is to alter its monetary system from "milreis" to "cruzeiro," based on gold standard which will undoubtedly necessitate a complete new issue of stamps, but this is not likely to materialize for at least another six months.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Philatelic Bulletin.

CUBA.—We have received a small quantity of the current 1c and 2c stamp watermarked star, imperforate. Our agent informs us that he hopes to send a few more shortly. These stamps were originally issued in this state for use in automatic slot machines, but owing to the excessive humidity of the Cuban climate the stamps stuck together and the machines failed to operate, and in consequence the remaining stock of the

VERY IMPORTANT!!

When the Scott Co. jumped the price of the 1c gray-green unperforated (off-set) printing stamps, #531, from 6c to 15c each for singles and from 30c to $1.00 for blocks of four, in their latest edition catalog, it caused no end of surprise among well posted Philatelists who did not fully realize the extreme scarcity of this particular stamp. Dealers were, however, expecting a very important raise as it was practically impossible to obtain them from any known source of supply.

We were fortunate to get 20 full sheets soon after they were printed but the dealers have purchased from us and now we can supply no more in quantities. We have only very recently turned down a dealer's offer of $1.00 per block for 20 blocks of four.

We are now entirely out on singles and full sheets, but have on hand to be exact, sixty-six blocks of four, sixty-two plate number blocks of six, sixty arrow blocks of four, and forty pairs.

We want to find out just how many MEKEEL'S WEEKLY readers will take a chance on an almost sure-investment and for that reason we offer, until sold, forty blocks of four at $1.00 per block, 30 pairs at 50c per pair, 40 arrow blocks of 4 at $1.30 per block and 40 plate number blocks of 6 at $1.70 per block, or total for one pair, and the three blocks mentioned above for an even $4.00 with a limit of one $4.00 outfit to any one person.

If you want a real bargain take our advice and send in your order at once as this stamp is sure to go much higher.

star watermark. We appreciate this courtesy and thank Mr. Avery for the information.
EGYPT.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle a set of three values of stamps bearing the inscription "Congres International du Cotton 1927." The frame is the same as for the International Navigation Congress set except the inscription in the lower label, while in the central design the vessel is replaced by a flowering cotton plant. The values and colors are 5m brown and olive, 10m red and olive, and 15m ultramarine and olive.
GREAT BRITAIN.—It may interest your readers to hear of a find that we have recently made in a Great Britain K.G. embossed stamped to order envelope. Apparently an order of envelopes sent in to Somerset House to be stamped with a 1d embossed stamp were by mistake stamped with the 1/2d impression, but in red, colour of the 1d. Rather than waste the envelopes the authorities seem to have blocked out the error impression with a large red oval shape grille, rather larger than the stamp, and stamped the correct 1d red impression underneath. We have never seen or heard of this variety before, perhaps some of your readers may know of it, especially those interested in British postal stationery. The postmark of the specimen we have is March, 1919, now a matter of eight years ago, and yet apparently it has never been heard of or recorded.—BRIGHT & SON.
GREECE.—Mr. P. J. Drossos informs us that the current 40l and 1dr have been printed in Austria for some months past, and that sheets so printed do not, of course, bear the marginal imprint of Aspiotis Freres. The Austrian printing produces stamps slightly taller and narrower than the Aspiotis issue.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.
LIBERIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 1c, of the 1918 issue, with the usual surcharge "O.S." for official use and also with the one line overprint "Two Cents" in black.
MAURITIUS.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received the 15c, Arms type, in grey blue shade.
NIUE.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 1/2p green and black pictorial as the 1920 issue, watermarked N.Z. and star.
PORTUGAL.—Whitfield King & Co. send us the 4c postage due stamp in green.
RUSSIA.—New Series in preparation, bearing the inscription in several languages. L'Echangeiste Universel states that the size and paper will be similar to the Romanoff issue.—Philatelic Magazine.
TUNIS.—Whitfield King & Co. send us a copy of the new Parcel Post design of this country and report that the following values are on sale: 5c brown and blue, 10c carmine and green, 20c green and black, 25c brown and black, 40c carmine and green, 50c mauve and black, 60c sepia and red, 75c violet and green. 80c red and brown, 1fr blue green and carmine, 2frs mauve and claret, 4frs red and black, 5frs red brown and violet, 10frs red and green on green, 20frs green and violet on lilac. The central picture shows the natives gathering products from the tall trees. The stamps bear the imprint "Friedling" at the left and "M. Froment. Sc" at the right.
SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS
Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it.

STAMPS OF TO-MORROW

Australian Commonwealth.—The first prize in the artistic contest for the proposed Canberra commemorative stamp was secured by Mr. Ronald Harrison of Melbourne, son of the former Commonwealth Bank Note printer. Mr. Lyons of South Australia was awarded the second prize.

Antigua.—The 2½d stamp of the current series is about to revert to its original colour, viz., blue, on Script C.A. watermarked paper.

Belgium.—Following the advent of the 2 francs in the "Honyoux" type chronicled this month, the 75 centimes and 1fr denominations are announced for issue in the same design on October 25th and December 6th respectively. The new series engraved by M. Alphonse Manquoy has been approved, but the date of issue has not yet been decided upon. It is an open secret that a set of Air Post stamps is in course of preparation. Charity postage stamps in aid of tuberculous ex-soldiers will be put on sale by the Belgian post office on December 1st in a design engraved by M. Debast, showing portraits of the King and Queen of the Belgians. The values actually decided upon are 1.25fr×25c and 5fr×1fr, but it is probable that others may be issued, viz., 5c×25c, 25c×5c, and 40c×10c.

Belgian Congo.—Three new stamps in the design of "Native Cattle Grazing" have been authorised by the Minister for the Colonies in the numbers indicated in parenthesis, viz., 45c violet (750,000), 75c rose (1,250,000), 1.25fr blue (2,250,000). Of the foregoing 150,000 copies of each value will be overprinted for circulation in Ruanda and Urundi.

British Honduras.—The latest printing of the 2 cents stamp (Nyasaland type) despatched to the Colony is in red, instead of brown as formerly.

Bulgaria.—A series of Air Post stamps is foreshadowed, to make its appearance in the Spring of 1927.

Ceylon.—The new 9 cents denomination forecast in Sept. has now been despatched to the Colony, printed in red on yellow in the existing type.

Czecho-Slovakia.—Additional high values showing a view of the "Hradschin" Citadel of Prague were due to make their debut on October 28th, being the Anniversary of the proclamation of the Republic. A new set of Air Post stamps is also reported to be imminent.

Denmark.—A set of pictorial stamps is said to be in course of preparation.

Egypt.—There is talk of a special issue of postage stamps in connection with an International Cotton Convention, which is to meet in Cairo on January 24th and 25th, 1927.

Federated Malay States.—The 3 cents stamp of the current series is about to revert to its former brown colour.

Fiji.—A new printing of the 1d Georgian stamp printed in blue-purple, instead of scarlet as at present. Supplementary values of 1½d red and 2sh purple and blue on blue are also to be included in the current series.

Germany.—The Yuletide Charity stamps to be placed in circulation on December 1st will be of similar design to those issued last year, but dated "1926" and incorporating the heraldic arms of Wurtemberg, Baden, Thuringen and Hessen. The denominations are 5, 10, 25 and 50 Pfennigs, and they will continue to be valid for postage until February 15, 1927. The new portrait stamps, now in readiness for issue, bear likenesses of Frederick the Great (10 pf), Schiller (5 pf), Goethe, Bach and Dueror.

Guatemala.—In consequence of the stabilising of the local currency on the basis of the gold "Quetzali"—1dol.—4sh2d, a new issue of postage stamps may be anticipated.

Honduras.—A new stamp issue is due to make its appearance in 1927, but owing to lack of funds it will probably take the form of surcharging upon the existing types.

Iraq.—Changes in the postage stamps of this country are likely to result from the proposal to introduce new currency on the basis of the Egyptian Pound.

Italy.—Supplementary high values of 20 and 50 lire respectively are on order

MYSTERY OF A STAMP PLATE STRANGE ROMANCE ATTACHED TO AN UNUSED PLATE OF "TWO CENTS" CONFEDERATE

(Clipping from Richmond, Va., "Times-Despatch.")

A BATTLE at sea, a captured ship, the heroism of an unknown friend of the Confederacy—heroism, alas, to no avail—an anxious trusted servant of his country waiting—waiting—in vain. Bloodshed and the death of a secret. A valiant defender of his country's property slain before the fulfillment of his mission, and then, oblivion. Sixty years of silence and dust. Another war, yet one that did not affect the still-living memory of the earlier one on home soil. The late Joseph Conrad might have written the story. But it is not fiction. It is that truth stranger than fiction. The story of the four hundred heads of Calhoun.

Confederate romance has been enriched by the solution of a mystery of sixty years. Stamp collectors in America and abroad—philatelists all over the world—have been startled by the finding, accredited to August Dietz, Sr., editor and publisher of the Southern Philatelist, of the perfectly preserved electrotype plate of "Two Cents" stamps. The plate is marked into four sections, each bearing one hundred units of a Two Cents stamp engraved by De La Rue in London in 1862. The plate shines. No stamps have even been printed from it. Since sometime in 1862 or '63, perhaps, the great sheet of metal has lain in an attic in an old farmhouse in the South. Nobody knew it was there. Few believed it in existence. Some thought no such plate had ever been engraved.

Mr. Dietz, a life-long student of stamps and a recognized authority on those of the Confederacy, so firmly believed in the existence of this unused electrotype that he devoted years to a search. In June of last year, the one-time existence of the plate was confirmed by F. G. Montgomery, vice-president of the American branch of Thomas De La Rue & Co., Ltd., of London, the firm that engraved several of the plates for the Confederacy. Mr. Montgomery stated: "The records show that on November 7, 1862, there was sent a printing plate of 400 multiples of a Ten Cent stamp with the head of President Davis, and a similar plate for a Two Cent stamp with the head of Calhoun. These plates were, without doubt, replicas of the originals of the Five Cent and One Cent stamps, changed respectively to read "Ten Cents" and "Two Cents," but neither the Ten Cents nor the Two Cents stamp was ever used, the plates having been captured, probably before there was opportunity to print from them, and no one seems to have an impression from either the Ten Cents or the Two Cents plate."

This lost Two Cents plate is found. It is a faultless piece of workmanship, according to Mr. Dietz, and it has been untouched through the years. It is mounted on an iron base and measures 18 3/4 inches by 22 1/4 inches and its weight is eighty-eight pounds ten ounces. Mr. Dietz states that there is no doubt as to its authenticity since the electrotyping is the method of the De La Rues—entirely different from the American process. It corresponds with other Confederate stamp plates made by the same firm, and it is made to fit an old Washington hand press. It is noticeable on the stamps that in changing the denomination from One to Two, as is set forth in Mr. Montgomery's letter, the final letter "s" is cramped and badly spaced. This change was necessitated by an order from the Confederate Post Office Department, under Postmaster-General John Reagan, when postage was raised and there was a hurried demand for two-cent stamps, so hurried that time was lacking for new engravings. When the stamp plate, sent off from London in 1862, failed to arrive in the capital of the Confederacy, the Richmond firm of Hoyer and Ludwig was given the order for two-cent stamps.

The Ten Cents plate, lost with the Two Cents, was found many years ago, mutilated, the sections scattered over the country. The finding of the Two Cents plate—sent across the ocean on a blockade runner, the ship captured by Federal authorities, the heavy sheet of metal miraculously saved by an unknown friend of the South—fits the last link into the chain of records of Confederate stamp printing plates. Those old plates—what stories were carried by the stamps they produced—love and hate, life and death, miracles and disasters, heroism and cowardice! And the four hundred heads of Calhoun, hidden in a dusty attic, slept through the years and failed in the service for which they were formed. They tell the story of what might have been. And yet, their story of what was, is stranger still.

If you want to make a profitable investment, let me sell you ten sheets of each number, forty sheets in all, for $27.50.

I offer a single sheet of any of the four plate numbers for only $1.00. Four sheets, one of each number, for $3.50. The four plate numbers are 18770, 18771, 18773, and 18774.

to the time of his death, and now makes it possible for the club to do some very fine work because of his splendid bequest. Many bankers and business men have become vitally interested in our club. This shows what can be done in the interest of the cause if someone is willing to devote a little time. — Rev. E. M. GEARHART, D.D.

IT will probably interest you to know, I also, that the 1926 Precancel Catalog was published on July 10, 1926. On January 1, 1927, the entire edition had been sold out. At present this catalog sells at a premium. We are attempting ourselves to buy back second-hand copies to fill numerous orders which have come in since January first. Work is now commencing on next year's catalog, but there will be no second printing of the 1926 book.—V. W. ROTNEM.

THE annual meeting of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions was held Monday, March 7, at the Collectors Club, New York City, for the purpose of electing fifteen directors to serve three years. The following were elected:—Charles M. Ams, Sidney Barrett, Fernald Hutchins, Eugene Klein, J. J. Klemann, Jr., Edward S. Knapp, John N. Luff, H. C. Needham, S. Newbury, C. J. Phillips, Joseph S. Rich, B. Schlesinger, G. B. Sloane, Edward Stern, A. H. Wilhelm.

MICHIGAN STAMP CLUB of Detroit, will hold its 13th annual banquet on Saturday evening, March 19. It promises to eclipse any previous one held. Ladies will help it along, and numerous surprises and stunts are to be given. Committee of arrangements: L. A. White, Harry Carter and A. Rodenhauer.—HERMAN W. BOERS.

W. H. AVERY, Havana, Cuba, has taken over a new and much larger office equipment, and has put on additional help. We congratulate him upon the marked evidence of the growth of his business. The change of address will be noted in his advertising.

BROWSING around in California this winter, the writer had many interesting experiences. The dealers in San Francisco and Los Angeles were most cordial, and President Wilhelm always makes one feel welcome in Frisco, but most interesting of all was the accidental discovery in a small bungalow in San Jose, of the original "stamp hunter," a man who has forgotten more about stamps than many of us will ever know, a man who was a welcome guest in the homes of Mekeel and Tiffeny, in the good old days, and was for some years in the employ of Scott and Company, and who knew, personally, every dealer from Coast to Coast. I spent many delightful afternoons with him and enjoyed his reminiscences of early days, and no doubt many of his old friends are wondering today what has become of S. L. Wood. Broken in health, he is living alone in the suburbs of San Jose, and I am sure he would appreciate a line from any of his old friends. His address is 411 Delmas Avenue, San Jose, California.—F. A. The color in each instance is black, unless otherwise specified. A number of correspondents also sent postmarks of these types on covers of later dates than 1882. No attempt has been made to list these, as the effort would prove too strenuous.

The following additions to towns using year dated postmarks have also been sent and the list is still not large. Of course this includes only the dates 1870 to 1877. Later ones were too numerous to mention.

1870—Bloomfield, Ill., Muscatine, Ia., Unadilla, N. Y., Red. Williamsburgh, Mass.

1871—Crawfordsville, Ind., Mount Lebanon, N. Y., Blue oval.

1873—Corvallis, Ore., East Templeton, Mass., Mount Lebanon, N. Y., Blue circle, Rutland, Vermont.

These have been sent by Arthur H. Keys, J. E. Spanuth, Wm. F. Goerner, A. B. Thacher, D. H. Graham, Vernon E. Wood, Robt. F. Molitor, H. C. Woodruff, R. J. Tarpy, Richard Walton, H. C. Brooks, Elmer F. Bodurtha, L. A. Heilman and G. L. Habbert.

Doubtless there are more of these and additions to the list will be very welcome.

Mr. M. H. Ganser has sent some interesting items, including a strip of five 3c green Continental, with blue cancellation, each stamp perfectly centered. Very nice in such a strip.

Another 3c green is cancelled by a neat little shield, another by a blue star of four points in circle, and there are several other stars, as well as Maltese crosses, and red cancellations. He also includes a 2c 1890 cancelled by a large compound star too large for the stamp. In the center is a small solid five-point star, outside this is a star-shaped frame, and still outside this another star-shaped frame. In the center of the angle between the points is an extra point, but these are solid. It is very striking in appearance and is the first I've seen of this type of star.

Then there is a 3c green cancelled in large blue type Aug. 1, 1873. Nothing more in the shape of a cancellation shows on the stamp. Why?

FORMED BY COL. C. W. WICKERSHAM, OF NEW YORK

I am just breaking up this fine collection and have mounted the stamps in a large number of my well known approval books. All stamps are priced separately, at very moderate net prices, and books of unused, used or blocks and sheets can be sent on approval.

All three collections, in addition to many copies of the standard rarities, include a large number of color proofs in singles and blocks of four. They are also specialized in cancellations, including many fine varieties.

This makes the seventh collection of British North American I have bought within a short period, and I am willing to buy several more at the top market prices. Shall be glad of offers of any collections of early issues, also of Rarities, and Stamps on Covers of covers from Walton, N. Y., cancelled by a very elaborate star, but not complete enough to reproduce. Can anyone find a good copy of this? Another one postmarked Islip, Suffolk Co., N. Y., the stamp cancelled by a square green ten bars; magenta. Greenlawn, N. Y., with a Maltese cross in double oval in purple on a 2c stamped envelope very pretty. And a 1c 1894 postmarked Huntington, N. Y., has the stamp cancelled by a large H.

Mr. Leon S. Fairbanks has sent a large cover carrying a 1c re-engraved and a 5c brown Garfield. The postmark is West Berkley, Cal., Dec. 24, 1883, a double circle, the outer one about the width of the inner one. The 1c stamp is next to the postmark, and is cancelled with a boot, see July 19 issue of WEEKLY, No. 10. From the position of these two markings the inference is that they were on one handle, and so struck by one blow. The 5c is a little to the right of the 1c and cancelled by a cork or wooden obliterator. This is separated into small square segments. The ink of all the markings appears to be the same, and there is no apparent evidence of any tampering with either the covers or the stamps. And the history of the covers is such that there can be no doubt of authenticity. Why the different cancellations on the stamps?

TO OUR CANADIAN READERS

We are publishing this notice at the request of William Butler, Secretary of the Canadian Philatelic Society, Incorporated, to urge that you co-operate fully with Butler. It appears serious and immediate action is necessary:—

The future of philately in Canada is at stake! Unless you want your hobby to die out you must act at once. The Canadian Post Office Department has tried to fit to prohibit the illustration of postage stamps. You all know what has happened to our American cousins. That worse will happen to us unless you in a body and protest. Lodge a protest with Arthur Webster, Secretary of the Post Office Department, Ottawa, Ontario, at once. Write to your member of Parliament and the Senator for your district. Your hobby is threatened. If the Department is allowed to carry out its insane policy without protest, the death blow has been struck. You must show your feelings. Write to your M. P. and Senator without delay. Urge any public men with influence to use it. The Canadian Philatelic Society will do all that is within its power, but you must do too.

From what I have been able to learn the ruling will cover any kind of postage stamps and apparently does not apply to Canadian postage stamps alone. This means that you cannot have a stamp catalogue or a philatelic journal with illustrations. The mail will be closed to them. You can thus see how serious it is. Rise in a body and show your might. Boycott the Philatelic Agency if necessary. The Department expects to make a nice profit selling YOU stamps, but will not help you otherwise. Is it fair? Let them see you mean business."

A 19TH CENTURY CONTEST

BY ABIE GINNER.

This is just a quiet little ramble by a collector who never collected foreign stamps, but spent his time trying to fill in the spaces in a National Album, succeeding fairly well, except in spots where expressions like "Habilitado por la Nacion," or "Revenue stamps with various surcharges" gave him much discontent. And now all that is changed. I belong to a stamp club, one member collects Precancels, another, 20th Century Br. Colonials mint, another, nothing but old U. S., others favor Airmails, some like old covers, and on going over your list you will see few who are general collectors.

In Oct., 1925, a small group of our club members were talking of those good old days, and comparing them with the present. The old time rivalry in competition is now entirely missing, proven when some member puts up a choice Zanzibar, in mint condition; he gets one or two half hearted undernourished bids on same, and reluctantly says a fond adieu to said item, which he knows to be worth double the bid. A beautiful big blue $3.50 first issue Civil War revenue follows it the same way; a mint $2.00 U. S. with Cat. value of $5.00 starts at about 10% under "face," and is withdrawn.

The president at this point wields his snappy little gavel, and the various little groups subside from their discussions of whether the red Bangor precancels were actually used; did WMSG come in well on your set; why don't Scott list France, No. 58a as a major catalog number; it wouldn't have frozen if the alcohol hadn't evaporated faster than I thought it had, etc., etc. And all this during an auction, cause "those stamps don't interest me."

This scheme for unified competition was so arranged that the Juniors could compete, and the cost is within their means. Here is the outline in brief:—

All 19th Century stamps must be postally used, given a major number in Scott Catalog, no one stamp to cost over 25c. Every perfect stamp to count one point, the contestant with the greatest number is the winner.

There are a couple of rather stiff restrictions here, "Postally used" is a severe obstacle in such countries as North Borneo, Liberia, Samoa, and those Seebecks, etc. This means that you have to devote a bit of study to your cancellations, and maybe annex one or two covers to help sustain your contentions as to what a cancellation looks like actually. That word "perfect" gets most of us. You know what it means, perfect centering of the perforated stamp, if it ever comes so (some do not), and with ample margins all around it, if it be an imperforate stamp.

Each and every perf. must be present. It is no easy job to find a perfectly centered 2c Columbian, with all of its 74 perforations clean cut and distinct. There must be no creases or thin spots under the hinges, the cancellation must not be heavy, and stamps must not be pencancelled. A rare or beautifully cancelled stamp counts no more than one which is not so beautiful, yet perfect.

Now apply this to every stamp you collect. Of course it looks, and maybe is, silly to see a man gently separating a mess of U. S. with his tweezers; but he is hoping that he may find a humdinger of a 6c dull brown, 1894, without the watermark, or some similar hard-to-get item.

It's a proud moment when you get your perfect copy of France, No. 57, or 89, and a holiday should be declared when Spain, No. 96 arrives, if it ever does! Spain, No. 571, is a mean one and there are plenty more. Early Swedens are way off center. Early Indians are faded, not the cancellations; but the color of the stamps. Australians—this group shows all that is bad, a perfect copy brings around a crowd of spectators. Italian stamps had no room for their perforations, same with San Marino and Tunis. Early French have creases on many of them. Mexico is a charming country to get in perfect condition.

Watermarks on the 1895-98 issues of Mexico, there are 98 of these stamps, only 30 of which catalog at 50c or less. There are three watermarked papers, and one unwatermarked, and three differing perforations on each kind of paper; interesting study for one set of designs!

Often our collection shows a stamp with pencilled "NC" above it, which means that we liked the stamp, and bought it, tho it is "Not counted" owing to its having exceeded our 25c limit. Italy is an easy country to complete as few stamps are expensive among the 19th century list. We are completing a few countries, while in many others we see a stamp now and then which we cannot help buying, as it is so nice that we simply "oughta have it."

Every three months, a group contest is held. Four countries drawn from a hat make up the contest. Three expert judges officiate with despatch and precision. The winners walk off with suitably stamped Blue Ribbons, which are hard to get. Our entire contest is due Jan. 1, 1930. This will have completed the five years. There are, possibly, 7,500 stamps which may be had. The stamps go up most too fast for us in the catalog. The Austria, No. 46, has now gotten away from us completely, being listed at $2 this year. I had one, and foolishly let it get away from me, probably never will get another for this contest.

This competitive collecting is a lot of fun. You are very glad to allow a competitor whom you believe to be behind, to have your nice duplicates; but you surely will not hand many of them to the chap who walked off with most of the Blue Ribbons in the last contest. An odd thing about your duplicates, often you can't tell which copy is really the best one.

Similar contests could be arranged with 20th Century stamps as the subject, or you might change these limits to more, or to less cost per stamp. Or you might make Mint stamps only as your contest.

Suppose you are a collector far removed from any city where there are stamp clubs, you can say to yourself, "I'm going to complete Costa Rica, 19th as far as I can for not over 50c for any one stamp." This means that you ought to get all, but about 10 stamps. You have set yourself a goal, get them all in perfect condition, maybe, a hard goal to reach. When you have accomplished this, which is preferable, this, or to win a dozen games of solitaire?

SPECIAL STAMP COLLECTIONS

If you sometimes buy stamp collections, either for resale or investment purposes, the following facts are important for you to know:—

H. E. Harris & Co. for years have specialized in the handling of fine collections, buying only those which are the most advantageously priced, and selling them, always intact, at a uniformly small margin over actual cost.

Our world-wide connections, cash resources and intimate knowledge of the market, plus the psychological effect of our position as wholesalers, enable us to pick up many good collections, often at prices which are considerably below their real worth. This favorable factor (i. e., low buying prices) combined with our well-known policy of quick sales and small profits is continually creating opportunities of an exceptional nature for our customers.

The following collections, among others, have recently been acquired. Adequate descriptions are difficult in this limited space, but we are always glad to send any of our collections on three days' approval to responsible persons, no obligation to make purchases being incurred. If the collection does not sell itself to you, we do not want you to buy.

We hope to obtain many other collections of exceptional value during 1927. If you do not find what you want below, write us of your requirements.

4,000 British Colonials

Price $395.00

The finest example of painstaking workmanship to be found anywhere. Assembled up to a standard and not down to a price, this collection represents an undertaking of considerable size and difficulty, but one of which we can truthfully say "well done!"

A collection of this size would not seem so unusual if the thousands of watermark, perforation and minor varieties were taken into consideration. But that's where the extraordinary part is so apparent: This collection contains absolutely straight, major varieties only! No watermark or perforation distinctions, no paper or shade differences—just clean, good stamps, all in the pink of condition, from the oldest to the newest issues. There are hundreds of mint stamps from almost every colony past and present, many fine sets (including a few high values), and lots of hard-to-get varieties of the medium-priced class which are almost impossible to find elsewhere.

The collection is mounted in several albums. It is offered on the usual "return-if-not-well-pleased" basis and is highly recommended as a sterling investment.

Now Only — $395.00

3,100 Different Portuguese Colonials

This collection represents such exceptional value and is so hard to prepare, because of its comprehensiveness, that we are able to offer only one or two of them annually. Here is the unsolicited comment of Mr. Wm. Lempert, purchaser of the previous collection:

October 14, 1926.

"May I say that the collection of 3,100 Portuguese Colonials far surpasses in every way what I really expected to get. The quality and value are wonderful and I am indeed grateful to you for making possible what I consider the very finest purchase of my long philatelic experiences."

WILLIAM LEMPERT, 99 Home Ave., Rutherford, N. J.

We offer at an exceptionally attractive price one of the best and most complete collections of Portuguese Colonials which has ever passed through our hands.

There are exactly 3,100 stamps—every one a distinct major variety. Twentieth century issues are almost complete for each of the colonies. Unused stamps are in the majority and used copies are lightly cancelled in most cases. Condition throughout is excellent, great care having been taken in the selection of fine copies.

Total catalogue value is estimated at more than $1,750.00.

Catalogue valuations on Portuguese colonials have been reduced to unjustifiable lengths the past two years and many of these stamps, particularly the scarcer varieties, are now underpriced.

The collection, which we do not believe could be duplicated at retail—stamp for stamp—for less than eight hundred dollars, is a genuine bargain at our special price of

Net $375.00

7,200 Blocks of Four

28,800 Stamps, Cat. $4,500.00

The collecting of blocks—as any auction catalogue will show—has grown enormously in philatelic favor. Particularly choice items bring anywhere from five to twenty-five times the price of singles.

This large collection, one of the finest of its type that we have ever seen, is compiled in five substantial volumes, three of which contain miscellaneous blocks of four, while the remaining two consist entirely of French and British Colonials.

There are more than 7,200 different blocks of four (28,800 stamps), mostly mint, and cataloguing slightly under $4,500.00.

To the connoisseur and student of philately, the collection with its countless pages of beautiful items, will prove an inspiring sight and a worthwhile treasure.

PRICE—$795.00

"Hulme" Collection of 19th Century

2,668 Scarce Stamps, cataloguing about $8,800.00

This magnificent collection embraces only the better grade and rare stamps of the 19th century, strong in Europeans.

The list below represents a small portion only of the hundreds of rare items to be found:

Bahamas—Nice used copy No. 3, cataloguing $20.00

Barbados—Nos. 10 and 11, cat. $17.50 and $8.00

Bavaria—The rare 12k lilac (cat. $30); also No. 31 ($10)

Brazil—No. 9 ($7.50), 40 ($15)

Cape G. Hope—Nos. 2 ($7), 3 ($10), 3a ($13.50), 4, etc.

Ceylon—Nos. 28 ($20), 41 ($10), 56b ($15), etc.

France—Nos. 1 ($10); 2 ($15), No. 18 unused ($12), 21 ($20), 36 ($10)

Hamburg—No. 1a ($10); 4 ($10); 18 ($10), No. 21 ($17.50), 11 ($35)

Luxemburg—No. 2 unused (cat. $25); also used; No. 3, etc.

Mecklenburg—Nos. 1, 3, 5, 6, 7, 7a

Modena—No. 20, cat. $100.00—very rare

Natal—No. 1, cat. $40; No. 2, cat. $150; No. 3, cat. $100

Oldenburg—Nos. 3; 12 ($50), No. 7 ($75)

Roumania—No rarities, but a splendid showing of the "earlies"

St. Helena—No. 1 ($15), 2b, 8, 19

St. Vincent—No. 7 ($18), 28, 28a

Spain—Nos. 1 unused ($10), 3, 9, No. 70 ($30)

Switzerland—No. 25 and 28

Transvaal—Nos. 24 unused ($12.50), No. 26 ($25), 35b

Tuscany—Nos. 10 ($18) and 13a

Uruguay—No. 6 ($20), No. 17 ($40), No. 33

Wurtemberg—Nos. 18 ($50), No. 6 ($30), No. 46 ($45)

As is usual in most collections of early 19th, all of the stamps are not superb; but we can say conservatively that they are average—and in many cases far above the average—for stamps of this calibre.

It is difficult to do justice on paper to a valuable offering of this kind; the collection must be seen and examined to be fully appreciated.

A cash order (with privilege of return within ten days if not well pleased) will receive the preference, but we will gladly send the collection on five days' approval to anyone of known responsibility.

Our price is almost one-sixth of the catalogue value ($8,800.00) and represents a remarkable opportunity for the man who has the money available for a good conservative investment.

Net, $1,575.00

ANGOLA

1912-16 Issues, Specialized

This collection was formerly the property of Father Manuel G. Salvador of New Bedford, Mass. Father Salvador was for many years a resident of Angola and while there he succeeded, through his influence with the local postmaster, in getting together an almost unique representation of the errors and misprints of the 1912-16 issues.

The collection is practically complete, in these issues, with all manner of errors: inverts, wrong color surcharges, double surcharges, inverted figures, wrongly spelled "Republicas,"—every oddity conceivable, and many of them in pairs and blocks showing the error with the normal variety.

Most of the errors are unlisted by Scott and on these we have placed only a nominal valuation, in no instance figuring anything higher than $5.00 (catalogue).

The estimated catalogue value of this extraordinary collection is $947.53.

No doubt many of these errors in overprinting were knowingly overlooked by an easy-going postmaster. Although obviously speculative when issued, they have, with the passing of time, become comparatively scarce and are seldom seen today.

We believe that the collection possesses unusual speculative possibilities at our price of

EARLY POSTAL RATES

By HARRY M. KONWISER.

Students of matters appertaining to the early days of the postal system of the United States can enjoy a considerable measure of profit and pleasure by visiting some of the larger libraries of the land, and then peruse some of the almanacs of ninety years or so back.

The Farmers' Almanac for 1834, No.
 16, compiled by David Young and published by R. Bartlett and S. Raynor of New York, has a section headed "Rates of Postage in the United States" reading as follows:

"For single letters, if carried not exceeding 30 miles, 6¼ cents. Over 30 and not more than 80, 10 cents; over 80 and not over 150, 12½ cents; over 150 and not over 400, 18¾ cents; over 400, 25 cents.

For double letters, double those rates—for triple letters, triple those rates—for packets composed of four or more pieces of paper, and not weighing one ounce avoirdupois, quadruple those rates and in proportion for greater weights.

Newspapers carried not over 100 miles, or any distance within the State where they are printed, one cent each—over 100 miles and out of the State, 1¼ cents each. Magazines and pamphlets carried not over 50 miles, 1 cent per sheet—over 50 and not over 100 miles, 1½ cents per sheet—over 200 miles, 2 cents per sheet."

Day's City and Country Almanac for 1835, by David Young, New York, says under "Rates of Postage:"

"For single letters composed of one piece of paper: Any distance not exceeding 30 miles, 6 cents; over 30 and not exceeding 80, 10 cents; over 80 and not exceeding 150, 12½ cents; over 150 and not exceeding 400, 13¾ cents; over 400, 25 cents.

Double letters or those composed of two pieces of paper are charged double rates. Triple letters, triple rates. Quadruple letters, quadruple rates, provided they weigh one ounce, otherwise, triple postage.

Every packet composed of four or more pieces, and weighing one ounce or more, is to be charged with single postage for each quarter of an ounce; except letters conveyed by water mails, which are not to be charged with more than quadruple postage, unless the packet actually contains more than four distinct letters."

Newspapers paid 1 cent per 100 miles, 1½ for over 100, "but if carried to any Post Office in the State in which it is printed, whatever the distance, the rate is 1 cent."

Magazines and pamphlets were rated by the sheet, and when not carried over 50 miles, the sheet rate was 1 cent; up to 100 miles, 1½ cents, and beyond that distance, 2 cents.

Hutchings' Improved Almanac for 1837, compiled by David Young and published by H. and S. Raynor, New York, indicates "the following rates of postage are charged conforming to an act of Congress." The stated rates are similar to those of 1835, previously recorded.
 Additional items are as follows:

Ship letters, not carried by mail, are chargeable with 6 cents. Periodicals, magazines and pamphlets are rated by the sheet, and carried not over 100 miles, per sheet, 1½ cents, over 100 miles, 2½
 cents.

Record is made of "letters and newspapers delivered out of the office every day except Sundays, from 8 a. m. to 8
 p. m., and on Sundays, from 9 to 10
 a. m., and from half past 12 to half past one."

It is interesting to read that "if an abatement of letter postage be claimed, the letter must be opened in the presence of the postmaster, or one of his assistants; and if such letter should, instead of being overcharged, happen to be undercharged, the deficiency must be made up by the applicant."

"All letters which are lodged to go by the packets"—reading the Almanac—
 "must be distinguished by writing Per Packet, for there are places of the same name in the United States, similar to Europe."

According to the almanac there were 10,770 post offices in the United States on June 30, 1835, and the postal receipts from July 1, 1834 to July 1, 1835, was $2,993,556.68. The "annual transportation of the mail, 25,869,486 miles."

David Young compiled the 1838 Farmers' Almanac, published by the Raynor brothers, and we find, among

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines? Address your letter to the Beverly office.

Junior Gossip

—Robert Hutchinson, Lawrenceburg, Ind., would like to get in touch with Juniors who have duplicates to trade. We are glad to publish this item because Robert sends us a nice article for this page. If any other Juniors would like to exchange we shall be glad to insert their names and addresses, but we cannot be held responsible for what takes place in exchanging.

—Fred Bamber (9) sends us a little story on "U. S. Stamps Issued in 1926." It is not quite suited for our page, but nevertheless we remember Fred with a reward that will please him.

—The Marysville (Calif.) Stamp Society met Feb. 10. William Conlin was elected president for the next six months, Cameron Alberts, vice-president, Harold Bubb, treasurer, Harry Piper, secretary, and James Bruce, sales manager. The president will be glad to hear from other stamp clubs. Address him at 716 12th St., Marysville, Calif.

—The Junior Philatelic Society of Washington Irving High School, Tarrytown, N. Y., was recently organized with Richard Heller as president, F. B. MacMahon, vice-president, G. Cardner, secretary, and J. C. Manthorp, treasurer. Meetings are held on alternate Tuesdays. An interesting set of activities is planned for the future meetings.

—A Junior wants to know the difference between hard and soft paper and we shall answer this question very soon, in a manner which will enable any boy or girl to distinguish between them.

—Albert L. Adams, Westminster School, Simsbury, Conn., would like to trade Canada stamps for others.

—The McBurney High School of N. Y. City has a lively stamp club, which meets at 318 W. 57 St., N. Y. City. The

Bank Note Prints

The secret marks found on the Continental issue of 1870 were applied on the original dies by the Continental Bank Note Company in order that their work might be distinguished from that previously turned out by the National Bank Note Company. When the National contract terminated, the plates and dies were turned over to the new contractors and in the case of the lower denominations, it is believed that they never used the National plates. They laid down plates of their own from the original dies and as the secret marks had been added to the dies, they in turn were found upon the plates as well as on the finished product.

In the case of the three higher denominations, namely, the 24c, 30c and 90c, secret marks were applied to the dies but no plates were ever produced from the changed dies by the Continental Company, although in the later years of their contract, they used the National plates for producing stamps. As a result these three denominations are generally recognized by means of shade, paper and gum.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

U. S. Revenues of 1862-71

By ROBERT HUTCHINSON.

The U. S. Revenue is a very interesting item for Juniors. Of the First Issue there are four distinct types, Imperforate, Part Perforate, Perforated on old paper and perforated on silk paper.

It does not require intense study to distinguish these types, and a collection of them, neatly mounted, is educational as well attractive.

U. S. Revenues were first issued in 1862 for the purpose of helping to defray the expenses of the Civil War. Since that time they have proved to be one of the most successful means of taxation.

A New Style Perforation Scale

Last week we described the regular article. A new kind of perforation scale has been recently introduced. It is perfectly simple to use. You place your stamp so that the starred line divides a perforation, draw the stamp evenly down the scale until you reach a point where all three lines are visible through and at the back of the perforations; the number at the right shows the measure of the perforation of the stamp.

Some stamps have a different gauge of perforation in the horizontal (i.e., top and bottom) from the vertical (sides) direction. Our present British stamps are perf. 15 at top and bottom and perf. 14 at each side. This is called a compound perforation.

Roulettes are measured in the same way as perforations; the difference between the two systems of separating stamps being that—

In perforating, the small holes are punched out of the paper.

In rouletting the paper is pricked or cut, and slightly displaced; but no particles of paper are removed.

president is Martin Rogers (13), who resides at 210 W. 70 St., and he will no doubt be glad to correspond with other club presidents on matters dealing with club work. Martin writes us:—"We are fortunate in having for our faculty adviser, J. Van Kirk Wells, of the Home of the Postage Stamp." The club is indeed fortunate in this respect.

—There is a letter at this office for George Todd. As our mailing list is not arranged alphabetically we shall have to ask George to send us his address.

History on U. S. Stamps

By MORTON GOLDFINE (12)

A well-arranged U. S. album contains not only the collector's treasures but a history of the United States as seen upon her stamp issues. It is well to note some of the high spots of history as portrayed upon these stamps.

The period of exploration is portrayed in the Columbian, Trans-Mississippi and Panama-Pacific issues. The early colonies figure in the Huguenot-Walloon, the Pilgrim and the Jamestown commemoratives. The Revolutionary war is represented in the Lexington-Concord issues, the White Plains stamp and the Liberty Bell.

A proposed stamp, the Old Ironsides, will tend to keep alive in our memory and albums the war of 1812. Another issue representing an event near that period, the Louisiana Purchase. Fulton is not neglected, as he is seen on the Hudson-

We have heard a great deal lately about Queen Marie of Roumania and her trip to the United States. Probably many of the readers of this paper saw her, and no doubt some readers attended some of the receptions given for Her Majesty. ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith)
W. Somerville, Mass.

that I offer the beginner as well as the advanced specialist of the issues of the United States, one of the finest stocks in the hands of any professional from which to select? If you are looking for a fine copy of a stamp cataloging but a few cents or desire one of the great rarities, I am likely to have it. My comprehensive stock of the adhesive postal and revenue stamps of the United States is especially strong in superb early pieces, late mint blocks, in addition to a wonderful lot of revenues of the Civil War period. These latter stamps, by the way, offer opportunities in a much neglected field. Now is certainly the time to pick up evasive pairs and blocks before they are really appreciated. Want lists are solicited from serious collectors.

In buying numerous collections, I accumulate a large number of good sound stamps in good average condition cataloging up to $10.00, which I am pleased to offer at half catalogue. Want lists for this type of stamps will be given prompt attention. If you are prepared to spend from $100 to $200, I am often in a position to furnish collections of United States issues which catalogue from two to three times this amount.

IF YOU ARE THINKING

of disposing of your collection or duplicates, or any of the rare individual pieces that you might own, I will be glad to have them submitted for inspection. I am always open to purchase at highest market prices, fine properties in the way of United States issues. Cash to any amount is available and the best of banking and commercial references will be furnished to interested parties. Whether you buy or sell United States issues, it will pay you to communicate with me.

DEATH OF L. R. SAUNDERS

With much regret, the news of the death of L. R. Saunders, Mason City, Iowa, is announced, burial having been at Rosehill Cemetery, Chicago, on March 2nd. The pall-bearers were members of the American Legion, Mr. Saunders having been a member of the Legion. In fact, Mr. Saunders was gassed while serving in France, and he never recovered from the poison; and much of the time, he was flat on his back at his home, in Mason City. Mr. Saunders was about twenty-nine years of age, and was active in philatelic work as a writer and promoter of philatelic societies. His articles on precanceled stamps evinced his interest in this branch of collecting and he contributed many items of a readable nature to this and other stamp papers. At the convention of the American Philatelic Society, in Los Angeles, 1925, the report of Mr. Saunders as chairman of the Recruiting Committee was lauded by President Wilhelm. To the mother and father of Lester R. Saunders, we extend our sympathy in the loss of a son who died for his country; and philately is the poorer by his removal from its councils.

20c Air Mail Stamp

Mr. C. E. Nickles calls attention to the fact that in the case of the 20c air mail stamp recently issued from plate 18892, the small "F" which is usually found in the margin near the upper right plate number indicating that the plate has been finished or completed, appears near the lower left plate number.

Burgoyne Stamp Proposed

Mr. W. R. Staplin kindly sends clippings from the Utica Daily Press and Observer Dispatch, wherein mention is made that the historical societies of Rome and Utica met and proposed the issue of four commemorative stamps in quantities of one hundred million each, one showing the raising of the Stars and Stripes at Fort Stanwix; a similar number to tell the story of Herkimer under the beech tree at the Oriskany battle; another one hundred million to show Stark and the Bennington monument, with the fourth hundred million to represent the defeat of Burgoyne at Saratoga.

The clippings further state that Congressman F. M. Davenport, of Clinton, has placed the matter before the Postmaster General, with the hope of putting out the issue as an educational project.

Congress has also been asked for an appropriation of a quarter million dollars for celebrating the 150th anniversary of the events which are proposed for illustrating these stamps. The clippings tell us that when the subject of four stamps was taken up with the Postmaster General, he made the suggestion that they request one denomination only. Accordingly a telegram was sent to Congressman Davenport, in which he was informed that a further local conference had been held and that he was authorized to ask for one stamp, the same to carry the names of Fort Stanwix, Oriskany, Bennington and Saratoga with Trumbull's picture of the "Surrender of Burgoyne" to represent New York State's part in the American Revolution. At this writing, no official action has been taken at Washington, but if the clippings give the correct facts that the Postmaster General suggests that they ask for one, there seems a possibility that such a variety might appear.

Air Mail Notes

The Post Office Department announced under date of February 23rd, that the Pitcairn Aviation Co., of Philadelphia, Pa., was the only bidder on the proposed New York to Atlanta commercial air mail route when bids were opened at noon on that date in the office of the Second Assistant Postmaster General. This concern agrees to carry the mail for $3.00 a pound. It will furnish six planes at once, and two will be held in reserve. They will arrange to have eleven additional planes available as an emergency reserve. The department at the present time is contemplating having such a service leave New York at 9 P. M.; leave Philadelphia at 9.40 P. M.; leave Washington at 11.10 P. M.; leave Richmond at 12.35 A. M.; leave Greensboro at 2.25 A. M.; and finally arrive at Atlanta at 6 A. M. the following morning. The same schedule will prevail on the north bound trip. The Department reserves the right to increase or decrease the number of intermediate stops, or the number of round trips per week, and to change the terminals of the route by agreement with the contractors. The distance en route is approximately 773 miles.

The Department makes no mention to whether the bid of the Pitcairn Company is satisfactory or whether they will readvertise for bids at a later date.

While I have seen no official announcement stating that the contract has been awarded, nevertheless, the daily paper of Philadelphia inform the public that the local concern will receive the contract. Whether they are anticipating the intention of the Department, I cannot say.

I have a communication from Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General in charge of mails confirming the details recently given in this column relative to the establishment of an airplane terminal at Ponca City, Oklahoma. As soon as the landfield has been completed, the Department will authorize the contract service running from Chicago to Dallas to stop at this place. Mr. Glover writes that it is the intentions of the Department to authorize a special cancellation for use at Ponca City on the first day, which will probably be around the middle of March although as yet a definite date has not been established.

Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer has shown me an air mail cover with a cancellation that I have not noted heretofore. This was used from Kansas City, Mo., and read within a circle, "Kansas City, Mo. Feb. 2 P. M.—Air Mail." This cancellation is of the hand stamp type and is doubt used on all of the air mail passing through that office in the regular course of business.

public, as the division was not in a position to take care of numerous inquiries. While recently in Washington, the writer took up the subject with Mr. C. Brown, in charge, and suggested to him the advisability of permitting the dealer and collector in general to purchase their supplies of mint Philippine stamps in the same manner as United States issues may be purchased at the Philatelic Agency. Mr. Brown stated that the subject would be taken under consideration and that I would be advised as to their desires later.

I am now in receipt of a communication dated Feb. 23rd, in which the Bureau of Insular Affairs announces that I am privileged to state that they have certain Philippine stamps available to the public on a face value basis. At the present time this includes the 2c, 4c, 16c, 18c, 24c and 24c of the Legislative commemorative series. These stamps have a face value of 42c per set and must be purchased in complete sets through the 24c. The supply of the 1 peso received from the Islands was small and these have been sold in their entirety, so that none of them are available. Remittances should be made by money order or express order, as private checks or unused postage stamps will not be accepted. Return postage, including registration, should be included.

Communications should be addressed to the—

Disbursing Agent,
Bureau of Insular Affairs,
Munitions Buildings (Room 3521), 20th and B Sts., N.W.,
Washington, D. C.

Certain denominations of the current series are also available, but at the present time they would prefer that these not be ordered until four denominations, which are at present exhausted, are replenished by a new stock from the Island. In the recent lot they had three hundred of the 1 peso, perforated 10, and as advised in this column sometime back, it is believed that a good quantity of these are now in the Island and they are quite confident that this stamp will be available when the supply which has been ordered arrives. As the order has been placed, it is hoped that these stamps will be on hand by the end of March. Our readers will be kept fully informed as to the items to be offered.

ALGERIA.—We quote below from a letter written by Mr. R. Roberts to a correspondent, offering him the "so-called" Charity stamps at a huge premium and believe if more of the buying public would take the same position, we should have less of this gouging of the collectors pockets under the alleged guise of charity.

"I am in receipt of your letter of the 2nd February, which I have read with care.

I am well aware of the speculation that has taken place in the 'so called' Charity stamps of Algeria, but I must tell you that here in London these sort of speculative stamps which are issued under the disguise of Charity stamps, do not appeal to English people, the inconsistency is so apparent. If there is any need for the subscriptions of philatelists to this charity, the idea of issuing stamps is entirely stultified, by making so limited an issue, and restricting the amount subscribed to the 'so-called' charity to such a ridiculous extent, and the benefit accruing from the sale of these stamps does not go to the wounded, as it is pretended, but to those people who have opportunity and influence to obtain numbers of these sets.

This is one of the several examples of the 'so-called' Charity issues by continental countries, which are issued under nothing less than false pretences.

If Charity stamps would be issued at all (?) they should be issued in practically unlimited quantities so that every philatelist should have the opportunity of subscribing to the Charity, if he feels disposed, otherwise they should not be called by this name.

The speculation of stamp issues is bad enough at any time, but under the name of Charity it becomes despicable, and I am only sorry that collectors will not refrain from encouraging them.

One reads with disgust, the reports of queues of people struggling and fighting to obtain stamps of which the small numbers issued had been previously advertised by the Administration concerned in the issue. Could there be anything more blatant?

I regret, therefore, I am unable to pass you an order for these stamps."

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—We notice that Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal chronicle, the 12c blue, Postal Centenary stamp with the overprint "M.A." for Official use.

CAMEROONS.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal records the appearance of two new values, 10fr orange and mauve, and 20fr carmine and green.

DENMARK.—Mr. A. E. Pade sends for chronicle the 15ö and 30ö of the new series with the surcharge "Postfaerge" in black. Also the 7ö postage due stamp, type D1, in a light yellow-green shade.

IRELAND.—Capt. T. A. Smye sends us a photograph of the 2p, Thom overprint, Die 1 with surcharge inverted and adds that Messrs. Frank Godden of London, reports that they secured half of the sheet (120 stamps) and do not know what has become of the other half, except one mint and one used copy in Capt. Smye's collection. cover is probably the only used copy preserved, the others having been destroyed by the recipients who were non-collectors, and not interested at the time.

LITHUANIA.—Whitfield King & Co., advise of a new series of stamps for this country. The usual inscription of the name of the country is at the top, while in the centre is a double cross surrounded by a wreath. The colors and values are 2c orange, 3c brown, 5c green, 10c lilac, 15c carmine and 25c blue.

MALTA.—We have received from Mr. R. Forbes-Bentley and Mr. Francis J. Gross copies of the 10 shilling value in the new set. The stamp is on the multiple script watermark paper like the values above the 6p and bears the inscription "Patronas Malitas" and a vignette reproduction of the Statue of St. Paul by the Maltese sculptor, Cafa, existing in the Collegiate Parish Church of St. Paul, shipwrecked in Valletta. The stamp is printed on white paper, vignette in black in red border.

NEJD.—We are officially informed that with effect from January 1st, 1927, the Kingdom of Hejaz and Sultanate of Nejd and its dependencies has joined the Universal Postal Union.

New Series. We are informed that a new series has been issued which resemble the pre-war stamps of Turkey in design—no values have yet been received.—Philatelic Magazine.

NORWAY.—Whitfield King & Co. send for note 15ö olive, 25ö red and 40ö blue, in the type of Scott's A13 and 30ö blue in the A10 design.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts report the appearance of the 6c red, on script watermark paper, a change in color for this value.

THE PRECANCELS OF MILFORD, DEL.

By A. C. LeDuc.

A thriving town of approximately 2,700 people, Milford is the center of a rich agricultural section in the southern part of the state. Altho a small town it boasts a Post Office of the first class. This is due to the large volume of mail going out from the town. The only precancel permit holder in this place is the L. D. Caulk Co., manufacturers of dental supplies.

Only a few precancel varieties have been issued for the use of this company and practically all have been low values for use in sending out their publications. The 10c Monroe perf. 11 has appeared precancelled for this town, the first value above the 2c that I had seen, which indicates that we can expect other values soon.

There has been only one type used so far for Milford, that being the regular U-10 style electro. The inverts listed for Milford are much scarcer than the price differences would indicate. As for relative scarcity, I would say that the inverts are at least 20 times scarcer than the normals.—Precancel Gazette.

THE CHRISTIAN INSPIRATION IN STAMP DESIGNS

(L'Inspiration Chretienne et La Philatelie. By V. GISQUIERE and S. STROWS. Reviewed by R. F. HEALEY.

Post free, 55c from Harris Publications Ltd., 46 Victoria Street, London, S. W. 1.)

PHILATELY offers such a wide field of interest that anyone may find an outlet for their activities, and perhaps that is why the hobby continues to flourish and to increase its sphere of influence year by year. What are sometimes referred to as the side tracks of philately prove to be highly successful in gaining new recruits and in re-enlisting or retaining old enthusiasts.

There is no doubt that there are quite a large number of collectors who, for some reason or another, give up collecting. Quite apart from lack of time and similar reasons, there are many who have, unintentionally perhaps, made of their hobby a kind of second-rate science, and its consequent exactions have become wearisome. Philately as a hobby is as we make it, and it is within the scope of all to make it a pursuit which will give a maximum amount of pleasure with but a minimum of expenditure.

Readers of The Philatelic Magazine may recall the article, "Philatelic Sanctuaries," which appeared in last year's Christmas Number, and which had something to say about this, emphasising the importance and the interest to be derived from the study of stamp design.

In "L'Inspiration Chretienne et La Philatelie," the idea launched by this article has been enlarged upon and carried through to build up quite a substantial monograph on a topic which might appear to the casual observer to be of secondary importance. The work is ample proof that serious collectors are paying more attention to the designs of postage stamps. It is an interesting study, and one which should readily commend itself to the collector who wishes to make philately a pleasure. The ultra-scientific school have invariably avoided the subject of stamp designs. There are disciples of this school of philately who, although they point out with triumph some minute flaw on the plate, are often quite ignorant of the subject of the design itself, its origin or its connection with the country it represents.

It is quite erroneous to suppose that this study and appreciation of the design as a whole is a sphere of activity for the junior or the tyro. It is nothing of the sort, for its pursuit is full of interest and instruction for collectors of all ages and all stages of philatelic lore. In addition, it affords an excellent connecting link between the beginner and the advanced collector, where both may meet on an equal footing, a most important point and one which is so often wanting when collectors of different ages and aspirations meet together.

The authors, referring to the beginning of the career of the postage stamp, again introduce the idea that our old friend the Penny Black came into being in January of 1840, but May 6, 1840, is the date, which allows a cover to be described as "used on day of issue." This, however, is a small matter and does not greatly concern the subject which is being discussed by Mm. Gisquiere and Strowski.

It is really surprising to what an extent the story of the Christian religion has been introduced into stamp designs. Some of these, of course, are quite obvious and have been used to commemorate some event in the Christian world. Others, however, are not so readily discovered, more especially when the pious vein has been introduced into a design, the main feature of which has been conceived on other lines. These little touches, while fully apparent when pointed out, are quite lost to the casual observer, and are excellent examples of the value of studying stamp design.

Curiously enough those stamp issuing countries the names of which are suggestive of a religious origin, like Salvador and Trinidad, have not introduced the subject into their stamp designs, and in this category must be included St. Christopher, St. Helena, St. Lucia, St.

Vincent, and St. Pierre and Miquel. France and Spain, both Catholic countries, have shown no inclination to body any Christian symbols as a part of their stamp designs. The former may be said to favour the other extreme, adopting inspiration from pagan deities. The Christian inspiration in postage stamp design must be sought further afield, and the compilers of the work, readily referred to appear to have done thoroughly with the subject.

Christ, the man, as he would have appeared carrying out his mission appears but once, and this was on the special series to commemorate the tercentenary of the Propagation of the Faith three years ago. This issue is one of several which have been introduced by the Italian postal authorities during the past few years. There was the "Anno Santo" or "Holy Year" series of 1925, the designs showing the historic churches in Rome at the ceremony of the Holy Door. More recently we have had an issue in honor of St. Francis of Assisi. Portugal occupies a prominent position, the well-known issue depicting scenes and incidents in the life of St. Anthony of Padua, having made its appearance over thirty years ago.

There are quite a host of stamp designs which include the Cross in one form or another as a part of the central vignette or decorative border. The voyages of Columbus, Prince Henry the Navigator, and Vasco da Gamma, all received benediction of the Cross, and the stamps of many countries commemorating the events or alluding to the original founding of these communities usually include the Cross as a part of the picture.

It is very interesting to study the varied conceptions of the same subject represented on the stamps of different stamp-issuing countries. There are quite a large number of renderings of Our Lady, from the large format stamps of modern Hungary to the quaint types of Bavaria and Lithuania. The Virgin introduced to collectors on the Hungarian high values of 1921-1925 is in a class apart. Here Our Lady occupies the position of the patron saint of the country, clothed in regal vestments, with the crown of St. Etienne on her head. The infant Jesus holds in his hand the globe of the world surmounted by the patriarchal cross, the type which also figures as watermark for a number of issues of the country. The Independence issue of Lithuania has two representations of the Virgin, that on the 10 skatiku value being quite a novel rendering of the subject. Here we see Our Lady offering her head of Christ to a kneeling figure. The idea is intended to convey the story of Lithuania receiving her independence from the established creed in one. The reproduction of a mediæval statue representing the Virgin supporting the body of Christ was chosen for the 1925 issue of the Saare.

The patriarchal cross of Hungary has already been alluded to, and it is interesting to note the varied types of Christian symbol which has found its way into postage stamp design. The stamps of the free city of Danzig, adorned with the croix pattée, the original of the familiar postmark on the postage stamps to be brought into use, and often wrongly described as a Maltese Cross. We find specimens of the latter type on the 1924 series of Malta, and of course on the postal emissions of Malta. The real Maltese Cross, badge of the Knights of St. John, a still worn by the members of this ancient order, converges to a point in the center with two points to each limb. The eight points signify the eight beatitudes of the original order—spiritual joy, live without malice, to weep over sins, to humble thyself to those that injure thee, to love justice, to be merciful to be sincere and pure of heart, to suffer persecution. These were the tenets of the creed of the knights who ruled over the island for seven and a half centuries.

1716 South 27th St. Omaha Neb

and which constituted the original Rule of Raymond. The cross itself first came into use in 1259 by a decree of Pope Alexander IV., and was originally a white cross on a red field. This was the first flag of the island, and the colours have been retained to this day. It is worth recalling that the arms of Malta are the oldest of all the Colonial armorial bearings, and are described as "per pale argent and gules, a cross of eight points silver, on a shield of their colours." This appears as a shield divided vertically half red and half white, and upon which appears an eight-pointed cross, that portion which falls on the white or silver portion of the shield being red and vice versa. The new Maltese stamps show this shield but not the cross upon it.

Two prominent designs on the stamps of Malta are referred to in the monograph already referred to—the shipwreck of St. Paul on the shore of the bay which now bears his name, and St. Publius on the 1sh6d denomination of the current series. Publius was the son of the Roman Governor of the island, and was created first bishop of Malta by St. Paul in the fifty-eighth year of the Christian era—the year of St. Paul's visit to the island. The cathedral at Notabile is supposed to have been built on the site of the house once occupied by Malta's first primate, and it may be mentioned here that although Valletta is now the capital, the seat of the present bishop of the island is in the old capital.

The cross which figures so prominently on the Greek issue of 1913 is described in the work under review as a cross pattee, but it is more like the type generally referred to as the cross potance. The current series of Ireland supplies of the Celtic type found in the green isle and in the north and west of Scotland, and which vary from a cross incised on a flat slate to an elaborate cruciform monument.

Many inhabitants of these islands are apt to regard St. George as their personal property, and are quite surprised to find that the soldier from Cappadocia, patron saint of England and of all good cavalymen, is claimed by other peoples too. We have him on the stamps of Crete, Russia and Georgia, but the only British Colony to honour St. George is Tasmania, where he will be found on the fiscal postals of 1863. Here he is depicted as we once used to see him on the sovereign, a coin now alas relegated to the numismatist and not for the use of ordinary mortals. The Cretan idea is much on the same recognised lines, and occupies a position on the 5 drachmae value of 1900, all the other designs, the portrait types excepted, depicting pagan deities. The Russian St. George on the Charity series of 1914 is armed with a lance instead of the familiar short sword of the Roman pattern, and the setting is in the sumptuous byzantine style. He figures again on the stamps of Georgia before that State became a part of Soviet Russia, and here we have him on prancing steed in search of the dragon which is not included in the picture. This is a novel type of St. George and looks very much like one of those auxiliary light-horsemen who helped to win Caesar's battles.—Philatelic Magazine.
